

Central Christian Church

MRS. V. L. DINGWELL, ORGANIST

Morning Worship and Communion—11.00 A. M. Elders Stevenson and MacNeill, Presiding.

Sunday School—2.30 P. M.

Evening Service—7.00 P. M.

January 26th to February 2nd is "World Call Week" with the "Disciples of Christ" This will be climaxed with a "World Call" pageant which will be given at this evening service under the auspices of the W. M. S. of the Church. Public Cordially Invited.

GIANTS and JESTERS

In Public Life

(By FRED COOK)

(Copyright Reserved)

"THE LOWLAND HILL OF CANADA."

"Looking over a collection of old postage stamps recently came across several copies of the famous "All Red" stamps issued by Ottawa in 1898, to commemorate the adoption of penny postage within the Empire. As old timers will remember, it is a miniature map of the world on Mercator's projection, all British possessions being indicated in red. Its postal value when it first appeared was two cents; it is worth more today. Actually there were three distinct varieties issued as evidenced by the varying colors of the ocean; dark blue, light blue, and light grey. The young collector should note the differences.

Penny postage was introduced in the Old Land in 1840, its author being Rowland Hill. Penny postage within the Empire went into effect in 1898, as mentioned, its father being Ontario's grand old man, the Right Honorable Sir William Mulock, present Chief Justice of the province. I do not know why I have designated Sir William as "the Rowland Hill of Canada." In my judgment the services which he rendered to postal reform far transcended those of the Britisher, although great credit is due to Hill for what he accomplished.

Mr. Mulock was undoubtedly the best postmaster-general Canada has had. He had a great struggle to attain the penny postage goal. The Encyclopaedia Britannica summarizes his efforts in this respect in the following brief sentence: "In 1898, in face of much opposition, Mr. Mulock induced the Inter-Imperial Postage Conference to adopt the principle of penny postage within the British Empire." Across the bottom of Canada's All Red stamp appear the words, "We hold this vaster empire than has been."

This quotation was criticized by a few "know-all" as being both bombastic and ungrammatical. Possibly so, but there was an imperial ring about it which appealed to the vast majority of Canadians. "Poet's license" has been recognized from time immemorial, and Sir Lewis Morris (1838-1897), the Welsh bard, who penned the line, had ample justification for it. It is included in the sterling poem, "A Song of Empire," written on the occasion of Queen Victoria's Jubilee in 1877. The verse in which it appears is to be found towards the close of this emphatic ode:

"We love not war but only peace, Yet never shall our England's power decrease! Whoever guides our helm of state, Let all men know it, England shall be great! We hold a vaster empire than has been, Nigh half the race of man is subject to our Queen!"

No patriotic Britisher can surely cavil at the quotation. This particular stamp, along with other special issues since then has long been withdrawn from circulation but in many a collector's album in every part of the world it occupies an honored place. The requirements of the revenue in Canada, as in other parts of the Empire, have necessitated the abrogation of penny postage for the time being, but as day follows night, it will surely come again.

Mr. Mulock took his seat in the House of Commons in 1883, the session in which I first joined the parliamentary press gallery. All through the years that he was in political life I was brought into fairly close touch with him and had abundant opportunity of studying his methods and of appreciating his indefatigable energy. Like many other young parliamentarians, at the outset of their career, he was fired with the zeal of the reformer. Hence his motion during the session of 1884 to reduce the Governor-General's salary to twenty-five thousand dollars per annum, and in the following year to prohibit members of Parliament from accepting passes from the railway companies. But, with his accession to office as postmaster-general in the Laurier ministry of 1896 his radical opinions on these subjects were submerged, all his energies from that time were directed to reorganizing his department and making it a vital factor for Canada.

In the administration of his department the new postmaster-general was a one hundred per cent economist, but he would not permit his views on retrenchment to cripple the service. Mr. Mulock held the opinion that economy and efficiency should and could go hand in hand and from the very day that he took office he set himself to accomplish this object. In all directions he sought to extend the mail services of the country, and while this naturally involved corresponding increases in expenditure, it led to a substantial augmentation of revenue, so much so that in less than three years the revenue and expenditure of the department were balanced, and from that time on, during his regime as postmaster-general, there were annual surpluses instead of the deficits with which the Post Office Department had been afflicted for many years.

The success of the efforts of the postmaster-general in developing the mail services, combined with a corresponding increase in revenue, led to a vigorous campaign for a reduction of rates, both domestic and throughout the Empire. Mr. Mulock had to contend with strenuous opposition, principally from the colonies "down under," and only by a majority of one vote was the penny postage resolution adopted at the final meeting of the Inter-Imperial Postal Conference held in London in July, 1898.

It was at this conference that Mr. Mulock, having been brought into close personal touch with the delegates from the Australian colonies, decided to give an effective fillip to the Pacific cable scheme which for years had been strenuously advocated by Sir Sandford Fleming, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Sir Charles Tupper and others. At the parliamentary session of 1899 Mr. Mulock secured legislative sanction to the principle of public ownership and state control of submarine cables, and in 1902 the Pacific cable was a fait accompli. In this year, for the great services he had rendered to postal reform, His Majesty conferred the honor of knighthood upon the postmaster-general of the Dominion, and from that time since he has been known to all Canadians as "Sir William."

After four strenuous years in the Post Office Department, a new avenue of activity opened up. Sir William had long been a believer in industrial peace and in the improvement of industrial conditions generally. His views were strengthened by a young man who in later years was to occupy an outstanding position in Dominion affairs, I refer to Mr. Mackenzie King. As a student at Toronto University, Mr. King had met Mr. Mulock on several occasions, his father being a great friend of the postmaster-general. Mr. King had gone to Chicago to pursue his postgraduate studies, and on his return to Canada in 1897 he proceeded to investigate the condition of the working classes as he had done in Chicago. Then it was he discovered that the "sweating" system was as prevalent in Canada as in the United States. Evidence came into his possession that letter carriers' uniforms were being manufactured for the Post Office Department under sweat-shop conditions, and when he appealed to Mr. Mulock to put an end to the practice the latter promptly responded. From that time on, contracts for government clothing had to be carried out under definite regulations as to wages, hours of labor, and sanitary conditions for employees, as the government might decide. Mr. Mulock was so pleased at Mr. King's action he commissioned him to prosecute his investigations in the big cities of the Dominion where uniforms for the militia, mounted police, etc., were being made. The report which Mr. King handed to the postmaster-general in 1898 was a shocking revelation of the existence of sweating in the Dominion, and led to immediate reforms. Mr. King's report strengthened the view of the postmaster-general that there should be created in Canada a department of the national government to deal with problems of labor from every angle. Thus it was that at the session of 1900 Mr. Mulock, with the approval of his colleagues, introduced a bill entitled "An Act to Aid in the Prevention and Settlement of Trade Disputes, and to Provide for the Publication of Statistical Industrial Information."

The measure proposed to create a Department of Labor but not quite in the form in which we know it today. In this initial move the postmaster-general demonstrated his astuteness. Had the proposal been simply for the purpose of creating a Department of Labor it would have met with strenuous opposition on the ground of its socialistic tendency. The sponsor therefore was careful to make it clear that the department was to "add to the departments of the government or to ministerial portfolios" the chief official was to be the editor of the Labor Gazette, and this post was offered to Mr. King. He accepted it with some reluctance as it involved the breaking of his ties with Harvard University, to which he had just been notified of his appointment as a member of the staff of the Department of Economics. Mr. King felt it would be unjust to refuse the offer, but Sir William placated the Harvard authorities and Mr. King came to Ottawa in September, 1900. His position as editor of the Labor Gazette made him ipso facto deputy minister, and upon him devolved the duty of organizing the department. Little did the minister or the new deputy know that within a few years Mr. King would have succeeded Sir William Mulock as head of that very department, as a member of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's administration, and later to become Prime Minister.

Sir William continued at the head of the Post Office and Labor Departments until October, 1905, when he was appointed Chief Justice of the Exchequer Division in the High Court of Justice for Ontario, and in 1923 he became Chief Justice of the province, the position which he so worthily fills today. Of the many duties he has discharged since he first entered into public life it is not my intention to speak now. Suffice it to say that Sir William's career, from the time he worked on the farm in North York to secure sufficient funds to put him through the university until the time he reached his present exalted position, is a great example to the youth of Canada. Verily this is a land of opportunity.

"The measure proposed to create a Department of Labor but not quite in the form in which we know it today. In this initial move the postmaster-general demonstrated his astuteness. Had the proposal been simply for the purpose of creating a Department of Labor it would have met with strenuous opposition on the ground of its socialistic tendency. The sponsor therefore was careful to make it clear that the department was to "add to the departments of the government or to ministerial portfolios" the chief official was to be the editor of the Labor Gazette, and this post was offered to Mr. King. He accepted it with some reluctance as it involved the breaking of his ties with Harvard University, to which he had just been notified of his appointment as a member of the staff of the Department of Economics. Mr. King felt it would be unjust to refuse the offer, but Sir William placated the Harvard authorities and Mr. King came to Ottawa in September, 1900. His position as editor of the Labor Gazette made him ipso facto deputy minister, and upon him devolved the duty of organizing the department. Little did the minister or the new deputy know that within a few years Mr. King would have succeeded Sir William Mulock as head of that very department, as a member of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's administration, and later to become Prime Minister.

Sir William continued at the head of the Post Office and Labor Departments until October, 1905, when he was appointed Chief Justice of the Exchequer Division in the High Court of Justice for Ontario, and in 1923 he became Chief Justice of the province, the position which he so worthily fills today. Of the many duties he has discharged since he first entered into public life it is not my intention to speak now. Suffice it to say that Sir William's career, from the time he worked on the farm in North York to secure sufficient funds to put him through the university until the time he reached his present exalted position, is a great example to the youth of Canada. Verily this is a land of opportunity.

Sir William continued at the head of the Post Office and Labor Departments until October, 1905, when he was appointed Chief Justice of the Exchequer Division in the High Court of Justice for Ontario, and in 1923 he became Chief Justice of the province, the position which he so worthily fills today. Of the many duties he has discharged since he first entered into public life it is not my intention to speak now. Suffice it to say that Sir William's career, from the time he worked on the farm in North York to secure sufficient funds to put him through the university until the time he reached his present exalted position, is a great example to the youth of Canada. Verily this is a land of opportunity.

Sir William continued at the head of the Post Office and Labor Departments until October, 1905, when he was appointed Chief Justice of the Exchequer Division in the High Court of Justice for Ontario, and in 1923 he became Chief Justice of the province, the position which he so worthily fills today. Of the many duties he has discharged since he first entered into public life it is not my intention to speak now. Suffice it to say that Sir William's career, from the time he worked on the farm in North York to secure sufficient funds to put him through the university until the time he reached his present exalted position, is a great example to the youth of Canada. Verily this is a land of opportunity.

Sir William continued at the head of the Post Office and Labor Departments until October, 1905, when he was appointed Chief Justice of the Exchequer Division in the High Court of Justice for Ontario, and in 1923 he became Chief Justice of the province, the position which he so worthily fills today. Of the many duties he has discharged since he first entered into public life it is not my intention to speak now. Suffice it to say that Sir William's career, from the time he worked on the farm in North York to secure sufficient funds to put him through the university until the time he reached his present exalted position, is a great example to the youth of Canada. Verily this is a land of opportunity.

C. W. L. Annual High Tea in HOLY NAME HALL Monday and Tuesday February 3rd & 4th 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. Tickets—35 Cents Bingo, etc.

The Central Guardian

This column is reserved for news of local interest but advertising of a new nature may be inserted at 4 cents a word strictly payable in advance.

CONFEDERATION LIFE INSURANCE. L-6798-7-12-312

SMART TO BE SEEN IN - Smarter to buy. Studebaker. L-216-1-11-41.

RUMMAGE SALE TONIGHT - St. James Hall 6.30. L-726-2-1-11.

UNLOADING CARS COAL - Shore Street. Drummond. $8.75. Hughes & Edmonds. L-670-1-30-31.

CENTRAL PARISH SERVICES - Services on the Lord's Day at Nine Mile Creek at 10.45 A. M. Canoe Cove at 2.30 o'clock afternoon. No service at Clyde River. J. W. S. Lowry, Minister in Charge. L-739-2-1-11.

MEMORIAL SERVICES, postponed from last Tuesday, will be held in North Wiltshire United Church, Sunday 11 A. M. Hampshire at 2.30 P. M. and Hunter River at 7 P. M. The general public are invited to attend. L-738-2-1-11.

SUNAY SERVICES, February 2nd, St. John's Anglican Church, 11.00 A. M. Morning Prayer. 7.30 P. M. Evening Prayer. Everybody welcome. Rev. E. O. Lancaster, Rector. L-735-2-1-11.

PELTS WILL BE received at the office of A. Webster, 156 Richmond St., Charlottetown, throughout the season for shipment to the Prince Edward Island Fur Pool Limited, Summerside. L-3464.

THE BAPTIST CHURCH—The Rev. F. E. Bishop will preach at morning and evening services tomorrow. The morning sermon will be "Judging and being judged" the evening "Two Kingdoms." Stainer's anthem "I am Alpha and Omega," will be sung at the morning service and at the evening service Stainer's "What are these?" Miss Davida Baker, soprano will sing at the evening service Handel's "Angels, ever bright and fair." Sunday School at 2.30 offers suitable classes to all ages and needs.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY—Tomorrow, Feb. 2nd, Mr. John E. Hubley of Eton, celebrates his 90th birthday. Mr. Hubley is as alert mentally as he ever was. He is a great reader, and follows world events with keen interest. Mr. Hubley is a staunch Conservative, and The Guardian has much pleasure in congratulating him on his birthday, and joins with his friends in wishing him many happy returns of the day.

OFFICERS ELECTED—Following are the election of officers for Lady Patricia Lodge, Canoe Cove, for year 1936:—Worthy Mistress, Catherine Campbell; Worthy Deputy, Christina McNevin; Rec. Secy., Minnie McNevin; Financial Secy., Beth McCannell; Treasurer, Annie McKinnon; Chaplain, Louise McNevin; Doc. of Cer., Christy McKinnon; 1st. Lecturer, Jamie McCannell; 2nd. Lecturer, Margaret McKinnon; Inner Guard, Julia Darrach; Outer Guard, Harry McNevin; Guardian, Florence McPhee; 1st. Committee, Clara McPhee; P. W. Mistress, Edith McPhail; Auditors, Blanche McKenzie, Myrtle McPhail, Christy McKinnon; Sick Committee, Florence McPhee; Myrtle McPhail, Minnie McNevin.

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH—The morning service will be in charge of the elders of the church who will preside and conduct the communion of the Lord's Supper. The evening service will be under the auspices of the W. M. S. of the church who will present a World Call Pageant consisting of five parts: Part I, "The Beginning of the Disciples of Christ Movement;" Part II, "Beginning of Organized Bible School Work;" Part III, "Beginning of Orphanage Work;" Part IV, "Beginning of Foreign Missionary Work;" Part V, "World Call" tabeau. The continuity throughout will be sustained by a narrator and a program of missionary hymns.

BUY FOR LESS! (REGULAR PRICES)

- MARMALADE, 32 oz. bottle 28c
3 CAKES CASHMERE BOUQUET SOAP with Bottle Perfume 25c
CHIPSO Large Size and Bar Calay Soap 25c
CORNEB BEEF (Hereford) Per Tin . . . 10c
TOMATOES, 2 Tins 19c
PRUNES, 3 lbs. for 25c
KELLOGG'S CORN FLAKES, 3 Pkgs. . . 25c
SOAP, P. & G. 10 Bars for 34c
SOAP, Climax, 10 Bars for 29c
MORROL COUGH SYRUP, Per Bottle . . 35c
NEWS - FRUIT - PASTRY.
PRINCE GROCERY
PHONE 846-J.

RUPTURED? An advanced method. THOUSANDS RELIEVED. No elastic. No under- straps. No steel. Does not gong. No harness. Guaranteed. Write to SMITH MANUFACTURING COMPANY Dept. 5 Established 1882.

N. D. MacLean UNDERTAKER EMBALMER Charlottetown and North Wiltshire Phone 149

SAVE LALLEMAND'S YEAST-CAKE LABELS THE CAKE WITH THE GREEN LABEL THEY ARE WORTH SEE MONDAY'S PAPER FRED REDDIN ISLAND AGENT PHONE 334 SEE MONDAY'S PAPER

PERSONALS Hon. B. W. LePage, President of the Executive Council, and Mrs. LePage left today to spend a month at St. Petersburg, Florida.

Mr. J. E. Hughes, Kinkora, and Mr. Maurice Berrigan, North Wiltshire, were in the city Thursday and took in the Burns Anniversary concert in the evening.

IN MEMORIAM MR. COLIN D. FRASER Silently and peacefully on Tuesday, Jan. 21st, Mr. Colin D. Fraser passed away at his home, 283 Euston street, Charlottetown.

He was born at Clyde River 75 years ago and lived there until ten years ago, when he sold his farm and moved to Charlottetown. Mr. Fraser was an earnest and devoted Christian and for forty-four years an active member of the Clyde River Baptist Church. Truly it could be said of him: "I have finished my journey here; I have kept the faith, henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness."

BIRTHS CULLEN - At the Charlottetown Hospital, Jan. 24, 1936, to Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Cullen, a son. BAMBRIK - At the Charlottetown Hospital, Jan. 30, 1936, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bambrik Southport, a son.

ALLANT - In the City, Jan. 17, 1936, to Mr. and Mrs. Jerome H. Gallant, a daughter, Yvonne Ann Josephine.

Card Of Thanks Daniel Murphy, Preetown, wishes to thank Father Frank MacDonald, P. P., and Mrs. Douglas Gardine, for their kindness during Mrs. Murphy's illness. L-737-2-1-11.

Card of Thanks The Raynor Family wish to express thanks to all their neighbors and friends for kindness shown them during their sad bereavement. L-732-2-1-11.

For Sale FOR SALE - CASH REGISTER and safe. Apply Guardian, L-713. OLD NEWSPAPERS FOR SALE. Apply Guardian Office. 1-30-11. SCRATCH PADS - PADS 100 sheets 5 x 7 1/2. Price 3 cents per pad. Postage extra. Guardian Office. FOR SALE - FRESH HOLSTEIN cow, Calvin Wood, Southport. L-623-1-30-31. FOR SALE - AUCTION FORTY-FIVE, Bridge and Whist Score Cards. Guardian Central Job Printery.

Male Help Wanted APPRENTICE WANTED TO learn Barber Trade Short Course expert training Mohr Barber College, Halifax N-356

PERSONALS (Continued) and Eric; Wreath, The McPhail family, The Clyde River Baptist Church; Spray, The Charlottetown Baptist Church, The Gillespie family of Moncton, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bunker of Moncton, Mr. and Mrs. William Jay and Sonny and Madeleine, Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Murchison.

MR. TEA POTT SAYS To Get That Fine Fresh Tea Flavor Use BRAHMIN Orange PEKOE TEA

A Personal Effects Policy - Is a broad form of Tourist Baggage Insurance. People going to Florida, Bermuda, West Indies, California, or on World Cruises, should secure a policy insuring against loss of baggage and valuable articles of clothing. Also a personal accident policy which can be obtained at a very moderate cost. We represent well known strong Companies giving a world-wide service. HYNDMAN & CO., LIMITED Established 1872 Lower Queen Street Charlottetown Phones 67 and 1001

Advertising Rates - Payable in Advance Central Guardian locals, 4c per word; Western and Eastern locals, 5c per word; Announcements and Coming Events 3c per word; Classified 2c per word; In Memoriam Notices, 7c per inch; Lists of Floral and Musical Offerings, 4c per inch; Letters of Condolence 7c per inch; Notices of Thanks and Appreciation, 7c per inch or 10c per word. Other rates on application. Minimum charge for any advertisement twenty-five cents.

Miscellaneous RESOLVE TO TAKE OUT INSURANCE in the Sun Life. New Plans - New Rates. Your every need anticipated. We collect premiums. See J. A. Moore, Currie Bldg. PRICE REDUCTION IN FACTORY surplus stock - 50 cow stanchions $1.90. 79 cow stalls $6.00. 60 water bowls $2.00. 1 machine carrier, 1 grain grinder, 6 extension ladders, 3 pump jacks, 6 brooder covers, one incubator, a pressure tank, 4 5-gallon water systems, 2 deep well systems, one wind mill pipe, all sizes. Preston, Tombs, Hearty Bros. Rep. Kensington. L-133-1-30-31.

Work Wanted WANTED - WORK ON FARM BY man experienced in farm work and handling of stock. Apply 51 Prince St. L-694. Wanted LAND WANTED - ABOUT 25 acres. Good soil. Near Charlottetown. "H" Box 116, Guardian. L-133-1-30-31. WANTED TO LEASE FOX RANCH with or without option of purchase. Must be within four miles of Charlottetown. Apply giving description and full particulars to Rancher, care Guardian. L-723-2-1-31.

Personal PRIVATE HOME KINDERGARTEN pay. We start you. The Canadian Kindergarten Institute, Toronto (10). Per-Sat-11. MANCHESTER, England - "Mother Day" is becoming an annual feature in a local factory between 500 and 600 mothers and wives of the employees being entertained there.

Lost OST IN CITY - KEY HOLER containing 3 keys. Finder leave at Guardian. Reward. L-743-2-1-21.

The Presbyterian Church in Canada ST. JAMES CHURCH Minister: REV. R. MOORHEAD LEGATE, D. D. Public Worship: Morning at Eleven O'clock and Evening at Seven O'clock. Sunday School at Two-thirty. STRANGERS AND VISITORS CORDIALLY INVITED.

Trinity United Church Ministers: REV. HUGH MILLER, M. A., B. D. REV. J. W. BARBOUR, B. A., B. D. Organist: - A. ROY KENDALL, L. R. A. M., A. A. G. O. 10.00 A. M. - Prayer Meeting. 11.00 A. M. - Public Worship. Sermon - "Draw Near to God" Rev. J. W. Barbour Anthem - "Te Deum" Percy Prior 2.30 P. M. - Sunday School and Bible Classes. 7.00 P. M. - Public Worship. Sermon - "The Revolt of Youth." Modern charge against Modern Youth What is it? Good or bad? Anthem - "Jesus Saviour Pilot Me" Schnecker Choral - "Saviour Breathe An Evening Blessing" - Old Italian Visitors and Students Cordially Welcome. Services Broadcast by C. H. C. K.

The Baptist Church PRINCE & VITZROY MINISTER - THE REV. F. E. BISHOP MORNING WORSHIP 11 O'CLOCK Sermon - "Judging and Being Judged" Rev. F. E. Bishop Anthem - "I Am Alpha and Omega" Stainer SUNDAY SCHOOL 2.30 P. M. Says Joseph Fort Newton "It will fare ill with us if the music of this mighty book is hushed." To study its truth... to preserve its music is a task of the Sunday School, come tomorrow. EVENING WORSHIP 7 O'CLOCK Sermon - "Two Kingdoms" Rev. F. E. Bishop Anthem - "What Are These?" Stainer Solo - "Angels Ever Bright and Fair" Handel Miss Davida Baker You are invited to worship with THE BAPTIST CHURCH.

St. Paul's Church 4th SUNDAY AFTER EPIPHANY 11.00 A. M. - Morning Prayer, Holy Communion and Sermon "Our Common Worship." Anthem - "More Love to Thee O Christ" Oley Speaks 2.30 P. M. - Sunday School and Bible Classes. 7.00 P. M. - Evening Prayer and Sermon "Lord to Whom Shall We Go?" Everybody Welcome. H. R. SHEPHARD, REV. H. D. RAYMOND, M. A. Organist and Choirmaster, Rector.

Zion Presbyterian Church REV. G. CARLYLE WEBSTER - MINISTER. PROF. LOUIS D. THOMPSON - Organist and Choirleader MORNING WORSHIP 11:00 A. M. - Morning Worship. Anthem - "Lift Up Your Heads" - Hopkins. 2:30 P. M. - Sabbath School and Bible Classes. EVENING WORSHIP 7:00 P. M. - Evening Worship. Anthem - "I Am Alpha and Omega" - Stainer. "I will worship toward Thy holy temple, and praise Thy name for Thy loving kindness and for Thy truth; for Thou hast magnified Thy word above all Thy name" - Ps. 138:2.

"WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH SHOULD FAIL?" Hear about it this SUNDAY 8 P. M. IN THE BRIGHTON CLUB ROOM Corner Brighton Road & Foster's Grocery Hear Evangelist F. W. Johnston for satisfaction. Also on Wednesday 6 P. M. Saturdays 3 P. M.