Lost Control Of His Car

Following is a more extended report of the tragic death of Mr. Buchanan of Sussex:—

SUSSEX—Elmer Buchanan, of Quincey, Mass., died in the Francis Sprout Hospital here about 5.30 o'clock this afternoon from injuries received when the automobile in which he was driving overturned several times near Anagance about 2 p.m. today. Two other occupants of the car, Edgar Milligan of McNell's P. E. I., and a brother of the man fatally injured, Herbert Buchanan, of Fredericton, P. E. I., in the local hospital with injuries which are not dangerous, although severe. The car was going at a speed of between 45 and 50 miles an hour when the driver lost control. The victim received a fracture of the skull, had one ear torn completely off and other injuries. The car was demolished. Dr. R. T. Kennedy, of Sussex said tonight to inquest would be held.

Buchanan and Milligan were on a visit to relatives in Quincey and Concord, N. H., when Buchanan received word that his father was ill. His older brother, Elmer, decided to make the trip home to Prince Edward Island and the three left Concord by motor yesterday morning with a view to catching the ferry to P. E. I. at Cape Tormentine tomorrow morning.

All went well, according to Herbert Buchanan until they were about two miles west of Anagance, and were travelling along between 45 and 50 miles an hour when the car got out of control and rolled over at least four times. They were thrown from the car and Herbert was lying some distance away when he recovered consciousness.

telephoned for medical assistance. Dr. E. T. Kennedy, of Sussex, and Dr. D. R. MacDonald, of Petitsodak, and Mrs. MacDonald, who is a trained nurse, were quickly on the spot. After rendering first aid Drs. Kennedy and MacDonald rushed the injured to the hospital here.

Milligan was injured about the back and head and Buchanan was badly cut.

The victim of the fatality was the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Murdoch Buchanan, of Fredericton, P. E. I. He served during the Great War with the U. S. expeditionary force. Beside his parents he leaves to mourn his wife, formerly Miss Mary McLeod, of Springing, P. E. I., and two sons, Elmer and James, both of Quincey; four brothers, William, of Albany, P. E. I.; Stanley, of Concord; Herbert and Peter, of Fredericton, P. E. I.; and four sisters, Mrs. James Stewart, of Concord; Mrs. John Rodd, of Penabcook, N. H.; Mrs. John Cuppliff, of Fredericton, P. E. I. Arrangements have not yet been completed.

PRESS COMMENT

Scotia, urged the need of a closer co-operation in Maritime affairs" and referred to "Maritime Union as a matter requiring deep thought in the immediate future." Prince Edward Island was supposed to be unalterably opposed to Maritime Union, and only recently the Charlottetown Guardian, in opposing such a movement, uttered a warning that the Island would lose the identity of its Legislature, its judiciary and other institutions. Naturally each of the provinces would lose its own institutions of this kind if the three provinces were united into one, but the economy and efficiency effected thereby is one of the arguments in favor of it."

REPORTED SEIZURE—It is reported that a large seizure of rum was made at Stanley Bridge over the week-end but neither the Prohibition officers nor the Customs Preventive officials have information to vouchsafe that would confirm the report.

"KING WINTER" scored his first touchdown of the season last evening. When he invaded the province with a conglomeration of rain, snow and sleet, intermingled with just enough snap in the atmosphere to keep the proverbial "pedestrian" on the move, and with only one destination. At one o'clock this morning the miniature storm although abated somewhat was still going strong.

FORMERLY PASTOR HERE—Numerous friends of Rev. Hammond Johnson throughout the Maritimes will regret to learn that the popular pastor of Trinity United Church, Bathurst, has not been making the hoped for progress in recovering his former health. Mr. Johnson left last evening on the Ocean Limited for Montreal where he will enter the hospital for the purpose of consulting specialists. Mrs. Johnson accompanied her husband as did also Miss Katie Johnson, R. N., who has been with him for the past few weeks. —Moncton Times.

ROTARY MEETING—Dr. A. D. Reid, D. D., Sydney, C. B., was the speaker at the Rotary Luncheon which took place in the Oddfellows recreation hall yesterday afternoon. Dr. Reid formerly preached in Australia and has travelled extensively in that country. He outlined briefly the divisions, physical and provincial. He also dwelt at some length on the class of people and their manner of living and also on the Aborigines of the countries. With regard to the government the speaker stated that Australia had formerly been divided into distinct states, each with its own government, however at the present time the country has one capital at Canberra although the states still exist.

job in Dublin at 19 as a "cub" reporter on a Conservative journal, migrating to London three years later in search of a better job, which he got on the Daily Telegraph, then in full march to newspaper eminence. Later on he ran the London office of the New York Herald and it was to journalism he devoted the best of his talents and therein achieved his most conspicuous success. Journalism in London was then a staid and dignified calling, addicts were hatted and frock-coated, and its appeal was to the classes and not the masses.

But with popular education established the reading public was tenfold extended, and it was the recognition and exploitation of this fact that led to the great newspaper fortunes of this day, headed by the Harmsworth family, particularly the late Lord Northcliffe, who successfully drove so ill-matched an aggregation as "Answers," the Daily Mail and the London Times. But neither in journalism nor in his strenuous political life did he make a fortune.

Wit to Fore.

O'Connor recently received a great surprise of a gift of a trust deed providing with an annuity in recognition of his public services. The veteran Irish politician, whose health was greatly enfeebled, received the gift sitting in a chair on the terrace of parliament. In his barely audible reply "Tay Pay" said the gift came almost as a shock, but he had yet to meet the Irishman who refused money. The presentation was made by Lord Birkenhead, Conservative, in the presence of Premier Ramsay MacDonald and a number of ministers and former ministers.

Some outstanding literary works include a life of Beaconsfield, "The Parnell Movement," and "Gladstone's House of Commons." He wrote with grace and an intimate knowledge of history he helped in making. Even to his death he was abreast of public thought.

LOGGING CAMP WORK SLACK THIS WINTER

EDMONTON, Alta., Nov. 18—(By The Canadian Press)—Logging work will be slack in northern Alberta this winter and there will not be the usual stir at the lumber camps. According to the manager of one lumber company not more than 25 percent of the ordinary winter's logging will be done this coming season. The chief reason given for this is the enormous carry-over of lumber from last season.

This carry-over is due in large measure to the dry summer and consequent reduction in the wheat field. The lumber business was dull all summer as a result of a drought affecting the farmers' building operations, many farmers having cancelled their plans for new buildings when the crops began to show the full effects of the dry summer. Besides this there was a much smaller programme of elevator-building in the country than in 1928, which was a record year. One big lumber firm states that its carry-over is 15,000,000 feet, the largest in the company's history.

products. Agriculture provided 14,836 tons, an increase of nearly 5,000 tons over the same month last year; the previous high mark was 14,211 tons in 1925. The nine year average was 9,411 tons. Mine products accounted for 704,126 tons, as compared with 697,644 the previous high record established in August, 1928. The average for the nine years was 534,066 tons. Similar records were established for the eight month period from January 1st, to the end of August as follows:

August, 1929, agriculture 286,167; mines 4,674,268; total 7,117,377. August, 1928, agriculture 249,563; mines 3,912,595; total 6,294,341.

Nine year average, agriculture 246,532; mines 3,361,626. Total 5,667,340.

Previous high records were: Agriculture, 1925, 279,921 tons. In mine products 1927, 4,400,854 tons; total 1927, 6,965,111 tons.

Declines were shown in both the months record and the eight month's total in animal, forest, manufactured and miscellaneous products.

ground when he advocated the appointment of members of the Senate of Canada by the legislatures of the several provinces. Also he asserted that the name and status of the Intercolonial railway should be restored and declared that the title of the I. C. R. was vested in the Crown. Its name was given it by the same imperial act that gave names to Canada, Ontario, and Quebec and no one in Canada had any more right to change its name than to change those other names. Relative to his proposal in regard to Senate appointments, Mr. Paterson said time has shown that it was a great mistake to give the Federal Government the power to appoint our Senators, and experience both in Canada and the United States suggests that the Maritime Provinces would be justified in securing an amendment to our constitution, which will give the Maritime provincial legislatures the power to appoint our Senators. Members of the House of Commons he said, had been elected to support parties without regard for the contract of Confederation. Changes in the functioning of the governmental machinery provided by the Confederation, has been brought about gradually to enable central Canada interests to dominate legislation and administration, which they had done to promote sectional interests without regard for the Confederation rights of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, with the result that one part of Canada was indirectly exacting tribute from another (the Maritimes) with the governmental machinery provided to prevent such injustice not being permitted to function as intended. Being one of the four grand federal divisions of Canada he said, the Maritimes had the right to 25 percent of the representation in the Executive Government as they had in the Senate. This right was recognized in the early days of the union and should never have been taken away from these provinces. They had a right to a like proportion of the appointments to the administrative departments in Ottawa. This right was also recognized in the early years of the Union. Power to insure that the contract of union with respect to transportation be implemented in letter and spirit, or else the establishment of some body vested with respect to transportation, with power to fairly direct the management of the C. N. R. in this respect was also presented.

NEAR PANIC

been centred along the Quebec-Labrador boundary, 845 miles north east of here was recorded this afternoon by the Dominion Observatory. The first preliminary tremors arrived at 3.35.18 eastern standard time and the record continued for well over half an hour. The epicentre was first located southwest of here in the centre of the Mississippi Valley where previous earthquakes have occurred. Word of the shock being felt intensely along the north Atlantic Coast, however caused officials to change their view and place the centre of the disturbance 845 miles northeast of Ottawa, in a region from which an earthquake has never before been recorded. So severe were the shocks that they were felt here by several residents.

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 18—Crashing chimneys and swaying buildings in several centres accompanied the most severe earthquake shock ever felt over the Maritimes. No reports of any serious damage had reached Halifax tonight, when most provincial towns in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick had reported nothing worse than a few tumbled chimneys and broken dishes. The tremors were felt with marked severity at Sydney, and across in St. John's, Nfld. Damage to the Seismograph at Dalhousie University, which put it out of commission at the height of the disturbance, prevented calculation of the epicentre here. Scientists at the University, while not giving any definite statement until reports of the quake's intensity were received, some points in Quebec were not inclined, in view of the severe tremors here to fully accept Ottawa's placing of the central disturbance along the Quebec-Labrador boundary. Office staffs in Halifax's business buildings were thrown into confusion at four thirty, when the tremors began, and several persons fainted. The shaking continued for at least two minutes and was followed by a general rush of citizens to the telephone.

Reminiscences of the tragic explosion of 1917 were in the air. A dozen chimneys crashed in the Charlotte Street section of Sydney; several barns were reported to have collapsed in the outlying districts. A Supreme Court witness fainted in the course of a trial, and a scene-shifter in a theatre fell twenty-five feet to the stage and escaped with a shaking up. Many stores found their stocks of goods tumbled to the floor.

Apparently the shock was not felt seriously in any of the provinces coal mines. In the Acadia Mine at Stellarton no damage was reported. Rumors that the Bell Island Mines had collapsed were prevalent in Newfoundland, but were without foundation. The shocks were scarcely felt in Bell Island. The Fogo Wireless Station reports the shock was not felt at that point. The after-shock, coming at about 7.30, Newfoundland time, was felt in several parts of St. John's.

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 18—So far as could be learned tonight the earthquake that shook the Maritime Provinces and New England States this afternoon was not felt in Montreal or district, but it was very noticeable in Quebec City and farther north at Murray Bay and Bale St. Paul. The vibrations were very noticeable in Quebec City, particularly in the lower town. At Murray Bay and Bale St. Paul, it was stronger with houses swaying to such an extent that people rushed out of doors in alarm. However, so far as reports were available early tonight no damage had been caused in any part of the province.

QUAKE FELT IN CITY AND THROUGHOUT PROVINCE

Yesterday's tremor was distinctly felt in Charlottetown, particularly in upstairs offices and along the water front. The tremor, which started in little waves of undulations, increasing in intensity until the solid walls of buildings shook and trembled, lasted about thirty seconds, and was followed immediately by another tremor which also subsided in a few seconds; the whole disturbance lasting for about a minute. The quake caused surprise rather than uneasiness, and it was over before people became fully aware of the actual cause of the disturbance.

port naval base, said Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald in answer to questions. He emphasized that the Dominions would, of course, be consulted before any decision was taken affecting the scheme as a whole after the results of the coming five-power naval conference were known. The decision of the conference might affect the question of the Base and, therefore, it had been thought desirable to close down or suspend certain work pending the conference. Mr. MacDonald explained. He referred his questioner, Lieut. Col. C. K. Howard Bury (Cons.), the former statement by the First Lord of the Admiralty, Rt. Hon. A. V. Alexander, who had said the Dominions were "notified" of the decision. Colonial Governments had not previously informed, the Prime Minister added.

Excellent Lecture On Far North

The weekly dinner of the Gyro Club took place last evening at the Parker House with Gyro Fred Andrew in the chair and Messrs W. O. Douglas, W. McNutt, P. D. Williams and Chief Birtwhistle as guests. The speaker of the evening was Mr. W. O. Douglas who gave a very interesting description of the customs and lives of the Eskimos in the far north in the vicinity of Chesterfield northwest of Hudson Bay. Mr. Douglas formerly of the R. C. M. P. and of the Hudson Bay Company lived in the north for 13 years. In his address Mr. Douglas said that the Eskimos are counted as good, fair people. They are divided into two classes, the coast natives and the inland natives. The former hunt seal, whale and walrus, the latter white fox, caribou, musk-ox and deer. The Eskimos as a rule, are a happy-go-lucky race, living in the present and never worrying about the future. Deer and fish form the diet of the inland native while seals supply their coast brethren with food. Trout are caught weighing as much as 37 pounds. Walrus hunting is dangerous work as the animals weighing from 1 to 1½ tons, when harpooned from the icefloes often pull the unfortunate hunter out to sea. The Eskimos do not use white men's clothing. Seal skins are sewn into clothing with a very close stitch which makes them water tight. When the food supply fails the inland Eskimos often suffer severely, but the establishment of trading posts is gradually lessening these hardships. Whaling is not carried on extensively these days. The last ship left Chesterfield in 1921 and was lost with all hands on board. The Eskimos are not a quarrelsome race but when they fight they fight to kill. Today animal life is becoming scarcer than formerly, due to the use of rifles by the natives. If this trend keeps on the race is doomed to extinction. Trading posts are springing up all over the country and civilization is making rapid progress.

upstairs department at the time. The same effect was felt in the offices of the city coal merchants and along Queen Street, where clerks and stenographers, rushed to the doors and in some cases into the street to find out what it was all about. Business men and merchants interviewed after the disturbance described how their staff "got the wind up," but curiously enough the reporter was assured in every case that their own reactions were heroically under control. In dwelling houses throughout the city the effect was also felt, especially along the Esplanade. At the Parkdale apartments, pictures swayed on the walls and a canary cage fell to the floor, while in an upstairs apartment a charwoman who was jolted off her feet by the first tremor, sprang up and departed precipitately for her home. At Mr. Tait's conservatory, the glass windows shook and rattled convulsively and flower pots jumped on the benches. From the Marine office, the Experimental Farm, and other quarters, came similar reports.

There is no seismographic equipment in the Province for measuring the intensity of the disturbance, as it is seldom indeed that such equipment would be required.

Strangely, many citizens who were in their homes or on the street at the time, report that they felt absolutely no tremor, and were at first incredulous when told that a quake had occurred. In a barber shop on Kent Street, no disturbance of any kind was noticeable, while next door a man was nearly thrown to his knees with the shock. One gentleman walking calmly down Queen Street at the time, and feeling no tremor of the sidewalk, was surprised on reaching the water front to hear that there had been an earthquake. Along Queen Square the story was the same; in one store customers and clerks were quite alarmed at the violence of the tremors; while next door the occupants were blissfully unaware of anything out of the way having occurred. One druggist reported that "the bottles nearly jumped off the shelves," and a grocer had the same tale to tell about his canned goods.

Severe tremors were also reported from other parts of the Province, notably Summerside, Vernon, Alberton and Souris, where the quake was violently felt along the water front. So far no damage has been reported.

The actual period of the tremor was from 4.44 to 5.05 p. m., although the effect on the Island lasted only for about a minute. The disturbance was felt from Rhode Island to the Maritime Provinces and east to Newfoundland. It was violently felt in the New England States where some buildings are reported to have fallen, and to a lesser extent in No-

MARKET REVIEW

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 18.—(Courtsey Solloway Mills)—The Market of the Standard Exchange opened fractionally higher than Friday's close and held fairly well in the early part of trading when it developed tendency to softness. The close saw little change and one was not able to detect any evidence of strength.

New York which has been a dominant factor, moved pretty well in line with the trend of trading as outlined for the Standard. Some of the key stocks showed a tendency to weaken.

One of the bright spots in today's trading was the strength in the Western Oils. Associated was high at $1.50. A. P. C. had one trade at $2.25 and one trade in rights at 23 cents and the stock closed $2.75 bid. Calgary and Edmonton was up 20 cents to $3.50 East Crest 15 cents to $1.65 Home opened up 50 cents but lost 25 cents on the day. Mayland was strong at $3.25 the same with South West Pete $1.80. Ajax was taken in large volume one transaction alone being for 7000 shares and was bid up to $2.09 with a close 2.05. Wainwell came back to life selling up 3 cents to 18 cents. It is rumored that the Company has succeeded in shutting off the water in one of its wells and that the well is now producing. An official statement is expected. The large Oils were practically unchanged.

Nickel opened at $31.75 only to lose $1.50 to $30.00 at close. Noranda advanced a similar amount to $36.00 and immediately lost $1.00. Sherritt Gordon was the heaviest traded issue on the board and very large quantities of it were taken at $4.00. It closed at a new low of $3.85. Undoubtedly this activity has something to do with the annual report, some of the basemetals were just a little stronger. Hudson Bay up 25 cents while the golds held firm and unchanged.
