CRADLE AND COFFIN.

Two receptacles awaiting
Meet the needs of human kind;
Each with its appropriate freighting,
Each with garlands intertwined;
Cradle, where the dimpled boy
Coffin, which the dead encloses.

Cradle, placed in marriage chamber,
Swaying, swaying to and fro;
Up its sides the children clamber,
Toiling in a rosy glow:
Whispering angels oft descending,
Sweetest dreams the child are lending.

Coffin, midway placed, and dreary,
Cold, funeral draped, and still;
And its tenant resting weary,
With the death-damp stealing chill:
Shrinking shapes, grief-strunk and weeping,
Round the couch are vigils keeping.

Cradle—coffin—intervening
O, the long and aching years!
Soul, slow learning time's dark meaning,
Eyes out-looking through their tears:
Kindly, seems the death-cold stillness,
Genial, seems the rest and chillness.

All the nooks where self lies hidden
Memory searches to the core;
Till dark spectres come unbidden
Through the lattice and the door;
Come, upbraiding our omissions—
Self-convicting our commissions.

Loving deeply, fondly, truly,
We infinitude demand;
Yielding up spontaneous, duly,
Free-will offerings, heart and hand;
Thence this anguish is but telling
Of the depth whence love was welling.

LIABILITY OF NEWSPAPER SUBSCRIBERS.

We invite the attention of Subscribers to the following extract from a late London Paper, by which it will be seen that the principle has been finally settled by the Courts of Law in reference to the legal responsibilities of subscribers to Newspapers:

"1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary, are considered as wishing to continue their subscriptions.

"2. If subscribers order the discontinuance of their Periodicals, the Publisher may send them, until all arrears are paid, and Subscribers are responsible for all the numbers sent.

"3. If Subscribers neglect or refuse to take their Periodicals from the office to which they are directed, they are held responsible till they have settled their Bills and ordered their Periodicals to be discontinued. Sending numbers back, or leaving them in the Office, is not such notice of discontinuance, as the Law requires.

"4. If subscribers remove to other places without informing the Publisher, and their periodical is sent to the former direction, they are held responsible.

"5. The Courts have decided, that refusing to take a Newspaper or Periodical from the office, or removing and leaving it uncalled for, until all arrears are paid, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

The above law has also been acted upon in the United States: the following from the New York Tribune, clearly shews "The liability of Subscribers to Newspapers and Periodicals," is not in many cases, duly and correctly considered. A case has recently been decided, which we think will awaken attention on the subject. Mr. Jasper Harding, of Philadelphia, not long since, recovered a large sum (about $400 we believe) for a subscription to the Pennsylvanian Inquirer, from a man residing in Rhode Island. The circumstances were these—the subscriber took the paper for two years, and then sent to the Publisher notice of discontinance, without forwarding the money for payment. The Publisher took no notice of this, nor several subsequent notices of refusal to take the papers from the Post Office. The result was that, notwithstanding the Rhode Islander did not receive the paper for several years, yet he was forced to pay Mr. Harding the whole amount up to the period claimed in the Bill."

JUVENILE SIMPLICITY.—A friend says, the following story is a fact. Two boys of tender year, who went by the names of Tom and Jack, became members of a district school in a certain New England town. On making their appearance, the teacher called them up to stand before the assembled school, and proceeded to make certain interrogatories concerning their names, age, etc.

"Well, my fine lad," said the teacher to the first one, "what is your name?"

"Tom," promptly answered the juvenile.

"Tom!" said the teacher—"that does not sound well. Remember always to speak the full name. You should have said Thomas. Now, boy Jack," turning to the other boy whose expectant face suddenly lighted up with the satisfaction of a newly comprehended idea,)—"now, then, will you tell me what your name is?"

"Jack-ass!" replied the lad, in a tone of confident decision.

WHAT WE CALL DUTIES.—Every man ought to pay his debts—if he can. Every man ought to help his neighbour—if he can. Every man and woman ought to get married—if they can. Every man should do his work to suit his customers—if he can. Every man should please his wife—if he can. Every wife should please her husband—if she can. Every one should take a newspaper, and PAY FOR IT—anyhow.

NEW CURE FOR TOOTHACHE.—A writer in a late number of a Medical Journal says:—"Gum Copal, when dissolved in chloroform, forms an excellent compound for stuffing the holes of decayed teeth. I have used it very frequently, and the benefit, which my patients have derived from it, has been truly astonishing. The application is simple and easy. I clean out the hole, and moisten a little cotton with the solution; introduce this into the decayed part, and in every instance, the relief has been almost instantaneous. The chloroform removes the pain, and the gum copal resists the action of saliva, and as the application is so agreeable, those who may labour under this dreadful malady would do well to make a trial of it."

CHINESE MODE OF FEELING THE PULSE.—The Chinese physicians, it is well known, have long had the credit of paying very peculiar attention to the pulse. The patient is required to be laid in bed, with his arm resting on a cushion. The physician must be seated, and both parties are to remain silent, calm, and collected. The fingers are next to be applied, in due succession, one after another, in order to judge of the compressibility of the artery. The Chinese do not infer solely from the rapidity of the pulsation. Their mode is to compare the number of pulsations of the artery with the intervals of the respiration; if the pulsation of a man in moderate health, they consider in relation to the time of a natural inspiration and expiration. Four beats of the pulse during this period, they consider as indicating perfect health. If it exceed five pulsations, it is considered too quick. It is required to reckon five pulsations in order to form a correct indication. Their chief divisions of the pulse are four: the superficial, the profound, the quick, and the slow. These they consider as having relation to the four temperaments, the choleric, the sanguine, the phlegmatic, and the melancholy.

ASKING TOO MUCH.—A young couple were sitting together, undoubtedly in some romantic spot, with birds and flowers around; at least the reader is led to infer that they had all these "appliances and means to boot," when the following conversation ensued:

"My dear, if the sacrifice of my life would please thee, most gladly would I lay it down at thy feet."

"Oh, sir, you are too kind! But it just reminds me, that I wish you would gratify me by discontinuing the use of tobacco."

"Can't think of it. It's a habit to which I am wedded."

"Very well, sir; since this is the way in which you sacrifice your life for me, and as you are about to abandon the idea, I'll take care that you are never wedded to me also, as it would be bigamy."

A GREAT INVENTION.—Oswego Journal says, that Professor Willis, of Rochester, has invented a self-winding clock, which is the greatest mechanical wonder of the day. It has been examined by several scientific gentlemen, who are unanimous in pronouncing it a complete triumph. The Editor says, that Mr. Willis, "in this invention, has succeeded in finding the principle of perpetual motion, for so long as the component parts of the clock exist, it will continue its action, and keep constantly in motion."

HERE IS YOUR REMEDY!

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

A MOST MIRACULOUS CURE OF BAD LEGS, AFTER 43 YEARS' SUFFERING.

Extract of a Letter from Mr. William Galpin, of 70, Saint Mary's Street, Weymouth, dated May 15, 1851.

To Professor HOLLOWAY,

SIR,—At the age of 18 my wife (who is now 61) caught a violent cold, which settled in her legs, and ever since that time they have been more or less sore, and greatly inflamed. Her agonies were distracting, and for months together she was deprived entirely of rest and sleep. Every remedy that medical men advised was tried, but without effect; her health suffered severely, and the state of her legs was terrible. I had often read your Advertisements, and advised her to try your Pills and Ointment; and, as a last resource, after every other remedy had proved useless, she consented to do so. She commenced six weeks ago, and, strange to relate, is now in good health. Her legs are painless, without sore or scar, and her sleep sound and undisturbed. Could you have witnessed the sufferings of my wife during the last 43 years, and contrast them with her present enjoyment of health, you would indeed feel delighted in having been the means of so greatly alleviating the sufferings of a fellow creature.

(Signed) WILLIAM GALPIN.

A PERSON 70 YEARS OF AGE CURED OF A BAD LEG, OF THIRTY YEARS' STANDING.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. Wm. Abbs, Builder of Gas Ovens, of Rushcliffe, near Huddersfield, dated May 31, 1851.

To Professor HOLLOWAY,

SIR,—I suffered for a period of thirty years from a bad leg, the result of two or three different accidents at Gas Works; accompanied by scorbutic symptoms. I had recourse to a variety of medical advice, without deriving any benefit, and was even told that the leg must be amputated; yet, in opposition to that opinion, your Pills and Ointment have effected a complete cure in so short a time, that few who had not witnessed it would credit the fact.

(Signed) WILLIAM ABBS.

The truth of this statement can be verified by Mr. W. P. England, Chemist, 13, Market Street, Huddersfield.

A PAINFUL BAD BREAST CURED IN ONE MONTH.

Extract of a Letter from Mr. Frederick Turner, of Penshurst, Kent, dated December 13, 1850.

To Professor HOLLOWAY,

DEAR SIR,—My wife had suffered from Bad Breasts for more than six months, and during the whole period had the best medical attendance, but all to no use. Having before been healed an awful wound in my own leg by your unrivalled medicine, I determined again to use your Pills and Ointment, and therefore gave them a trial in her case, and fortunate it was, I did so, for in less than a month a perfect cure was effected, and the benefit that various other branches of my family have derived from their use is really astonishing. I now strongly recommend them to all my friends.

(Signed) FREDRICK TURNER.

A WONDERFUL CURE OF A DANGEROUS SWELLING OF THE KNEE.

Copy of a letter from John Forfar, an Agriculturist, residing at Newborough, near Hexham, dated May 15, 1850.

To Professor HOLLOWAY,

SIR,—I was afflicted with a swelling on each side of the leg, rather above the knee, for nearly two years, which increased to a great size. I had the advice of three eminent Surgeons in turn, and was an inmate of the Newcastle infirmary for four weeks. After various modes of treatment had been tried, I was discharged as incurable. Having heard so much of your Pills and Ointment, I determined to try them, and in less than a month, I was completely cured. What is more remarkable I was engaged twelve hours a day in the Hay Harvest, and although I have followed my laborious occupation throughout the winter, I have had no return whatever of my complaint.

(Signed) JOHN FORFAR.

AN INFLAMMATION IN THE SIDE PERFECTLY CURED.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. Francis Arnot, of Brechouse, Lothian Road, Edinbro', dated April 29th, 1851.

To Professor HOLLOWAY,

SIR,—For more than twenty years my wife has been subject, from time to time, to attacks of inflammation in the side, for which she was bled and blistered to a great extent; still the pain could not be removed. About four years ago, she saw in the papers, the wonderful cures effected by your Pills and Ointment, and thought she would give them a trial. To her great astonishment and delight, she got immediate relief from their use, and after persevering for three weeks, the pain in her side was completely cured, and she has enjoyed the best of health for the last four years.

(Signed) FRANCIS ARNOT.
