Local Screen to Get Famous Ozarks Story

Starring three of Hollywood's foremost players and directed by one of Hollywood's most expert megaphone-wielders, "The Shepherd of the Hills", Paramount's film version in Technicolor of the famous novel by Harold Bell Wright, opens To-day at the Prince Edward Theatre.

Directed by Henry Hathaway, the film based on Wright's lusty tale of the Ozarks stars John Wayne, Betty Field and Harry Carey, and features in its exceptionally fine cast Reulah Bondi, James Barton, Samuel S. Hinds, Marjorie Main and Marc Lawrence.

Hathaway is the brilliant director whose remarkable film-making talents gave us "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" in Technicolor several film seasons ago. Paramount followed the logical course in assigning Hathaway, in view of his success with that picture and others, to do "The Shepherd of the Hills".

The salty, picturesque Ozark characters delineated by Wright are ones to delight the hearts of any actor. It's easy to understand why many of Hollywood's most famous stars sought parts in the picture John Wayne, Betty Field and Harry Carey were no doubt delighted when they succeeded in winning roles in the film.

John Wayne, we understand, enacts the role of Young Matt. He is the reckless, romantic young mountain buck, whose love is spurned by Betty Field, in the role of Sammy Lane, the vivacious young spitfire of the hills, because she fears that Wayne's hotheadedness might lead him one day to have a killing on his conscience. Harry Carey portrays The Shepherd, a role of great strength and emotional opportunity, as written by Harold Bell Wright.

With all these people of screen importance involved in the making of "The Shepherd of the Hills", it should be a picture well worth seeing.

For years, millions of readers of the Harold Bell Wright saga of the Ozarks have been thrilled by the exciting story and moved by the passionate romance.

"I'll Wait for You" Comes to Capitol Screen

ROBT. STERLING AND MARSHA HUNT TEAM IN STORY OF CITY VS. FARM

Robert Sterling and Marsha Hunt, who dawned on the screen as a romantic team in "The Penalty", are reunited in a tense human drama in "I'll Wait for You", Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's story of loyalty and regeneration coming To-day to the Capitol Theatre.

"I'll Wait for You" deals with a young racketeer, educated in the underworld, who in escaping from the police is forced to hide on a down-East farm. Among simple, trusting country folk he finds a new side of life he never knew existed and a new philosophy. The experience opens the path of a new life and a new happiness for him.

Sterling plays Lucky Wilson, the racketeer, and Miss Hunt the farm girl with whom he falls in love and whose influence does much to inspire him to a new mode of life. Little Virginia Weidler has one of her best roles as the ubiquitous "kid sister", first a nuisance to the love-making of the guest from the city, and later his loyal friend.

Robert B. Sinclair directed with a cast that includes Paul Kelly, Fay Holden, Mickey Rooney's mother in the Hardy Family pictures, Henry Travers, Don Costello, Reed Hardley, Theodor von Eltz, Veda Ann Borg, Carol Hughes and others.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 16—(CP)—Wheat futures eased on Winnipeg grain exchange Saturday in sympathy with Chicago. Final values were 1-2—3-8 lower, December 72 3-4 cents, May 76 3-8—1-2, July 77 3-4.

Suspension of grain trading at Buenos Aires was said to have had a bearish effect on the Chicago market which showed losses of more than a cent near the close.

Winnipeg trading was almost at a standstill throughout the session, a minor export trade in Canadian wheat for the United Kingdom was reported.

S. C. M. SING SONG— The Student's Christian Movement regular Sunday evening sing song was held in the Central Christian Church last evening following the regular service. Rev. Neil Herman, pastor, delivered a short and stirring talk to the students based on the three words, Christian—Students—Movement.

REV. T. H. B. SOMERS R.A.F. CHAPLAIN—The appointment of the Rev. T. H. B. Somers as Chaplain in the R.C.A.F. with rank of Flight Lieutenant has been officially gazetted. His commission requires Mr. Somers to devote part of his time to the R.C.A.F. Station at Charlottetown while retaining his connection with St. James Church. A morning service will be conducted on Sundays at the Airport and other duties will take up two afternoons each week.

SAINT JAMES CHURCH

Preaching on the oft-misunderstood words of our Lord, "Judge not, that ye be not judged," the Rev. T. H. Bussell Somers, M.A., S.T.M., said "Judge not. But how can we help it? Ought we to help it? Our ethical verdicts gather themselves into worthy tradition and into the standards of our common life. Who would live without them? They are our compass and, like a compass they point to a mysterious "magnetic north." Standards are not merely man made; they are the constraint of God on the mind of man. To keep silent before iniquity, to becloud right and wrong until both are lost in a fog, to regard Jesus and Judas as altogether alike is—well, not the way of life. Our power to judge is the mark of manhood, the sign-royal of godliness. As indeed our Lord would be the first to tell us. Then what does He mean "Judge not?" The Greek word is "judge censoriously," almost "condemn." There is a distinct line drawn between moral appraisal and blame-filled condemnation. We must keep the line. One side is day, the other night. There is urgency in the warning: "Do not condemn, that ye be not condemned. For with the sharp censure of your judgments, ye shall be judged." In short, this kind of judgment is its own boomerang.

In the morning preaching on the texts St. Luke 23 23: 33 and St. Matthew 28: 19-20, the minister presented the claims of the church in all phases of her missionary work to the loyal support of every parishioner.

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH

"To be ignorant of Bible prophecies is to be ignorant of history. Bible prophecy is history written before hand. Why should it be thought a thing incredible that the Spirit of God should write before the time of fulfilment, concerning the things which, today, are moving, convulsing and profoundly changing the face of the whole world," so declared Rev. Neil Herman last night in the Central Christian Church.

He said, moreover: "Why should we hesitate to believe that in the course of events, in the run of possibilities which no one can reasonably deny, the shadow of a personality—the shadow of the Anti-Christ—is already cast upon the world? A personality, unhindered by man's sin, unfettered by man's lust for power, victory and world power, will surely enthrone himself, until He comes whose right it is to reign. That man of sin—the Antichrist—will bring under his sway the whole economic, political and religious world, separated from God, through a deliberate and tragic rejection of the only true God and Jesus Christ, the only true Saviour and King of Kings and Lord of Lords."

"No man shall buy or sell save he who has the mark or the name of the Beast, or the number of his name. The Beast is the Antichrist. His reign will be short and his doom certain."

"Standing between our day and the events of this hour and the climax of man's self-government, is the Man Christ Jesus. The world sees Him not, knows Him not, receives Him not. He is still despised and rejected of men, but marked and sealed by Almghty God to reign forever, and of His Kingdom—here on earth—there shall be no end.

"The mark of the Beast shall be obliterated by the mark of the Cross. The church, sealed by His blood is sealed for separation from the world, sealed for conflict and sealed for glory, and he who by faith accepts this Christ, this One and only Saviour, is sealed for time and eternity. Though floods and flames and war oppose; though hell itself arise in deadly opposition, he whom God seals through Christ, can defy every foe and scorn and drive back the last dart of the powers of hell."

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

At the morning service the Rev. I. Judson Levy in recognition of "Convention Sunday" took as the subject of his sermon "The Task Before Us". The task is the building of the Kingdom. "Us" means the Church world wide, our own particular position of the world wide Church, and the definite responsibility of our own Church in this place.

Let us recall the dark days of 1940 when our Empire was faced with its greatest threat, and the trumpet call of Winston Churchill "Let us to the Task." There are before us certain things that are more valuable than life, certain things for whose preservation no effort, no sacrifice is too great. Among these is the Church, the body of Christ which has preserved for us his spirit and message through the years. Loyalty to ones own particular branch means loyalty to the Church world wide. All denominations bring their own particular contribution, for example our own stands now as always for the primacy of the New Testament as our authority, for the separation of Church and State, for Christ as the head of the Church, for personal faith and acceptance of Christ.

Each division of the Church has certain contributions to make, certain duties to meet and the failure of any is loss to all. In this task before us we must give more of ourselves to the Church, we must with deeper consecration and wider generosity give more of our substance. The need of Missions, foreign and home was eloquently set forth and the challenge to rise to all demands proclaimed.

The anthem of the morning was the traditional Welsh air "Gently Lord, O Gently Lead Us." At the evening worship, 7 p.m., the sermon by Mr. Levy was "Can We Know The Way?" The anthem, "The Shepherd's Psalm," (Protheroe).
