Perjury Case Now Before Supreme Court

The case of Leslie Perry charged with perjury opened yesterday at the resumption of the Supreme Court now sitting in Summerside. His Lordship Mr. Jusitce Saunders presided.

The jury on the case are: Leonard Schurman, foreman; Neil MacNevin; James Bryanton Percy Adams; Joseph MacLellan; Frank MacFarlane; Bert Stewart; Russell MacNeill; Russell Ellis; Richard C. Large; John MacPherson and Elmer Gamble.

The charge arose from evidence given at a prohibition trial on April 29th, 1938 before Magistrate Darby. Leslie Perry and his brother were subpoenaed as witnesses for the prosecution when Gabriel Gavin was charged with a violation of the Prohibition Act in March. As a result of evidence given by the two brothers Maurice Perry was charged with perjury and at his prelliminary hearing in June last, Leslie stated that he had lied in his evidence at the prohibition case. The case against Maurice was dismissed and a charge of perjury laid against Leslie.

The first witness for the crown called was Maurice Perry, brother of the accused. He stated that he had been cutting wood on March 11th with Gabriel Gavin and that he had said he would haul wood all day for a pint of "shine" and two bottles of beer. He got the "shine" but not the beer that night. The next day he got two quarts of beer from Gavin. He drank about 1-2 quart there and took the remainder home. Leslie, his brother, was there and he asked if "Gab" had any more beer. They went to "Gab's" house and Leslie asked "Gab" if he had any beer and if he would give some for an order on a loan. Asked what loan was referred to, witness replied "the fishermen's loan for gear." "Gab" went up stairs and got four quarts. They drank two quarts there, the witness said. Leslie was to give one dollar on the loan. He did not know whether his brother paid it or not. Witness stated that at the trial before Mr. Darby Leslie's evidence was opposite to his.

In cross examination by Mr. Wilfred Tanton, witness admitted that he was under suspended sentence for damaging property and that he had been given a two year suspended sentence for stealing lobsters on another occasion. Magistrate Walter E. Darby, Magistrate for Prince County gave evidence that he had tried the case against Gabriel Gavin, that it was adjourned several times and finally disposed of on April 29th. Mr. Darby referring to his notes said, that at the prohibition hearing Maurice Perry had stated that Leslie Perry had produced four quarts of beer from Gabriel Gavin for which Leslie promised to give an order on his bounty cheque for one dollar. Leslie Perry was another witness and he gave evidence that he and Maurice never got any beer from Gavin at Alberton south. Leslie said, "that is my oath." Gavin stated in his evidence that he had never sold any liquor to either of them. Mr. Darby also read extracts from the preliminary hearing on the charge against Maurice Perry for perjury, in which Leslie Perry had stated that what he had said at the prohibition trial was not true, and that his brother's story was true. His excuse for not telling the truth was that he had been asked not to "stick" Gavin. Mr. Wilfred Tanton also gave evidence. That closed the case for the prosecution.

Mr. Wilfred Tanton then opened the case for the defence and called on Gabriel Gavin of Alberton South, who in his evidence denied that he had sold beer to the Perry brothers. He also denied that he had been given an order on a fisherman's loan for beer. It was for traps. In his evidence he stated that he had been asked by Corp. Engles to plead guilty to the excise charge for some beer that they had found on the shore so that the prohibition charge would be withdrawn. He pleaded guilty but it was not his beer.

Leslie Perry the prisoner, then gave evidence on his own behalf. he said, he had been called as a witness at the trial of "Gab" Gavin and that at that trial he had given evidence that he had not bought any liquor from Gavin Then his brother Maurice was charged with perjury and he had been asked by Corp. Engles to change his evidence to clear his brother. He stated Corp Engles had said. "would you sooner see your brother go to the pen for 14 years or stick a bootlegger for three months." I told him I gave evidence and it was the truth. I asked him if I change my evidence what becomes of me and Corp. Engles had told me there would be nothing done if I would change." It was Gavin he was after, not him, the witness testified Corp. Engles had said.

In cross examination the accused said he changed his evidence on account of his brother.

Mrs. Minnie Perry mother of the accused and Mr. Charles Perry, father of the accused, also testified that Corp Engles had asked Leslie to change his evidence promising nothing would be done to him if he did. This was when Corp. Engles came to serve the paper on Maurice for perjury.

Corp. Engles, called by the Crown in rebuttal denied that he had asked Leslie to change his evidence. He had told Leslie all he wanted was the truth. The Court then adjourned until this morning at ten o'clock.

Canadian Liners Held-up By Strike

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, Nov. 30 —(CP Cable) — Three liners, the Canadian National Steamship' Lady Drake and the two Harrison lines ships Inkosi and Dramatist were prevented from discharging or loading cargoes at this West Indies Island today by an unexpected strike of waterfront workers.

Without discharging her cargo but carrying a few light pieces delivered to her from Port Of Spain by rowboat, the Lady Drake sailed for Demerara on the British Guiana Coast.

Union officials said the strike was unofficial and unauthorized. Negotiations for a wage increase have been proceeding between the Union and Shipping Agents for several weeks. The negotiations were believed near termination but workers were said to have become impatient and called the strike today.

Officials continued efforts to settle the strike.

Aberhart Has Interview With Dunning

OTTAWA, Nov. 30—(CP)—Premier William Aberhart of Alberta had a "most satisfactory" interview this afternoon with Finance Minister Dunning on the subject of debt refunding but he would not reveal any details of his plans.

Accompanied by Hon. Solon Low, his Provincial Treasurer, the social credit government leader reached Ottawa today to confer with Mr. Dunning on plans for the refunding of Alberta's $157,000,000 debt, most of which calls for interest of five per cent or higher.

"I was very sorry to find that Mr. Dunning is in ill-health," Mr. Aberhart said. "We had a most satisfactory interview." He would not indicate the form of assistance or co-operation he had requested of the Finance Minister.

Mr. Dunning who is just getting back into harness after a long illness, made a brief an non-committal statement after his talk with Mr. Aberhart.

"Mr. Aberhart desires to arrange a refunding of the debt of his province," the Minister said. "I told him the Dominion Government would be pleased to see any province succeed in any constructive effort along this line."

Mr. Aberhart's immediate problem is the redemption of $3,500,000 in bonds maturing next Jan. 1 and Jan 15. The first named maturity is for $1,000,000 in 5 1-2-per cent, 20-year bonds, and the second for $2,500,000 in five-per cent 15-year bonds.

Students Union Wants Building

EDMONTON, Dec. 1 —(CP) — Construction of a Students' Union building which would cost $150,000 and house a gymnasium, swimming pool, cafeteria, auditorium and undergraduate administration offices is a problem now being pondered by students leaders at University of Alberta.

A campaign is being waged this fall by John Maxwell, Students' council president, and Jack Washbourn editor-in-chief of The Gateway, undergraduate paper.

A special eddition of The Gateway called for a student plebiscite on the idea but no plans for such a vote have been made yet.

According to campaign leaders, $150,000 would enable them to build a structuce 200 foot by 80 feet, with a swimming pool and cafeteria in the basement and an auditorium with gym facilities and Students' union offices on the ground floor.

Careful hoarding of student administration resources for several years has resulted in accomulation of a building fund of approximately $20,000. By adding $7 yearly to undergraduate extra-curricular fees of every full-time student and $2 to fees of summer school scholars, a $130,000 loan could be retired in 25 years, champions of the plan assert.

Another argument for the campaigners is the student-financed covered rink which was built several years ago at a cost of $15,000. A loan for that building was retired in eight years with funds obtained by a $3 yearly assessment on all full-time students.

Full-time student fees now amount to $11 a year.

Since the Students' union is not an incorporated body, the money would have to be borrowed through the University's board of governors Two-thirds of students voting in a plebiscite on the question would be required to approve a heavy increase in their fees.

Many of the institution's officials —and students too —are skeptical of the students ability to finance such an undertaking. Among these is the "first lady" of the campus, Janet Maclennan, vice-president of the Students' council.

Miss Maclennan, thinks no step should be taken until a large and representative body of students requests the council to do so. She is also among those who think the $150,000 figure altogether too low.

COMMISSION ON TRANSPORT MEETS TODAY

Conference In Montreal Will Discuss Establishment Of "Agreed Charges."

OTTAWA, Nov. 30—(CP)—A conference will be held in Montreal tomorrow between officials of the Transport Commission and representatives of the Canadian Railways and industrialists with respect to the establishment of "agreed charges" by the railways.

At the last session of parliament the railways were empowered to enter into agreements with shippers, giving lower freight rates on commodities provided that the shippers undertook to transport all their product by rail between station points. These charges were to be subject to the approval of the Transport Commission.

So far no applications have been received; but the section of the act covering this phase effective only on Nov. 15. In anticipation of applications being made, the Transport Commission drafted a set of resolutions which they submitted to the railways and other parties likely to be interested.

Tomorrow's conference will deal in the main with the rpoposed regulations.

Phantom "Slasher" May Actually Be Phantom, Belief

LONDON, Nov. 30—(AP)—Scotland Yard detectives and provincial police pondered tonight over the possibility that the phantom "slasher" who has terrorized women of the north country may, after all, actually be a phantom.

A 14-year-old school girl of Manchester, who alleged she was wounded on the arm by a man who jumped out of the dark with a razor last night, confessed today she had lied, and that her injury was accidental.

Police recounting numerous attacks—which spread to four other towns after starting at Halifax in Yorkshire a week ago—recalled that all wounds were superficial most of them on the arm, and many on the left arm.

They wondered whether it was possible the victims had injured themselves in an hysterical craving for publicity after the first, and probably authentic assault.

No official conclusions were voiced, because when darkness fell tonight over the bleak northern hills, the "slasher" aparently struck again in the Halifax neighborhood. Mrs. Connie Lamb said she was walking near her home when a man in an automobile stopped and beckoned As she approached, she said, he slashed her forearm and drove away.

Starry List Entered For Widener Cup

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 28 —(AP) — Six of the greatest horses in training —Seabiscuit, War Admiral, Stagehand, Lawrin, Dauber and Pasteurized —have been nominated for the $50,000 added Widener challenge cup at Hialeah Park, March 4, it was announced tonight.

Among them they have accounted for virtually all the major racing features of the United States racing year for three-year-olds and upward.

Three of those named, Stagehand, Seabiscuit and Dauber, are expected to return to California before the Widener challenge race. However, Charles S. Howard, seeking to better the all-time money winning record with Seabiscuit, may bring him here. Seabiscuit has earned $340,480 so far and a victory in the Widener would surpass Sun Beau's mark of $376,744.

Give Informative Addresses Before Fox Gatherings

J.D.J. Forbes, London Fur Trade Commissioner, Among Speakers At Summerside Yesterday.

Features of Fox Educational Week at Summerside yesterday were addresses by Mr. J. D. J. Forbes, Mr. Walter Jones, Hon. W. A Dennis and a fashion parade of fur garments, which were kindly loaned by Messrs R. T. Holman, Ltd., and Sinclair and Stewart, Ltd.

The addresses and fashion parade were in the Capitol Theatre. Mayor Campbell was among those present. Mr. Lidstone presided.

Hon. W. A. Dennis gave a short address on what the Department of Agriculture was doing for the fox industry.

Mr. J. Walter Jones, well known as a leading stock breeder, gave an interesting synopsis of the work he had been doing for the Dominion Department of Agriculture as regards the fox industry. He spoke of the great demand for field work in the industry. He explained that this had been met by the Dominion Government opening up fox demonstration stations in the provinces where the field men could go to for help and advice. Another point discussed was the necessity of having a Dominion wide fur council with two representatives in each province so that the voice of the producers would reach the Department of Agriculture in matters concerning them. The council however must be Dominion wide or it would not have much effect.

Mr. Jones strongly urged all ranchers to stand behind this suggestion. He also said that the appointment of a man in Mr. Forbes capacity as representing the fur industry of Canada in an international capacity should be under the Department of Agriculture and not of the Trades and Commerce Department for the fox business needs a technical agent to do the work properly and in Mr. Forbes ranchers have such a man. He knows the fur trade from the ground up.

Mr. Jones also spoke on diseases of foxes, tariffs and other angles of the industry.

Congratulates Promoters

Mr. J. D. J. Forbes, the guest speaker of the afternoon congratulated the committee on the success of their show. He said he had learned much about the industry since coming to the Island and that he felt the fox men were doing all they could to promote the industry.

Mr. Forbes gave a resume of the silver fox industry from it earliest times in London with some startling figures showing the decline in price.

In pre-war days he said there were many more wild foxes than ranch bred on the London market. The ranch breed did not exceed 2,000 and the average price for the skins on the London auction market was 300 dollars. At that time London was the only market. After the war the situation altered very rapidly. In 1928 there were 24,000 pelts fetching an average price of $98. By 1929 the pelts had increased to 33,000 with the price about the same. In 1930 the pelts had jumped to 54,000 with a drop in price to $67. In 1931 pelts had increased to 103,000 and a decline in price of an average to $44. There were 144,000 pelts averaging $32 in 1932. In 1933 pelts had declined slightly to 137,000 with a higher price of $45.00 for the average. 1934 saw a big jump in pelts to 212,000 with little variation in price. In 1935 the number had increased to 290,000 pelts at an average price of $42. Another big jump came in 1936 with 313,000 and a drop in price to $36. In 1937 there were 350,000 pelts and the average price was $30.00. Last year there were approximately some 475,000 pelts averaging as low as $22.

The picture said Mr. Forbes shows quite distinctly that with the rising quantity of pelts there was a decline in price. Before the war Canada was the only producer of silver fox, now practically all countries produce them. Norway now boasts that she is the premier silver fox producer in the world. The idea of the United States going in for pales gave Norway a lead and they are now going in for brighter pelts. They have the advantage over Canada of a nearness to the markets and have taken the advice of experts in the raising of their foxes. Some Norweigian ranches have some very fine pelts and it will not do to despise them.

Canada must recognize that it produces an article that is sold in a competitive market. This is a challenge said Mr. Forbes that has to be met and he felt sure that it would be met. There is no easy way out but he felt that the indomitable courage of the British race and our pride in originality would come to the fore in this matter. The key to success was cooperation and the producer must do his bit to get over the difficulties. Production on the one side and marketing on the other cooperating with one another could do wonders.

It was his intention on his return to London said Mr. Forbes to hold lectures, exhibitions and shows to bring a knowledge of the fur industry to the general public which should be very beneficial to the trade. Mr. Forbes touched on other angles of the trade before concluding his address.

IMPORTANT RESOLUTION

An important resolution was passed at an open meeting of the fox breeders moved by Captain Read, seconded by B. W. Robinson, that this meeting of Prince Edward Island Fox Breeders go on record as being in favour of setting an ideal standard or uniform type of silver foxes running 65 to 35 per cent silver. Motion carried 18 to 5 with some present not voting.
