The Dalton Sanitorium Under Discussion

Interestiug Exchange of Views Between Premier, Mayor, Mr. McCarey, Dr. Garrison and Dr. Wodehouse With Reference to the Future of the Sanitorium at North Wiltshire.

At an informal meeting in the Victoria Hotel Thursday night Dr Wodehouse, secretary of the Canadian Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, discussed with Premier Bell, Mayor Jenkins, Dr. Johnson, Dr. McGuigan, Dr. Garrison and Mr. Jos. McCarey, president of the local branch of the Association plans for the co-operative work along the lines of relief of this disease. Dr. Wodehouse explained that on March 14-17 a conference will be held of all the medical men from coast to coast having to do with the treatment of tuberculosis. This is being brought out by the Dominion Government and it is the intention of the Association to ask for a considerable amount of money for relief work. For this purpose he was visiting the Maritime Provinces studying local conditions. Dr. Cook of Regina, president of the Association has been much interested in the work of the provincial Sanitarium and was very sorry to hear of its being closed. He requested Dr. Wodehouse especially to visit the island and find out if possible whether it can be re-opened for the treatment of tuberculus patients.

Mr. McCarey: We have had very little assistance here from the public authorities. About fifteen or sixteen years ago a branch of the organization was formed and year after year we have made demands upon the public. Good work has been done, through the efforts of this society chiefly, towards the inspection of school children and the inspection of meat and milk. The district nurse is primarily engaged doing educative lines-explaining as she visits the poor the value of sunlight and good food. The contributions for the support of the institution are nearly all private contributions. The provincial government gives a grant of $200 and the civic government $100. But the whole expenditure for the year for relief work amounts to $2500. The district nurse finds that relieving the sick is inseparable from the relief of the poor. The whole upkeep of the public dispensary, established for this relief work, is through private contributions. So far as the Sanitarium is concerned, Mr. Charles Dalton gave $20,000 to build it and he entered into a contract with the provincial government-they were to maintain it after it was constructed. A commission consisting of three or four men was appointed and they built it at a cost to Sir Charles of about $60,000 instead of $20,000. The government changed and the succeeding government refused to assume any responsibility with regard to the upkeep of it. The war coming on, a military hospital was commissioned, assistance asked for from all parts, and the commission handed over the Sanitarium to the military hospital commission. They at once undertook remodelling and additional construction amounting to three or four hundred thousand dollars. They withdrew from it when the work was finished and allowed the institution to revert to the provincial government, who refused to assume any responsibility, claiming that the institution was a white elephant.

Mr. Wodehouse: Did they not make a contract with the hospital commission?

Mr. McCarey: There was some understanding that way.

Mr. Johnson: It is fitted up for seventy patients. The original capacity was twenty-six patients. They have pavillions which will house two patients each and an infirmary which will comfortably house eight patients-more if necessary.

Premier Bell: We are contemplating this winter introducing a bill into the Legislature to enable us to vest the property in the local government with the idea of handing it back to Mr. Dalton, who put in his money and has perhaps the largest financial interest. The local government has not been able to see its way to operate it-it would involve such large exepnditure. And we are peculiarly situated here-we have a peculiar electorate to deal with-people that are very much opposed to the principle of taxation at all. And they would be very much opposed to the increase in taxation that would be necessary to operate the Sanitarium, and this government has not felt its way to do that. We were trying to get the Dominion Government to take it over. We set up a claim against the Dominion Government in respect to it. We pointed out that at one time the institution was in a shape where the local government might operate it, but at the present time so much has been expended upon it, and the institution is so much extended, that it is absolutely an impossibility to grapple with it at all. The Federal Government has not recognized our claim, and the matter stands like that to-day.

Mayor Jenkins: Did you not get it furnished from the Federal Government?

Dr. Garrison: Some of that has been taken away. At least I heard that some of the neighbers had broken in and taken linens and blankets.

Premier Bell: That was some time ago. I think everything substantially is there yet.

Mr. McCarey: If the Federal government were to return the Sanitarium in the shape it was I imagine that the Provincial government might assume the original responsibility.

Dr. Wodehouse: What are the chances of getting it converted back again-for accommodating twenty-four patients?

Premier Bell: It is impossible.

Dr. Garrison: I don't think that.

Premier Bell: They would have to put so much expenditure upon it.

Dr. Johnson: A small institution could be fixed up that would do good work, without being at Wiltshire. There are more easily accessible places where it could be operated at much less cost, if the government could get a grant from the Federal Government for that purpose.

Dr. Wodehouse: You mean if they would give you, say, $25,000 you could come nearer Charlottetown and build a place for twenty-six patients.

Dr. Johnson: Yes.

Dr. Wodehouse: Would there be any assurance that the government would do that?

Mr. McCarey: The government sent a commission to the Federal Government last year and made a demand for something such as has been suggested, equal in amount to damages in lieu of the institution. But nothing came of it. That was about a year ago.

Dr. Wodehouse: Was the claim ever pushed?

Mr. McCarey: It was not followed up.

Premier Bell: It was pushed by correspondence afterwards. And the answer which came back to us was that the institution had been taken over by them under an agreement-a written agreement-and that there was nothing specified in it as to costs or damages. The government said they had complied with the terms of the agreement and therefore were not further responsible. They took the strictly legal aspect of it.

Dr. Garrison: Could it be operated at all, in part?

Premier Bell: Not very well.

Mr. McCarey: It was a perfectly up-to-date institution before, and they went at it with the battle axe-slapped down the excellent woodwork and built it according to their own plans as a military hospital.

Dr. Woodhouse: Will you ever be able to utilize it as another institution?

Premier Bell: I don't think so. I was thinking possibly the Federal Government could utilize it.

Dr. Woodhouse: You mean as a reformatory, or something like that?

Premier Bell: Yes, perhaps so. There is another difficulty. They

Surrender of Rasuli Soon

LONDON, Feb. 16.—A despatch to the London Times from Gibraltar dated Sunday says it had been officially announced there that negotiations were proceeding between the Spanish authorities in Morocco and Raisuli, the bandit leaeder, and that the opinion was expressed that Raisuli's "surrender" was imminent.

The despatch adds that Raisuli had made the following demands.

First, that he be appointed governor of all the mountain tribes in the western part of the Spanish zone.

Second, that he should reside in the mountains while his family would be allowed to return to his palace at Arzeila which has been confiscated by the Spanish and is now being used as a hospital.

Third, that all property formerly belonging to himself or his family be restored, and fourth, that he be paid the arrears in the salary, he formerly received before his break with Spain, amounting to some one million pesetas.

Irish Free State Bill Passed Second Reading

(Special to The Guardian).

LONDON, Feb. 17.—The bill establishing the Irish Free State passed its second reading in the House of Commons today after the amendment offered by Captain Charles Craig, leader of the Anglo-Irish treaty had been defeated by a vote of 302 to 60. With the amendment decisively defeated the second reading was adopted without a division and the debate was resumed with a speech by Sir Laming Worthington Evans, Secretary for War. He said that acceptance of the amendment offered by Captain Craig meant the rejection of the treaty and the wiping out of the prospects of peace in Ireland.

Sobriety Wave Sweeps England

LONDON, Feb. 16-A wave of sobriety is sweeping England, judging by the reports for 1921 of the chief constables of various towns now being filed before the annual sessions of the brewers. Canterbury, Kent, with a population of 24,000, reports only seven convictions for drunkenness during the year. Four of the seven were visitors to Canterbury, Bletchley, Buckinghamshire, with a population of 60000, states that there were no convictions for drunkenness here.

Hartlepool reports that only four women were convicted for intoxication during the year. Worksop, Nettinghamshire, says trimphantly: "There were fewer cases of drunkenness in the whole year than in a single day formerly."

Various explanations are offered for this sovriety; the mild quality of the beer that is being brewed; the determination of the liquor trade to restrain the sale of intoxicants to habitual dunkanrds; the attraction of the movies and other forms of popular diversion; the spread of education and resultant self-respect.

The last general statistics concerning drunkenness, showed that in 1920 convictions exceeded the 1919 record by 34,789. But this was a decrease of 91,111 from pre-war figures.

FORD AS U. S. PRESIDENT

WINDSOR, Ont., Feb. 16.—In the course of an address delivered here last night before the Windsor Hebrew Society, Edward G. Pipp, formerly editor-in-chief of The Dearborn Independent, Henry Ford's weekly newspaper, declared that "Mr. Ford's chief ambition in life is to become president of the United States." That Mr. Ford's political ambitions were wholly responsible for his anti-semitic campaign, was another statement made by the ex-editor. Ford found that but three per cent. of the population of the United States were Jewish, and that the remaining 97 per cent. were Gentiles, and in choosing the multi-millionaire automobile manufacturer sacrificed the friendship of the smallest, numerically speaking, political element in the country, the speaker said.

TITLES FOR CANADIANS

LONDON, Feb. 16.—The new Canadian Government will rescind the resolution abnegating titles in Canada, says the Pall Mall Gazette today. This will be done mainly so that P. C. Larkin, the new high commissioner, may receive a title which "goes far to enchance the social influence in this country of the high commissioner."

BATHING SUIT PARADE

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 16.—St. Petersburg's bathing suit factions have clashed over the propriety of holdink a bathing suit parade as a feature of gala week next mouth. hree women's organizations have filed protests with Mayor Pelver, declaring that such a display of bathing apparel would be indecent "unless exhibited on jay figures." The Purity League recently urged the mayor to appoint a bathing suit inspector "to protect married men from the wiles of the sea vamp." No action has been taken on this request.

Further Developments in Delorme Case

(Special to The Guardian).

MONTREAL, Feb. 17.—Father Delorme had a hearty breakfast this morning and it is reported he is allowed to have books and to receive visitors, provided of course, they have an order signed by a Magistrate. t is reported that this afternoon the priest will have a consultation with his attorneys. The contents of the letter which it is said Father Delorme wrote to his murdered brother some time in December were made public today. The letter which was found among the effects of the dead man referred to some building operations and according to the detective working on the case, Father Delorme suggested in this letter that Raoul turn the building at 190 St. Hubert Street, into apartments. He wanted to do this in order to increase the revenue so that the debts of the estate might be raisd. The audit of the books of the estate of Raoul Delorme is not yet completed and it will take nearly a month. Father Delorme's trial cannot be held until the June term of the Criminal Assizes here, the Telegram was informed today. The latest developments in the case is the final preparation made by the provincial detectives to have the alleged will of Raoul Delorme, the slain student at Ottawa, to be examined by Father Rehaume, ex-Rector of Ottawa University with the view of having its authenticity established. Veiled charges are circulating in official circles that the will which gives the priest the bulk of his murdered brother's estate, is a forgery.

teamer Had Strenuous Time

VICTORIA, B. C., Feb. 16.—The steamship Bessie Doll returned to port yesterday after a battle with one of the worst storms of he winter in mid-Pacific in which she lost her bridge and superstructure. Her steel mainmast was on the pilot house. The vessel ran into a storm February 6, while one thousand miles from Cape Flattery on a voyage to the Far East. A Chinese steward was killed when the main saloon was wrecked and Captain M. Ridley was injured.

Musical Treat At Zion Church Last Night

It is to regretted that the inclement weather last night prevented a larger attendance at the splendid musical recital at Zion Church. Those who did attend however were well rewarded with a rich evening's musical treat. The choir under the capable leadership of Mr. Wilson, are to be congratulated upon the execution of their parts, individually and collectively, at last night's entertainment.

The programme opened with an organ solo by Miss Barnes. This was followed by the anthem "Send Out Thy Light" by the Choir which gave full scope for their powers. Miss Lilian McKenzie followed in the solo "Rock of Ages," singing very effectively. The quartette, "God is of Spirit" by Miss Coffin, Miss Moore, Mr. Wilson and Mr. Acorn was rendered excellently, as was also the anthem "Evensong" by the choir and the solo "If with all your hearts" by Mr. Wilson.

In an interesting address on "Music" Rev. Mr. Taylor emphasized the religious power of music in its proper sphere. Real music, like every other thing of genuine art, should tune the soul to higher harmonies.

Following Mr. Taylor's address, Miss Barnes opened the second part of the musical programme with organ music, Mr. Acorn followed in a strong solo "Open the Gates of the Temple." The choir were heard in full voice in the anthem "By Babylon's Waves." The duet "In the Cross of Christ" finely rendered by Messrs Wilson and Acorn, was followed by another magnificent anthem "150th Psalm" by the choir. Mr. Wilson was again heard very effectively in the solo "Hear My Cry O' Lord," The anthem "The Radiant Moon" and the National Anthem, concluded the programme.

Mr. Wilson's efforts as choir director have been well rewarded as his first recital last night amply bears evidence. Miss Barnes, in her solo parts and as organ accompanist, very materially assisted him.

It was decided to repeat the recital Sunday evening at the conclusion of the regular Church service, when no doubt many, unable to attend last night, will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing it repeated.

Mexican Generals Are Put to Death By Firing Squad

MEXICO City, Feb. 17.— The iron hand of President Obregon, which has been used sparingly during the fourteen months of his administration is now effectively gripping the incipient revolutions in Mexico, which in the past month have been more frequent than at any time since the last change of government.

Yesterday morning Gen. Antonio Pruneda, former commander of the federal troops in the state of Cuihulada, met death at the hands of a firing squad. He had been convicted by court martial charges of rebellion in connection with the activities of Gen. Francesco Murgla, former ministr of war.

Gen. Antonio Ruizand, Captain Lugardo Perez, of the federal army were also executed yesterday in Chihuhan City after having been found guilty of rebellion by a court martial.

Three British Airmen Killed

MADRID, Feb. 16- Three British airmen, Richardson, Milne and Ortweiler, were killed yesterday at the Quatre Vento Airdrome, just outside Madrid, when an airplane in which they were flying capsized and crashed from an altitude of ninety feet. Two of the men died instantly, and the third a short time afterward in a hospital.

The airplane, which was intended for serivce in Morocco, was to have been blessed today in the presence of Queen Victoria.

New Liquor Policy In Alberta Soon

EDMONTON, ALTA., Feb. 16- A delegation representing the moderation league of Alberta met Premier Greenfield and members of the Alberta cabinet today to ask that the government take into consideration the sale of seven per cent beer by hotels and other places, and that the sale of hard liquor be placed under strict government control.

The views of the moderationists would receive careful attention at the hands of the government and a definite policy would be announced to the house in a short time, the premier said.

TRAIL OF NIK SILESKE

OTTAWA, Feb. 16.—The trial of Nik Sileksie, a Pole, who was last year convicted of the murder of two compatriots near Temiskaming, in July 1921, and was subsequently granted a new trial by the Quebec Court of King's Bench, will come up when the spring term of the Hull Criminal Assizes opens on March 6. Sensational developments are expected.

TRAINING IMMIGRANTS

LONDON, Feb. 16.—Discussing the question of immigration, the Times, while admitting that the Dominion cannot be blamed for the determination to select their own settlers, thinks they would do well to reconsider their rather exclusive restrictions on immigration. If they insist upon the immigrant being a trained farmer, the Times argues, it is their duty to train him, and it is ridiculous to expect him to pass their standard before leaving London.

Alluding to a statement made by Senator G. F. Pearce, of Australia in a recent address before the Canadian Club in New York, that the participation by the Dominion in the Washington conference gave them a share in the Empire's future policy, the Times says one of the greatest results immigration must accomplish is to ensure that the direction of the future policy, of which Senator Pearce spoke, is carried out by the Dominions not for individual gain but for the Empire as a whole.

POPE FEARED SEASICKNESS WHEN IN PONTIFICAL CHAIR

Motion, Like That of Ship in Rolling Sea, so Distressed Pius X. That he Never Sat in it Again After His Coronation. Brother of Pius XI. Relates.

ROME, Feb. 17.— During the ceremony in the Basilica yesterday Francesco Ratti, the brother, Camilla, the sister, a nephew and four nieces, one with Madonna-like face, sat in a small stand immediately to the right of the throne.

"How does it feel to be the Pope's brother on a day like this?" asked the Associated Press correspondent as he stood near the seat occupied by Francesco.

"My feelings can not be described, it is just impossible for me to find words with which to express what I feel at the present moment," the Pope's brother replied in perfect English.

Commenting upon the pale appearance of the Pontiff at the beginning of the ceremony, Francesco said: "I do not believe this was from emotion alone, although one might feel moved on a day like this. But my brother told me he feared he would be seasick, as the motion of the Pontifical chair borne on the shoulders of carriers is much like that of a ship in a rolling sea. Pius X. never once sat in the chair after his coronation, as he had been very sick at the time of his first appearance before the faithful."

The highest dignitaries of the church and the members of the oldest Roman houses came to where the Pop's family were seated and congratulated brother and sister and the others. They modestly acknowledged these felicitations, while the Madonnalike niece wept thoughout the ceremony.

Alienated Taxes Were Misapplied

REGINA, Feb. 16.—Application was made before Mr. Justice Embury, in the King's Bench chambers today, by the Canadian Bank of Commerce for judgment against the City of Swift Current for $257,000, and for an order appointing a receiver to take charge of moneys to be collected on arrears of taxes in Swift Current for the years 1915 and 1921. The application was not opposed.

Mr. Justice Embury instructed E. M. Jonah, counsel for the bank, to draw up the form of the order desired and bring it before him for approval, subject to his decision regarding the insertion of a clause giving the applicants authority to direct the City of Swift Current when it shall issue distress orders in the collection of these taxes.

In making the application Mr. Jonah explained that the $257,000 claimed covers loans made by the Canadian Bank of Commerce to the city of Swift Current during the years 1915 and 1920. These loans, it was claimed, were to be made a first charge on the taxes collected during the current year in which the loans were made. Mr. Jonah stated that this was pledged by a by-law.

Mr. Jonah stated that a portion of the taxes, approximately $60,000, on which his clients had first claim, was collected by the City of Swift Current, and instead of being applied to the loans was spent for other purposes.

Of the $450,000 arrears of taxes still outstanding Mr. Jonah stated he was instructed only about $200,000 was collectable.

"We are taking this action to avoid further loss which we will suffer if the defendant corporation is allowed to continue to collect these taxes and disburse them for other loans than on our loans," he said.

Mr. Jonah stated that there may yet be an agreement reached, whereby a receiver would not actually go into possession. In the meantime he wanted his clients in this matter protected.

NEW MILESTONE IN WORDL PEACE PLAN

THE HAGUS, Feb. 17.— The peace palace was the scene today of the inaugural service of the permanent court of international justice. The event was hailed by the adherents of pacifist ideals as a new milestone in the evolutionary progress of the world toward peace—or, in the words of Lord Curzon, "the beginning of a new era of peace and concord among nations." Twelve nations were represented.

At the opening session the judges took the oath to fulfill their offices "honorably, faithfully, impartially and conscientiously."

Planned $720,000 Theft of Whikeys

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—The theft of 240 large barrels of confiscated whiskey, of an estimated total value of $720,000, from a warehouse at 154 West 19th street, was interrupted and prevented early this morning by two prohibition enforcement agents who were passing the place.

When the police, armed with riot guns and reinforced with detectives and prohibition agents, arrived, they found that the whiskey thieves had fled. A dozen uniformed men from the West 30th street station at the head of the party entered the building at 141 Seventh avenue, which adjoins the warehouse, and fired a number of shots, expecting to encounter a gang of desperate bootleggers.

The thieves had laid down canvas to muffle the movement of the heavy barrels and had taken other precautions.

The gang had also supplied themselves with abundant provisions, which the police found on the ground floor. They included 200 sandwiches of good quality wrapped neatly in tissue paper and filled with egg, ham or chicken. There also were a half-dozen pots of coffee, some of which were warm. A number of pairs of new gloves and suits of new overalls also were found, indicating to the police that the thieves wore clothes of good enough material to warrant protection from the warehouse dust and grime.

There was also a can of lead-colored paint, which was to be used, it is believed, to cover the revenue marks on the barrels.
