Kensington and Vicinity

Miss Isabel MacLean, R. N. after enjoying the Easter holidays at her home in Kensington has returned to Charlottetown.

The Messrs. Waite and McQuaid who are running the business part of The Brookin Lodge are to be congratulated on securing the services of Miss Erma Hughes.

His many friends will regret to hear that Mr. James Mill had the misfortune to sever two leaders in his right hand on Saturday evening. While having some fun with a friend he slipped and in throwing out his hand to save himself from a fall, his hand went through a window, causing the painful accident. He was made as comfortable as possible by Dr. R. D. McNeill directly after the accident occurred and on Sunday morning was taken into Summerside Prince County Hospital for treatment by Mr. Joseph Davison.

His many friends are pleased to see Mr. Lloyd Howard, Postmaster, out once more after his recent illness.

Mr. Augustus Arsenault of Wellington, has accepted and is now employed as egg-grader for Mr. Preston Toombs local merchant.

The Messrs. J. K. Kennedy, Angus Webber, James Kennedy, Everett Hughes, and Leigh Howatt were visitors to Summerside Saturday.

Mr. James MacDougall was a visitor to Charlottetown over the week-end.

Mr. Ben Champion, is enjoying a pleasant holiday in Hunter River.

holiday. Earlier today Hitler received the Rumanian Foreign Minister, Grigore Gafencu, for an extended talk on German-Rumanian affairs.

Goebbels in a 20-minute address said that Hitler's name "wanders around the earth almost like a legend."

"There is no one in the wide world," he asserted, "who can remain indifferent to this name. For some it means hope, faith and a future; for others, it is still only an image of distorted hate, base lies and cowardly slander."

Every school, labor camp, storm troop barracks, Nazi headquarters and army camp in the country will hear similar addresses tomorrow, extolling Hitler's career and accomplishments and ending with "Sieg Heil!"—"Hail Victory!"

Call On Chancellor

While thousands of citizens milled outside the Chancellory and government offices the main Hitler lieutenants and those who were wounded in Hitler's abortive 1923 putsch in Munich called on the Chancellor to pay their respects.

Hundreds of bombers and pursuit planes roared overhead in rehearsal for a parade tomorrow—the biggest such display Berlin has ever had. Foreign delegations were arriving continuously at the railway stations.

Streamers across streets proclaimed Hitler "The Guardian of Our Peace" and bore the legend, "We Thank Our Fuehrer—(We Give) Fidelity in Return for Fidelity."

A long list of promotions in the national labor service were announced. Nazi Party decorations were conferred on 24 men to commemorate the celebration.

Among the foreign guests are two Britons, Major-General John Frederick Fuller, author of several works on military affairs, and Lord Brocket, a lawyer. They said they were attending the celebration as Hitler's personal guests and not as an official British delegation.

They and other foreign visitors placed a wreath at the Honor Temple facing Unter Den Linden and witnessed a march of a military company in their honor.

Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop and Hans Von Tschammer Und Osten, Nazi sports leader, planned receptions for the visitors.

In his address, Goebbels told of Hitler's accomplishments in reshaping the map of Europe and said the Chancellor had created not a "theoretical peace" but "a peace of practical reality" based on "the knowledge that only the power of a nation makes it possible to bring about final solutions of problems which must be met."

Reports are to the effect that the foxmen in this vicinity are having excellent luck in their ranches with an average of five pups to a pen, and no loss up-to-date.

A large number attended and enjoyed the dance in the town hall, Kensington Saturday evening, sponsored by the Clermont Hockey Team.

The weatherman on Saturday gave us from four to eight inches of snow and this along with a heavy ground drift running once more blocked the highway from Kensington to Summerside. The government snow plow however, returning from working east in the evening opened same to motor traffic.

The many enthusiastic anglers in this vicinity have been for the past week digging out, repairing and replacing their fishing gear in preparation for the opening day Monday.

Your scribe sees where an Island baseball league is being mooted by some of our Islands baseball leaders, said league to be formed with Charlottetown, Summerside and Kensington teams competing. This without a doubt would bring baseball back to its former place among our sports and should go over with a bang.

Mr. Max Kashetsky has returned to Kensington for the summer months after enjoying the winter months in New York and other points of interest in eastern U. S. A.

Her many friends will regret to hear that Miss Lucy Brown is confined to her home by illness.

Too Much Power

lend to the Government the funds necessary to carry out that authorized expenditure.

"But we are not seeking in this House power to spend money or to borrow money. What we are asking for is the power to issue debentures. That is to say, when the expenditures have been made, when the money has been borrowed from the bank in the ordinary course of business, we should be authorized and given a reasonable amount of authority to issue debentures to cover the indebtedness already incurred."

The Premier then reviewed his previous statements on the resolution. The Government found it had authority to borrow only $200,000 on coming into power. Authority was obtained at the special session in 1935 to fund an additional $3,000,000, or a total of $3,200,000. "We borrowed that amount,—at least we funded that amount, at an average interest rate of 3.14 per cent, which compares extremely favorably with the funding operations of our predecessors, a calculation of whose borrowing indicates that their average rate of funding the debt by debenture issues was 4.9 per cent.

The Premier criticised particularly the Conservative issue at 6.12 per cent over a period of fifteen years. The Conservative period, he claimed, was one during which generally low interest rates prevailed, "with the single exception of the month or two months during which they borrowed a million dollars."

With regard to the banks, the Premier said that so far as his experience went the Government could get on for practically two or three years with their extensive programme by bank borrowing. "In fact they are anxious to do business with us; they regard the credit of the Province as being high. We have also been able to secure a reduction in the rate of interest which we pay to the banks; it is now 3¼ per cent. We could go on without taking power to issue new debentures. There is also the power which we have of issuing treasury certificates for deposits from the public. I think that is a very good way for the Government to do business; it obtains money at the rate of 3 per cent and those who deposit their money get security with a reasonable interest rate. But I submit it would be bad policy for the Government to leave itself for any considerable time in a position of not having any debenture authority, because in order to secure favorable rates of interest it must follow the bond market. It must be prepared to issue debentures at more or less short notice according as the market is favorable, and for that purpose I think it is quite fitting and entirely proper that the Government should take authority to fund at least a reasonable amount of the expenditures which we have made, particularly on our highway improvement programme during the past year, and which we shall be making during the present year."

The Chairman: "Carried? Carried."

The bill was reported agreed to without amendment.

Marketing Bill

On motion of Hon. Mr. Dennis the bill respecting the licensing of dealers in poultry products was discharged.

On motion of Mr. McIsaac the House went into committee with Mr. Hughes in the chair on an Act relating to the Marketing of Farm Products. The bill reads:

"Whereas the Parliament of Canada is about to enact legislation in relation to the marketing of farm products.

"And Whereas it is desirable that any such legislation should apply to this Province.

"Be it therefore enacted by the Lieutenant-Governor and Legislative Assembly of the Province of Prince Edward Island as follows:

"1. Every provision of the Parliament of Canada hereinafter enacted in relation to the marketing of farm products so far as it is within the legislative competence of the Province and outside that of the Dominion shall on proclamation by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council have the force of law in the Province as if enacted by the Legislature, until it is repealed by the Parliament of Canada or revoked by the Governor-in-Council, as the case may be, or until otherwise enacted by the Legislature or directed by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council pursuant to section 2.

"2. The Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council may from time to time by proclamation direct that any provision which is given the force of law in the Province by or under this Act shall cease to have the force of law in the Province, and thereupon that provision shall cease to have the force of law accordingly.

"3 This Act shall come into force on proclamation of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council."

Raises Objection

Mr. Saville objected that this was not an opportune time for introducing the bill. In 1935 he recalled an attempt was made to enforce potato marketing regulations and the experience of the farmers was not very satisfactory. This legislation may never be passed at Ottawa, or if passed it may prove unconstitutional.

Mr. MacKinnon heartily concurred in Mr. Saville's objection. It was "simply asking us to buy a pig in a bag." Legislation of this kind in the past had caused a lot of trouble. If it proves beneficial it can be enacted in this Province at the next session.

Mr. McIsaac: "Is everything going smoothly within the past couple of years since the Farm Marketing Act was made ultra vires? I don't think so." The Government had had to send men to attend a conference in Montreal to discuss the solution of this problem, he pointed out.

Mr. MacKinnon objected that the putting into force of the Act was left to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council,—and the majority of them were not even farmers.

Hon. Mr. McGuigan agreed that there was a great deal of legislation going through at Ottawa of which we have not the full particulars. The promoter wishes to place us in the position that we can take advantage of this legislation if it proves beneficial to our people. Sec. 3 provides that it can only come into force on proclamation of the Lieutenant-Governor in council.

Mr. Saville: "I am well aware of that, but what is bothering me is just what the Lieutenant-Governor in council may do." He recalled that the potato marketing act was also brought into force by order in council. The farmers, he contended, were not asking for this legislation.

"In The Dark"

Premier Campbell said at noon today he was waited upon by some prominent farmers of Prince County who came to Charlottetown for the particular purpose of seeing that this bill got a fair showing. "Of course," he said, "we are rather in the dark. I hesitate to urge on the House the desirability of conferring powers on the Lieutenant-Governor in council at a time when the Government is not able to state what the exercise of those powers might involve. But at the same time it seems to me that there would be a risk in allowing this opportunity to pass, because there might be some benefit to the farming interests of the Province." He gave assurance that so long as the present Government was in power, any authority of that kind would be exercised with "the very greatest caution."

Mr. Saville said it was rumored now that "we may have an election and a new government may not be in favour of it. It is possible there may be a new government."

Mr. McIsaac: "If there was an election, and even if there was a change, don't you think there are enough fair Conservatives to give us fair play?"

Mr. Saville admitted that that was "possible."

After further discussion Mr. Annear proposed that provision be made for the farmers to be consulted before the proclamation by order in council.

Premier Campbell suggested it would be better if that clause "remained understood rather than expressed."

Mr. Annear did not press his motion, and the bill was reported agreed to without amendment.

On motion of Premier Campbell the House went into committee with Mr. Foley in the chair on an Act to incorporate the Security Trust Corporation.

The bill was reported agreed to without amendment.

Third Readings

The following bills were read a third time and passed: An Act to amend the Insurance Act; an Act to incorporate the Custodian Trust Co. Ltd.; an Act to prevent the spread of noxious weeds; an Act to amend an Act to incorporate the Cranaud Creamery Company.

At 5.30 the House resumed discussion on the Budget. Recess was taken at 6, the House meeting again at 8 o'clock.

WEYMOUTH, England—Miss A. Samways, 80, refused to admit her house was afire when warned, and stayed there to burn to death. Since her brother died 10 years ago she was a recluse.

OUTLINE AID TO MARITIME FISHERMEN

Federal Allotment To Prince Edward Island Was $80,000.

OTTAWA, April 19—(CP)—The Dominion Government gave an accounting today of the relief it has furnished the fishing industry and fishermen of the Maritime Provinces. The information came in the form of a parliamentary return tabled in the House of Commons in reply to questions from A. J. Brooks (Con. Royal).

Government policy in respect of aid to fishermen and their industry was a "gracious act of generosity towards the needy," said a Fisheries Department report included in the return. It set forth that the Government in 1938-1939 contributed $150,000 to Nova Scotia fisheries the same as in 1937-38, and the provincial government paid $50,000 in 1938-39 compared with $75,000 the previous year.

Dominion help to New Brunswick fisheries was reduced from $100,000 in 1937-38 to $50,000 in 1938-39 and the provincial contribution was also halved to $25,000. Federal allotment for Prince Edward Island this year was $80,000 compared with $50,000 in 1937-38 and the Provincial contribution was $40,000 compared with $25,000.

In reply to another question by Mr. Brooks, the Government said the terms of agreement provided a check on the expenditure of the federal contribution, while audits by the comptroller of the treasury at the seat of provincial government kept check on whether the province had put up its share.

"Agreements entered into with the provinces under relief legislation in respect to grants-in-aid and works projects generally provide for the granting of assistance to 'necessitious persons' and the amounts expended for the provision of such assistance to fishermen is not a matter of separate record with the department," said a reply by the Labor Department supplementing the Fisheries Department statement.

"Under the unemployment and Agricultural Act, 1938, an agreement was entered into with the province of Prince Edward Island whereby the Dominion agreed to pay to the province 50 per cent of the expenditures incurred by the province for material aid supplied to necessitious fishermen and their dependents during the period Dec. 1, 1938 to March 31, 1939, it being provided that the Dominion's contribution should not exceed $30,000. At this date the Dominion has paid to the province $9,816.74 in respect to accounts submitted by the province covering expenditures under the agreement."

To date no accounts had been received from New Brunswick for a similar project whereby the Dominion and the province were to expend $1,385 each "to replace buildings, clothing, food, furniture lost in recent storms by fishermen of Westmorland County."

Similarly, the Nova Scotia Government had so far failed to render accounts for a project to assist fishermen who lost gear in November and December storms in that Province.

The Dominion and Provincial Governments agreed to put up $26,000 each for "highway work in the municipality of Halifax, Lunenburg, Queens, Shelburne, Yarmouth and Digby, consisting of storm ditching, underdraining, brushing right of way, surfacing, etc."

Yarmouth Girl Qualifies For Sea Captain

YARMOUTH, N. S., April 19—Armed with a master's papers, pretty 23-year-old Molly Kool of Alma, N. B., daughter of a sea captain, is going to tell "the old man" to take a vacation. She will operate his ship she told friends here until a better job comes along.

Captain Kool, believed the second woman in the world to obtain papers for master of steamships in coastal waters, attended a navigation school here for several weeks under Captain Charles Waterhouse of Halifax and Captain A. W. Hilton of Yarmouth.

The blue-eyed captain, who wears a regular seaman's outfit, has been going to sea for five years. During the last two years she was mate on her father's barge operating out of St. Stephen, N. B.

Captain Molly said she was too busy for romance but admitted it might come some day. She said she could never allow marriage to interfere with her sea-going career.

A woman in Russia is said to have been the first to obtain master's papers.

Keep Minard's in the home.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Beginning April 22nd, I shall resume my Summerside practice each Tuesday and Saturday as in former years. In Charlottetown office evenings of above days, and all other days.

Liberty

ity or deliverance from the need to work out one's own salvation is a very strong temptation to the people of today. Many would welcome the chance to live a private life in some calm retreat free from worry and the struggle of social and political life. Because we have had freedom as our birthright we are apt to hold it cheap. We have freedom of thought, of speech and of expression, and more, freedom of action so long as it does not interfere with the liberties of our fellow citizens.

These elementary rights have been swept away in most European countries, and encroached upon in others today, even our own. We are disturbed at the ease with which the Fascist and Communist Governments can control public opinion in their countries. The wireless and the ability to purchase and read a daily paper have combined to establish a slave state in these countries where radio and press are controlled. Not only men's bodies but their minds are enslaved. The same thing may happen in our own country, very slowly no doubt, for even though we do not take kindly to the ideology of the totalitarian state, yet we may easily drift towards it, like vessels in uncharted seas.

Liberty can be threatened from many directions, e.g. from bureaucratic control, from censorships, &c., and people, until too late, fail to resist these encroachments on liberty.

It is becoming the custom today to make more and more demands on the country and to give less. In our own minds there exist dangers to freedom of thought. The masses seem most willing to transfer the disagreeable task of Government in democracies to some few individuals, while endeavouring to retain their independence in every other walk of life. They have a blind faith that the democratic tradition is a natural safeguard of their liberty.

Politics today are largely the playground of the rich or the preserve of the older people, and democracy is doomed when this is the case. It is the people of fifty and over who are most ready to attend meetings and who turn out solidly to vote.

Again it is a sad mistake to think that because we may believe in individual freedom, that therefore Fascism and Communism are unattractive gospels. Far from it; they preach adventure and sacrifice and the perfect sacrifice is to die for one's country. Extreme patriotism and the glorifying of war go hand in hand. The weakness of democracy, on the other hand, is that it seldom caters sufficiently to the love of adventure.

Democratic leaders are comfortable middle-aged men, soon to retire to country residences or to become denizens of pleasant city clubs; or, again they may be dishonest politicians playing a game for their own amusement or benefit. Hitler, on the other hand, with his gang of young men is forcing his way to power, urging his people to live dangerously, to go forward and conquer and it is marvellous what he has achieved.

The time has come when the younger men in democratic states must ask themselves honestly, whether they are really satisfied to sit back and leave the government of the country to their elders, while they avoid tasks that may be irksome and disagreeable; or whether they are so obsessed by their own unreliability and lack of responsibility that they have come to consider themselves incapable of anything more practical than destructive criticism? Either of these positions is a positive danger to liberty.

There can be one outcome and it is that democratic countries will be forced to adopt the methods of the totalitarian states, not because they make people happier or provide a better way of living; but as necessary to self-preservation.

led and butter has practically disappeared from the shops.

June 10—Yesterday the mark reached 86,000 to the dollar. The shopping markets are the scene of bitter wrangling, relieved only by grim jests. In a so called 'hunger demonstration' in the streets of Berlin yesterday a man carried on a pole a placard with the legend: "The dollar rose 10,000 marks yesterday; did our wages?"

July 22—The dollar is now 350,200. There was an outbreak of Bolshevism in Breslau. A large mob raided the commercial centre of the town and broke into, and looted fifty or sixty of the large shops, causing enormous losses to the owners. Six rioters were killed and a score or more wounded.

July 25—Last week we were gasping at the idea of getting 1,000,000 marks for a pound and now it is 2 1-2 million. Imagine paying for one's dinner with half a dozen packets of paper, each as large as a Bible.

July 26—The printing presses are working day and night to supply the Reichbank with 2,000,000,000,000 mark-notes daily but there are still not enough to go around. (a trillion to you, a term heretofore only used in astronomy.)

August 6—Villagers who used to send butter to Berlin are no longer troubling to do so. They already have crates in their cottages packed with worthless paper money.

On and on go the reports, so fantastic that they would tax the genius of an Orson Welles to portray. Life insurance, savings deposits, loans, mortgages, rents became nothing over night. Household treasures were auctioned off to the tourists who descended like vultures on the stricken country. In its wake the inflation left famine, rickets and poverty. From the memory of it grew the bitterness which now imbues its Nazi leaders. And all this because a government thought that the most expedient method of meeting its indebtedness was to issue currency against it.

Social Credit claims that its policy is not inflation. Perhaps the followers of Blackmore and Aberhart will consider the fate of the reichmark and look again at the label of their policy before ministering to the dollar.
