2. When they ask for a loan at the B of M they do not ask a favour.

Andy O'Brien Says
GREY CUP FEVER
Is Mounting High

The Grey Cup play-off pays off—this year in the expected form of $400,000.

Andy O'Brien tells the story of "the doggonest football Mardi Gras anywhere" — and how it has boomed into Big Business.

The remembrance of games gone by, and what made each one special, is recalled.

You'll be interested in Weekend's added attraction—a table of Grey Cup game statistics, indicating, among other things, the tremendous growth of gate receipts since the first paltry sum was collected in 1909.

Fran Loves the Gaslight—but she loves the limelight more. To achieve her ambition to become an actress, Fran Dempster of Ontario resides in a posh New York night club to pay for her drama lessons. Despite family disapproval, Fran's working wardrobe consists of tights and scanty costumes — her social set, of twenty beaux. A Weekend photofeature captures the unusually gala working world of this Canadian in New York.

SPRINGHILL DISASTER

Human emotions have run the gamut in Springhill—the courageous mining town of marvellous miracles and terrible tragedy. A special pictorial feature in Weekend Magazine illustrates more clearly than any words could, the effects of the third disaster to strike the people of this community in two years.

Doukhobor Joan of Arc

What punishment is inflicted, and by whom, when a Doukhobor dares to dissent from the sect? Weekend Magazine tells you the moving story of the frustrations facing a 20-year-old widow, whose courageous actions have resulted in her being called a modern "Joan of Arc."

A Prime Minister's Diary

What elements of Mackenzie King's personality led him to the Liberal leadership? His clashes with the top political brass: his relationship with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, twice tried to persuade him to marry a rich widow; his battle against the industrial autocracy: an analysis of his victory over Sir Arthur Meighen — all of these topics are discussed in Weekend Magazine by King's biographer Robert MacGregor Dawson in the third of a four part series. You'll enjoy the terse Prime Minister's intimate thoughts and theories on these and other matters, revealed by excerpts from his diary.

The Rector Is a Racer

Rev. John Gibson feels very much at home in two places—the saddle and the pulpit. When he graduated from college he owned one suit, a good library — and a horse! Weekend visits the rector who has been riding for 75 of his 81 years, and his family at ease, and captures with the camera the action of his party-going racehorse and her filly.

Good Food, when it's Chili, makes a red meal dish, according to Helen Gougeon, Weekend's food expert. Her spicy descriptions of this simple and inexpensive fare will make your mouth water — And such fish is a treat in itself!
