Moorhead Legate, the Minister, explained the details and thereafter on the motion of Mr. W. A. Stewart, seconded by Mr. J. J. MacKinnon, it was resolved to approve of the plan and to proceed with the work immediately after Easter. CROSS ROAD, LOT 48—On March 16th, Mr. and Mrs. Neil McKinnon opened up their home for the purpose of holding a parlor social in aid of the Women's Institute. The roads were not as good as they might have been, but upwards of fifty were served supper. The neat sum of $16.00 was realized. The evening passed all too quickly, with music, singing and social intercourse. Mrs. M. W. Wood was the accompanist of the evening. Special mention might be made of the vocal solo, "Annie Laurie", given by Rev. E. J. Chisholm" in his sweet tone of voice, also the violin selection given by Miss Helen M. Wood. Mr. Preston Wood gave some Harmonica selections, which are hard to beat. The grab bag caused lots of excitement, needless to say, some went home very happy. The two contests which were put on by Mrs. Vont Kennedy and Miss Florence Clements were thoroughly enjoyed, the first prize being won by Mrs. Neil McKinnon and Mrs. Frank Reeves; second prize, Mrs. Jane Ballem and Mrs. Edward Farquharson.—Hockey is the order of the day around Cross Roads. The boys are sure having a gay old time. —Quite a goodly number attended the service at Cross Roads on Sunday evening, Rev. E. J. Chisholm preached a very inspiring sermon and sang the solo, "Just Abide", Mrs. M. W. Wood being organist.—Mr. Preston Wood was a recent visitor to Brackley and reports the roads in a very bad condition.

Beloved Priest Is Laid To Rest At Indian River

The funeral of the late Monsignor D. J. Gillis, beloved parish priest at Indian River for the past forty years, took place yesterday, the funeral service at St. Mary's Church being very largely attended despite the snowstorm which raged violently throughout the day. People representative of all classes and creeds joined with the parishioners in the service and in paying silent tribute to the memory of the deceased. Twenty-five clergy of the Catholic Church from all parts of the Province were in attendance.

In the course of an excellent sermon, Rev. John A. MacDonald, Grand River, spoke of the high qualities of heart and mind which those who had the privilege of knowing the late Monsignor Gillis will forever associate with his memory.

Solemn High Mass was celebrated by Monsignor MacLean, Vicar General. Rev. Clarence Pitre, Kelly's Cross, acted as deacon, Rev. Martin Monaghan as Sub-deacon, and Rev. Patrick McMahon and Rev. Raymond McKenzie, Charlottetown, as masters of ceremonies. In the choir were Rev. J. B. McIntyre, Tracadie; Rev. Father Johnston, Rev. Bernard Gillis, Charlottetown, and Rev. Theo. Gallant. The church was suitably draped in black and the service throughout was a most solemn and impressive one.

Rt. Rev. Monsignor MacDonald, Charlottetown, officiated at the burial.

The pall bearers were six nephews of the deceased, namely, Dr. E. G. Gillis and Messrs. Herbert, Wilfred, Urban, Joseph V. and Joseph M. Gillis. The honorary pall bearers were six members of the clergy.

Monsignor Joseph Gillis, stationed at Burlington, Vermont, a nephew of the deceased, who had come to attend the funeral, was regrettably detained at Tormentine owing to the storm.

Summerside May Purchase Tractor

(Special to The Guardian)

SUMMERSIDE, March 18.—The purchasing of a tractor for the upkeep of the Summerside streets has been occupying the attention of the Town Council of Summerside this week. A meeting adjourned from Monday night was continued last night and considerable discussion took place. Mayor Lidstone presided with all the councillors present with the exception of Councillor Schurman. Councillor McNeill considered that before purchasing a tractor, the matter should be thoroughly looked into and different machine companies approached as to prices and makes of road machinery; also that the street committee should give the matter consideration before purchasing a machine. Mr. Strong stated that the chairman of the street committee, Mr. Phillips has been under a serious handicap in not having proper equipment. He thought that if Summerside wished to have her share of the tourist trade and trade from the country districts, it must have better streets. The street committee were open to receive constructive ideas from the remainder of the Council board so that it could get the best with the least expenditure. A motion was passed moved by Councillor Kelly and seconded by Councillor Phillips, that the town of Summerside purchase a motor patrol for the upkeep of the streets and to advertise for tenders to be closed on Wednesday, March 25th. An amendment to the motion was made by Councillor McNeill, seconded by Councillor Strong, that no equipment is to be purchased until the street committee bring in an approximate cost of operating a motor patrol and also the approximate saving on the average yearly outlay on the streets. Also to justify the purchasing of the machine, by testimonials from cities with similar equipment. The meeting adjourned until Wednesday, March 25th.—S.

Looking 'Em Over

Ramblers Stuck Again

The Amherst Ramblers making their second trip to the Island, ran into another north easter, which held the Car Ferry at Tormentine and consequently the Amherstonians as well.

With the hope that the weatherman would loosen his grip before noon the Nova Scotians decided to leave, but such seems to be the luck of the P. E. I.—N. B. Champions—they are still at Tormentine. However, its a safe bet that the Ferry will get away this morning, and if such is the case, the visitors will arrive in the city this afternoon and will be fairly well rested up for the big game with Abegweits tonight.

Interest throughout the city the past two days has been at fever heat so much so that despite the storm yesterday morning the Forum reported a large seat sale and no doubt before noon today there will not be a reserved seat available.

Golden Salary Days Over

Amateur stars who imagine that they should receive outrageous salaries to become professionals would be well advised to consider that the golden days are over, says Mike Rodden in the Toronto Globe. Professional clubs, being overstocked with players, are rather independent, and they do not find it necessary to pay exorbitant salaries any more.

It is interesting in this connection to know that the first amateur who ever received a salary out of the ordinary was Nelson Stewart of the Montreal Maroons. Eddie Gerard, now pilot of the New York Americans signed him, and gave him $16,500 for three years' work. Then came "Ching" Johnston of the Rangers, who received $20,000 and "Taffy" Abel got about the same amount.

Following this transaction Bill Carson took the Toronto St. Patricks for a three year contract for $22,500. In his next year at Boston Carson drew down $8,000, so he holds the record over a four year term.

Irvin Bailey once agreed to sign with Montreal for $11,000 for three years, but the Maroons wouldn't give him that amount, and thereby guessed badly. Boston offered Hughey Plaxton the largest salary any amateur could ever hope to get, but Plaxton wasn't impressed.

Some of the greatest players the sport has ever known signed for small salaries, and "Duke" Keats was one of them, he getting the princely sum of $500 to join the professionals. Later on, Mr. Keats, by his ability, was rewarded. Keats had learned what it was all about.

There is another point about salaries today, and it is that there is no more generous club in hockey than the Toronto Maple Leafs. The owners have not stinted the puck-chasers, and, in addition they give all newcomers a chance to make the grade.

On The World's Airways

(By William W. Chance, United Press Aviation Editor)

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Passenger, mail and express business of American air transport operators has grown so heavy that a common clearing house to solve mutual problems has been established.

The Aeronautical Chamber, of Commerce, whose membership consists of virtually every large air line, has formed a new "Air Transport Section."

The duty of this organization is to effect the coordination of activities of major air transport lines including the solving of traffic, operations and business practice problems. Thomas B. Doe, president of the Eastern Air Transport, has been chosen chairman of the new section.

Big surprises are in store for those who can attend the 1931 National Aircraft Show at Detroit, April 11-19. According to Ray Cooper, show manager, the aircraft industry "is planning to outdo anything of the past."

Strictest secrecy has surrounded planes to be exhibited because the manufacturers wish to conceal specifications from rival builders.

A total 200,000 square feet of space in what Cooper claims is the "world's largest hangar" has proved insufficent for the many manufacturers exhibiting. Thirty thousand additional square feet of space will have to be found to fill requirements of 26 airplanes and accessory exhibitors.

American Airways' Colonial Devision has placed in effect a two-hour schedule of planes between New York, Hartford and Boston to accommodate passeners. During the past two years 16,249 passengers and 231,558 pounds of mail were flown over this route.

A 17 per cent reduction in passenger fares on Boeing's Chicago-San Francisco air line has resulted in greatly increased travel, company officials stated today.

ST. LOUIS, March 18.—And now comes the "flivver" airplane, or at least that is the claim made for it.

The Curtiss-Wright "Junior" is constructed to land and take off "in almost anybody's back yard"—or to be exact a space of about five acres.
