USE WOOD CAREFULLY

The war is over—but many of its effects will be felt for a long time. There will be none too plentiful supplies of wood-fuel for the winter ahead because of the last year's shortage of labour, coupled with poor weather for cutting in parts of Canada last winter. All who depend on wood for heating their homes are being warned by the Department of Munitions and Supply to use their wood supply with the greatest economy.

Liberated Canadians Praise Airman Officer

By WILLIAM STEWART

GUAM, Sept. 28 — (CP) — Freed from harsh imprisonment in Japanese camps where they spent more than 3 1-2 years following the fall of Hong Kong Christmas Day, 1941, a contingent of 426 Canadians was at this American Navy base today awaiting transportation home.

These men, who will follow 340 other fellow prisoners now homeward bound by sea and air, had stories of beatings by Japanese guards, of a sadistic interpreter who told them they never would get home alive and of a Canadian who stood up against the enemy to improve their conditions.

The Canadians know of the outstanding conduct of Wing Cmdr. Leonard Birchall of St. Catharines, Ont., captured in 1942 after sending the warning from his patrolling plane that helped Ceylon beat off a Japanese air attack. They hoped that the airmen who fought the Japanese with his fists to improve the prisoners' lot would be rewarded.

The prisoners expressed amazement that Wing Cmdr. Birchall came out alive after a performance against the Japanese that would have resulted in death for anyone else. He defied a notorious Japanese official at a Tokyo headquarters named Watanabe, who once lined up a group of 100 Canadians, walked down the row and floored them one after the other.

There was one Japanese, a medical sergeant, at Ohashi mining camp north of Tokyo at whom they could look with delight, for he had a broken nose, result of an encounter with Birchall who caught him mistreating other prisoners.

The interpreter who vowed the men would never return home was a Harvard graduate named Kobiashi. His actions were offset to some extent by a middle-aged official who obtained black market food for the Canadians and once turned on Kobiashi and another brutal Japanese. This official, who had worked in the United States for 22 years, trounced Kobiashi and a companion for mistreating prisoners.

Rfmn. Oscar Keenan of Winnipeg and Rsm. Leslie Shore of Quebec, as members of the camp staff, were able to save Canadians from some beatings while Sgt.-Maj. J. B. Thomson of Vancouver was consistently successful in soothing Jap hysterics.

Stock Markets At A Glance

CHICAGO, Sept. 29 — (CP) — Killing frost materialized overnight in parts of the main corn belt and more was predicted, influencing buying which pushed grain futures up more than a cent a bushel yesterday in some cases.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 30 — (CP) — Rye prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange Saturday forced up to rather broad advances in the last half of the session following a quiet opening. Most of the buying from commision houses, locals and others was stimulated by reports of frost in the American corn belt and subsequent advances in Chicago prices.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 — (AP) — Strength of assorted "blue chip" industrials bolstered stocks Saturday, after considerable early selling, and enabled the market to finish a generally bullish week and month at the highest average level in more than eight years.

Irregularity ruled after the opening but trends hardened at the last and closing advances of fractions to four points were well in the majority. The aggregate was 950,000 shares against 480,000 the previous Saturday.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .4 of a point at 71, a high since April 21, 1937. On the week it showed a net gain of .8. For September the advance was 3.4 points, broadest since April.

Berlin Has One Foot In The Grave

BY ROSS MUNRO

BERLIN, Sept. 27—(CP Cable)—Berlin is a city with one foot in the grave.

Shattered by Allied air power and the wrath of the Russians, this once-proud Capital of Adolf Hitler's Third Reich faces in defeat probably the grimmest winter it has ever known.

There is a nip in the air now and Berliners shiver at the prospect that lies ahead. No coal for civilians will be available this winter and thin men and women trudge through the Tiergarten and other city parks collecting wood for their meagre fuel stores.

Block after block of damaged houses cannot be repaired to meet the winter cold for lack of building material. Thousands of homeless families are crowded in with friends. Gloom hangs over the ruined city.

Allied authorities say Berlin is in for a hard time. They believe sufficient food to maintain a basic ration and prevent starvation will be available but fear the distribution problem may become acute. More than anything, however, they fear epidemics may sweep the city and medical plans are being made against such an eventuality. On Allied orders civilians are being vaccinated against typhoid and typhus but if influenza hits here it would spread like a forest fire.

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH

On Sunday morning in Trinity Church Rally Sunday was observed, in which all the particular emphasis was laid upon the value and importance of the work of the Church School and related organizations. The singing was led by a choir of 50 voices from the Sunday School who wore for the first time beautiful gowns made and given by the Willing Circle of the King's Daughters which were very effective.

During the service the children of the Primary Department repeated in unison the 23rd Psalm. Five infants received the rite of Baptism: The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Pierce, the infant sons of Mr. and Mrs. William Rogerson, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. Harold McInnis, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mathieson.

The choir sang as their anthem "In Our Hearts Celestial Voices." The presence of so many children having such a place in the service was very inspiring to all who were present.

In the evening the service was of another special interest and importance because on this occasion there was received by a Commission of Presbytery a candidate for the ministry in the person of Mr. Lawrence E. Toombs, after which Mr. Toombs gave a fine address relating the steps and influence which led him to make his decision to offer himself as a candidate for the ministry.

The choir sang the anthem "The King of Love"...Shelly.

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

The service of morning worship was conducted by Rev. I. Judson Levy, B.D., with sermon "Silent Before God." Job, in final humility says "Behold I am of small account what shall I answer Thee? I lay my hand upon my mouth." This is the man who tries to solve the mysteries known only to God, he argues, urges, appeals but finally accepts in humility. This is a matchless drama, written around human suffering, as old as the world, as new as the morning. The problem of suffering is no problem to the atheist, it is one that appeals to the man of faith whose conception of God is all goodness and power. There is a very real connection between the sin of the world and the suffering of the world, but there is suffering that cannot be traced to sin. Suffering has value of discipline, ease does not make for virile living. If man's mind could solve all the mysteries there is no wisdom beyond man's. Saint Paul knew sufferings and trials but he brings the message "For I reckon the sufferings of the present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory that shall be revealed in us."

The anthem of the morning was "Lead Me Lord" from Wesley's "Praise the Lord O My Soul." Mrs. Frances Moll Trainor gave an impressive rendering of Dudley Buck's "My Redeemer and My Lord."

Evening worship was conducted by the minister with sermon "Kept From Falling." The evening anthem was "Gently Lord, O Gently Lead Us" (arr. Porter). The ordinance of baptism was ministered to a number of young people at this service. The music of the day was in charge of Mrs. K. S. Rogers, organist and director of choir.

The roses on the Communion table were placed by Mrs. William Johnston in memory of her son, Lieut. William Johnston, killed in action Sept. 29, 1943.

NAMES IN HATS

Place names of the world, little more than lines of newspaper type to most of us, have frequently given name to feminine and masculine forms of headgear. Panama hats take their name from that Central American nation, although they are actually made in Ecuador.

Ecuadorean men gather the material, but the hats are mostly woven by native women and children. We merely call them Panama straws because they were first offered for sale by Panama shopkeepers to tourists aboard vessels making the Canal passage.

Leghorn hats of an earlier generation were so named after Leghorn, the English equivalent to the Italian port city of Livorno. To the north, Milan gave its name to Milan straws, exported by the hat makers of Milan. This despite the fact that our white colonists might have learned the not too difficult art of weaving straw hats from North American Indian tribesmen.

The once common but never attractive derby can claim two sources of origin in the old English town of Derby and its almost equally venerable Derby family. The homburg is of distinctly German extraction, as the geography of that country will readily confirm.
