One of the best known and highest respected residents of Orwell Cove, P. E. I., passed quietly and peacefully away on Saturday 18th in his 70th year, in the person of Mr. Joseph F. Morrissey. His death was a shock to his many friends, beloved by all who knew him. At his passing the whole community felt the loss of a noble man as was evidenced by the large number who called to view his remains and assembled at the funeral on Wednesday morning to pay their last tribute of respect.

In the death of Mr. James Howard Arthur which occurred at his home on Sunday afternoon, Summerside has lost one of its most loyal and respected citizens. With the exception of Mr. J. R. Kenny, whose barber shop is across the street from the late Mr. Arthur's tinsmith shop, Mr. Arthur was the oldest active business man in Summerside. He started business more than forty-five years ago, when he bought out the tinsmith business of Milton Walsh when that gentleman retired in favour of the Marine Department. His first stand was in the little store at the corner on Water Street next to the railway station, but he only remained there a short time when he removed to premises he occupied up to the time of his fatal illness.

The parcels were opened by Miss Frances MacDowell and the verses read by Mrs. Albert Todd. Miss Carew briefly thanked the donors, and extended an invitation to all present, to call upon her in her new home, the "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow" was sung lustily, the bride-to-be was seized by friendly hands, and bounced. The remainder of the evening was spent socially in conversation, and musical vocal and instrumental. Although only recently coming to the community, by her quiet, and unassuming manner, Miss Carew has won for herself many friends, which was evidenced by the splendid quality of the gifts which she received. Her wishes of the community will follow her down the matrimonial path.

Her many friends learned with regret that Miss Tottie Mawley is leaving Summerside to take up her residence in Charlottetown at the Charlotte Hotel. Miss Mawley has been associated with the business and social life of Summerside for many years. Her father and mother, the late Edwin and Sarah Mawley opened the Clifton House which was built in the 1870's. Mr. Campbell, then Mayor of Summerside, this hotel remained in the hands of the Mawley family, until quite recently. Mr. S. P. Thus is the present proprietor. The Clifton House has always been associated with the social and social life of Summerside. Under the management of the Mawleys it was known to the travelling public as one of the nicest family hotels in the Maritime Provinces. On the occasion of the Governor Generals of Canada to Summerside the Clifton House was the scene of many social functions and many noted and distinguished people have slept beneath its roof.

The Mawleys were an old English family and resided in Charlottetown before coming to Summerside. On the death of their parents, Miss George Mawley, deceased and Miss Tottie carried on the Clifton House and their two sisters, Janie and Carrie ran the Mawley House, which is now under the management of Mrs. Bruce Davidson.

A photograph of the portrait of His Excellency, Sir Charles Augustus Fitzroy, Lieutenant-Governor of the colony of Prince Edward Island, 1837-1841, has been taken and hung in his proper setting between his predecessor and successor in the Confederation Chamber. The portrait, a mezzotint engraving, which was received a few months ago, also hangs in the Confederation Chamber. It is the gift of the Hon. E. A. Fitzroy, Speaker of the House of Commons, Westminster, and completed the array of the Province's twenty-six governors from 1770 until the present, save one.

The discovery of the portrait opened a search over a period of many months by Mr. H. R. Stewart, Deputy Provincial Secretary, Treasurer and Archivist, has reason for the satisfaction he feels in its acquisition. Unearthed portraits of the great in Prince Edward Island's past and the discovery has a pleasing interest in the collection in the Confederation Chamber has been his joy since taking over the office.

How the Speaker of the British House of Commons became interested in the collection, Mr. Stewart explained with enthusiasm. Last summer the British Archivist, H. M. S. Dragon, visited the port of Charlottetown. Aboard it was a youthful officer, Commander R. O. Fitzroy, son of the distinguished Speaker. When told of the archivist's vain attempt to unearth the much desired picture for the collection, he replied: "Why, I believe he is one of our forebears. Father may be able to help you." And "Father" did!

Several weeks later along came the portrait with the compliments of Captain the Hon. E. A. Fitzroy.

Letters and questionnaires have found their way to England, Scotland, Ireland, and even to the Antipodes in an effort to obtain other portraits for the collection which is now complete except for a likeness of His Excellency Charles Douglas Smith, Lieutenant-Governor of the colony from July 13, 1813, to Nov. 12, 1824.

At the Rotary Club luncheon yesterday at which the President, Mr. W. A. Stewart presided, the Premier, Hon. W. J. P. MacMillan, M. D., was the speaker. Dr. MacMillan, who spoke on the King George Jubilee Cancer Fund Campaign, at the outset commended the address by His Excellency the Governor General as a splendid gesture. Some may say that we are becoming tired of continued activity in life, after all, is simply one duty and responsibility after another.
