NO TRACK OF MISSING ISLANDER.—A Saint John Exchange says:—No trace of Alexander McLean, cook of the schooner Ellen Little, had been found up to this afternoon. He was last seen early Thursday morning in Prince William street without a hat or coat and strong fears are entertained that he fell into the harbor when endeavoring to board his vessel at the Pettingill wharf. John O'Leary, assisted by another man, is grappling this afternoon along the front of Pettingill wharf and the ends of the piers in that vicinity. The fact that the man was missing was reported this morning to the United States consul here as the Ellen Little is of United States register. The man signed on at Newport News. He is 48 years of age and his home is in Charlottetown, P. E. I. He is well-known in this port as he has often been here. He is unmarried.

WEDDING BELLS.— The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Prowse was the scene of an interesting event on the evening of September 1st. when Gerald R. Prowse was united in marriage to V. Constance Murdock. Rev. The bride looked very winsome in a dress of white satin and the old time veil or orange blossoms and carried a boquet of pink ophelia roses. The wedding march was played by Miss Florence Murdock, New Glasgow, N. S., sister of the bride. Another sister Miss Eva Murdock sang the favorite bridal song "O Promise Me." The rooms were prettily decorated with flowers, cut and potted. The most prominent of the cut flowers being sweet peas. Dainty refreshments were served by the Hostess who seemed to know just what every person would enjoy The bidal party took their appointed places beneath a pink and white wedding bell. The color scheme of the dining room being pink and white. The marriage was a quiet one owing to the late bereavemeent in the family caused by the death of the groom's father the late Hon A. P. Prowse. Only the immediate relatives and friends of both parties being present. THE LATE MRS. PERCY REID

Word has been received from ust 28th. last. of Gertrude McPherson, wife of Percy Reid, Gold Commissioner of the Yukon. Her remains were interred in the city of Vancouver. Besides her husband she leaves two sons and other relatives to mourn her loss. Her husband Percy Reid is a native of this Province, born in Tryon, oldest son of the late John D. Reid. He lived several years in this city where he received his education and is well known to many of our citizens. He holds a very important and responsible Dominion Government position in the Yukon which he fills with marked ability. The Guardian extends to him and his family its warmest sympathy.

REGINALD POWER

The death occurred at Halifax yesterday of Reginald Power, formerly of this city, at the early age of twenty eight years.

The deceased who was a son of the late Edward Power and Mrs. A. F. McDonald was a valued employee of the Canadian National Express Company for many years and on the amalgamation of the two companies in this province was transferred to Halifax where he was assigned to the run between that city and Quebec.

A short time ago the late Mr. Power underwent an operation at the Hospital in Halifax and it was understood he was convalescing nicely when yesterday word was received that pneumonia had developed and little hope was held out for his recovery.

His mother left at once by the 1.15 train and was with her son when he passed away, as was also his brother Capt. Augustus Power of St. John.

Last March a brother of the deceased, Eddie, passed away in this city and two months later his brother in law, the late Alfred Murphy, so that in the past six months the family have been sorely bereaved.

The funeral will be held this morning at 6 o'clock, leaving by train for St. Peter's where interment will take place.

MRS. JOHN CURLEY

A deep gloom was cost over Elmwood and vicinity when the angel of death visited the home of Mr. John Curley and carried to her eternal reward his beloved wife, Ellen.

The deceased had been in ill health for some time and despite all that kindest care and medical skill could do God claimed her as His own and on Friday, Sept. 4th, she breathed her last, supported by the rites of the church which were administered by Rev. Father Herrell, P. P.

The funeral which took place on Sunday, Sept. 6th, was very largely attended, showing the high esteem in which deceased was held. The pall bearers were as follows: Jas. Murray, Tobis Murray, Frederick Hagan, James McClosky, James Tierney and Edward Berrigan.

She leaves to mourn besides her sorrowing husband, seven daughters: Mrs. Thomas McQuaid, Mrs. Thomas McDonald and Mrs. Colin McKenzie, all of Boston; Mrs. Edward Berrigan, of North Wiltshire; Mrs. Frederick, Nova Scotia, Miss Margaret and Miss Bertha at home; also five sons, Thomas and William of Boston, Chas., of Elmwood, John and Ivan at home, to all of those the Guardian extends its deepest sympathy. May her soul rest in peache.

MRS. DAWSON COULTER.

On July 21, 1925, there passed away at the Malden Hospital, Malden, Mass., Mary Jane Cousins, widow of the late Dawson Coulter. Everett, Mass. The deceased was a daughter of the late Hugh Cousins, and his wife, Jane South, and was born at Stanley Bridge, P. E. Island, on Jan. 12, 1852. She leaves to mourn one son, Waldo S. Coulter, Brooklyn, N.Y., three brothers, John, of Medford, Mass.; Daniel of Marlboro, Mass.; and Nelson, on the old homestead at Stanley, P. E. I., and two sisters, Mrs. Mina Brooks, Campbello, Mass., and Mrs. Bessie H. Rose, Cambridge, Mass.

The passing of Mrs. Coulter will be learned with regret by many friends both in her old home and her new. She was one who was respected wherever she was known.

The funeral was held at 11 o'clock a.m. on July 25, in the private chapel of A. E. Long & Son, undertakers, Cambridge, Mass., interment being in the Woodlawn cemetery, Clinton. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Whittaker, of Malden.

A little borax should be added to the water in which sateen or any other cotton material with a glossy finish is rinsed. The shiny surface will be retained much longer.

Quebec Called Empire's Best Bulwark Against Influence Of Reds

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 13.—John Bassett, of the Montreal Gazette, one of the Canadian delegates to the Imperial Press Conference at Melbourne, yesterday paid a striking tribute to the influence of the Roman Catholic church in the Province of Quebec.

"Quebec is one of the greatest bulwarks against Bolshevism within the British Empire, due to the wonderful influence of the priests who have created, by good counsel, a remarkable spirit of common sense between employers and employes," he said.

Although he was himself a non-Catholic, Mr. Bassett praised the tolerant attitude of the Catholic majority of Quebec province. "The French-Canadian province of Quebec is one of the happiest and most progressive of the Dominion," he declared, "and although the Roman Catholics are in an overwhelming majority there is no bigotry or interference with the religious liberty of the minority."

Mr. Bassett also had praise for the economic contentment and prosperity of Quebec which, he said, was due to the influence of the Roman Catholic church in deprecating extremes and in standing for moderation and common sense in industrial and commercial matters. Quebec, he added, allowed no intrusion of any foreign or dangerous elements into its industrial life.

BEFORE AND AFTER

Courtship is the bright picture in front of a seed catalogue, and marriage is how the garden looks after a drought, says the cynic.

Love as though some day you should have to hate; hate as though some day you would have to love.

Island Lady Visits Panama Zone

The following extracts from a letter by Miss Daphne M. McDonald, nurse at the Fruit Growers' Hospital, Port Limon, Costa Rica, Central America, written on her return there after a vacation spent with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McDonald, (Peter's Road:

Port Limon, Costa Rica,
August 21, 1925.

Dear Mother,—Here at last! The hospital has been overflowing with patients. There are beds out to the front corridors, and there has been a constant stream of very difficult private patients.

There has been an army of relatives hanging around. This hospital is not like a hospital in the States, where they are shoved out. Here they stay all night and get a tray if they want it. I feel well. Had a great time in St. Christobel. Took a trip to old Panama City and to new Panama City. Washed my hands in the Pacific Ocean.

As you approach the old City of Panama, there is a bridge over which the famous buccaneer, Morgan, with his men, passed in 1671 to attack the city.

It is said the people drove five hundred wild bulls before them to meet the foe, but were vanquished because their methods of warfare and weapons were more ancient than those of Morgan. The bridge was in use until 1921. The walls of an old hermitage are still standing, and through the tiny openings in the walls one wonders how they received light and air.

The Cathedral ruins are very interesting, an arch without a keystone on which many tons of brick are resting, and the remains of an old spiral staircase.

The altar of the Cathedral, which was of pure gold, and the only one of its kind in the world, was painted white by the Nuns during the battle, so that if the church were captured, the value of the altar would not be known, because the conqueror would doubtless carry off a thing so priceless.

The ruse succeeded, and the altar remained, but was subsequently removed to a church in New Panama City. We saw it, and it is truly magnificent. Inside the church and for many feet away from it is a path worn by the traffic of many ants, reddish in color, and larger than the ordinary ant. They each have a portion of leaf, and carry it constantly. They are called "army ants," and certainly they are very methodical and orderly in their habits.

We visited New Panama City, which looks fairly antiquated to me. The busts of the French engineers who began the Canal in 1871 interested me much.

We watched a steamer going through the locks of which there are three, and it was a most interesting sight.

As we went on to Panama City we saw the S. S. Canadian Highlander flying the Union Jack, speeding on toward the Pacific—just a tiny glimpse of home.

The scenery along the canal is truly lovely, but I shall leave the description of its waters, hills and dales to some pen more gifted.

The gloss of a rubber plant is greatly increased by the use of a teaspoon of sweet oil about its roots once a month.
