Interviewed yesterday regarding the arrangements for employing men of the service forces to work on farms under direction of the Department of Labour, Premier J. Walter Jones said there was no change in the situation so far as he was aware. The Department had insisted that the farmer pay a minimum of $3.00 a day for soldier labor. Premier Jones had notified the Department that Prince Edward Island was "not even interested" in such an offer, as the proposed wage rate, to which must be added board and lodging, was far too high.

The Premier's attention was drawn to an editorial appearing in yesterday's Patriot, to the effect that the federal proposal was that farmers in the Maritimes would pay —not $3.00 a day as understood by Premier Jones, but merely the difference between $3.00 and the soldier's military pay and allowance.

The Premier, who is also Minister of Agriculture, said in reply that no such proposal had been made to him by Ottawa. He did not know where the Patriot got its information, but he had no hesitation in saying it was not in accord with the offer he had received.

Later Premier Jones notified The Guardian that he had re-checked on the proposal received from the Department of Labor and that it substantiated what he had said. When he had suggested to the Department that soldiers should receive from $35 to $40 a month, with exceptionally good men receiving $50, he had received a telegram setting forth the wage scale, which insisted on a minimum payment by the farmer employer of three dollars a day for every day the soldier is available for work. This rate applied to the Maritime Provinces and Quebec. It was progressively higher in Ontario and the west.

Crowds on a par with former opening day attendances that jammed the midway and race track afternoon and evening witnessed the opening of the Old Home Week and Provincial Exhibition program yesterday to usher in what has all appearances of being the best ever staged during the 58 years existence of the "Big Show".

Crowds were kept on the move as they witnessed the various amusement booths of the Bill Lynch shows; the cattle, and poultry barns, rapidly filling up with the choicest herds in the province also came in for a lot of attention and today with judging scheduled to commence even greater attention will be given this phase of th show.

Last night a crowd that filled the main stand and overflowed onto the track saw one of the most spectacular night shows, if not the most spectacular, ever to perform here. From the opening number to the brilliant display of fireworks that concluded the program the performers held their big audience spellbound with feats of daring, feats requiring consummate skill on tightwire, and bicycles, and performances that added the comedy part to the show. The management are to be congratulated on the fine show they have obtained for this week's program and people who have witnessed shows of this sort all over the Dominion expressed the opinions freely that last night's performance was just as good as any to be found anywhere.

Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz are spending their honeymoon at Stanhope Beach and on their return will reside at 381 Spring Garden Road, Halifax.

—GUEST AT MEETING — An interesting guest at the meeting of the Summerside town council meeting on Monday evening was Sgt. Douglas, R.A.F., of Swan Hill, Australia. Sgt. Douglas, who is at present stationed here, is a member of the Town Council in his home town and was deeply interested in the manner in which Council meetings were conducted in Canada in comparison with his own country. One thing that impressed the visitor was the promptness and dispatch with which the Summerside town council is able to deal with civic problems and admitted that in his home town that the meeting often lasted until after midnight. He spoke of his visit to Canadian parliament sessions and said that they differed in no way from those in Australia. He visited the U.S.A. on his way to Canada and told of the thrill he received on landing at Vancouver and seeing the Union Jack fluttering in the breeze. It was like a homecoming and it was things like this that made one realize the vastness of the British Empire. He said that while Democracy is not working 100 percent in the British Empire it is up to the young generation to see that it was carried on and improved. Sgt. Douglas answered various questions regarding things of interest "down under" and received a hearty invitation from his worship to drop in at the council meetings in future whenever possible.—S

"One of the best shows in the Dominion," was the way Premier J. Walter Jones expressed his opinion yesterday of the Old Home Week and Provincial Exhibition program now in full swing in the course of a brief address to the overflow crowd; and that is just what this year's program is shaping up to.

Yesterday from early noon until late at night a colorful, holiday crowd swarmed through the big plant viewing the many attractions that are to be witnessed. The show rings where judging was in full swing were crowded as interested spectators followed the judges activities as they went over minutely the cream of the Island's horses, livestock and cattle. Competition in the different classes is very close and as the judges stated yesterday the quality of the stock on display this year is even better than that of the past.

Bill Lynch's Midway was in full swing and the crowds that milled around the various amusement booths, sideshows, etc., were finding something new, something different every minute, making it next to impossible to take in them all in the one day.

The harness racing program was witnessed by an overflow crowd that taxed almost every available bit of space. Four classes were run off and the race fans witnessed one of the finest afternoon's sport ever seen here with thrilling, blanket finished marking each and every heat as Island-owned horses added two more victories to the pair they chalked up on opening day. Interspersed between heats was a full vaudeville program that again drew down well-merited applause from the gathering.

The death occurred last night at his home at Elmwood, North River Road, of Lieut. Colonel Arthur G. Peake, officer commanding the 8th Medium Battery in the first world war, and one of Prince Edward Island's most distinguished war veterans.

Colonel Peake was in his 72nd year. He was stricken with paralysis about five years ago, and had been confined to his bed ever since.

A son of the late George Peake, of the shipbuilding firm of Peake Brothers, Charlottetown, Colonel Peake served his early years in this business. He was also appointed to the command of the 8th Medium Battery, which he took overseas from this Province and which distinguished itself in action on many occasions.

Colonel Peake had a fine record as a competent and experienced soldier, and was very popular with his men, in whom he took a keen personal interest.

In his earlier years he was an active member of the Masonic Order, the Oddfellows, and Sons of England. His religious affiliation was with St. Peter's Cathedral.
