Marcyanna Patrick was a member of the Heart of Jesus woman's beneficial association at Baltimore, an organization made up wholly of the female members of the Holy Rosary Catholic Church. One of the by laws provides that in case of the death of a member, six members must act as pall bearers. On Wednesday Mrs. Patrick died, and on Sunday afternoon was buried. The funeral took place from the church, and, with the exception of the officiating priest, not a man participated in the services. Six women, attired in black, and each wearing about the neck a red cloth which fell over the breast, heart shaped, carried the casket to the hearse, and upon the arrival of the cortege at the cemetery they lifted it from the hearse and carried it to the grave. All of the 150 members were present.

GENERALLY PRESCRIBED!

The Idea that Bright's Disease cannot be cured Proven to be a Fallacy.

QUEBEC, Nov. 5.—Local physicians are much gratified over the letter of Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, this province, testifying to his cure of Bright's Disease, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Since the introduction of the remedy in this city, many physicians have not hesitated to prescribe the pills, and numerous cures have been the result. This latest testimony, coming from so well known a medical man, proves that the local men were right in changing the old-time remedies for Dodd's Kidney Pills. Hence their jubilation.

An anonmyous letter was recently received by Mayor Villeneuve, of Montreal, which gave him warning that the vault containing the remains of the late Honore Mercier would be entered at midnight by a number of roughs from Buffalo N. Y., who intended to steal his remains, and take them away to the States. In conclusion, the epistle warns his worship to place a guard over the vault.

Cause and effect; constipation is the cause of a host of diseases. Hawker's liver pills cure constipation, thereby preventing its consequent ills.

The Temps prints a despatch from Zanzibar, saying that the reply of the Hova Government to the French ultimatum, presented to M. Lemyre de Vilers, French special commissioner to Madagascar, states that they will submit to force only. Telegraph wires between Ananarivo, capital of Madigascar, and Tamatave, chief port, have been cut. The French departed from Astanarivo.

The oil of the Norwegian Cod Liver is nature's grand restorative, and is only found in its entirety and purity in Miller's Emulsion, "the kind that cures" colds, coughs, bronchitis and all affections of the throat and lungs. Every bottle warranted. No oily taste like others. In big bottles, 50c. and $1.00, at druggists.

THINGS TO REMEMBER.

A cold in the head is the first cause of cattarrh.

Cattarrh is an unhealthy disease and is often followed by consumption.

Hawker's cattarh cure positively cures catarrh, cold in the head and all catarrhal troubles.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria in place of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ar

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

SWEET BROWN EYES.

How They Were Made to Sparkle, Wink and Water.

The conductor knew the man in the rear seat, and when the tickets had all been punched sat down beside him. They rode in silence for some time. Then the man in the rear seat asked abruptly, "What's the matter?"

The conductor took his left leg off the right knee and crossed the right one over the left. "I keep thinking about a man that travels with me sometimes," he answered.

"What about him!"

"It's what he told me about his wife. She ran away, you know, and he's trying to find her. He says she's a pretty woman, with large, soft, brown eyes, and a sweet, tender mouth."

The woman in front of him had large, brown eyes, but they were hard and cold, and her mouth was very scornful.

"He asked me to be on the lookout for her."

The woman in front seemed to be counting the telegraph poles along the road.

"It breaks me all up when I see him, and he says, so sort of despairing, 'So, you haven't run across her yet, have you, old man?' and then it keeps running in my mind all the time what I am to say to say to the woman if I find her."

The woman in front moved uneasily, then tried to count the cattle in a pasture that they passed.

"What is it?" asked the man in the rear seat.

"You won't forget, now, will you?" he'll say, putting his hand on my shoulder. 'You're to give her my love, you know, and tell her that it has been hers all the time. Tell her that the other fellow may tire of her, but I never shall. Tell her that if she will come home she'll find me waiting for her, and trying to keep things the way she'd like to see them,' and then he'd clear his throat and turn away with that wistful look on his face.

"One time he told me to tell her that he was saving up to buy a new carpet for the sitting room, because she didn't like the blue one, and last time he said to tell her that he'd planted flower seeds, because he knew she loved a garden, and then he always tells me that I am to know her by those soft, brown eyes and sweet, pretty mouth."

"He's a fool," said the man in the rear seat, bluntly.

"Of course he is," assented the conductor, "though a smart fellow otherwise; but he's clear crazy on that point, for there never was a woman lived worth loving like that."

They were nearing a station and the conductor went out on the platform.

The man in the rear seat took up his newspaper and began to read.

A change had come over the face of the woman in front. She had a sweet, tender mouth, that was trembling with emotion, and she was vainly trying to see the landscape with a pair of soft brown eyes, suffused with tears.

A Graduate of Toronto University Says:

"My children have been treated with Scott's Emulsion from their earliest years! Our physician first recommended it and now whenever a child takes cold my wife immediately resorts to this remedy, which always effects a cure."

"I want a ream of writin' paper, a box of steel pens, and a quart bottle of ink, young feller," said a burly customer. "I'm goin' into trainin' fer a fight."—Chicago Tribune.
