IN MEMORIAM

MRS. GILBERT GAUDET.—Citizens were shocked and saddened on learning of the death of Mrs. Gaudet, wife of Mr. Gilbert Gaudet of the law firm of Gaudet & Hazard, Charlottetown, which occurred about one o'clock yesterday morning after a brief illness. Mrs. Gaudet was formerly Miss Mary E. Creamer, daughter of Mr. Bernard E. Creamer, Contractor, Souris, and was 30 years of age. Although her illness was known to be serious hope for her ultimate recovery was entertained until a few hours before the end came All that medical skill and tender care could do was done for her but to no avail. Death came with startling suddeness and when it was recognized as inevitable her parents at Souris were communicated with. Engaging a special train, as quickly as possible the father and mother and their two daughters hurried to the city. She retained consciousness till the last moment, hoping to the end to bid her parents and sisters good bye, but it was willed otherwise and when they arrived death had preceded them.

The late Mrs. Gaudet was a most loveable and exemplary woman, devoted wife and mother, kind, charitable and sympathetic and her death is not only a crushing blow to the home from which she has been so suddenly taken but is keenly felt and sincerely mourned in many a poor home in which her quiet and unostentatious charity was a continual blessing. Besides her husband and five young children, the youngest an infant a week old, she leaves to mourn her father and mother, three brothers, John, a student at St. Dunstan's George and Ernest at home; four sisters, Mrs. Bean, Boston; Miss Blanche, teacher at Souris; the Misses Eva and Kathleen at home.

To the bereaved husband and children, father and mother, sisters and brothers The Guardian tenders deepest sympathy.

The funeral will take place tomorrow, Tuesday, morning at 8.45 from the home 164 Weymouth St., to the Pro-Cathedral, thence to the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

TARIFF REVISION AT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, May 2—The democratic majority went ahead with tariff revision in the house again today without serious hitch. There were innumerable amendments emanating from the minority, but they were voted down with monotonous regularity.

The discussion opened with citrus fruits, in the agricultural schedule, the Pacific growers waging an unsuccessful fight against the putting of tariff on lemons, figs, raisins and dried grapes and other coast products.

The schedule covering spirits, wines and other beverages when through without dissent, but considerable fight was made by the representatives of textile districts when the cotton schedule was reached.

THE HIGHWAYS BILL

the Government absolutely refuse to accept any amendment whatever, the objection of the amendment being to carry out the provision which the Government say they wish to carry out in connection with the Bill. They will retain the power in their own hands to make whatever changes they wish afterwards. We are justified in opposing it in every way we can. It may be worked as the most iniquitous measure that has ever passed the Parliament of Canada and we have no assurance that it will not be so worked. Therefore, I repeat, we are justified in opposing it, I intend to record my vote against it, and these are some of the reasons I give for so doing to the people who sent me here.

Right Hon. R. L. BORDEN (Prime Minister): The attitude of hon. gentlemen opposite towards this Bill seems to have varied very much since it came up for second reading. At that time the right hon. leader of the Opposition used this language:

Let me assure my hon. friend that we do not approach this measure in any factious spirit; we are willing to give the measure our support.

And then he went on to move an amendment which embodied a certain principle he thought ought to be applied to the Bill. We learn from several hon. gentlemen opposite that they are absolutely opposed to the Bill and that they intend to vote against it, and we are perfectly willing that they should do so if they desire. A great many bugbears have been conjured up with regard to this measure. It is said the money is to be utilized for some improper purpose; that these roads are local works within the meaning of the British North America Act, and that the Federal Government should have nothing directly to do with them at all. As a matter of fact the highways in the province are not more local works than a great many subjects for which Parliament votes estimates every session. There is just as good warrant for the construction of a road by the Federal Government as there is for the construction of certain docks and roads approaching docks, and for the construction of certain bridges for which money has been voted over and over again by this Parliament. In the early history of Confederation works of that kind were not built very much by the Federal Government, but the practice began to creep in ten or fifteen years after Confederation, and since then it has grown until the present Federal Government are constructing a great many works that perhaps might be more particularly classified among the local works mentioned in section two of the British North America Act.

My hon. friend from South Wellington (Mr. Guthrie), was very much disturbed about a road from Quebec to Windsor, and he imagined the Government were introducing this Bill for the purpose of constructing such a road. According to my conception of the British North America Act it would not be necessary at all for the Government of Canada to hand over money to the governments of the provinces for the purpose of constructing a road of that character.

Mr. GUTHRIE: Not that kind of a road; that would be an interprovincial road.

Mr. BORDEN: My hon. friend cannot be serious in his suggestion that the object of a Bill which proposes to hand money over to the provinces is to carry out the construction of such a road.

Mr. GUTHRIE: It does not propose to hand the money over to the provinces; that is my objection.

Mr. BORDEN: My hon. friend has not properly comprehended the Bill. The object is to hand the money over to the provinces for a particular purpose and to see that that purpose is carried out. The providing of a sum of money of this kind is absolutely different—one would think any hon. gentleman would understand it without the necessity of such an explanation—is absolutely different from a subsidy which is handed to the provinces with the right to the provinces to appropriate that subsidy for any purpose whatever. That general subsidy is granted in the first place by the British North America Act and afterwards by various arrangements which have ensued since Confederation, and it is of an entirely different character from this, because in every instance, so far as I can remember at the moment, these other subsidies were moneys handed over to the provinces for their absolute disposition. This is not a subsidy of that kind; this is a subsidy handed over to the province, for the purpose of constructing works which, so far as most of these enterprises are concerned, are works of a local and private nature, and the object is that this subsidy shall be devoted to that particular purpose and no other. That being the object and purpose of the Bill it is manifestly desirable, and further than that it is manifestly necessary that there should be some safeguards in this statute, so that the Government of Canada, responsible to this Parliament, shall see to it that that money is devoted to that particular purpose and to no other. Further than that, it is the duty of this Parliament to see that this money shall be devoted to highways of such a character that they will be of permanent advantage to the people in every province.

JUDGING BY THEIR OWN RECORD

It is in connection with such a proposal, that all this discussion—a great part of which seems to me to be of rather a trivial character—has been expended on this Bill both last session and this. If the Government had any such idea as seems to be in the minds of hon. gentlemen on the other side with regard to some sinister purpose in connection with this Bill, they would not have gone about it in this way. Hon. gentlemen opposite dwell too much on their own record when they make suggestions of that kind. The object of this Bill is simply to enable the various provinces of Canada to have placed at their disposal for a certain definite and particular purpose, namely, the improvement of the highways of this country, certain sums of money which will be allocated to them in accordance with their respective populations, and it is not only right but it is the absolute duty of the Government of Canada who are responsible to this Parliament, to bring down that measure with safeguards to provide that that money shall be applied to that particular purpose and no other, and that it shall be expended in such a way as to result in permanent benefit and advantage. And, these hon. gentlemen opposite are spending hours and days in opposing that. I venture to think, notwithstanding what has been said by hon. gentlemen opposite, that they are reckoning without their host when they set up the opposition they did last session and this session to a proposal for the permanent improvement of the highways of Canada. One forty a.m.

They have mistaken the attitude and the feeling of Canada in that regard when they suggest to us that some of the provinces are opposed to this. I am quite conscious of the fact that the province of Saskatchewan some time ago and latterly the province of Nova Scotia have made a certain suggestion for a delay which would prevent this money from being voted at this session, and from being utilized by the various provinces of Canada during the present fiscal year. I do not think that even the people of these two provinces would support the government of these provinces in their proposals. It was suggested by one of these provinces that the governments of two other provinces were of the same opinion. I made an inquiry at once by telegraph and found that that statement was absolutely unfounded.

So far as the autonomy of the provinces is concerned, so far as their rights are concerned, the most absolute safeguards are provided by this Bill. Even in respect of section 6, how can any reasonable or sane man in this House say that the autonomy of one province is trenched upon in the slightest degree when it is absolutely impossible for this Government or the Minister of Railways and Canals to lift one finger without the authority of the provincial legislature and without the consent of the provincial governments? It is absolutely useless for any hon. member to make the pretense that there is any violation of provincial rights when they are with that absolute and distinct safeguard staring him in the face in the words of section 6 of the Bill. As hon. gentlemen have seen fit to take the attitude that they have taken with regard to this Bill, to obstruct it from the very first day on which it was presented to this House for second reading, all I have to say is that we are perfectly willing to accept their challenge, to prove our attitude with regard to this measure in contrast with theirs before the people of this country and to let the people judge the policies and attitudes of the two parties with regard to this Bill when the proper time shall come.

On the division Messrs. McLean and Nicholson voted for the Bill, and Messrs. Hughes and Richards against it, the measure being carried by 83 to 44.

TAX SYSTEM IN HOPELESS TANGLE

CALGARY, May 2:—That the tax system of Calgary is badly tangled is disclosed in a preliminary report of McIntosh and Hyde, the auditing firm employed to go over all the citys accounts.

Among other things, the preliminary report of the auditors shows that the true total of taxes collected for 1912 has not yet been ascertained. Further the assessment total columns between the assessors and treasurers department do not agree. Again the arrears shown by the arrears roll are less by approximetely $30,000 then the total brought forward as collectible.

A Constant Change In Body's Tissues

"Our bodies," says Huxley, "may be likened to an eddy in the river, which retains its shape for a while, though every instant each particle of water is changing."

The tissues of the body, composed of millions of tiny cells, are being constantly broken down and wasted away by the process of life, and especially by overwork, worry and disease.

In order to reconstruct these wasted tissues there are necessary such elements as iron, sulphur, magnesia potash, etc., and when these are not supplied in sufficient quantities in the food we eat it is necessary to aid nature by the use of some restorative preparation.

Most people find Dr. Chase's Nerve Food particularly effective under such circumstances, because it is composed of the very elements of nature which go to form new, rich blood, create new nerve cells and rebuild wasted tissues.

This great food cure is radically different from medicines which are usually employed in the treatment of nervous diseases. For, while they stimulate tired nerves to overexertion or by narcotic influence soothe and deaden them, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food revitalizes wasted nerve cells and so accomplishes lasting beneficial results.

Such symptoms as sleeplessness, irritability, headache, indigestion, brain tire and feelings of fatigue and discouragement soon disappear when the system is built up by the use of
