Economic Measures

PARIS, June 21, 5 P.M.—The results of the recent economic conference here, in which the allied governments were represented have been made public.

THE POST-BELLUM PERIOD.

The agreement, which was unanimous, shows that sweeping measures have been jointly adopted under three heads, the first embracing the period during the war, the second the transition period, and the third the period after the war. During the war citizens of the allied nations are forbidden all commerce with enemy subjects. All merchandise from enemy countries is likewise forbidden. Commercial houses having enemy connections are sequestered.

Additional restrictions are placed on exportations and also on contraband.

During the reconstruction period the allies declare their purpose to carry on joint action in restoring industry, agriculture and merchant fleets.

All treaties with the enemy being abrogated, the allies agree that favored nation treatment shall not be accorded to enemy powers during a number of years to be agreed upon by the allies after hostilities cease. They further declare in favor of the allied nations dealing among themselves, as far as possible, in their natural resources.

The allies agree to prevent "dumping" of enemy goods by fixing a period of time during which enemy commerce shall be subject to special rule and prohibitions.

The allies further agree upon joint collaboration, after the war to secure complete independence from enemy countries relative to raw productions and manufactured goods essential to the development of their economic activities. These measures, it is set forth, should also include the independence of the allies in financial commercial and maritime organization. In executing this resolution they will adopt the "meats most appropriate, according to the nature of the goods and following the principles which govern their economy.

"They will adopt subventions and advances to encourage enterprises and researches, scientific and technical.

"Besides subventions and advances to certain industries, the allies will consider tariff changes and prohibitions temporary or permanent.

MUTUAL EXCHANGE OF GOODS.

"The mutual exchange of goods among the allies will be encouraged by rapid transit, reduced freight rates and common arrangements concerning postal and telegraph communication.

"Technically trained delegates will meet to frame joint measures for the allies regarding patents and trade marks. They agree to adopt an incidental practice, as far as possible, in the regulation of the inventions, trade marks and copyright of literary and artistic works created in enemy countries during the war.

"The agreement closed with the declaration that the delegates recommend that their governments give immediate effect to the policies, as agreed upon.

"Look here," he said, "you mustn't yell like that. Don't you know I'm a "painless dentist?" "Weel, mebbe yo' is painless, sah," she said, "but ah aint."

---A New Piano, Now, at the Price You'd Have Paid a Year Ago

Prices have advanced (on a general average, about 96 per cent) on all materials used in making pianos. It costs far more to make a piano today than it did last year. So prices on all pianos have advanced—and will go higher yet.

We were fortunate, though, in having an accepted order with the makers before the big increase in prices came—and we can now offer you—

3 Heintzman Pianos
6 Sherlock-Manning Pianos
3 Karn Pianos
2 Ennis Pianos

at the same prices you would have paid a year ago—and many dollars less than they are selling for now.

These pianos are brand, spanking, shining new, right fresh from the factories—without a flaw—the same styles and quality that are selling in other cities at the new advanced prices.

But You Can Have Your Choice of Any Instrument at Last Year's Price

But it is up to you to act today—right now. There are only 14 pianos in the lot and at these money saving prices they will go quickly.

If you ever intend to buy a piano NOW is the time of all times. The saving you can make by buying now is well worth while.

Call in today—hear and play any one of these pianos—bring any friend with you. The four famous makes of pianos in this offer stand in a class all their own—and you need one in your home right now.

But you had better buy now—see about it today—for after this dozen is sold the advanced prices will be marked on all new pianos.

Call in today—tomorrow may be too late.
