
ICE FREE SHIPPING

Year-round navigation on the lower St. Lawrence River and the gulf is becoming a reality with with the help of government ice-breakers and an assist from nature.

Clarke Steamship Company has maintained weekly sailings for a number of years from Pointe au Pic, 80 miles downriver from Quebec City, to the north shore ports of Forestville, Baie Comeau and Sept-Iles.

The Clarke company uses a channel kept relatively ice-free by the prevailing north winds. Shaded portion of this map shows the winter ice line in the lower, port of the river.

A newly formed company, Federal Intercoastal Line, has also announced plans for sailing every 10 days from Quebec City to Forestville, Baie Comeau and Sept-Iles. It expects help from government ice-breakers in cutting a channel (dotted line) through heavy ice near Quebec City.

Quebec North Shore Paper Company two years ago set a gulf shipping record with sailing of newsprint-laden ships from Baie Comeau to New York. The company now plans to use a 100,000-ton freighter to carry its paper shipments the year around.
