ADDED — COMEDY

DAILY 2.30 — 7.00 — 8.45

"George Arliss" At The Capitol

The inimitable George Arliss comes to the Capitol Theatre today in "Man of Affairs."

George Arliss plays two roles. In one he appears as a good-natured, philosophic traveler who likes to spend his time seeing how the other half lives. In the other he is a high-hat Cabinet official, straight-laced, dull and pompous. As plain Richard Dunchester his interest in people prompts him to protect Bill Howard from a pair of Eastern Sheiks who falsely accuse him of murder. Thus, he returns to London. Here he not only tries to save his brother from plunging the country into war but he stage-manages a love affair between his new ward and his brother's dashing young secretary, Vera.

His carefree and amusing way of getting in and out of scrapes finally find him kidnapping his brother and impersonating him at a very serious Cabinet meeting. But with Bill as a side-kick who won't let him down at any price, he manages to accomplish any number of unusual feats—and after making sure that there's an altar waiting for Bill and Vera, and a laurel wreath for his brother, he exits, heading once again for the inscrutable East.

MacCormack-Noonan Nuptials

A wedding of more than passing interest took place at eight o'clock Wednesday morning, July 20th, at St. Peter's Church, Seven Mile Bay when Rev. George McCabe united in marriage Maud J., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Noonan, Albany, to Winfred F., son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. MacCormac, also of Albany.

The bride, who entered the church on her father's arm to the strains of the Wedding March played by Miss Florrie Green, organist, looked charming gowned in dusty rose chiffon with white accessories and carrying an arm bouquet of pink and white snapdragons and maiden hair fern.

The groom's sister, Mrs. Urban J. Pineau, dressed in yellow flowered chiffon, attended the bride while Mr. Urban J. Pineau assisted the groom.

During the Nuptial Mass, Miss Hazel Green and Mr. Jack Green of Bedeque sang a lovely duet and Mr. Pius Callaghan of Charlottetown rendered two beautiful hymns.

After the well wishes of friends and relatives, the happy couple left amid a shower of confetti on a motor trip through the Maritime Provinces.

Prior to her marriage the bride was tendered a shower at the home of her parents when over three hundred assembled to present her with gifts and good wishes.

AN ISLAND BY THE SEA

There is an Island by the sea
I love to visit frequently,
'Tis far removed from rush and strife,
Where one can lead a quiet life:

Where cattle graze upon the hills,
And daisies dance in dales and rills:
Where quiet brooks and winding streams
Reflect the sun's bright shining beams.

Where birch trees sway besides the sea
And song birds sing in ecstasy,
Where waving fields of gold and green,
A picture make that's seldom seen.

Where feathered hosts of varied hue
Sing 'neath the sky's ethered blue
And where the rose and other flowers,
Blossom beneath the sun and showers.

No wonder then I love this land
My forebears worked with heart and hand
No wonder then my heart will yearn
Until once more I shall return.

And though I wander far away
To many lands my footsteps stray
My thoughts will fly, my heart will sigh
For pleasant days on P. E. I.

Visiting The Isle Of His Fathers

(Guernsey Evening Press July 13)

Mr. H. P. Duchemin, K. C., President of the Canadian Press, of Sydney, Nova Scotia, Canada, has stopped ashore here on a special visit—a visit to see the homeland of his forefathers.

Mr. Duchemin crossed the Atlantic as Counsel for the Canadian Press, and appeared before the Privy Council last week on the hearing of the appeal asserted by the Province of Alberta with respect to the Press Control Bill.

Mr. and Mrs. Duchemin are in residence at the O. G. H. Hotel, and are to return to the mainland tomorrow.

Mr. Duchemin is a man of striking personality, and his judicial mein betrays his profession of law and letters. But he drops this when he speaks of his revered forebears, and when, yesterday afternoon, we interviewed him, he spoke very feelingly of the majesty of the scenery of Guernsey.

His visit to us is to discover whether we could introduce him to any possible members of his family, descendants, in the island. Naturally, the Duchemins are not so general as the Duquemin's, and so it came about that an introduction was effected by us between this distinguished Guernsey — Canadian and Mr. H. J. Duchemin, of Ruettes Villa, Castel. Thirty minutes later he and Mrs. Duchemin were being entertained at the Ruettes Villa, and the folklore of past generations was revealed.

Mr. Duchemin's grand-father, born in 1796, was Mr. Watson Duchemin, son of Mr. Pierre Duchemin, who left Guernsey for Plymouth. Pierre Watson later proceeded to Canada. Mr. Watson Duchemin settled at Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, and was engaged in ship-building. With Mr. Watson Duchemin were two other brothers, Louis, who settled in Newfoundland; and Pierre, who went to Quebec. The family in Canada, like the Duchemin family in Guernsey, were interested in music, and Mr. Watson Duchemin built a pipe-organ for a church in Charlottetown.

Mr. H. P. Duchemin, whom Guernsey welcomes, has a son, Mr. Lloyd Duchemin, M. A., of Toronto, who has been awarded a Fellowship, and is crossing to England in the Autumn to take up a year's study at London University.

HAY CROP THREATENED BY RAIN—Prince Edward Island farmers are beginning to feel concerned over prospects for harvesting this season's hay crop. Unusually wet weather is delaying operations and hay already cut is spoiling in the fields. To date this month 4.89 inches of rain fell in Prince Edward Island, Mr. Warren Burns, meteorologist at the Charlottetown Experimental Station said last night as compared with 0.79 inches for the whole month of July last year. Almost half this month's precipitation occurred on July 22 and 23 when the Experimental Station here recorded 2.18 inches. ## RELIGIOUS SERVICES

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

The subject of the morning sermon by the Rev. H. L. Denton, B. Th., B. D., was "The Values of a True Discipleship." Based on two statements in St. John 1: 42 "Thou art.—Thou shalt be" it was pointed out that the Christian life, involved in following Jesus Christ, making concrete his principles, should produce a progressive unfolding of character. If we are properly to solve the needs, economic, social, international of the world, we must make Christianity more effective. Christianity shows its values in the life of the disciple, it should have a marked personal effect on our own personal lives "thou art Simon, wavering, effervescent, uncertain, thou shalt be Peter, the rock, firm, enduring.

Christ makes use of our native powers with gifts of his grace, mercy, love.

If our discipleship is vital it effects our family relations, our community, our national relations. The coming of the Kingdom of God depends to a degree on the lives presented by the followers of Jesus.

The soloist of the morning was Miss Lorena Sampel, singing very effectively "One sweetly solemn thought."

The Rev. J. A. Raymond Tingley of Chipman, N. B., who is conducting one of the study periods with the Young People's Camp at Marshfield, was the eloquent preacher at the evening service.

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH

Rev. G. H. Wright, minister of the United Church, C. B., was the special preacher at Trinity. He came as the representative of Pine Hill Divinity Hall appointed by the Maritime Conference.

Mr. Wright traced the history of Pine Hill Divinity Hall from the founding of the log college in Pictou in 1820 and of Mt. Allison in 1843. Out of the Pictou college had grown the Academy, Dalhousie University, and the present Pine Hill Divinity Hall. The speaker emphasized the fact that this was the first colonial college ever to send missionaries to the foreign field; for it had founded the fields of Trinidad, the New Hebrides, and Korea.

Side by side with the influence of the Presbyterian Church there came the warm-hearted devotion of the Methodist Church which had done so much to provide ministers in the Maritimes. The speaker emphasized the enriching influence of the college at the time of church union in 1925 and said that in its history the college had trained and graduated 1400 men, of whom 118 had graduated since union in 1925.

On the financial side the college had need of assistance and was now seeking to raise an added endowment fund of $150,000 to be known as the "Clarence MacKinnon Memorial Fund" in memory of the late Rev. Clarence MacKinnon who was Principal of the college for nearly 30 years. During the depression years the college funds had suffered through the shortage in the missionary and maintenance fund and this shortage was now to be overcome and future contingencies provided for.

The appeal of Pine Hill Divinity Hall was for consecration of life and wealth and to this appeal he was confident the church would turn an attentive ear.

Mr. Roy Smallman was the soloist at the morning service, singing Liddle's setting of the text, "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings."
