McClosky Loses To Pyle; Wolcott Wins

New Jersey Battler Has Wide Margin

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, May 24—(AP)—The betting odds on Jersey Joe Walcott skyrocketted mysteriously to 5 to 13 shortly before his fight with Lee Oma tonight, and they could have gone twice as high because the New Jersey negro galloped to a 10-round decision in Madison Square Garden. Walcott weighed 191½; Oma 192¾.

The 32-year-old Camden, N. J., father of six who came off the fistic ash-pile 15 months ago to zoom to the heavyweight forefront, floored Oma in the first round, belabored him with rights to the ribs from start to finish, had him holding on at the end of the eighth, and had the Detroiter groggy again in the 10th as he came dameing to the wire without a bit of trouble.

The decision was unanimous on the part of all three officials, with Judge Harold Barnes and Referee Johnny Burns giving Walcott nine rounds and Oma one and Judge Jack O'Sullivan making it seven to three in Walcott's favor.

Great Pilot Never Played In Majors

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 24—Joseph Vincent McCarthy, who resigned today as manager of New York Yankees, was one of the few men to pilot big league baseball clubs without having played a game in the majors.

The square-chinned leader of the Yankees, while guiding the club through some of its greatest years in baseball, never rose above double-A ball during his 14-year playing career—from 1907, when he began at Wilmington, N. C., in the tri-state league, to 1921, when he wound up with Louisville, after seeing action also in Toledo, Wilkesbarre, Pa., and Buffalo, N. Y., his home town.

He became pilot of the Louisville club in 1919 and led the Colonels to a pennant in 1925. The following years with the Cubs and 15 more with the Yanks no McCarthy club ever finished out of the first division.

He won the 1929 pennant with the Cubs, then, after losing the world series to the Athletics, was released during the 1930 season. At New York, his Yankees won eight American League pennants—four in a row from 1936 through '39—and bludgeoned their way to seven world series championships.

In 1939, after the Yanks had rounded out four straight seasons as kings of baseball, the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers Association voted him the annual award for "outstanding achievement" in baseball.

When the Yanks were dethroned by Detroit Tigers in 1940, he was given another three-year contract. Again in '42, he re-signed for an estimated $40,000 salary.

As pilot of his club, McCarthy was the complete boss on the field and in the clubhouse. When baseball writers would question him about some problem, possibly raising a doubt as to his method of handling it, his never-altered reply was "Aw, let me worry about that."

Although he rarely emerged from the dugout, letting the team and the coaches take over the field, McCarthy was calling the shots. When he did make one of his infrequent sorties from the dugout to argue with an umpire, it rarely was with any of the shouting and arm-waving common to some of his more belligerent colleagues.

Kingarvie Favored To Win Classie

(By The Canadian Press)

TORONTO, May 24—The field for the 67th running of the classic King's Plate Saturday was officially announced today as 12 horses—none of the talked-about candidates for the King's guineas were missing.

The 12 will race a mile and an eighth Saturday for the King's 50 guineas and $10,000 added by the Ontario Jockey Club, the race this year being worth around $13,000 including fees.

The weather was a question-mark. Rain threatened tonight and it was uncertain how the skies and track would be tomorrow. It seemed that only a heavy overnight rain could make the track heavy or sloppy.

The Parkwood Stable's grand colt Kingarvie remained the Plate favorite. He won one division of the six-furlong Plate trial a week ago with ease, for his ninth consecutive victory including eight starts as a two-year-old last year.

The late Harry Hatch's Bluesweep, one of the leading threats to Kingarvie, was entered as a running mate of Palermo.

Charles Turner's David T., winner of the other section of the Plate trial, is in there again tomorrow and the gents looking for a horse to beat Kingarvie also paid attention to Louis Simon's Royal Worth, which did not run in the trial but has turned in some scintillating workouts this week.

COAL DEFICIT FACES EUROPE

PARIS, May 24—(Reuters)—Unless special action is taken, Europe will be confronted next year with a coal deficit of 46,000,000 tons, it was forecast at the conclusion yesterday of the international coal conference in Paris.

GOLF

By BYRON NELSON

How important is the grip in golf?

Obviously, one of the most important phases of anybody's golf game is the grip. The two most common grips used are the overlapping grip, which I have always favored, and the interlocking grip, favored by Gene Sarazen and Henry Picard.

The other day I outlined how Henry Picard, now the professional at the Canterbury Golf Club, Cleveland, Ohio, had successfully changed over late in his golfing career from the overlapping grip, which he had used from the time he was caddy and first started playing golf, to the interlocking grip, but I didn't go into any detail. In considering the grip and its importance to your golf game I think it might be a good idea to do that today.

"It was no simple matter to change my grip" said Henry when asked to discuss it. "Nothing can throw a golf swing out of kilter quicker, as you know but I had no choice in the matter because of the trouble I had with my wrist.

"By using the interlocking grip I can uncock my wrists with more snap at the impact. It gave me ten yards more off the tee, at least.

"It is my idea that the grip you use, like the rest of your golf game should be adapted to you and your own physical build and limitations. I think that the overlapping grip is the best for young golfers because it compels the hands to work in unison, but the interlocking grip added to my hand action and solved my problem.

"A player who wants to give the interlocking grip a trial should start by swinging easily with a No. 5 or No. 6 iron. He shouldn't try for distance and he shouldn't try for a full swing until his hands are accustomed to the new grip.

"If the shaft wobbles around in your hands wear a glove to avoid blisters. Once you get adjusted to the interlocking grip you'll be able to lock your wrists more freely at the top of the back swing and thus attain a sharper wrist lash at impact.

"My game improved a stroke a round or more after I switched to the interlocking method . . . left thumb encircling the shaft and right little finger interlocking with the left forefinger."

Gene Sarazen has always used the interlocking grip but Gene has always explained that he acquired the grip as a caddy and became so accustomed to it that he didn't dare change to the overlapping grip. Henry, on the other hand, is quite enthusiastic about the interlocking grip because it solved a problem for him at a time when his golf future looked bleak, from a competitive angle, at least.

Personally, as I've said before, I favor the overlapping grip. It gives maximum results because both hands work as one, whereas in the interlocking grip one hand is sort of working in opposition to the other.

When instructing pupils on the grip I have always emphasized the firmness of the grip. Particularly, do I emphasize the firmness of the left hand.

Give considerable time and thought to your grip. The grip is the first step in your game of golf. I've told you about Henry Picard's reasons for changing his grip and his success in making the change. Unknown to most golf fans, Ben Hogan has also made a change in his grip recently, but that's another story.

Arrows And Cats Split Doubleheader

TRURO, May 24 — (CP) — Truro Bearcats and Halifax Arrows divided a doubleheader here today in the opening games of the Halifax and district baseball league. Truro won the first contest 7-1 while Arrows took the nightcap 7-3.

Gordie Mont spaced three Arrow hits in the opener as his mates backed him up with nine safe blows. Arrows sent Lefty Staples against the Bearcats in the second fixture and he held Truro to seven hits to earn the verdict. Spud Beasley's triple with the bases loaded was the payoff clout for Arrows in the nightcap struggle.

Ferrier Posts Course Record

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, May 24—Big Jim Ferrier of Chicago, who blasted the P.G.A. a few days ago for inviting "only top-ranking pros" to most of its tournaments, exhibited his ire again today by posting a course record eight-under-par 64 in the opening round of the western open championship tournament.

Travelling the first 18 holes on wet fairways and under clouded skies, the Australian-born heavyweight broke the Sunset Country Club's competitive course record of 65 set by Walter Hagen in the 1930 St. Louis open.

Long-ball hitter Chick Harbert of Pontiac, Mich., and veteran Ky Laffoon of Orlando, Fla., came in with 67's, while Bob Hamilton of Chicago, Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N.C., Jimmy Hines of Chicago, and favorite Ben Hogan, winner of the Fort Worth colonial invitation, got in before dark with 68's.

strung well up along the track when sent away. To show how eager the moneyed men were to have a prospective winner of the big stake it is reliably stated that $35,000 was offered for Kaola a few days before the race started but Bowden and Hatchell turned a deaf ear to it as they figured she was worth taking a chance on to win more than that sum as a racer and then be worth a large sum as a brood mare when her racing days were over.

—O—

Everything is all set for the greatest racing season ever at Roosevelt Raceway, Westbury, L I., of which the racing secretary is Walter Gibbons. The lights were turned on for the initial race last night—May 24th— with more trotters and pacers and more horses with reputations on the ground than ever before. Nearly $50,000 has been spent in perfecting the Phillips starting gate and other devices to help improve the getaways. Veteran drivers like Sep Palin and Ben White believe that eventually this gate will meet the requirments but of course it can only be used at meetings extending over a long period of time or where the takings are very great, as the cost would be prohibitive for small tracks.

—O—

Jim Creed, the pacer that set the world's two-year-old record at 2.00 1-2 two seasons ago, is back in his old time form and worked a mile recently at Westbury in 2 00 with the last quarter in 29 seconds and it just seemed jogging to him.

—O—

Quebec race fanciers are purchasing horses almost every few days in the U.S.A. The latest buyer is Legere Drolet from Limolon, Quebec, who returned with the trotter Provident 2.06, br.h. by Spencer 1.57 1-2. Last year he took part in 17 dashes or races and had winning brackets in six of them. He is eligible to the 2 08 class and was formerly in the stable of Ralph Verbust, Victor N.Y.

Bob Brown of Woodstock was here on a visit during the early part of the week and says that Earle Avery has over 20 horses in his stable but that he has splendid assistants including second trainer Jimmie Smith. Earle plans to race through the Maine Circuit, taking in the Grand Circuit meeting at Old Orchard in July. One of the best liked in his stable is owned by Harry Breen, Halifax, N.S.

Dodgers Keep Riding High With 8-1 Win Over Philadelphia

(Canadian Press)

Brooklyn Dodgers kept riding high yesterday as Kirby Higby held the Philadelphia Phils to a pair of hits and the Brooks downed the perennial cellar-dwellers 8-1 before 24,492 fans—the largest crowd ever to view a National League arclight game in Shibe Park.

At New York, Ernie Lombardi's pinch-hit home run in the 11th inning gave the Giants a 2-1 win over Boston Braves, but the New Yorkers still stayed in seventh place as Pittsburgh Pirates edged Chicago 6-3 at Pittsburgh.

Giants were held hitless for seven innings by Ed Wright, but tied up the game in the last of the ninth when Willard Marshall walked and came all the way home when outfielder Tommy Holmes fumbled Johnny Mize's single to right. Ken Trinkle set the Braves down on one scratch single in three frames after relieving Hal Schumacher in the ninth, and got credit for the win.

Eldwin (Preacher) Roe got Pirates off to a good start as they opened a 23-game stand at home. Cubs got to Roe early in the game, but he tightened up to hold them to four safeties in the last six innings. Rookie Ralph Kiner blasted a three-run homer to help him along.

LEAFS DIVIDE

At Toronto, the fifth-place Maple Leafs divided a day-night doubleheader with Rochester Red Wings. The visitors hammered out 13 hits and drubbed Leafs 18-3 in the opener, with the help of Eddie Joost's double and his seventh home of the year, but Toronto came back for a 7-2 win in the night game.

Luke Hamlin fanned 10 men in Leaf's winning effort, and gave up eight hits but nary a walk while his mates were collecting six well-placed blows off the Wing hurlers.

Newark Bears pulled out a 4-3 win over the tail-end Jersey City Giants at Newark to keep pace with Leafs in the standings.

White Sox Defeated By Tigers 3-1

NEW YORK, May 24 — (AP) — Hal Newhouser fashioned his sixth American League victory of the season against one defeat tonight when he held Chicago White Sox to eight hits to give Detroit Tigers a 3-1 victory.

Tonight's game was the last appearance as manager of Jimmie Dykes, who tomorrow will turn over the reins to Ted Lyons. A crowd of more than 41,000 saw the game, the first White Sox night contest of the season.

Included in the 10-hit attack against Orval Grove was Hank Greenberg's seventh homer of the season over the left field scoreboard.

The Tigers got to Grove for three hits to get their first run in the third inning and then scored their second run in the fifth on singles by Lake, Mayo and Evers.

Says Russians Denied 3 Of 4 Freedoms

SYDNEY, Australia, May 24—(Reuters)—Joseph J. Maloney, former Australian minister in the Soviet Union, said in a broadcast here today that the Russian people are denied three of the four freedoms propounded by the late President Roosevelt in the Atlantic Charter.

"The Russian people can have no freedom from fear—the secret police are constant threat to their well-being and safety," he said.

"Of want there is evidence everywhere in the Soviet Union. Three is no freedom of speech, and freedom of worship is allowed only in restricted circumstances."

Nurses Of Maritime Hospital Ass'n Meet

A standardized system of accountancy was recommended.

Problems under discussion included Government charges—Department of Veterans Affairs patients, Indians and marines — chronic patients and drugs and their prices.

BOURNEMOUTH, England — (CP)— This south of England seaside resort will seek to regain its pre-war eminence in music. The municipal orchestra is to have at least 46 full-time performers and a permanent musical director. Daily concerts will be given in the Winter Garden.

The countryside had donned its June garment and a beautiful vista of fresh green foliaged trees and meadows greets the eye of the motorist or farmer. June and October are the writers' favorite months. The leaves are out earlier then usual this season for it is generally the first week in June before the trees are out in full leaf.

No broods of black ducks have been reported to date, but the nests of the crow, robin and bronzed grackle hold fledgling young, and some of the nests are filled almost to overflowing. The crop of nesting black ducks appears normal, but many things can happen before the broods are old enough to fly.

Crows are very numerous this spring and undoubtedly are on the increase. The crow is considered an important factor in the scheme of things particularly as effects the crop of black ducks. The skunk causes considerable losses to nesting ducks, as this animal is very fond of eggs, but his depredations are mainly confined to the upland game birds that nest in the open fields and hedge rows between fields, such as the Hungarian partridge and pheasants.

At this season of the year the skunk is continually prowling along dykes and through the open meadows. One is continually coming across their diggings where they have been unearthing grubs or the nests of field mice. It is an easy matter to distinguish between the holes dug by a fox as compared with the work of a skunk. The skunk throws the earth straight back and digs a smaller and neater hole. In the same manner if a fox destroys a nest containing eggs of a partridge or duck he, or she, is content to take the eggs and leave the nest intact. The skunk on the other hand invariably digs the nest bed up.

Our nesting song birds also have their own troubles. In addition to the crow and skunk and common house cat is prowling the countryside in their hundreds and many the mother song sparrow fails to return to her hungry brood, which are left to die in their nest, while a litter of hungry sharp clawed kittens squabble over her still warm body.

Such tragedies in the ranks of our cherished wildlife are common occurrences, albeit are seldom noticed except by the keenest of observers. Last week I was driving along a dirt road when a crow, closely followed by another of its kind, flew across the road in front of the car with an egg in its beak. The marauder alighted on a tree not far from the road but when I stopped the car to try and learn what species of game bird the egg belonged to, the black rascal became suspicious and flew further afield. Imagine it was a duck egg or maybe a large hen egg. There are no pheasants known to exist in the section where I observed the crow.

A few Canadian geese are still sticking around but one rarely sees them after May ends. Brant are quite plentiful in certain sections and remain with us until June 10th. The brant appear to give this province the go-by in the fall, and, although an open season was allowed on this species last fall I have yet to hear of any having been shot.

It is understood that the police investigation into illegal shooting of Canada geese this spring is gaining momentum. Two defendants, father and son, have already been fined, and, this scribe has it on reliable authority that further prosecutions are in the offing. As the investigation proceeds it becomes more plain with each passing day that illegal shooting reached an all high in the Bedeque Searletown districts, and there are many who would give a lot to have a peek into the game warden's little black book that he has been so busily jotting notes in of late, particularly in the column where the names of those marked for persecution, pardon me I mean prosecution, are listed. They say everything comes to those who wait, so have patience, time will eventually tell if no one else will.

Fight Ends Suddenly In Second

(By The Canadian Press)

GLACE BAY, N. S., May 24—Joe Fyle, New Waterford, N. S., welterweight, pummelled Dartmouth's Ace McCloskey into quick submission in the main bout of a Victoria Day boxing card here tonight.

Fyle, scarcely calling on his second wind, knocked out the Dartmouth battler in 51 seconds of the second round, picking up the big end of a purse that pre-fight reports indicated would pass the record $1,100 collected by Al Delaney of Windsor, Ont., here some five years back.

In Top Form

Trimmed down to 146 pounds, Fyle showed enough in the brief workout to convince many of the crowd of about 6,000 he will soon be a top contender for the Dominion welterweight title held by Montreal's Dave Castilloux.

Throwing punches equally hard with both hands from the opening gong, he had McCloskey bleeding badly around the right eye before putting him away for good.

The fadeout came as a great disappointment to the record crowd at the jam-packed Glace Bay Miners Forum, who had expected to see the fight, one of the most publicized in Cape Breton history, go the 10 rounds, or the greater part of it.

The scheduled six-rounder between Johnny (Kid) Howard of Halifax and Isaac Thomas of Pictou Landing, former featherweight champion of the British 8th Army, ended in a near riot, after Jim Cruikshanks, referee, had halted the contest with five seconds to go in the first round.

Thomas in the first minute twice staggered the Halifax boy after sharp exchanges in the infighting. However, this seemed to put a fighting spirit into Howard as he ripped into the Pictou Indian to drive him into the ropes with lefts and rights. A hard overhand smash opened a deep cut over Thomas' left eye. Howard kept after his man, pummelling him into a neutral corner, when the referee stepped in to declare Howard the winner.
