NEARLY CRAZY WITH PAINS IN BACK

Read How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Mrs. Beecroft

Hamilton, Ontario.—"I have suffered for three years from a female trouble and consequent weakness, pain and irregularity which kept me in bed four or five days each month. I nearly went crazy with pains in my back, and for about a week at a time I could not do my work. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the 'Hamilton Spectator' and I took it. Now I have no pain and am quite regular unless I overwork or stay on my feet from early morning until late at night. I keep house and do all my own work without any trouble. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to several friends."—MRS. EMILY BEECROFT, 16 Douglas St., Hamilton, Ontario.

For nearly fifty years women have been telling how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored their health when suffering with female ills. This accounts for the enormous demand for it from coast to coast.

If you are troubled with any ailment peculiar to women why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? It has helped others, let it help you.

Addison were united in Holy matrimony. The bride, supported by her father, entered the room where the relatives and guests were assembled, and was greeted by the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, which was played by Mr. F. L. Screech, organist of the Union church. The ceremony was conducted by Rev A. E. Whitehouse, B.A. The nuptial knot being tied, the friends came forward and congratulated the happy couple. The bride looked handsome in her exquisitely rich brown velour suit, trimmed with beaver and opening over a blouse of mauve and tan georgette. She wore a bouquet of lillies of the valley with chrysanthemums. Her travelling coat was of blue velour, trimmed with opossum. A dainty wedding breakfast was served; the tables were prettily decorated with tulle, ribbons and smilax and white carnations, and the room with carnations and chrysanthemums. During the signing of the register Miss Ida Hotham sang "Because." The toast to the bride and groom was graciously responded to by Mr. A. Wright. A lovely array of presents evinced the affectionate regard of friends far and near. The popular couple showered with expressions of good will, left at 3 p.m. en route for the coast, where they will spend their honeymoon. Strasbourg Mountaineer.

Rescuers of Mod's Crew Are Honored

ST. JOHN, N. B., Feb. 7. "I cannot think of anything nobler than the action of those men whom we are honoring here tonight, for when their captain called for volunteers, he found men—real men, who were filling to step in and rescue their fellow men from a watery grave. It is little that we can offer to them when they come ashore," declared Mayor E. A. Schofield this evening, the occasion being an informal dinner in the Union Club tendered the captain and several of the members of the steamer Melmore Head, which brought the surviving members of the crew of the Norwegian steamer Mod into port last Monday, after the Mod had sunk in mid-ocean on January 22.

This tribute to the heroic conduct of the men of the Melmore Head, who put out from their ship in a life-boat through a furious sea to rescue 23 of the Mod's complement and all of whom were present tonight, was arraigned by the local branch of the Navy League of Canada, and the president, R. E. Armstrong presided. Others present included the Mayor, Captain Harry L. Butt, of the Melmore Head, and Chief Officer H. Cole, who commanded the lifeboat.

An interesting fact about the rescue party is that every man is an Irishman.

fect that there must be no further conferences with Sinn Feiners and urging that Ulster, not being consulted regarding the treaty, must stand by the 1920 act.

When interviewed this evening Mr. Collins said the morning conference with representatives of the British Government was devoted principally to the details of taking over complete control in Ireland. He declined to disclose where the Ulster boundary question was discussed, but intimated it possibly would form part of the conversations of Arthur Griffith and Sir James Craig if an interview between them was arranged.

In addition to the morning conferences, Mr. Collins, Mr. Griffiths, Eamonn J. Duggan and Kevin O'Higgins saw Winston Spencer Churchill at the Colonial office this afternoon.

Further Disorders.

Further disorders in Ireland were reported today, most serious of which was cattle driving on a large scale in the Tipperary district. Early on Sunday large numbers of cows, sheep and horses were driven off several estates, the object apparently being to compel owners to break up grazing lands. Notices signed "Captain Moonshine" were posted stating that anyone found driving the cattle back or repairing the walls and gates would meet with instant death. The Irish Republican Army has announced its intention of severely punishing the perpetrators.

The railway strike is to be extended to the Macroom line tonight, isolating the central part of Cork County.

Opinions in Dublin.

Dublin, Feb. 6—The conference in progress in London between members of the British cabinet and southern Irish leaders is believed in well-informed quarters here not to be concerned principally with the question of Ulster. That question is considered to have been disposed of by the terms of the Anglo-Irish treaty, approved by the king, the lords and the commons. The fact that the result is disagreeable to Ulster, it is pointed out, was contemplated when the treaty was made, and its nature was estimated as a useful leverage for inducing Ulster to come within the free state, while retaining her present boundaries for local administration.

The immediate urgent question is the method of bringing the new state into existence, together with arranging for a prompt election at which the people may vote for or against the treaty. Government circles here express belief that the majority of the Irish people favor the treaty, but so far no legal means are in existence by which an election to decide this point could be held. The holding of an election of members to the parliament of the free state would be effective in this respect, but that parliament has not yet been constituted and it may be months before the necessary British legislation can set the machinery in motion.

In addition, it is felt here to be undesirable that the elections should be held under British authority and much ingenuity is being employed in devising means by which the Irish authorities can speedily put the election machinery in being. Various Irish lawyers have been consulted and it is considered probable that the British attorney-general's presence at the conference is considered with the legal aspects of the matter.

British House Will Open Today

LONDON, Feb. 6.— The forthcoming session of the British parliament, the opening of which takes place tomorrow, is generally regarded as likely to be overshadowed throughout by prospects of a general election. This event, however, probably will not happen until May. The furore which rose recently on the subject is now declared to be a false alarm, and the recent speeches delivered by ministerialists show that whatever breaches in the coalition had been revealed have been temporarily smoothed over.

This is considerable scepticism apparent as to whether the question of the reform of the House of Lords will be seriously tackled at this session of parliament. According to some observers a deal has been arranged on this question among differing members of the cabinet whereby the number of parliamentary Lords will be reduced to about fifty. This would be accomplished by the self-election process.

Another question upon which an agreement is said to have been reported concerns the power of the Speaker of the House of Commons to declare on his own authority that any bill is a money bill. The power is to be given to a Joint Committee of both Houses of Parliament. It is even possible that the cabinet may consider the question of joint sitting of both Houses in cases of disagreement, whereby measures which have been passed by a large majority in the House of Commons would be certain of becoming law.

If Viscount Grey takes the part which is expected of him in the House of Lords questions regarding Egypt and India, as well as the European situation generally, will come prominently before the public. Lord Birkenhead, the Lord Chancellor, and other cabinet ministers, have already warned the public that "we are not yet out of the Irish woods."

Labor Leader Speaks.

Speaking at Derby, tonight, J. H. Thomas, M. P., and Labor leader, said the Labor party must get gas attack of which already there has been a taste.

Lord Birkenhead, he said, had made an attack which was a direct appeal to class war. There was nothing more dangerous. An election now being inevitable, continued Mr. Thomas, the sooner it came the better.

Ordination Hymn

The following poem was composed by Mr. John Bradley of Charlottetown at present living in Montreal on the occasion of the ordination to the Holy Priesthood of seven young men, two of whom were Prince Edward Islanders, viz.—Revs. Austin Bradley, and Pius McLellan. The others ordained were Revs. Geo. Mongeau, Daniel Roy, Louis Mailhot, Jos. Couture, and Alphonsus Gauthier.

In Life's bright morn of years and buoyant health,
The world appears most fair. Rare visions rise,
When phantom pleasures, revelling in wealth,
And earthly honors build their paradise,
But ah, how hollow are those dreams and pale,
When Death's stern form intrudes to fill the stage!
Grim, icy fingers tear aside the veil,
And grinning Mockery jeers at grief and rage.

Happily this siren-voice could not allure
Your heart, nor still the melody that sings
Of higher, nobler themes; your soul was pure— .....
Fair Tabernacle for the King of Kings.

Long, long you labored for a peerless prize,
Unconquered till the weary watch was o'er.
Today you kneel, O joy! today you rise
A priest—a priest of God forevermore.

What dignity, what power ineffable,
The Lord has placed in your anointed hands!
Seraphs, who dwell in Light impenetrable,
Adore the Lamb, your priestly sword commands.

Dear God, we tremble at the awesome thought!
Dread Jesus, You have made Yourself a slave
Of mortals! Great, great was the cost that bought
Our freedom; all, that God could give, He gave.

Back to our theme, my muse, that was a strain
Caught from celestial choirs, when tranced with awe.
Their chaunts reechoed o'er the Judean plain.
Vainly we search His mind Whose will is law.

Go forth, you seven annointed ones, and feed
The hungry flocks. Preach Jesus crucified!
Show men His Heart; His wounds that ever bleed;
The price of souls; the thirst for which He died.

Never was need more dire for valiant men
To bear the Cross within a burning breast,
Or shed the crimson tide of life to stem
The giant waves of sin and world unrest.

Fan with apostolic breath the smouldering fire,
With Christ-like care raise up the broken reed,
Before your glance let hardened vice retire,
The homing prodigal to Jesus' lead.

No fretted dome, nor bold-aspiring fame,
Nor aught that human hands have ever built, ...
Can house the joy our grateful hearts contain.—
It soars, today, beyond this vale of guilt.

When first up-raised, the chalice sparkles bright,
Dear Father, pray in all humility,
That we Your friends may win the saving fight
And share, with you, the final Agape.

Universal Peace Aim of New Pope

ROME, Feb 7—Cardinal Archille Ratti, Archbishop of Milan has been chosen supreme Pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church to succeed Pope Benedict X. The coronation as Pius XI will take place on February 12. After the announcement of his election the Pope appeared on outside on the balcony at St. Peters and bestowed benediction on the thousands who waited patiently in the rain in St. Peters Square. This is the first time this has occurred since the breach between the state and church in 1870. For 52 years the blessing had been bestowed from within the Basilica. The election was completed without American participation in the Conclave. Cardinal O'Connel, Archbishop of Boston, arriving almost as the new Pope was blessing the multitude.

"Universal pacification" is the keynote of the new pope's policy, as indicated in a statement issued by Prince Crigi, the marshal of the conclave, which made reference to the first blessing bestowed by Pius XI. Continual conciliation, inaugurated by his predecessor, probably reconciliation of the state and church, which have been estranged for so many years, and an appeal to it the nations of the world to restore peace, are said to constitute the most essential aims of the Vatican policy under the present pontiff. Cardinal Gasparri will retain his office as papal secretary of state. This announcement almost immediately after Pius XI had assumed the papal pontificate was regarded as significant as Benedict XV. required twenty-four hours after the appointment of Cardinal Gasparri and never previously had a newly elected pontiff chosen his secretary of state before the lapse of two or three days.

That the new Pope decided to exercise full authority was shown when some cardinals attached to what become known as "irreconcilables," attempted to persuade him not to appear outside on the balcony. He listened to the arguments for a few moments and then said "remember, I am no longer Cardinal, I am supreme Pontiff now."

The papel aristocracy and the diplomatic corps were received in the Vatican this afternoon. His holiness passed along the loggias with his entourage and escorted by Noble Guards in their striking red full dress uniforms and the Swiss in mediaeval costumes.

Cardinal Archille Ratti, archbishop of Milan, was for several years Papal Nuncio in Poland, where his discharge of important ecclesiastical functions when the Polish question became acute earned for him the esteem of Benedict XV., and the gratitude of Vatican authorities.

It was because of this service that the Red Hat was conferred upon him, June 16, 1921, when a similar honor was bestowed on Cardinal Laurenti.

Cardinal Ratti was born in Italy on October 12, 1858. For many years he was librarian of the Ambrosian Library and Archives, at Milan. Later he became Librarian of the Vatican. In this position he remained until the new republic of Poland established diplomatic relations with the Vatican at which time Ratti was appointed Archbishop and was assigned to Poland as the representative of the Holy See.

The country was then torn with the movements from religion brought about by the communistic propaganda from Soviet Russia and Archbishop Ratti counteracted the spread of radicalism.

He also won the esteem of Polish catholics by his efforts in behalf of destitute children orphaned by the war.

Cardinal Ratti as the archbishop of Milan presided over one of the most important archdioceses in Italy. The city being a great industrial center, one of its main requirements is that the cardinal shall possess a thorough knowledge of political and social problems.

He is big physically and is reputed to have liberal tendencies.

ABEGWEITS WIN FROM MONCTON 6--3

Moncton Team Played Good Clean Hockey, but the Fast Skating Abbies Were Never in Danger.

Last night at the Arena the Abbies continued their unbroken record by defeating Moncton 6—3. This was by far the best game played here in the N. B. and P. E. I. Hockey League. The Moncton boys are good skaters and clean players and made things interesting all the way.

Referee Herrell handled the game in his usual capable manner and called the players to the face-off at 8.40. During the first ten minutes the play was of a seesaw nature, until Rodd found the net from a wing shot, repeating one minute later, score 2—0. Moore on one of his nice runs bulged the twine for the third count.

Moncton were working hard all the while, and were finally rewarded after seventeen minutes of play. Prowse, a Charlotetown boy doing the trick, two minutes later Gordon found the net for the Abbies and the period ended 4—1.

The second period started, the Abbies subbing Campbell on defence and Prowse on the forwards. In one minute from face-off, Prowse of Moncton netted the rubber for their second count. Campbell, Abbies, realizing two minutes later, the play was becoming somewhat faster, Moncton always trying for goals, Kelly received 3 minutes for tripping, McEachern made a nice run, failed to pass, and lost a good chance to score. Prowse, Abbies, received two minutes for tripping, the Abbies were now playing with only four men, but they were equal to it all and played a brilliant defence until their men were released from the boards. Moncton scored their final count before the bell rang. Period ending 5—3.

After the opening of the third Abbies put on a wonderful burst of speed and the Moncton goalie was called on to make some of the nicest stops of the evening, saving the situation time after time.

This period was the best of the game only one score being made. Rodd of the Abbies netting the puck from one of his famous wing shots after fifteen minutes of play, from this to the finish both teams played to score, but were not successful and the game ended 6—3 in favor of the Abbies.

Although the Moncton team are at the bottom of the league, they made the best showing on local ice against the fast skating Abbies.

OVER $10,000 MISSING.

SHERBROOKE, Feb. 3.— Charged with the conversion of corporation funds to the extent of between 10,000 and $11,000, Arthur C. Glassey, secretary treasurer of the Town of Richmond, appeared before Judge Mulvena in the Magistrate's court today. The accused pleaded not guilty to the charge and was allowed out on $10,000 bail, the hearing being fixed for next Friday. The exact amount involved will not be known until the audit of the books has been completed. Glassey came from Toronto several years ago while a traveller for an Ontario firm, and married Miss Lance. When his father in law, A. E. Lance, owner and publisher of the Richmond Times Guardian, died, Mr. Glassey took charge of the plant, and about three years ago was appointed secretary-treasurer of the town.

One Cardinal Dies.

LONDON, Feb. 6—Cardinal Marini, according to the Rome correspondent of the London Times, died in the Vatican before the election of the pope. Cardinal Marini was suffering from influenza when he
