FADELESS IS A LOVING HEART.

Sunny eyes may lose their brightness;
Nimble feet forget their lightness;
Pearly teeth may know decay;
Raven tresses turn to grey;
Cheeks be pale, and eyes be dim;
Paint the voice, and weak the limb;
But though youth and strength depart,
Fadeless is a loving heart.

Like the little mountain-flower,
Peeping forth in wintry hour,
When the summer's breath is fled,
And the gaudier flowerets dead;
So when outward charms are gone,
Brighter still doth blossom on,
Despite Time's destroying dart,
The gentle, kindly loving heart.

Ye in worldly wisdom old—
Ye who bow the knee to gold,
Doth this earth as lovely seem
As it did in life's young dream,
Ere the world had crusted o'er,
Feelings good and pure before—
Ere ye bowed at Mammon's mart
The best yearnings of the heart?

Grant me, Heaven, my earnest prayer—
Whether life of ease or care
Be the one to me assigned,
That each coming year may find
Loving thoughts and gentle words
Twined within my bosom's chords,
And that age may but impart
Riper freshness to my heart!

TEMPERANCE.

CONSTITUTIONALITY OF THE MAINE LAW.

Mr. T. S. Brown, in seconding the Rev. Mr. McLeod's Resolution, at the Anniversary of the Montreal Temperance Society, remarked:—

To hear some people's remarks upon interfering with the liquor trade, one would suppose alcohol a delicate thing that had never been touched by the authorities. Why it had been like a street vagabond, always in the hands of the police, from the beginning. There had been already more acts of Parliament passed for regulating the traffic, than would shingle the largest church on the continent, and yet it was all botch-work, standing like the roof of a drunkard's barn only half finished. A roof is good for nothing, unless you put a ridge-board along the top, to hold all tight and close; and this ridge-board was the "Maine Law."

But some cry out, that this is a terrible invasion of private, or individual liberty. Really if men considered but a moment, they would never give utterance to such nonsense. What else is civilization, but the restriction of private liberty? is not the price we pay for the great blessing? In savage life, man is at liberty to kill, to waste, and destroy; but in civilized life, especially in cities like ours, we cannot enjoy perfect liberty outside of our own houses; for we find "private liberty" restricted in hundreds of ways; and instead of finding these restrictions too many, people are continually crying out for more—for more city bye-laws, and more police, to prevent people from doing innocently what they please.

The whole question is covered by a principle of English law, as old as the days of Alfred—so old that the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, which says that nuisance, may be abated. Let anything be declared a nuisance, by the public voice, and down it must go—private liberty weighs not one straw in the balance. A few days ago, every owner of ground in the suburbs could build on the pleasant hills, but he become of this "private liberty," when the corporation has declared that no man shall build, or cover with wood? If society, speaking through constituted authorities, can thus dictate how a man owning land, shall build a house on it with his own money, may it not also dictate what trade shall be carried on in the house, after it is built? If any one has doubts on this point, let him attempt to set up a steam-engine, or commence any trade offensive to the neighborhood. Society has only to declare the liquor trade a nuisance, and like every other nuisance, it must be abolished.—"Private" liberty has no voice against public liberty.

But we are met with another outcry. "You cannot interfere with the freedom of trade." Without attending to hundreds of existing interferences, I would ask these objectors to think of that now comparatively innocent article GUNPOWDER—which creates a baneful interference with the freedom of trade. If a ship from sea, however valuable her cargo, or however much wanted, is known to have gunpowder on board, she must anchor at the foot of the current, till all is discharged, and then it must be carted clear away from the town, and lodged in magazines, far away in the fields, seperate from everything, like a small pox hospital. Then no dealer is allowed by law to have more than twenty-five pounds upon his premises, and Insurance companies refuse to allow steamboats in many cases to carry it, so that the trade is nothing but trouble and vexation. Then if we can enforce all these "restrictions" on the freedom of trade in gunpowder, which has only killed one man in Montreal IN THIRTY years, may we not impose restrictions on the trade in alcohol which is killing its DOZENS every WEEK.

Self protection is, we all have heard, the first law of nature, it is the natural right of Society, as well as of individuals, and where life and property are at stake, neither gin nor gunpowder can impose barriers to legislative efforts for the general good.

I am asked, "Do you expect to stop liquor selling, and prevent people from getting drunk, by law?"— Another question of the stupids, "The law of Moses, promulgated nearly 4000 years ago, declared thou shalt not steal, thou shalt not kill, thou shalt not bear false witness." Human legislation has added its penalties, and yet all these crimes continue to be committed. We have revenue laws, but do they prevent smuggling? No, but more goods pay twelve and a half per cent duty than if there was no legal compulsion. Law whether Divine or human, does not prevent offences—it only imposes barriers, by which they may be diminished, or remedied. This we expect from the "Maine law," and this is all.

Twelvetrees Brothers' Soap Powder,

(an entirely new invention.)

IS the cheapest, safest, best, and most effectual article for all washing purposes, a packet of which is equal to ten Pennyworth of Soap!

The saving of time and Labour is so astonishingly great, that a WEEKS' WASH can be accomplished BEFORE BREAKFAST—no rubbing being required.

This wonderful Article is MORE SERVICEABLE THAN SOAP, as it produces a better and much quicker lather, and is adapted for purposes for which Soap cannot be safely or effectually used.

It will not injure the hands, or the most delicate material; but whilst it is incomparable for permanently whitening Linens, &c., after they have become discoloured by age, or injured by bad Washing, it is also unsurpassable for improving the colors of FLANNELS, BLANKETS, WOOLENS, COLORED PRINTS, MUSLINS and LACE. HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF LOSS OF HEALTH, DISORDERED STOMACH, INDIGESTION AND DETERMINATION OF BLOOD TO THE HEAD.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. John Lloyd, of Erwtwen, near Harlech, Merionethshire.

To Professor HOLLOWAY.

SIR,—I await myself of the first opportunity of informing you, that, for a very long period, I was afflicted with a dangerous giddiness and frequent swimmings in the head, attended by loss of appetite, disordered stomach, and generally impaired health. Every means had failed to give me any permanent relief, and at length it became so alarming, that I was really afraid of going about without an attendant. In this melancholy condition, I waited personally upon Mr. Hughes, Chemist, Harlech, for the purpose of consulting him on what I had best do; he kindly recommended your Pills, I tried them without delay, and after taking them for a short time I am happy to bear testimony to their wonderful efficacy. I am now restored to perfect health, and enabled to resume my usual duties. You are at liberty to publish this letter in any way you may think proper.

I am, Sir, your obedient Servant
(Signed) JOHN LLOYD.

MIRACULOUS CURE OF DROPSY.

Extract of a Letter from Edward Rowley, Esq., of India Walk, Tobago, dated April 8th, 1852.

To Professor HOLLOWAY.

DEAR SIR—It is a duty I owe to you and the public at large to inform you of a most miraculous recovery from that dreadful disease, DROPSY, and which, under God, was effected by your invaluable Pills. I was tapped five times within eight months, and skilfully treated by two medical practitioners, but could not get cured, until I had recourse to your remedy, and most astonishing all had undergone, this miraculous medicine cured me in the course of six weeks. (Signed) EDWARD ROWLEY.

A DANGEROUS LIVER COMPLAINT AND SPASM IN THE STOMACH EFFECTUALLY CURED.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. Bostock, Druggist, of Ashton under Lyne, dated July 31, 1852.

To Professor HOLLOWAY.

DEAR SIR—I have much pleasure in handing to you a testimonial of the efficacy of your Medicines. A person in this neighbourhood, with whom I am well acquainted, was affected for a long time with violent spasmodic pains in the stomach and liver, arising from frequent colds, smells of paint, and the effects of a stooping position, which he was obliged to assume in his business. The spasms were of an alarming character, and frequently left him in a weak and debilitated condition. At length he heard of the salutary effects of your invaluable Pills, and was induced to give them a trial. The first dose gave him considerable relief, and by following them up in accordance with your directions, they have acted so wonderfully in cleansing the liver and stomach, and strengthening the digestive organs, that he has been restored to the enjoyment of good health.

I remain, dear Sir, yours faithfully,
(Signed) WILLIAM BOSTOCK.

INFALLIBLE CURE OF A STOMACH COMPLAINT, WITH INDIGESTION AND VIOLENT HEAD-ACHES.

Extract of a Letter from S. Gowen, Chemist, of Clifton, near Bristol, dated July 14th, 1852.

To Professor HOLLOWAY,

DEAR SIR—I was requested by a Lady named Thomas, just arrived from the West Indies, to acquaint you, that, for a period of eight years herself and family suffered from continual bad health, arising from disorders of the Liver and Stomach, Indigestion, loss of Appetite, violent Head-aches, pains in the side weakness and general debility, for which she consulted the first medical men in the colony, but without any beneficial result; at last, she had recourse to your invaluable Pills, which in a very short time effected so great a change for the better, that she continued them, and the result was perfect health and strength. Further she desires me to say, that she has witnessed their extraordinary virtues in these complaints incidental to children, particularly in cases of Measles and Scarlatina, having effected positive cures of these diseases with no other remedy.

(Signed) S. GOWEN.

These celebrated Pills are wonderfully efficacious in the following complaints.

Ague	Dropsy	Inflammation
Asthma	Dysentery	Jaundice
Bilious Complaints	Erysipelas	Liver Complaints
