—FUNERAL YESTERDAY — The funeral services for Mrs. Alexander MacKay were held yesterday afternoon from her late residence in Summerside. Rev. Wm. Verwolf conducted the service, which was largely attended. The pallbearers were: Messrs. John M. Nicholson, Allan Taylor, Frank Huestis, James Burns, A. E. MacLean and Donald Baker. Interment was in the People's Cemetery, the remains being laid to rest beside those of her late husband.

—CHICKEN SUPPER AT CLERMONT—The commodious home of Mrs. Ellie Gillis, Clermont, was the scene of a chicken supper on Nov. 7th which was a great success socially and financially. A goose dinner was served at noon which proved such a gastronomic delight that many returned in the evening to partake of the chicken supper. The affair was under the auspices of the C.W.L. of Indian River. Mr. and Mrs. Parnell Cosgrove and son rendered sweet music during the meals and also played for the dancing which followed the supper. Meals were served in one room while visitors enjoyed games and music in other rooms. A large fruit cake was lotteried and was won by Mrs. E. G. Gillis, of Kensington.—K.

—CAR ACCIDENT—While Mr. H. Monkley, Summerside, and Mr. James Champion of New Perlan were driving down to Borden yesterday morning with a trailer of live foxes for the fox farm, their car ran into the bank at the turn of Lecky's Hill near Clermont, and overturned. Mr. Champion was cut about the face, and was brought to the Prince County Hospital where an X-ray was taken but as far as can be seen at present, he was not seriously hurt. The trailer with the caged foxes did not turn over and the foxes, although shaken up a bit, were not harmed. Mr. Monkley also escaped injury.—S.

—A. Y. P. A. REPEAT PERFORMANCE—The A. Y. P. A. of St. Mary's Church repeated their performance of "Everybody's Crazy" in St. Mary's Hall last night. Each night they played to a capacity house. During intermission Miss Jane Downing gave several jolly little songs accompanying them with a tap dance. The play was full of laughs from beginning to end and was the story of three young college graduates who try to make a little money by running a hotel in a fashionable watering place. The owner of the place starts up a story that the place is haunted and takes the part of the ghost with the idea of ruining the young men and so getting the place back again. The boys capitalize on this by advertising that the haunted house has hidden treasure and the tourists arrive in large numbers with pickaxes and spades. This is where the fun begins. All the players take their parts well and it would be difficult to single out any particular one as better than the other. The cast of characters was the same as appeared in The Guardian yesterday. Perhaps the high light of the evening was the disgusted expression of Adam Pottle the burly farmer when he discovers he has been making violent love to a young man, who has been impersonating a famous dancing girl. The players certainly deserved all the support they received.—S.

Gaudet, who dropped dead when he went out to the barn for an armful of wood, about 8 o'clock yesterday morning. He had got up as usual and had his breakfast and remarked that he would go fishing. He went to the barn for the wood and took a weak turn and his wife went out and found him lying dead. The doctor was called and said death was due to heart failure. Mr. Gaudet was a native of St. Nicholas and was 65 years of age. He had lived in Summerside for many years and was most highly esteemed. He leaves to mourn his widow and a neice, Margaret Arsenault, also three sisters, Mrs. Adolph Perry, Summerside; Mrs. Anthony Arsenault and Mrs. Anthony Perry, Miscouche. — DUNPHY - GALLANT NUPTIALS — St. Anthony's Church Bloomfield, was the scene of a pretty autumn wedding on Nov. 9, at 7.30 a.m. when Miss Mary Bernice Gallant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gallant, Bloomfield, and Mr. Thomas Dunphy, Kensington, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. Rev. J. H. Gaudet, pastor of St. Anthony's Church, celebrated nuptial mass and performed the marriage ceremony. The bride wore wine colored dress and coat and matching accessories. Her bridesmaid was her sister, Miss Margaret Gallant while the groom was supported by his cousin, Mr. Robert Goodwin of Kensington. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold watch, to the bridesmaid a gold braclet and to the groomsman cuff links. A wedding supper was served at the home of the bride to immediate relatives. On their arrival in Kensington they were given a royal welcome at a reception at the groom's home. Neighbors and friends presented them with a beautiful dining-room table heavily laden with lovely gifts. Previous to her marriage the bride was generously showered with gifts by her friends of Bloomfield. Claim Capture Of Capitals "Imminent"

SHANGHAI, Nov. 22 —(AP) — Japanese forces in Central China have consolidated their Hunan and Kiangsi provincial fronts, military and naval spokesmen said tonight, and the capture of Changsha and Nanchang, provincial capitals, is "imminent."

The spokesmen brushed aside Chinese reports that the western wing of this front in a campaign toward Changsha had been rolled back across the Sinkiang River, 40 miles north of Nanchang, in Kiangsi.

This broad front reached from the eastern shore of Tungting Lake nearly 200 miles to the western shore of Lake Poyang, forming the base of a triangular area bound on the other two sides by the lakes and the Yangtse River, with Hankow at the Apex.

ANTI-JEWISH CAMPAIGN IS INTENSIFIED

Nazis Defy Foreign Reactions — U. S. Note Despatched To Reich.

BERLIN, Nov. 22 —(A P)—Nazi Germany tonight pressed the anti-Jewish campaign which appeared to be developing into a broadening wedge between Germany and the United States, France and Great Britain.

New anti-Jewish measures went ahead even as Germany received a United States note asking formal assurances that decrees ousting Jews from business would not apply to American citizens and informed quarters admitted the campaign had greatly lessened chances of a far-reaching Anglo-French Accord or development of Britain's plans for European appeasement.

The press continued to assail both Britain and the United States as failing ot solve Germany's problem of getting rid of her Jews.

Friendly Assurances

Although a formal French-German Accord was said to have been delayed, Chancellor Hitler and Robert Coulondre, new French Ambassador, exchanged friendly assurances when Coulondre presented his credentials to Hitler at Berchtesgaden.

Hitler declared, as he did in speeches during the Czechoslovak crisis, that France and Germany no longer were divided by serious border conflicts.

The United States note, presented to the Foreign Office late yesterday and disclosed today, said the Washington Government assumed Germany's decrees against Jewish participation in business did not apply to American citizens and asked a reply as to whether the assumption were correct.

Meanwhile, here were these developments in the anti-Jewish campaign:—

Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels announced a "new wave of mass meetings" was under way to acquaint every German with what Nazis term the Jewish "menace" to civilization.

Ban Religious Services

Authoritative quarters said the German Government had ordered a ban on all Jewish religious services except marriage and burial rites—the most-far-reaching interference with practice of the Jewish religion in the present anti-Semitic campaign;

The racial office of the Nazi Party was commissioned to make a study on "how further measures for eliminating the Jew from German cultural and economic life might be given legal status;"

The Justice Ministry was reported by the Frankfurter Zeitung to have ruled that any non-Jewish attorney who undertakes to defend a Jew in court or even give him legal advice risks exclusion from the Bar Association.

Emigration Stagnant

Emigration of Jews was stagnant. Jews said they expected no normal resumption of Jewish departures from Germany until the method of levying the $400,000,000 fine is decided upon. The fine was imposed because a Jew killed a German diplomat in Paris.

The press, meanwhile recorded Nazi feeling against settlement of German Jews in Tanganyika, former German East Africa, as proposed by Great Britain. Official reaction was withheld, apparently pending the outcome of talks between French and British Premiers in Paris tomorrow.

French-German discussions looking toward a friendship accord were said to be continuing, and Foreign Minister Joachin Von Ribbentrop was expected to go to Paris about Dec. 1.

Fear New Violence

Jews feared the mass meeting campaign announced by Goebbels might result in new violence against them, similar to the outbreaks on Nov. 10 in which a number of synagogues were burned and Jewish shops looted after news of Ernest Vom Rath's death reached Berlin.

In Berlin alone 1,500 anti-Semitic demonstrations are scheduled for the next few months. The Nazi film "Jewry Without The Mask" is to be shown at all meetings.

Foreign quarters saw in this mass propaganda by Goebbels an indirect admission that the German people were not nearly so anti-Semitic as he described them in a talk with Foreign correspondents Nov. 12. Then he asserted the nation was unanimously behind the Government's anti-Semitic campaign.

Boiled Kettle With Old Crutches

Once Used Them Because of Rheumatism

He was not wrong, either—this man who concluded that he would not need his crutches again. Writing of his experiences, he says:—

"For five years I suffered terribly from rheumatic pains, and I began to think my case hopeless. I also had a bad stomach, and I rarely had a meal without my food repeating on me. One day an old friend told me to try Kruschen Salts. So I bought a bottle and gave it a trial.

"After some time I was able to enjoy a good meal and to walk more freely. One morning I got up and lit the fire, and my mother thought I was crazy, because I sawed my old crutches up and boiled the kettle for coffee with them. That was six years ago, and I am now back at my old job as a chef."—H.A.B.

Do you realise what causes a good deal of rheumatism? Nothing but sharp-edged uric acid crystals which form as the result of sluggish eliminating organs. Kruschen Salts can always be counted upon to clear those painful crystals from the system.

Premier King Pays Tribute To Bennett

OTTAWA, Nov. 22 —(CP) — Prime Minister Mackenzie King tonight paid warm tribute to his long-time political rival, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, whose complete retirement from the Canadian political scene was announced yesterday.

His best wishes would follow the former Conservative Chieftain always, Mr. Mackenzie King said. He rejoiced that Mr. Bennett was acquiring an estate in England where, for the first time since he left his paternal home, he will have his own private residence.

As one bachelor who has for years enjoyed the pleasures of a country home, to another bachelor who has always lived in hotels, the Prime Minister jokingly offered to give Mr. Bennett the benefit of his housekeeping experience.

"I appreciate the great service Mr. Bennett has rendered his country and will watch his career in the new sphere he has adopted with the greatest interest," the Prime Minister said.

Yesterday Mr. Bennett, just back from a visit to England, announced that he had purchased a home in Surrey and would return within a few weeks to take up residence there. He also indicated that he would not again take his seat in the House of Commons where he represents Calgary west. He is 68 years old.

"I suppose most men have dreams as to the manner in which they would want to spend the concluding years of their lives," Mr. Mackenzie King said in commenting on the decision taken by his predecessor in office.

"Mr. Bennett is fortunate in being able to gratify his hopes for an opportunity to play a part in the larger arena of public affairs which his new surroundings will open to him. At the same time he will be in a position to continue serving his native country.

DR. SINCLAIR LAID TO REST YESTERDAY

Final Tribute Paid At Largely Attended Funeral At Summerside.

Friends from town and country came to Summerside yesterday afternoon to pay their last tribute of respect to the late Dr. Ernest E. Sinclair, and to attend the funeral services which were held from his late residence at three o'clock.

The services were under the auspices of Hiram and Lebanon Masonic Lodge No. 3. The brethren paraded from the lodge rooms to the residence and formed a guard of honor at the house. Rev William VerWolf conducted the service, the choir of the Presbyterian Church assisting. The hymns sung were "Abide With Me" and "Lead Kindly Light."

The large cortege of cars that followed the funeral procession to the cemetery and the many beautiful flowers bore silent tribute to the love and esteem in which the genial doctor was held.

The medical staff of the Prince County Hospital, of which the late Dr. was a senior member, the matron, assistant matron and thirty four nurses, graduates of the hospital and student nurses followed behind the mourners in the funeral procession. The Masons marched ahead of the hearse.

The impressive service of the Masonic Order was carried out at the grave, immediately after Rev. VerWolf had pronounced the committal. P. G. M., J. M. Nicholson conducted the service.

The pallbearers were: Messrs. J. E. Dalton, Willard Phillips, Peter G. Clarke, H. T. Holman, J. A. McMurdo and R. E. Ellis. The remains were laid to rest in the family plot in the Peoples Cemetery.

The mourners were the doctor's only son, Neil, Major T. B. Rogers, Lt. Col Keith Rogers, Heath Strong, K. C., Senator John E. Sinclair and His Honour Lieut.-Governor Geo. D. DeBlois.

Members of the medical fraternity who attended from different parts of the Province were Hon. W. J. P. MacMillan, M. D., Dr. J. D. MacGuigan, Dr. Donald Campbell, Charlottetown, Dr. Henry W. Moyse, Bedeque, Dr. Everett A. Bell, Cape Traverse, Dr. I. W. Jardine and Dr. R. D. MacNeill, Kensington.

Mrs. L. H. B. Hunt and Mrs. Robert MacKelvie of Montreal, sisters of the late Dr. Sinclair, arrived home on Monday evening to attend the funeral.

Rev. George Mitchel of Campbellton, N. B., a former pastor of the Summerside Presbyterian Church and friend of the late Doctor Sinclair paid a short visit to Mrs. Sinclair on Monday but to his great regret was unable to remain for the funeral. Mr. Mitchell was accompanied by his wife.

"I am glad too that Mr. Bennett is getting a home of his own in the country. I have often wondered why he did not do so before. Living so long, as he has, in hotels, must have meant a great personal sacrifice to him.

"It is a pleasure to me to recall, now that Mr. Bennett will not return to the House, that my last contact with him was when, just before prorogation last summer, I crossed the chamber and shook hands with him. I am sure that handshake expressed the cordial feeling that has always existed between us.

"My best wishes will follow Mr. Bennett wherever he goes, I will remember saying to him when he first took office as Prime Minister, after I had had considerable experience of the responsibilities involved, that I had a fellow feeling for him."

Agreement and her signature of the Non-Intervention Pact, that General Franco must win the civil war. This attitude is reinforced by Franco's insistence he be given belligerent rights so he can starve out Government Spain before Italian troops are withdrawn from his side.

Frence takes the viewpoint that a victory for General Franco would imply German and Italian control of the Spanish Peninsula and would necessitate defending a third frontier, in addition to the German and Italian borders. This may prove a thorny problem for the conference because Britain is torn between two loyalties, to France, and to Italy as a result of the recent withdrawal of 10,000 infantrymen from Spain, which paved the way for the Anglo-Italian agreement to come into force.

It may not be so difficult to arrange joint action in the far east. Both countries are concerned by the refusal of Japan, despite protests by Great Britain, the United States, and France, to open the Yangtsse to commercial navigation. Similarly both countries take the same stand on the open-door policy in China and retention of the principles of the Washington Nine-Power treaty.
