Poetry.

TO HER WHOM I LOVE.

BY STEUBEN.

I love thee ever; though the seasons change,
And the thick leaves fall from the forest trees,
Undying blooms love's summer in my heart,
There shall the memory fresh for ever live
Of every dear delight by thee confessed;
Thy image there enshrined for ever rules;
Moves and controuls each impulse of my soul;
Inspires each gentle thought, each action bends
Submissive to the sway of love's decree.
Though I were buffeting the sea's mad waves,
Or traced my solitary way the desert o'er,
Or 'mid the Arctic horrors shuddering strayed,
Still pure and ardent would my love tend thee,
And time shall change it not. The outward man,
Though sickness may assail, it cannot change
The aspect of a heart by love inspired.
But never wavering, ardent and secure,
Through every evil, every good report,
Through sickness and through health, through life, through death,
Through time's vicissitudes, and through the far
Eternity, whose depths no eye can scan,
Brighter and purer still that love shall glow.

English Mail of March 6.

The chief topic of interest in Great Britain is the policy of the new administration, which has been partly disclosed by the Premier.

In the House of Lords on the 27th, the Earl of Derby rose to explain the motives which induced him to accept office, and said, that though the resignation of the late administration had taken him completely by surprise, he had determined not to shrink from the responsible office of forming a new government. He said they would all agree with him on the necessity of maintaining universal peace, which could best be effected by observing towards foreign powers a calm and temperate policy, and by respecting in all nations, both great and small, their right to manage their own affairs; that nations should act towards one another with dignity and forbearance, and that no state, any more than any private individual, should be ashamed to make reparation for injuries. He alluded to the strength of the navy, and said he believed it would be effectual for all purposes, and that it was never more efficient than at this moment.—The military force was adapted to repel invasion, and though he felt no alarm on that subject, he thought that the present moment was favorable for so organizing the undisciplined valor of the country, that they might resist to the greatest advantage the trained armies of an invader. He then warned political refugees, that the government would not tolerate any attempt on their part against foreign powers. He approved of the principles adopted in the United States, of taxing all those imports which entered into competition with the produce of their own soil; but though this was his opinion, he thought the question could only be satisfactorily solved by a reference to the clearly expressed opinion of the intelligent portion of the community. He stated, that it was not his intention to proceed with the Parliamentary Reform Bill.

NOVEL AND STARTLING PROPOSAL.—A metropolitan correspondent of the Albion describes a somewhat Quixotic scheme, which, he says, is being concocted by the Ministry; no less, in fact, than the enclosure of the Irish Sea, by breakwaters thrown across from Anglesea to the Wicklow mountains, and from Donaghsh-e to Portpatrick. Thus, it is argued, Dublin, Belfast, Liverpool, Whitehaven, and other exposed towns, will be placed beyond reach of any hostile fleet, while, by the shutting out of the tidal wave, "many thousands of acres of land, formerly, no doubt, cornfields, will be reclaimed, sufficient to yield the fifteen per cent. of corn now imported from foreign countries. The whole estuary of the Dee, large tracts of land on the Solway, the entirety of Morecambe Bay, across which the railway will be forthwith completed, so as to bring the mineral districts of Cumberland into immediate contact with the coal fields of Lancashire."

THE NEW CHANCELLOR OF THE EXCHEQUER AND HIS CONSTITUENTS.—Mr. Disraeli has just published an address to the electors of the country of Buckingham, in which he says, "The late Administration fell to pieces from internal dissension, and not from the assault of their opponents; and notwithstanding the obvious difficulties of our position, we have felt, that to shrink from encountering them would be to leave the country without a government and her Majesty without servants. We, in first duty will be, to provide for the ordinary and current exigencies of the public service; but, at no distant period, we hope, with the concurrence of the country, to re-establish a policy in conformity with the principles we have maintained in opposition we felt it our duty to maintain. We shall endeavour to terminate that strife of classes which, of late years, has exercised so pernicious an influence over the welfare of this kingdom; to accomplish those remedial measures which great productive interests, suffering from unequal taxation, have a right to demand from a just Government; to cultivate friendly relations with all foreign powers and secure honourable peace; to uphold in their spirit, as well as in their form, our political institutions; and to increase the efficiency, as well as maintain the rights, of our national and Protestant Church. An Administration formed with these objects, and favourable to progressive improvement in every department of the state, is one which, we hope, may obtain the support and command the confidence of the community, whose sympathies are the best foundation for a strong Administration, while they are the best security for a mild government."

LATE FROM THE CAPE OF GOOD HOPE.

The barque Springbrook arrived at Boston on Friday last, in the short run of 45 days from the Cape of Good Hope, bringing dates to the 27th January, twenty-six days later.

The war with the Kaffirs continued. On the 4th of January news was received at Cape Town of the death of Major Wilmot, of the Royal Artillery, commanding at Fort Peddie. He was shot on New Year's Day, while leading his men in an attack on the enemy in a jungle of Fish River, where it is said that the great Kaffir Chief, Sandhill, had taken refuge.

On the 20th of December, at Manzarana, the English troops had a battle with the Kaffirs and rebel Hottentots, in which 250 of the latter were defeated, with a large number killed and wounded. On the 24th another engagement took place, in which 28 of the enemy were killed.

The whole British force has concentrated at Botterworth, and Sandilli and his people are flying before it into the Bushmen country, a tract lying between the sources of the Beshee and the other rivers of Kaffir land, and the Drakenberg mountains. This is a very fine country, and although estimated at some 4000 square miles, is uninhabited, except by a few bands of roving plunderers. The Fingoes have risen against their old taskmasters, the Kaffirs. On the 3d, at Kawestone, an engagement took place in which twenty-three Kaffirs and four British were killed. The British forces have recaptured 30,000 cattle from the enemy. An attack has been made upon Whittlesea and Shilloh, in which nearly all the inhabitants had been massacred, fourteen only escaping. It was probable that the whole of the mission stations in that part of the country would be entirely ruined and destroyed.

The last accounts are to the effect, that the Kaffirs desire peace and are suing for it, but the Governor refused to see their messengers. It will be a long time, however, before peace can be established in this unhappy country. The papers contain columns of accounts of murders and assassinations by the roadside at noon-day; where the houses of the inhabitants are burnt down and their crops destroyed.

The factory hands, to the number of between three and four thousand, belonging to 18 firms and 23 factories at Redcliffe and Pilkington, turned out against an attempted reduction of the winter's wages.

IRELAND.

The people of Drogheda celebrated the downfall of the Russell ministry by bonfires and other demonstrations. A true bill has been found against Mr. Joseph McCartan, editor of the Dundalk Democrat, for sedition. The earl of Shrewsbury offered £10,000 to build a Roman Catholic cathedral in Chester, and a like sum for a similar purpose in Shrewsbury, and Ireland. Dr. Murray, Roman Catholic archbishop of Dublin, died on the 26th of Feb., in the 83d year of his age.

Thomas Moore, the Irish poet, died at Sloperton Cottage on the 27th, aged 78.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS

CURE OF A DISORDERED LIVER AND BAD DIGESTION.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. R. W. Kirkus, Chemist, 7 Prescot Street, Liverpool, dated 6th June, 1851.

To Professor HOLLOWAY;

SIR,—Your Pills and Ointment have stood the highest on our sale list of Proprietary Medicines for some years. A customer, to whom I can refer for her acquittal, desires me to let you know the particulars of her case. She had been troubled for years with a disordered liver, and bad digestion. On the last occasion, however, the virulence of the attack was so alarming, and the illness so much in an extremity, that doubts were entertained of her not being able to bear up under it; fortunately she was induced to try your Pills, and she informs me that after the first, and each succeeding dose, she had great relief. She continued to take them, and although she used only three Boxes, she is now in the enjoyment of perfect health. I could have sent you many more cases, but the above, from the severity of the attack, and the speedy cure, I think, speaks much in favor of your astonishing Pills.

(Signed) R. W. KIRKUS.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF RHEUMATIC FEVER, IN VAN DIEMEN'S LAND.

Copy of a Letter inserted in the Hobart Town Courier, of the of the 1st March, 1851, by Major J. Walch.

Margaret McConnigan, nineteen years of age, residing at New Town, has been suffering from a violent rheumatic fever for upwards of two months, which had entirely deprived her of the use of her limbs; during this period, she was under the care of the most eminent medical men in Hobart Town, and by them her case was considered hopeless. A friend prevailed upon her to try Holloway's celebrated Pills, which she consented to do, and in an incredibly short space of time they effected perfect cure.

CURE OF A PAIN AND TIGHTNESS IN THE CHEST AND STOMACH OF A PERSON 81 YEARS OF AGE.

From Messrs. Thew & Son, Proprietors of the Lynn Advertiser, who can vouch for the following statement.—August 2, 1851.

To Professor HOLLOWAY.

SIR,—I desire to bear testimony to the good effects of Holloway's Pills. For some years I suffered severely from a pain and tightness in the stomach, which was also accompanied by a shortness of breath, that prevented me from walking about. I am 81 years of age, and notwithstanding my advanced state of life, these Pills have so relieved me, that I can dismiss that ailment, which I should be much acquainted with their virtues. I am now rendered, by their aid, comfortably active, and can take exercise without inconvenience or pain, which I could not do before.

(Signed) HENRY COE,
North Street, Lynn, Norfolk.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF THE GRAVEL, AND A MOST DANGEROUS LIVER COMPLAINT.

Copy of a Letter addressed to J. K. Heydon, Esq., Sidney, New South Wales, dated February 25, 1851.

SIR,—A Mr. Thomas Clark, a settler at Lake George, was for a considerable time seriously afflicted with a complaint of the Liver, together with the Gravel. His medical attendants, after trying all their skill, candidly told him that his case was hopeless, and any further efforts useless. In this situation, and when expecting every day would terminate his existence, a friend recommended him to try Holloway's Pills, and was forlorn hope he did so, the first dose gave him considerable relief, he therefore persevered in taking them according to the directions, and is now restored to perfect health. He will feel great pleasure in confirming this statement, or even make an affidavit to the same effect, should it be required.

(Signed) WM. JONES, Proprietor of Goulburn Herald, New South Wales.

WONDERFUL EFFICACY OF HOLLOWAY'S PILLS IN CASES OF DROPSY.
