Ontario Has First Snowfall

TORONTO, Oct. 21 —(CP) —The season's first fall of snow in the southern districts of Ontario caused scores of traffic accidents as highway pavements became slippery, tied up a number of Royal Air Force training planes but resulted in a minor death toll from automobile crashes.

Although many cars got out of control on the wet, icy pavements only a handful of crashes were accompanied by fatalities. Of a total accident death toll of 14 during the weekend, six were due to motoring accidents Saturday and Sunday, two were results of previous accidents, three were due to gas, one to burns one to a plane crash and one to a fall.

Most serious accident occurred late Sunday when a car operated by Harold Scaife of Toronto got out of control crossing a bridge in the village of Bolton, 20 miles northwest of Toronto, hurdled the side and landed top downwards in 15 feet of water in the Number River.

The driver, his brother Howard and an unidentified third man in the front seat of the sedan were trapped in the machine and lost their lives. Three members of the Irish Regiment of Canada, including the driver's brother, Fred Scaife, Melville Green and Douglas Harper fought their way to safety from the back seat.

On Saturday aircraftsman Dick Milne of North Bay, flying an R.C.A. F. trainnig plane in "dogfight" practice, crashed near Toronto and was killed.

beginning of a British campaign to win Yugoslavia over to an anti-Nazi front with Turkey and Greece.

An indication as to the way the wind is blowing was seen in widespread Turkish military preparations reportedly involving 500,000 men on the European side of the Dardanelles and a sharp upturn in Turkish press attacks on German ambitions in the Near East.

In both Bulgaria and Hungary, pro-Nazi organizations are seeking to control the government although the present governments themselves are following a policy of friendliness for the Axis and repeatedly have expressed gratitude for German and Italian support in regaining territory from Rumania.

Diplomatic circles freely expressed the opinion the present regimes in Sofia and Budapest may soon agree to join the expanded Axis as a means of liquidating these internal pressures.

In line with the cancellation of many Rumanian and Yugoslav train schedules and placing them at the service of German experts reorganizing their transport systems, Hungary was reported to have dropped 12 trains.

Transport difficulties have slowed down the movement of southeastern European exports of petroleum, foodstuffs and other raw materials to Germany in the past.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Helen G. Rogerson who passed away Oct. 22, 1937.

Three years have passed since that sad day
When one we loved was called away,
God took her home. It was His will
Within our hearts she liveth still.
Inserted by the family.

FIRST REAL SNOWFALL—This Province had its first real snowfall for the season yesterday. Late in the afternoon snow began falling and early last night the ground was white although most of the big flakes were melting as they touched the earth. Sunday night there were flurries in Charlottetown but the fall did not whiten the ground. Other parts of the province had flurries earlier and brief snow squalls were noticed here last week. The snow yesterday fell with a temperature only slightly below freezing. Coldest Sunday night was 30 degrees above zero Mr. Warren Burns, weather observer at the Charlottetown Experimental Station reported. For a time yesterday the temperature crawled to 42 above but in the afternoon began to drop again.

Bullitt Says 'Lie' Disproved In Correspondence

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—(AP) —Acting at the request of President Roosevelt, Ambassador William C. Bullitt tonight revealed a bit of hitherto unpublished correspondence which, he said, disproved the "lie" that the United States promised to go to war in aid of Britain and France.

On April 4, 1940, he said, former Premier Edouard Daladier of France sent President Roosevelt a letter which said in part:

"Also I feel I should tell you that during the past two years, when I was Prime Minister, Ambassador Bullitt always said to me that in case of a foreign conflict, France should make her decisions knowing that according to the opinion of Ambassador Bullitt the United States of America would not enter the war."

Bullitt, in a broadcast address to the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations, discussed pre-war events and said that "again and again" the United States' "determination to stay out of war" was made clear.

"Nazi propagandists in Berlin," he said, "launched the lie that we had promised France and England to enter the war. In this country Nazi agents and spies and a few political partisans tried to spread it. They had no success because the official record was too clear."

Turning to more recent events, Bullitt, envoy of France, declared the new triple alliance of Germany, Italy and Japan is a clear threat to the United States, and that the United States should arm at "war speed" so no nation would dare to attack it.

War Secretary Will Draw First Name In Draft

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—At noon on Oct. 29, War Secretary Henry Stimson will draw the first number in a lottery in which nearly 17,000,000 young men hold tickets—800,000 of them good for a year's service in the United States army.

Plans for the lottery were completed today at a conference of Dr. Clarence Dykstra, director of selective service, and President Roosevelt. At first Dykstra said the President would draw the first number, but later it was announced that Mr. Roosevelt desired this honor to go to Stimson.

The President will attend the historic ceremony, to be held in the inter-departmental auditorium, and will make an address of about 10 minutes.

Three weeks after Stimson lifts the first blue number capsule from a big goldfish bowl, the initial contingent of 30,000 draftees will be on its way to training camps.

Men will be called to training — 800,000 by next June 15—in the order in which their numbers are drawn from the bowl, unless they volunteer without waiting to be called on or unless they are deferred from service

Educationist Succumbs On Florida Trip

The following obituary is from the Montreal Star of September 19 Mr. Walsh was well known in this Province, which he visited on several occasions:

William Allen Walsh, well-known Montreal educationist and former Member of Parliament for Mount Royal Division, died suddenly yesterday afternoon at the Whitehall Hotel, Daytona Beach, Fla. He was in his 53rd year. He is survived by his wife, the former Edith Mary Elizabeth Thompson, and one son, Cameron Walsh, at present a student at McGill University.

Mr. Walsh died at about 3 o'clock at the resort where he had gone three weeks ago with his wife to recuperate. Following a heart attack last spring, he had been unwell during most of the summer.

The body will be brought back to Montreal on Monday and the funeral will take place on Tuesday at 2 o'clock. A service will be held at Fairmount-St. Giles Church, of which Mr. Walsh was a prominent member.

He was born August 20, 1887, at Kingston, the son of George William Walsh, of English descent, and Mary A. Allen who was of Irish-Canadian descent. He was educated at Gault Institute, Valleyfield, won a teacher's scholarship there and came to McGill Normal School and afterwards attended McGill University.

He graduated from McGill with a B. A. degree and then repeated at Queen's University. He originally intended to practice law but the winning of the teacher's scholarship caused him to enter the teaching profession. He taught in New Carlisle, on the Gaspe coast, at Fairmount school, Montreal, and at Argyle school, Westmount. Later he was appointed principal of Strathcona Academy, Outremont, and became superintendent of Protestant Schools for Outremont.

Political Interests

Mr. Walsh was elected member for the constituency of Mount Royal in 1935 but was defeated in the Liberal landslide of 1939. He had been interested in politics from an early age and frequently engaged in speaking at public meeting, principally in the Eastern Townships. He took an active part in the elections in Montreal.

He was a member of Waverley Lodge, A.F., & A. M., of the Confederation Club, the Graduates' Club and the Rotary Club of Montreal. Particularly interested in school athletics, he was a supporter of most forms of sports. He had served as president of the Outremont Conservative Federation. In religion he was a member of the United Church of Canada.

Besides his wife and son, Mr. Walsh is survived by a sister, Mrs. W. Wallbank, and two brothers, A. L. Walsh, dean of the Faculty of Dentistry in McGill University, and Stanley Walsh, of Hemmingford. A brother-in-law is W. S. Thompson of Montreal.

FRENCH WILL

which play into the enemy's hands. We must just make the best of things as they come along. Here in London, which Herr Hitler said he would reduce to ashes, and which his airplanes are now bombing, our people are bearing up unflinchingly. Our air force has more than held its own. We are waiting for the long-promised invasion. So are the fishes! But, of course, this for us is only the beginning.

Now, in 1940, in spite of occasional losses we have as ever the command of the seas.

In 1941, we shall have command of the air. Remember what that means.

Hope to Carve French Empire

Herr Hitler, with his tanks and other mechanical weapons and also by fifth column intrigue with traitors, has managed to subjugate for the time being most of the finest races in Europe, and his little Italian accomplice is strutting along hopefully and hungrily, but rather nervously and very timidly at his side. They both wish to carve up France and her empire, as if it were a fowl: To one a leg, to another a wing, or perhaps part of the breast.

Not only the French Empire will be devoured by these two ugly customers, but Alsace-Lorraine will go once again under the German yoke, and Nice, Savoy and Corsica—Napoleon's Corsica—will be torn from the fair realm of France. But Herr Hitler is not thinking only of stealing other people's territories, or flinging gobbets of them to his little confederates.

I tell you truly what you must believe when I say this evil man, this abortion of hatred and defeat, has resolved on nothing less than the complete wiping out of the French nation, and the disintegration of its whole life and future. By all kinds of sly and savage means, he is plotting and working to crush forever the fountain of characteristic French culture and French institutions to the world. All Europe, if he has his way, will be reduced to one uniform Boche plan, to be exploited, pilaged and bullied by his Nazi gangsters.

You will excuse my speaking frankly, because this is not a time to mince words. It is not defeat that France will now be made to suffer at German hands, but the doom of complete obliteration. Army, navy, air force, religion, laws, language, culture, institutions, literature, history, tradition, all are to be effaced by the brute strength of a triumphant army, and the scientific low cunning of a ruthless force.

Frenchmen! Rearm your spirits before it is too late. Remember what Napoleon said before one of his battles, "these same Prussians who are so boastful today were three to one at Jena and six to one at Montmirail."

Never will I believe that the soul of France is dead. Never will I believe that her great place among the greatest nations of the world has been lost forever.

All these schemes and crimes of Herr Hitler are being avenged upon him, and upon all who belong to his system, a retribution which many of us will live to see. The story is not yet finished, but it will not be so long. We are on his track, and so are our friends across the Atlantic Ocean and your friends across the Atlantic Ocean.

If he cannot destroy us, we will surely destroy him and all his gang and all their works. Therefore have hope and faith, for all will come right.

Now, what is it we British ask of you in this present hard and bitter time? What we ask at this moment in our struggle to win victory, which we will share with you, is that if you cannot help us, at least you will not hinder us. Presently you will be able to weigh the arm that strikes for you, and you ought to do so; but even now, we trust that Frenchmen, wherever they may be, will feel their hearts warm, and a proud blood kindle in their veins, when we have some success in the air or on the sea, or presently—for that will come—upon the land.

Remember, we shall never stop, never weary and never give in, and that our whole people and Empire have vowed themselves to the task of cleansing Europe from the Nazi pestilence and saving the world from new dark ages.

Do not imagine, as the German-controlled wireless tells you, that we English seek to take your ships and colonies. We seek to beat the life and soul out of Hitler and Hitlerism—that alone, that all the time, that to the end. We do not covet anything from any nation, except their respect. Those Frenchmen who are in the French Empire, and those who are in so-called unoccupied France, may see their way from time to time to useful action. I will not go into details; hostile ears are listening.

As for those to whom English hearts go out in full, because they see them under the sharp discipline, oppression and spying of the Hun—as to those Frenchmen in the occupied regions, to them I say, when they think of the future, let them remember the words which Gambetta, that great Frenchman, uttered after 1870 about the future of France and what was to come: "Think of it always; speak of it ever."

Good night, then; sleep to gather strength for the morning, for the morning will come. Brightly will it shine on the brave and true, the kindly, on all who suffer for the cause, and gloriously upon the tombs of heroes. Thus will shine the dawn. Vive La France! Long live, also, the forward march of the common people in all the lands, towards their just and true inheritance, and towards the broader, fuller age.

Convention Divided On Election Issue

At the Liberal Convention Saturday night for the Second District of Queens, at which Messrs. A. W. Matheson, Charlottetown, and George C. Kitson, Hampshire, were nominated the following resolution was moved by W. G. Darke, Hunter River, and seconded by Clifford Carew.

"Whereas the Conservative Association of the Second District of Queens in Convention assembled, has suggested to this Association that the expense of the forthcoming bye-elections in the Second District be avoided and that one candidate of each political party be declared elected.

"And whereas such an arrangement would conform with Liberal principles of economy and fullest prosecution of our war effort.

"Resolved that this Convention accept the suggestion of the Conservatives that one candidate from each political party be declared elected by acclamation in the forthcoming bye-elections.

"And resolved that this Convention do now decide whether the Liberal nominee for Councillor or for Assemblyman shall be so elected by acclamation."

After discussion the resolution was put to the meeting and declared lost.

Saint John Has New Mayor And Council

SAINT JOHN, N. B., Oct. 21—(CP) — A new mayor and common council of Saint John, representing the civic improvement league ticket, were victorious in civic elections today. The mayor-elect is Charles R. Wasson.

Six independent candidates were defeated by majorities of about two to one. They included Mr. Wasson's only rival for the mayoralty, Richard L. Grannan, a member of the present council.

The mayoralty and six council seats were at stake for two-year terms. Among the councillors-elect is Mayor D. L. MacLaren. A law prohibits the mayor and councillors of Saint John seeking re-election to the same office for a second consecutive term, although a councillor may contest for the mayoralty and vice versa.

Mayor-elect Wasson received 3,222 votes and Mr. Grannan polled 1,513

The victorious civic improvement league candidates for councillorships were: Walter H. Golding 3,206; Lewis V. Lingley 2,094; Mayor D. L. MacLaren 2,860; J. Paul Barry 2,729; Arthur M. Skaling 2,708; M. Gerald Teed 2,640.

The unsuccessful independent candidates for council seats were Laurence T. Dow 1,793; Thomas B. Horsher 1,647; James T. Sharpe 1,406; Allen W. French 1,387; Ernest W. Patterson.

The Cough That Sticks
The Cough That Hangs On

This is the kind of a cough it is hard to get rid of, the kind that bothers you during the day and keeps you awake at night.

Why not get a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and see how quickly it will help to relieve you of this coughing condition?

It acts promptly and effectively, going to the foundation of the trouble, loosening the phlegm, soothing the irritated air passages, and stimulating the bronchial organs.

"Dr. Wood's" has been on the market for the past 48 years.

Price 35c a bottle; the large family size, about 3 times as much, 60c, at all drug counters.

Timely Talk On Scout Work By Wm. Currier

Mr. William Currier, Ottawa, Assistant Commissioner of Training for Boy Scouts in Canada, delivered an interesting address to leaders and officials of the Prince Edward Island Boy Scout Association at the City police court room last night. Mr. J. J. Morris, Provincial Commissioner, presided.

Mr. Currier referred to his enjoyable visit to this province during the Provincial Jamboree which was held at Camp Buchan when it was officially opened several years ago.

He explained that "Scouting for Boys" was written by the Chief Scout, Lord Baden-Powell, as a guide to a boy's work program and urged leaders to see that scouting was done the way it was laid out in that book. He pointed out that scouting has not changed any since it was started. It is the same today as it always was. The aim is to create good citizenship in the boys through character training and the war has not changed this any. The boys are also trained to become leaders.

Besides their regular work, Boy Scouts are doing certain other jobs while the country is at war, he said. He enumerated some of the tasks which are being successfully carried on by the boys such as collecting medicine bottles which are given to the Army Medical Corps, collecting old iron, helping the Red Cross and I.O.D.E., etc. Boy Scouts are doing a great deal to help Canada in the war effort, the speaker said. He urged the leaders not to have their Scouts do anything which any man would be paid to do as this was not desirable. It would be putting some man out of a job, he explained.

Addressing the leaders, Mr. Currier told them that they would have to do scouting better than ever before, as they have a real job on their hands. He pointed out that in 1935 there were only 385 Boy Scouts on the Island, whereas in 1939 there were 1183. It is important that this number be held.

He pointed out the necessity for winning the war, as if it were lost there would be no room for Scouts. There is no place for Boy Scouts in dictator countries. He urged the leaders and officials to get behind the boys and help them "Do their duty to God and the King."

Following the talk by Mr. Currier a very interesting discussion took place in which the duties of the Provincial Executive, group committees and leaders were outlined. Those taking part in the discussion were: Judge H. L. Palmer, president of the Provincial Boy Scout Association, Mr. V. A. Ainsworth, District Commissioner for Queen's County, Rev. L. E. G. Davies, District Commissioner for Prince County, Magistrate K. M. Martin, member of the Provincial Executive. Messrs. Vernon Maddigan, R. R. Hurst, Jack Gordon and Frank Tinney.

Mail For R. C. A. F.

PROPER ADDRESSING OF MAIL TO ROYAL CANADIAN AIR FORCE OVERSEAS.

As some misunderstanding exists in the mind of the public as to the correct manner of addressing mail to Canadians serving in the Royal Canadian Air Force and the Royal Air Force overseas, the following statement has been released by Postmaster General Mulock.

Care must be taken to distinguish between the Royal Canadian Air Force and the Royal Air Force.

ROYAL CANADIAN AIR FORCE

All mail addressed to the officers and men of the Royal Canadian Air Force overseas is handled through the Base Post Office, Ottawa, Canada. The proper address of mail to all ranks serving in the Royal Canadian Air Force who are overseas or who have left Canada for overseas should include the following:—

Number, raink name, Squadron or other unit, designation, Royal Canadian Air Force Overseas, Base Post Office, Canada.

Example:

8187 Squadron Leader John Doe, 110th (A.C.) Squadron, Royal Canadian Air Force, Overseas, Base Post Office, Canada.

In the case of members who are in training in Canada:—

Number, rank, name, Royal Canadian Air Force, Corect designation of school or training centre, Post Office, Province.

ROYAL AIR FORCE
(Other than Officers)

Mail for Canadian airmen (other than officers) serving with the Royal Air Force—as distinct from the Royal Canadian Air Force—should be addressed to the:—

Number, rank, name, Squadron or other unit designation, Royal Air Force Records Office, Ruislip, Middlesex, England.

ROYAL AIR FORCE
(Officers)

In the case of officers serving with the Royal Air Force the address should include the following:—

Number, rank, name, Squadron or other unit designation, Royal Air Force, S-seven-D Air Ministry, Adastral House, Kingsway, London, W. C. 2, England.

OTTAWA, Oct. 21.—(CP) — Lady Borden, widow of Sir Robert Borden, left an estate valued at $26,463, according to a will filed for probate today. Mrs. Fred Trotter, of Antigonish, N.S., and the Misses Grace and Marion Bond, nieces, of Halifax, N.S., were the chief beneficiaries, receiving one-third of the estate each, after various small behests to friends and servants.

Major McNutt Addresses Veterans Guard

Major T. E. MacNutt delivered a very interesting talk on the "Victoria Barracks" (commonly known as the Ordnance Buildings) last night before a full company of the Veterans Guard of Canada. The talk was given in the quarters of the Guard at the Ordnance grounds. Major R. H. Duvar, O.C., presided.

A vote of thanks, moved by Quartermaster Sgt. Herbert Vessey and seconded by Pte. Archibald McEachern, was tendered the speaker. Capt. J. J. Leightizer also spoke a few words.

Capt. Leightizer has recently been appointed second in command of the Guard.

Following is the text of the address on "Victoria Barracks" delivered by Major MacNutt:

As all are aware, the chief question on the Island for many years was the right of those upon land to purchase it, instead of being tenants.

To forward the purchase of land from the proprietors, there was formed, what was called the "Tenant League," the avowed intention and solemn obligation of which was, to withhold all further payment of rents. Branches or units of which existed throughout the whole Island. To obtain their rights, the members were apparently ready to use force—at least, the authorities were led to believe so from what they heard and saw.

For instance, on St. Patrick's Day 1865, a large number of the Tenant League crossed the ice from Southport, and paraded through the streets of Charlottetown with horns and banners bearing such mottoes as "Free Lands," "Tenants' Rights," etc. James Curtis, the Deputy Sheriff, tried to arrest one of the leaders, Samuel Fletcher of Alberry Plains, but was prevented doing so at the corner of Grafton and Queen streets.

A Proclamation was then issued by William H. Pope, Colonial Secretary, calling on all to help keep order and assist in arrests.

On the morning of 7th April the "Posse Comitatus," about 200 strong, left Charlottetown to arrest Fletcher at Alberry Plains.

Other like incidents had taken place throughout the Island, but on a smaller scale, and the Government and Sir Robert Hodgson, the Administrator, feared open revolt, and determined to ask for a Military Force to aid the Civil authorities to maintain law and order.

Victoria Barracks Erected

In the month of August, a detachment of the 2nd Battalion of the 16th Regiment of about 130 soldiers and eight officers under Major Thomas Tydd, arrived in Charlottetown from Halifax. As there were no Barracks, the detachment pitched tents in a field on the east side of the Malpeque Road, opposite the Town spring.

As the summer season was nearly over, it became necessary to provide winter quarters for the troops, and Victoria Barracks was then erected on land purchased on 4th September for £400, from Vice-Admiral Bayfield, and others. Three long buildings and storehouses were completed by October by Mr. Aley at a cost of £3,500.

The troops at once moved into the new barracks, but in a few days they were ordered to Halifax.

Early in November two companies of the 15th Regiment under Major Sewell took over the barracks, and remained there until the 20th April, 1866, when they left for Halifax

The Volunteer Artillery, under Captain Morris, then took over the Barracks for a few days until relieved by the arrival of two companies of the 4th Regiment (King's Own) under Major Paton.

On the 27th June, 1867, the detachment of the 4th Royals, under Major Paton, left the Island for Halifax, much to the regret of the citizens of Charlottetown. These were the last regular troops on garrison duty on the Island.

On many occasions during the time the troops were stationed on the Island small detachments were sent to the country to aid the civil authorities, but if their presence was required at all, they do not seem to have found it necessary to take very much, if any action. The very presence of the troops prevented excesses.

Fire at Barracks

On the night of the 14th August, 1869, fire was discovered in a stone building at the Barracks. This building stood along the north end of the grounds, and it was totally destroyed. It was thought that the fire was the work of an incendiary, and the Government offered a reward of £300 for information leading to a conviction, but without result.

From 16th August, a night guard of one non-commissioned officer and eight men was posted at sunset each evening over the Barracks until the 28th August, when it was dispensed with. The guards were furnished from the Irish Rifles, the Prince of Wales and Prince Edward companies of Volunteer Militia.

General Order, Militia Department, Charlottetown, 17th August, 1869.

"His Honor the commander-in-chief is hereby pleased to express his special approval of the conduct of Major Cropley, the Storekeeper, Captain Lord and 2nd Lieutenant Beer, of the Artillery, Capt. Hensley and Ensign Sims, of the Prince Edward Rifles, the staff instructors Campbell, Wakefield and Cartwill, and Sergeant Laird of the Artillery, for the zeal, promptitude and energy displayed by them in their efforts to save the public property at the disastrous fire at the Victoria Barracks, on the night of the 14th instant. Their indefatigable exertions combined with the ready assistance of the Fire Companies, several of the mechanics of the City, and members of the Volunteer Militia, resulted in the saving of the whole of the valuable deposit of Government Arms and Military Stores in the Armoury, which but for their timely aid, would, together with the remaining buildings, have been totally destroyed."

By Command of His Honor, the Commander-in-Chief.
Sgd., John Hamilton Gray,
Adjutant General.

Torn Down

A long building in which men were quartered, stood along the west side of the grounds, which was later and until 1908 used as a Poor House, when it was pulled down.

The building in which the Veterans Guard is now quartered was also used for the quartering of the men, while the officers' quarters were in the building now occupied by Mr. Hughes—the northern section of which was pulled down two or three years ago as was the old Orderly room which was situated just east of the magazine.

The magazine was erected, and in use by 1868, as a Board was detailed by Major Cropley, the Assistant Inspector of Militia, on the 20th August of that year to examine and report on the ammunition and stores contained in it, which had just arrived from Halifax.

It is interesting to note that on the 15th January, 1867, the present Drill Hall was opened by His Excellency, the Commander-in-Chief, Lieutenant-Governor George Dundas. The first Drill Hall was on the second floor of a large warehouse situated where Mr. Hutcheson's office building now stands, just west of the Canadian Legion Home, on Grafton Street.

Naval And Air Men Land In Canada

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, Oct. 21.—(CP)—Royal naval men by the hundreds set foot on Canadian soil today and moved another step nearer an active return to the war at sea. They will swell the ranks of the Tars Britain has chosen to man the destroyers the United States is trading for air and naval bases in the Atlantic.

Among their officers was a pleasant little man of 38, who got tough enough once to win the Victoria Cross. Little more than a month and a half ago, Lt. Cmdr. R. B. Stannard stood in Buckingham Palace and watched the King pin on his tunic the highest award for valor in the British Empire.

It was announced at the time that the medal was awarded for Stannard's attempt to extinguish an ammunition dump fire during the evacuation of British troops through Namsos, Norway.

Stannard declined to tell reporters of his exploit.

At Namsos, he said, he commanded an armed trawler, the Arab, which helped to evacuate the soldiers to transport ships which completed the trip to Britain.

That inferno of dive bombing warplanes, exploding shells and dying men was dismissed by the V.C. as "at bit of fun." After a siege of appendicitis, Stannard is now ready to take over command of one of the men-o'-war Uncle Sam is sending along to fulfill his historic swap with John Bull.

The naval officers and men had for company on a peaceful voyage a group of Royal Air Force officers, who will instruct the young men who are destined to carry on the war in the skies.

Six of them were Canadians, including Flt. Lt. Douglas MacPherson and FO. Cameron Willis, of Saskatoon; Flt. Lt. Roderick Bell-Irving of Vancouver; FO. Jack Brown, and FO. R. F. Halton of Toronto, and Lft. Lt. Alex McDowell, of Blairmore, Alta.

They will leave the ship at an Eastern Canadian Port, where the liner will complete her Atlantic crossing.

One young pilot who saw service at Dunkerque and in the low countries during the Nazi invasion, recounted the story of a German pilot who apparently was a victim of the Nazi propaganda machine. The Nazi bailed out over England, with "club bag and all," believing he was landing among German friends.

Willkie Has Criticism Of Defence Plans

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 21 —(AP)—Wendell L. Willkie asserted tonight that the new deal defence program is building a bigger industrial system "upon the insecure foundation of a bigger debt."

"Production will inevitably increase, unemployment will inevitably decline (under defence construction)," the Republican presidential nominee said in a speech here.

"But stop and think how this new work is being created. It is being created by money spent by the government, taken out of the pockets of the people or added to the mounting national debt....

"When the defence program is finished, we may have a bigger industrial system, but it will have been built upon the insecure foundation of a bigger debt."

Willkie said he did not want to hear "the new dealers point with pride to a business revival based on the creation of the huge war machine that we are building."

"Only dictators make the boast that they have 'solved' their domestic problems in that way. It is the ultimate boast of the all-powerful state."

The nominee, reiterated his contention that "every major economic policy of the new deal is pushing" toward some form of state socialism.

Willkie said the country's industrial machinery is wearing out and becoming inefficient.

"The reason that we have thus neglected our machinery, which is so important to the worker, is because investors have been unable to predict what sudden turn a hostile government might take against them," he said.

DOLLARS CALLED IN

CANBERRA—In Australia's wartime monetary control policy, trading in United States and Canadian dollar notes is illegal and they must be turned in to the Commonwealth Bank at current rates of exchange.

Odd Fellows Hear Address By J. O. Hyndman

The Odd Fellows and Rebekahs were at Home last evening for the purpose of listening to an address by Mr. John O. Hyndman, who spoke in the interests of the Save The Children Fund as it is now being promoted by its sponsors. This is a society or organization of which little was known in this City, and the minute description by Mr. Hyndman of the aims and objects and the manner by which it is maintained were most interesting.

It is an organization for the purpose of helping the children in the battle torn lands of the old World, there being no distinction between race or creed. The fund is handled by a corps of volunteer workers composed of the foremost citizens of the countries in which the fund is being advocated.

Mr. Hyndman, in his clear and convincing manner, pictured the plight of the children in the lands where ruthless destruction has taken place leaving them homeless and parentless to suffer and die as a result of the hardship endured. He made a strong plea for an organized effort to secure financial support for the Save The Children Fund.

At the close of his remarks he was tendered a hearty vote of thanks which was concurred in by a number of speakers. At the close of the address refreshments were served after which some other speakers were called upon who addressed the assemblage with appropriate remarks.

An interested listener to the splendid address was Grand Secretary. E. H. Munro of Windsor, N. S., who is officially visiting some of the Island Lodges. He was accompanied by Grand Warden, Hazen Phillips of Summerside who is also on official visitation.

Case Seeks To Determine Paper's Right To Comment

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21—(AP)—Litigation intended to determine the extent of a newspaper's right to comment editorially on a court case prior to a final settlement was taken under advisement today by the United States Supreme Court.

Arguments were heard on an appeal by the Los Angeles Times from a contempt of court conviction growing out of the publication of editorials concerning two labor cases and a woman politician.

T. B. Cosgrove, attorney for the newspaper, contended that a contempt conviction was proper only if there was "a clear and present danger" that editorials would interfere with the administration of justice.

Allen W. Ashburn replied for the State of California that the proper test was whether there was "a reasonable tendency" to impede the work of the courts.

He asserted that this test had been "in operation for 200 years or more" and had been sustained by the Supreme Court. He contended also that the conviction of the newspaper was proper under either tests.

Pressed by the court for a specific statement of his views on a newspaper's right to comment on pending litigation, Cosgrove replied:—

"Whatever is said and wherever it is said the question always is: Were the words used, under the circumstances of the case, of such a nature as to create a clear and present danger that they would bring about a substantial interference with the orderly administration of justice. Unless they do, they are privileged under the constitution."
