Andy Hardy sets off for college determined to make good, as his father did before him. On the train he meets Bonita Granville and learns she is to be a co-ed at Wainright. He also meets and dislikes Herbert Marshall—mainly because Bonita seems attracted to Marshall. Also on the train are the Wilde Twins, who add a novel twist to the plot because they pretend to be only one person instead of two. Andy hits trouble immediately when he responds to the flirtatious wink of Lee, only to be nipped soon after by her twin sister, Lyn, who doesn't believe in playing around.

Andy Discovers Trouble

At college Andy discovers the twins' dilemma and tries to help them out. To do this he has to break a date with Bonita, leading her right into Marshall's arms. Andy is disgusted and is about to leave college in despair when the judge, his father, arrives and straightens out the mess to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Smythe Proud Of N. H. L. Record In War Effort

MONTREAL, Feb. 5 — (CP) — If Conny Symthe of Toronto Maple Leafs has his way, the National Hockey League is going to do a lot more pointing with pride to the 165 former N.H.L. players in the armed forces, and at the same time it is going to press for a clear mandate to take back hockey players who have received their army discharge.

"Why should we cringe and cower?" Conny is quoted as asking in Baz O'Meara's column in the Montreal Star today. "Why should we be booted around as though we were doing something dishonorable and against the war effort?

"Nobody points out that we have 165 of our men in the services. Three of our Maple Leaf players, Fox, Garrett and Tilson, were killed overseas. Fox had already played in the N.H.L., so had Garrett and everybody says Tilson would have been a star. He was on our direct list.

(Smythe was referring to Jack Fox of Winnipeg, the first professional hockey player to be killed overseas, Albert (Red) Tilson of Regina, and Dudley (Red) Garrett of Toronto. Fox and Tilson served with the army, Garrett with the navy.)

"Show me any baseball team that has lost three players killed. Show me any other sport, or, in fact, any business that has placed over 50 per cent of its men under the colors.

"It is time we quit pussyfooting, time we laid our cards on the table. The government is unaware of our contribution because nobody has had the gumption to tell the plan facts.

"All we ask is that 150 men be permitted to play hockey next year. We ask that men who have done everything the government has asked them to do should be allowed to pursue their business the same as everybody else.

"Some of these players have been unable to go overseas because they were retained in Canada by their superiors. That is not their fault. Yet they are not permitted to rejoin their clubs in full measure. Why the discrimination? If any other people are demobilized, or any others deferred for recall, for instance to the R.C.A.F., they can cross the line under the usual regulations

"We ask 150 players out of a manpower pool of 142,000,000 people inclusive of those in the United States. We don't want anyone eligible for military service. The fact is known, has been broadcast, is conceded. One would think we have been negligent of our obligations. I didn't get this game leg and this wound in my back when nearly 50 year of age making victory bond speeches or writing columns condemning everybody but myself for not going overseas."

Haegg And Lidman Expect Fast Trip

LONDON, Feb. 5 — (CP) — Gunder Haegg and Haakon Lidman, the two Swedish track stars, said today they had been told they wouldn't need to wait long for transportation to the United States.

Under security restrictions on all travel from Britain, the runners weren't told exactly when they would leave.

They had been told it would be at least 10 days before they could leave because of innoculations.

Transport difficulties that threatened to cancel their trip were overcome after consultation between the athletes, Swedish authorities and air lines. They are due to arrive in the United States in the middle of the month.

Special lighting devices have been developed for inspection of gun bores and shell cases.

To Probe Gambling On Baseball Games

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 5—Gamboling on baseball games will be subjected to a searching investigation by both major leagues and steps will be taken to ban advance information of pitching selections and other "inside" dope that might promote the illegal practice.

Presidents Will Harridge of the American League and Ford Frick of the National League today declared an open war on the gambling element that they fear will swing toward baseball if United States race tracks still are closed in April when the season opens.

"I note that the International League has forbidden managers to give out pitchers' names in advance," observed Harridge. "We will proceed along the same line."

Frick said he had similar moves in mind and other more direct checks that could not be disclosed for obvious reasons.

"We will take every precaution to stamp out any sign of gambling in ball parks as we always have done," commented the National League head. "With a lot of youngsters in the big show for the first time we will have to be extra careful."

Both league executives said they had no immediate plans for a trip to Washington as a result of the joint declaration naming them as baseball's representatives in Washington.

"It all depends on what happens to the national service legislation," stated Harridge.

SAYS NEW POLAND

Prussia, including Konigsberg, probably would lie within the border of the Lithuanian Soviet republic and the remainder within Poland. He said the question of the Teschen area taken from Czecho-Slovakia by the pre-war Polish Government under the Munich agreement of 1938 would be settled in "friendly negotiations."

Beirut spoke of the future Poland in the centre of one of the war's most devastated cities. The council president said that more than a year would be needed just to clear away Warsaw's debris and many years would be needed for reconstruction.

SOVIETS KEEP—

sian officials and Russian policies generally predominate.

At his news conference today the acting Secretary of State, Joseph C. Grew, was asked to comment on the Rome disclosures and he outlined the situation this way:

For some time the United States has asked that American correspondents be permitted freely into the Balkan countries and that the Soviet head of the control commission in each country be authorized to act on applications for admittance.

As the matter now stands the Soviet Government prefers to consider each application separately. Mr. Grew said it prefers this course for military reasons.

A State Department report said Marshal Tito's Government had permitted one British correspondent to go into Yugoslavia but that otherwise no American or British correspondents had been given official permission to go from Italy to Yugoslavia since a press party made a brief trip to Belgrade in November.

In Albania which, like Yugoslavia, is a liberated country, the administration has rejected all correspondents' requests and it was also reported that correspondents in Italy had met with no success to go to any other places in the Balkans.

Deaths from starvation in Bengal province alone were estimated at 100,000 a week during the 1943 famine in India.

LIBERAL DEFEAT—

polled 7,358 votes, V. C. Porteous, National Government (Conservative) had 5,771 and Mr. Case had 2,434.

Rural voters went to the polls in spite of the worst road conditions in years. Although main highways were open for auto traffic, farmers on the back concessions had to travel by cutter and sleigh.

The Liberals, who had hoped for an acclamation for the Defence Minister, argued during the campaign it was essential he have a seat in the House of Commons. The Progressive Conservatives argued that the war effort and the flow of reinforcements to the overseas army would have to go on whether or not he was elected.

Although the Grey North voters showed little visible reaction to the flood of campaign oratory, 70.13 per cent of them went to the polls—just about the figure estimated during the day by Returning Officer Arthur Moore.

Main highways were open to motor traffic despite a three-inch snowfall yesterday and cutters were pressed into service by party workers in back-road rural areas.

Among the early voters was Garfield Case, Progressive Conservative candidate. Opposing him but without the right to vote in the by-election was Defence Minister McNaughton, Liberal candidate who lives in Ottawa, and Air Vice Marshal A.E. Godfrey, C.O.F. candidate and a resident of Cananoque, Ont.

Mr. Case was the only one of the three candidates with any experience in the political field. He sought election to the Federal House in the general elections of 1940 when he ran as a National-Liberal Progressive candidate. William Telford Liberal, whose resignation because of ill-health opened the constituency for a by-election, polled 7,538 votes. V.C. Porteous, National Government (Conservative), 5771 and Mr. Case, 2,434.

Liberals and Conservatives have been just about equally successful in the riding since confederation. The constituents, made up mostly of British stock families who settled on the shores of Georgian Bay have sent 11 Liberals and 10 Conservative members to the Commons since confederation.

Mr. Case entered municipal politics here in 1940, being elected to the City Council. He was elected Mayor by acclamation for the 1942 term and won re-election by acclamation for 1943 and 1944. He didn't contest the mayoralty for 1945 due to his byelection candidacy.

After being rejected three times as medically unfit for military service in the First Great War he finally was accepted by the Royal Flying Corps and served two years before his discharge in 1916 with a 50 per cent disability.

For three years after his discharge he was in charge of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association co-operative at Imperial, Sask. He came to Owen Sound 13 years ago and now is branch manager of an insurance company.

Discusses Marketing In Post-War Period

OTTAWA, Feb. 5 — (CP) — R. D. Sutton of Kentville, N.S., president of the Canadian Horticultural Council said today it now would appear necessary for the council to take "definite action" on the question of centralized marketing.

Addressing the opening session of the council's 23rd annual meeting here, Mr. Sutton said that in the last two years the council had gone on record as being unanimously in favor of centralized selling.

"With a return of more than 75 per cent of the ballots mailed to every apple grower in Nova Scotia, more than 80 per cent requested a continuance of centralized marketing after the war," he said. "This is absolute evidence of the wishes of growers in at least one province. It now would appear necessary for us to take more definite action."

Except in British Columbia no necessary governmental action has been taken on the question. There was need for more research work. Apple growers in Nova Scotia were unable to control orchard pests with approved pesticides, and some varieties of apples were breaking down earlier in the season than formerly.

Producers and shippers should meet annually just before the apple marketing season. Unless Canadian producers were well organized they would not obtain their fair share of the consumer's dollar. It was important that the council support the activities of the Canadian research committee.

The convention should discuss the matter of free trading under price ceilings in connection with some vegetables and fruits—a policy in effect now for nearly a year—and determine which was best for producers and consumers.

E. J. Chambers, administrator of fresh fruits and vegetables for the Prices Board, said that in view of the trend of the war price ceilings could be expected to be in effect for at least another season.

INTER - TROOP HOCKEY

A sparkling bit of amateur hockey was displayed on the ice at the Upper Queen Street rink on Saturday night, February 3, when the Ninth (Salvation Army) Troop contested and defeated the Third (St. James) Troop in an exhibition game. The tangle in the first period ended in a balanced score with each team having one goal to its credit. The second period, however, was the ill-fated session for the boys from St. James. Four times the puck sailed into their net and only once did it find its way into the net of their opponents, bringing the score to 5-2. In the last period the St. James Troop made an attempted rally and, slipping the puck in once, set the final score at 5-3.

Lineups:

S. Army Troop: Goal, Vesey; defence, Williams, Haynes; forwards, Chandler, Larter, Gay, McInnis, Downe.

St. James Troop: Goal Hine; defence, Hurst, Sear; forwards, Knox, P. Jardine, Holmes, D. Jardine, Creelman, Allen.
