THE SUSPENDED SENTENCE.

Judge Cleland, who presides over a criminal court in one of the worst districts in Chicago, tells in the McClure's Magazine about trying to reclaim the criminal classes by suspended sentence. When men were convicted before him for assaults and robberies, etc., he would impose the highest sentence permitted by the law, but suspend the sentence during good behavior. But he did more than this. He always exacted a promise that if drink or gambling had led to the crime, that the offender should promise not again to drink or gamble.

He also required the offender to report to him, say once in every two weeks, at a night session of the court held for the purpose, bringing with him his wife, if he had one, or a friend to testify to his good conduct. He realised the necessity and importance of visiting the men at their homes. This he had not time to do himself and so he called for volunteers. To the credit of Chicago be it said that one hundred of her business and professional men undertook the duty. The amazing result of it all was that in 92 cases out of 100 the offenders did not break their promise or render necessary the infliction of the suspended penalty.

To reclaim the criminal rather than to execute vengeance upon him is the underlying principle of this method. The criminal is also a man and a brother. The suspended sentence shows the offender that the judge is not vindictive but seeks his good, is even willing as far as possible to trust him, and this appeals to his better nature. He knows also that further misconduct means a heavy penalty, brought on by his own act, and inevitable. The results of this lenient method as related by Judge Cleland are indeed remarkable.

It seems obvious, however that the suspended sentence cannot be applied in all cases even to venial offences and seldom or never to the graven crimes. Good judgment and knowledge of human nature must be possessed by the judge who makes large trial of the suspended sentence. And doubtless very much must depend upon the attendant conditions of the offender pledging himself to abstain from ensnaring vices and also upon the visits made to his home by those who have his welfare sincerely at heart. With these auxiliaries there seem to be great possibilities for good in the methods of reclamation applied by Judge Cleland.

ROOSEVELT AS AN AUTHOR.

It is given out that President Roosevelt after the conclusion of his term of office will go to Africa and try his hand at shooting the big game of the Dark Continent. But he will also try his hand at writing the story of his hunting exploits there. Roosevelt wields the pen of a ready writer as deftly as he handles the rifle and with larger gain. He has written a number of books that have proved to be profitable.

He will write the story of his African hunting for Scribner's Magazine at the top price of a dollar a word—$60,000 to $75,000 for the whole history. After that it will be printed in volume and he will get a royalty on the books which it is said will yield him another dollar a word. Who would not go shooting if besides the fun and the game he could gather in $120,000 to $150,000 as the result of the sport?

CHEERING LOUD AND LONG.

It was boasted that in the Republican National Convention Taft was cheered 23 minutes continuously, La Follette 28 minutes, and Roosevelt 47 minutes. But at Denver Bryan was cheered for 87 minutes, which seems to break the record of vociferous applause so far on earth. In our sober community we never become enthusiastic enough to cheer any man for a quarter of an hour, let alone for an hour and twenty-seven minutes, which was the Bryan record.

The sober Boston Herald is displeased with the ovation to Bryan, and says the man who had the least cheering is the best man for the conditions that confront the country. That may be truth, but will the people at the polls vote it so? The Herald proceeds: "It was fitting that the Bryanites should make the most noise. Bryanism is noise; deprive it of its noise, its noisy promises, its voluble pretentionsness and nothing would be left."

Since Bryan's nomination the New York and Boston papers which before spoke of him in terms of ridicule or contempt begin to speak seriously of his great and growing popularity. We infer that no other Democrat who could have been nominated would have created more concern in the Republican camp.

H. H. Brown is the Up-to-date Hatter.

The July crop estimates put forth by the United States Government are exceedingly favorable. Corn is estimated to produce 2,726,000,000 bushels, 130 millions more than last year and almost a record-breaker; wheat 692,790,000 bushels or 58 millions over last year, while cotton promises a full crop of 13,0000,000 bales. Of course, many things may happen before all the crops is gathered but the present promise is having its effect in improved confidence, larger bank clearings, some resumption of industry in many lines, increased railway traffic, and so on. The nomination of the two candidates for the presidency has also had a good effect by relieving to some extent the uncertaintly that before existed in that regard.

Sir James Grant, M.D., K.C.M.G., of Ottawa, arrived in Charlottetown yesterday. He has had a conspicuous career in his chosen profession, and in political life also. Born in Scotland in 1831, he came to Canada in early life and in 1854 graduated M.D. at McGill. In 1865 he was appointed physician to Governor General Lord Monck, and has been consulting physician to each Governor General since. For his scientific attainments, his eminence in his profession and his skilled attendance upon H.R.H. the Princess Louise at the time of a critical accident he was "knighted" in 1887. Sir James served for several terms in the House of Commons in the earlier years of confederation as the Conservative representative for Russell County, Ont.

Although the entire eastern section of Canada is now suffering somewhat from dry weather and forest fires the crop reports from all over the Domihion are exceedingly favorable, and in the Northwest the worst fears now appear to be that the railways are not prepared to handle the immense crops that are rapidly maturing. And yet prices for wheat and corn rule high. A bumper crop at present prices would mean big money and a new boom for the rairie country.

DO FALSE REPORTS EXCUSE THE JURY.

Sir,—Word is on every lip of the adherents of Doherty, that Mrs. McMillan, the grieving, the heart-broken mother of the late Joseph D. MacMillan, wrote to Judge Fitzgerald during the recent trial imploring his lordship to keep the prisoner from the gallows, furthermore some of them go so far as to say that they saw the letter.

I have it from Mrs. MacMillan herself that she did not write to the Judge nor say anything to that effect. What she did say is that it did not make any difference to her what they did with the criminal since her dear son was shot "dead." But like all other broad-minded, sensible people she knew, or at least felt sure, that the prisoner would either be hanged or put in penitentiary for life, for such would have been done to J. D. MacMillan before now if he had shot Doherty.

Do the prisoner's followers (a person of any character would not be his follower now,) imagine for a moment that false reports erase the moral insanity of the jury?

Aquiri

40.051

Aquiri is a beautifully gaited, level-headed natural born trotter. The rich inheritance of speed and all other race winning qualities that he has received from both Sire and Dam should enable him to become the most successful Sire of early and extreme race-winning speed in the Maritime Provinces. Most of the disappointments in breeding trotters are the results of foals throwing back as it is termed and inheriting the characteristics of some no-account ancestor, three or four and sometimes even more generations away. Not a single no-account animal can be found among the ancestors of Aquiri, hence when a foal by him inherits the characteristics of some of his remote ancestor it cannot be otherwise.

You can get a living foal from Aquiri the coming Sire of futurity winners) for only $15 $10.00 cash when mare is bred.
