SUMMERSIDE, ALBERTON and PRINCE COUNTY

—It pays to buy in this Province.

—Miss Mabel Howatt, Tryon, is having an enjoyable visit with friends in Charlottetown.

—D. A. Wedlock, E. R. Brow and J. M. Rattenbury, were among the visitors to Summerside yesterday.

—James McKinney, representing the Father Morrisey Remedies, is in the province on his regular winter trip.

—Prin. Bent is doing excellent work in the interests of the pupils of the Summerside High School. He has already introduced several new features that have met the approval of the trustees as well as the pupils and the parents. He has also arranged a series of addresses to be given the classes at regular intervals, the first of which was delivered a few days ago by Neil McLeod, his subject being "Cobden and the Corn Laws," which furnished the pupils an interesting subject besides affording them a great deal of information.

—The death occurred at the home of his father at Summerside yesterday afternoon of George Mountain, eldest son of James B. and Mrs. Mountain at the early age of 23 years. The deceased had been ailing for some years past and about a year ago, on the advice of his physician, went to Muskoka sanitarium where he spent some six months but made little or no improvement and since his return home his condition slowly became worse until the end came about noon yesterday. He leaves to mourn besides a sorrowing father and mother, three brothers, Charles, Leigh and Alfred all at home and two sisters, Mrs. Wood in Mass., and Annie at home. The funeral takes place Monday afternoon at 2 p.m. to the people's cemetery.

OUTPUT OF HARTT BOOT AND SHOE COMPANY TO BE DOUBLED.

Nearly $50,000 Has Been Added to The Paid-up Capital in Order To take Care of Increasing Business.

Hardly a day goes by but one hears of the success achieved by Canadian manufacturers in every line. Now comes the news that it is the intention of the Hartt Boot and Shoe Company, Fredericton, N. B., to increase their output very largely. In fact, it is understood that this concern's steadily increasing business demands that their production be nearly doubled.

The Hartt Boot & Shoe Company's product has acquired a splendid reputation throughout Canada. Their boots and shoes take a place in the front rank of the best manufacturers in America. A splendid business has been built up in the west and with the facilities to handle new business the company will make an effort to take care of the trade from one end of Canada to the other.

This is the latest movement in shoe factory enterprise is due to the investment of Mr Reid, the present General Manager of the Company and J. D. Palmer, one of the most successful business men of the Maritime Provinces. This increase in the treasury stock provides the new capital necessary to work up the Hartt Boot & Shoe Company's business in the position of one of the largest and most successful shoe factories in Canada.

VICTORIAS WIN A DOUBLE VICTORY

played a hard and fast game. Nothing better could be said of Doyle than that he played his usual aggressive, fast game. Snow, a new man and a promising one, and A. Hennessey worked well with their team. F. Hennessey played a hard game and a good one despite an injury received early in the proceedings and though out of his own position.

Chester Campbell, at point, played strenuously and made quite a few nice rushes but too often left his goal keeper alone in a dangerous moment. He did well for his first senior game. Saunders was unfortunate in being injured six minutes after play began but the Abbies had an excellent substitute in Chester VanIderstine who made many remarkable stops.

The game started at 8.36 after a much too prolonged delay. In just one minute Rodd dropped the first goal in the net. On re-opening Snow and Doyle got in a nice bit of combination but McAskill was "on the job." Again Snow and Gillispie tried this but failed in shooting. After six minutes playing Rattenbury made a nice run and shot and the puck rebounded of Saunder's pads. Rodd got it there and made tally number two. In stopping this Saunders fell and received a kick in the side which necessitated his retiring from the game, VanIderstine supplying instead. In two minutes after the game started Rattenbury, on a pass from Burns, sent in a nice one from the front of the net. Rodd later made a nice run and shot from the wing but missed. Three minutes later Gillespie and Doyle worked the combination stunt and "Billy" found the net for the Abbie's only goal after Doyle's pass from the wing. Score, 3—1. F. Hennessey, just prior to this, had been hit on the head and went off the ice feeling groggy. The wound required stitches but Frank "came back."

On play resuming Rodd and Murphy got in a nice bit of combination and only a beautiful stop by VanIderstine saved a goal. A good run by Grady resulted in another tally for the Vics. Score 4—1. A few minutes later A. Hennessey retired for a few moments having been injured by the puck.

Six minutes after play resumed Rodd dropped in another score for the Vics, followed one minute later by another by Murphy who got puck in front of the nets from Rodd. Score 6—1. The half ended with no further score.

The second period opened by a rush on the Abegweit nets, where the play was centred for the greater part of the half. After some team work in which Rodd and Rattenbury and Gillespie and Snow figured Rodd again began to find the net and six minutes after the half started dropped in one and repeated the stunt one minute later. Score 8—1. Grady on an accurate shot from centre ice made the score 9—1 and then the Vic's burly cover retired for repairs. On play re-commencing the Vics began a sort of a scoring "bee" making repeated attacks on the Abegweits fortress which was so ably defended. But these rushes were almost irresistible and resulted in three goals in rapid succession, two by Rodd and one by Arnold Rattenbury. The game ended with the score at 12—1.

The Intermediate game was full of interest and both teams strove hard to win. The Vics, who have not lost a game this season, succeeded in landing the game after a hard struggle. Nice combination work and good individual plays were in order, the Vic's forwards playing well together and had a shade the best of their red and black opponents. The first half opened and McIsaac scored for the Abbies in one minute. The Vics took a turn and on a good combination play between Rattenbury and McDonald, the latter found the net. Rattenbury throughout played an exceedingly fast game. Ingraham scored another shortly after, while McDonald and Prowse each added one, making the score at the end of the half Vics 4; Abbies 1.

The second half was fast, the Abbies trying hard to overcome the lead. Williams by a nice run scored one, which was followed by another by McIsaac. Good runs by Snow and McTague made things lively for the Vic. defence, which however was on the alert and kept the Abbies from further scoring. Ingraham succeeded in netting another for the Vics which made the final score: Vics 5; Abbies 3.

The Fourth Regiment Band had a strong team and played well.

The Vics now hold the bigh scoring record in the New Arena. Last night's score was the largest made in a league game in that rink.

The line-up was as follows:

MANHATTAN SHAKEN TO ITS FOUNDATIONS BY AN EXPLOSION

to uphold locomotives and loaded trains, were mere nullity. Over the broken edges twisted the steel rails of track. A steel gondola car on the southernmost track looked like an old hat that had been used by boys for football.

All about were strange freaks of the explosion. One freight car had the roof blown inward, as if it had been crushed by a falling boulder, but the sides were untouched. The iron sheathing of the freight house on pier 6, to the north, were pushed inward on the side nearest the explosion and outward on the farther side.

In the train shed terminal nearly the whole southern exposure of the glass roof had collapsed, showering the piers with broken glass. One man was struck by a twenty pound fragment and so severely cut that he died afterwards. An engineer in a shunting locomotive was blown from his cab and died of a fractured skull. A tugboat captain was hurled from his wheel house and fished out of the water fifteen minutes later, swimming about the southern side of the demolished pier.

Inside the passenger station there was damage visible everywhere. The floor were littered with broken glass. Windows fronting on the inner court had been sucked from the frames, sashes and all. Slates were torn from the roof. The hands of the ferry house clock were torn off. The southern wall bulged like pasteboard. There were no sashes in most of the windows and no glass in those that had sashes.

In New York, the terror was intensified by uncertainty. For half an hour nobody knew what had happened or where it had happened. Those in the rocking skyscrapers thought the lower floors had been torn from them. Those in the street thought the massed towers above them had been toppled down. Literally acres of glass were broken. Eighteen windows were smashed in the Standard Oil company building at No. 26 Broadway and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., was at his desk.

In Trinity church a valuable stained glass window was strewn in the aisles. Strange to say, office buildings on the waterfront streets in New York were no more jarred than those on the further side of Broadway, in Wall street, Nassau street or the curb market row, or the stock exchange itself. A plate glass window in the rear of the exchange was smashed and in the aquarium at the southernmost tip of the island, twelve windows and twenty-five skylights were broken. Nearly every structure from Fulton street south suffered in some manner, but no damage was done to the subway and the shock was not even felt in the Hudson tubes, below the level of the Hudson river.

New York business men who stood at their office windows looking out over the North river at noon saw a puff of yellow dust shoot into the air just below Jersey Central terminal, and then drift down the wind until it covered the terminal trainshed. The next thing they noticed was that every tugboat in the river seemed to be heading to Communipaw. Turning to the streets they saw them black with surging thousands. Stenographers and clerks rushed into the street from every door. There were incipient panics there and there throughout the city in business buildings and factories, as far north as the Bronx. The jar shook many telephone and fire alarm wires down town into unintended contacts, and all sorts of complications ensued.

DEATH ELUSIVE DECIDE TO LIVE

NEWPORT, Ky., Jan. 30—Mrs. Mary Salsman, living at 408 Isabella Street, Newport, and her sister, Miss Elizabeth Ellswick, this evening "swore off" trying to commit suicide again. They have in the past few months, tried 10 times to kill themselves. Yesterday Mrs. Salsman took arsenic with the hope that it would kill her, but this evening was recovered enough to say that no more trials will be made by either. Her sister was at her bedside, nursing her.

Three times Mrs. Salsman has tried to take her life by poison. Her sister has tried seven times, two of which were attempts to drown herself in the Ohio river, and three of which were with carbolic acid. Both the sisters have bad health, and this is given by their friends to be the real reason for these attempts.

"We feel that we are bound to live, no matter how much we may try to die," said Miss Ellswick. "Therefore we are going to live and will not die except in the natural course of events, and in a natural way. Our resolution has been made after we have been rescued 10 times from death."

BOY PLANNED SUICIDE 4 YEARS

PROVIDENCE, Feb. 1—Having planned for four years to take his own life, Henry Gras, 17 years old, who has been in this country only seven weeks, shot himself in the head. Gras lived in Riverside.

His uncle and aunt, Walter and Mrs. Vanderwerf, with whom he boarded, say he was melancholy and was determined upon killing himself.

When the medical examiner searched the boy's clothing he found two notes. One was addressed to his aunt and uncle and was written in Dutch. It divulged that the lad had contemplated suicide for four years. He said that even while he was in school in Holland he often wondered how he could easily dispose of himself.

He was a great reader of cheap novels pertaining to wild western life.

CUBA.

Cuba, that land of almost absurd contrasts, is the subject of a book by Miss Irene A. Wright which has just been published in the series already containing volumes on Alaska, Labrador and Mexico. Miss Wright knows the Island well, having lived there for a number of years, being actively engaged in newspaper work and, consequently, brought into intimate touch with the people and their customs. Her book is a comprehensive one; it is not confined to any one locality nor to any one of the many phases of the civilization—a civilization which is more complex than is ordinarily supposed.

The volume opens with a treatment at first historical and then descriptive of Havana. This is followed by a chapter on "Days in Havana," a remarkably sympathetic presentation of the course of events and the general run of life in this fascinating city. Succeeding chapters in the book take up the home life of the island, the economic situation, commercial possibilities, the raising of tobacco and the production of sugar, the religion and morality of the people, their intellectuality and their government. From coast to coast Cuba is thoroughly "scoured" by Miss Wright and the points of interest, either natural, historical or those which are "just different" are indicated by her. A visit to the Isle of Pines is also made and described with considerable detail. The book is handsomely illustrated with nearly fifty full page half-tones. The Macmillan Co., Publishers.
