IN CANADA AND NEWFOUNDLAND

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND AUXILIARY

THE FIRE STILL BURNS

This is exactly what we find in reading the historical record of the Society's work during the past year. No sooner had part of Holland been delivered than the Dutch Reformed Church set up an organization for the reception and distribution of bibles. There is equally heartening news from France and Switzerland. To be sure, the areas of darkness are still great in Germany where no Bible or religious papers have been printed for several years, where pastors have suffered and died in concentration camps and where theological colleges are empty.

FIND ANOTHER MUNITIONS CACHE IN PALESTINE

JERUSALEM, July 5 (CP)—The British army announced today that another large cache of munitions and "a large quantity of British battle dress" had been uncovered in the Jewish settlement of Mesheq Yagur.

British troops have been searching the settlement, which is located in the Haifa Bay area, since last Saturday, and previously had reported unearthing large quantities of contraband munitions in an elaborate underground storage depot.

Tension continued high in Palestine despite the release of three British officers by their Jewish kidnappers and a British announcement that many of the Jews arrested last week-end in a drive to curb armed violence were being freed.

Prices Go Up When Controls Are Removed

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP)—The American laborer, business man farmer and housewife paid more for many necessities of life today as the first week's test of a peace-time free-price economy drew to a close and Congress got set for a showdown on whether to hand the cost-control reins back to the United States Office of Price Administration.

Although some of the nation's major cities and rural areas came through the first few O.P.A.-less days without a noticeable dent in the pocketbook, there was ample indication that most of the country was not so fortunate.

Denies Fred Rose Being Persecuted

MONTREAL, July 4—(CP)—Dr. D. Z. Lesage, governor of the Montreal jail at Bordeaux, today issued a statement denying that Fred Rose was being "isolated and persecuted."

Dr. Lesage said Rose, who was recently convicted on charges of violating the War Secrets Act and sentenced to six years in penitentiary, received the "regular treatment" afforded inmates.

He said he received no telegram from the Fred Rose defence committee urging immediate abolition of the alleged abuses. The wires had reportedly been sent to both Dr. Lesage and Premier Duplessis.

Mrs. Rose and Michael Buhay, secretary of the Rose Defence Committee, have gone to Ottawa to complain about the alleged poor treatment of Rose and to attempt to arrange bail for him.

OTTAWA, July 4—(CP)—Mrs. Fred Rose said today that "quite a number of members of Parliament" had expressed themselves as "very much opposed to any discrimination" against her husband, former Labor-Progressive M. P. for Montreal-Cartier who has appealed his six-year sentence on a charge of conspiring for Russia.

Mrs. Rose said he was held in "isolation" in Montreal's Bordeaux jail and, in a statement, reported that all the members had agreed that he should have "all the privileges and advantages accorded other inmates."

Her two-day visit to Parliament had "resulted in seeing quite a number of members from all political groups, who gave a very sympathetic hearing." She had also received a message fromthe Justice Minister through his secretary.

CHINESE LOSE FACE

CHICAGO, July 4 —(AP)—A Chinese storekeeper lost $500 to three Chinese burglars who were arrested today, but saddest of all was Mayor Jerry Moy of Chicago's Chinatown, who said: "We have lost face. Such a thing never has happened here before."

"THE BIBLE must surely be handed on with reverence and love to quite little children that it may become part of their breathing. I am not sure that we have not got to begin just there, to begin as it were again from the beginning that the Word in those sacred words may speak to them with compelling power and evoke an answering faith that shall go with them all the days of their life" (Dr. J. S Whale). To help do this, the P.E.I Auxiliary or Branch Bible Society needs your support.

CITY POLICE COURT — Yesterday morning at the city police court a docket of nine offenders appeared before Magistrate F.M. Martin. Of four drunk and incapable two were fined five dollars and costs or 10 days, another was fined $15 and costs or 30 days and the fourth was given 15 days in jail. Two drunk and disorderlies were fined $20 and $30 respectively with options of 30 days imprisonment. A man guilty of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated was given seven days. A woman charged under the Prohibition Act for possession of spirits was fined $200 and costs or three months. A boy guilty of operating a motor vehicle without the consent of the owner was given a one year suspended sentence.

Big Money Era Came in Fight 25 Years Ago

By FRANK JICK

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP) — Twenty five years ago New York reported the first million dollar gate in boxing. It was on the night of July 2, 1921 that Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier drew receipts of $1,789,238 in their world's heavyweight championship Battle of the Century at Boyle's Thirty Acres, Jersey City, N.J.

Only three other title battles surpassed that figure—Dempsey's two losing struggles with Gene Tunney and the recent Joe Louis-Billy Conn fight.

The Dempsey-Carpentier bout, the first of the immortal Tex Richard's great fistic extravaganzas, drew 91,000 fans. Dempsey's share was $300,000. He won when Carpentier, a French light heavyweight, was counted out by Referee Harry Ertle in the fourth round.

It was a right to the jaw followered by a left to the jaw that flattened the game little Frenchman.

The heavier Dempsey was an overwhelming favorite to retain his crown. At the outset it looked like we might have a new heavyweight champion — light heavyweight size as Gorgeous Georges scaled but 172 pounds.

Carpentier almost upset the 188-pound Manassa Mauler from Colorado in the second round. He threw a right hand punch to Dempsey's jaw. It landed and Dempsey went back on his heels. Dempsey was wading in at the moment and the blow caught him flush on the jaw. Boyle's Thirty Acres, built especially for this fight, reverberated from the din created by the vast crowd.

End Came In Fourth

In the third round, Dempsey tore into Carpentier like a wild man and continued a relentless two-fisted attack until the finish in the fourth session.

After the fight, it was rumored that Promoter Rickard, in a visit to Dempsey's dressing room before the bout, had asked the champion to "carry" his lighter adversary. Veterans who observed the fight still insist Dempsey could have stopped Carpentier as early as the second round.

The knockout of Carpentier was the 14th in succession for the Manassa Mauler over a period of almost three years.

Jack won the title when he flattened big Jess Willard in the third round at Toledo, O., July 4, 1919, for his 11th consecutive kayo. This does not include two exhibition bouts and the chilling of two sparring partners on the same day in Denver, Colo., in 1919.

Dempsey, one of the most popular champions in the Golden Era of sports, lost the title to Gene Tunney, Sept. 23, 1926, in Philadelphia. The following year he attempted to regain the crown in Chicago, but Tunney, aided by the famous long count when Dempsey was slower than slow getting to a neutral corner, again won the decision over the 10-round route.

Dempsey will be 51 on July 24. Carpentier, proprietor of a cafe in Paris, was 52 last Jan. 12.

Supervisor of Illustration Stations for Prince Edward Island

In this collection Ontario workers demonstrate a highly developed skill in spinning wool and use of vegetable dyes. Signe Lundberg's cushion in "Lightning Weave", background of homespun muskox wool is seen in the foreground.

In Quebec's exhibit of textile and upholstery materials, an eight-harness loom is seen on left made of well seasoned wood from an old walnut wardrobe by Miss M. I. MacDonald and her father. On the table is a beautifully patterned linen coverlet, now in the Guild's permanent collection.

TRAVELLING HANDICRAFT EXHIBIT POPULAR

On either side of the wall hanging in Peruvian pickup technique from the B. C. Weavers' Guild, are examples of the very fine linen weaving done in the western provinces.

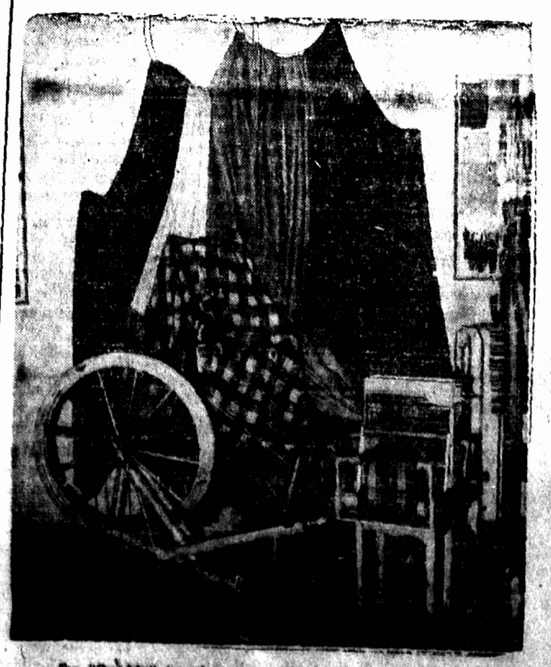
Interest in every phase of weaving runs high among Canadians. This was demonstrated by the crowds visiting the weaving exhibition, originally assembled by the B. C. Weavers' Guild and the Folk Craft Shop, Vancouver, displayed at the Vancouver Art Gallery, and shown as a travelling Exhibition at the Montreal studio of the Canadian Handicrafts Guild, from March 16th to 27th.

Spinning demonstrations (of both wool and flax) and informative talks by well-known Craftsmen, followed by question and answer periods made this latest exhibition of skilled craft work particularly valuable to the beginner and amateur.

The Travelling Exhibition, "Weaving is Fun", assembled by the Little Loomhouse Group, Louisville, Kentucky, shown at the same time, was a very convincing one and showed some of the possibilities open to beginning weavers working on a small two harness loom such as can be made at home. Originally the exhibition was worked out in 1943 to provide suitable diversional weaving for bedpatients. Although designed originally for bedpatients, it is well suited to any group having beginning weavers. This is the second "Weaving is Fun" exhibition in Canada.

"Although there are many techniques for the two harness loom, 'Weaving is Fun' has been limited to eight which develop in consecutive order, and which may be woven by a bedpatient or other beginner with minimum supervision," says Lou Tate, head of the group. The eight diversions used in "Weaving is Fun" are borders, textures, Pick-up, One-Harness Knot, Isle of Capri, Leno and Laid-On. Textiles include ascot, apron, baby blanket, bags, dress, evening and shopping and summer bags, curtain drapery, decorative panels, dishcloths, towels, doll coverlet, pinafore, place mats, refectory cloth, runners, towels, vestees and washcloths. These were all displayed and demonstrate exactly what is meant by "Weaving Is Fun."

It is to be hoped that wherever this Travelling Exhibition goes, in Canada, it will be viewed by as many people as possible, for there is no doubt that it provides a stimulus to the weaving art and will ably prove that, in Lou Tate's words, "Weaving is Fun", as well as profitable.



The "Quoddy" tweeds are seen in this Maritime ambient.
