PRINCE EDWARD THEATRE

Always the same Standard of Pictures

PROGRAMME FOR FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

The Vitagraph Company Presents

"Beauty Unadorned"

a Comedy in two acts

We have absolutely no hesitation in stating this to be the most hilarious comedy ever produced. We refuse to believe there will be a dry eye in the theatre from five minutes after the story starts, until the end. The play is acted by ALL-STAR Artistes, amongst others being Sydney Drew, Clara Kimball Young, Ethel Lloyd and James Young.

Imagine the plight of two adventurers who were shorn of there false hair, wig, teeth and a few other things, as depicted by the above artistes, and you will realize the possibilities of the situation.

There are no after regrets to this picture.

A FINE PROGRAMME.— Another very enjoyable programme of entertainment was presented at The People's Theatre last night, to the undoubted delight and satisfaction of the large numbers who attended. Comedy and Drama, never failing sources of diversion, united largely in the entertainment. "The Stolen Moonshine" was an interesting, light drama with a spicy western flavor and a wholesome moral. In "Satan Unmasked" with two very real a out-at-the-elbows and down-in-the-mouth hobo and an escaped convict as the principal characters, an exceedingly funny episode is unfolded. "How Jaste Burnese" is a film that gives an interesting peep into a foreign country with all the customs of the eastern people and their customs. It is an exceptionally well taken film and brought up vividly before the writer well-remembered scenes in another land. Another of the comic films featuring the "Kalem Kids" was much enjoyed. The second instalment was given of the interesting drama, "What Happened to Mary," which is now being reproduced serially at this theatre. Besides the picture part of the programme, considerable pleasure was afforded the audience by the delightful music rendered by Prof. Vinnicombe's orchestra, and by the vocal performances of Mr. Al. Fleming, who was in fine voice in his rendition of Von Tilzer's charming song, "A Little Bunch of Shamrocks" and an Irish piece, "Peg O' Me Heart."

AGRICULTURAL MEETING.—An agricultural meeting under the auspices of the Provincial Department of Agriculture on Tuesday 27th ult. in Kelly's Cross hall was addressed by Prof. R. Robertson, who made a good impression on the audience. He explained many farmer problems in very intelligible language, increased their fund of former lore, and impressed on his hearers the necessity of up-to-date methods for the farmer.

GOOD LECTURE—A very interesting lecture was given in St. Bonaventures hall, Tracadie, on Wednesday last by the Reverend Father McAuley, St. Peter's. His subject being the dignity of the agricultural profession. The night being stormy the attendance who braved the storm were amply rewarded as it was a forceful lecture thht could not fail to make every farmer enthusiastic and give them a feeling of pride as theirs is one of the most honorable professions in the land. After the lecture, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the reverend speaker for his interesting and instructive lecture to which he made a suitable reply.

THE STEAMERS.— The Earl Grey made a splendid trip from Pictou Thursday morning. She left that port at 7 a. m., the usual time, and was docked in Georgetown at 9.30, taking less than three hours to come over. The direct mail route from Pictou to Georgetown is 43 miles, but no doubt Capt. Murchison would have to take the steamer a little out of course to avoid ice. There were 24 passengers aboard, 35 tons of freight and 75 sacks of mail. The Minto, too, made a much faster trip than usual—leaving Georgetown at 7 a. m., she docked at Pictou at 10.15, three hours and fifteen minutes after sailing. She had 20 passengers, 45 sacks of mail and 51 tons of freight. Both Capt. McLean and Murchison are to be congratulated on the quick trips.

A FASCINATING CALLING—Mr. Sydney H. Grant, Eastern Representative of The I. C. Fish Company left on return to Boston, Tuesday, after spending a few days in Prince Edward Island. Mr. Grant will take in Boston, Montreal, Chicago and other cities, making contracts for the handling of the firm's products for 1914. On his return home Mr. Grant will don his hunting garb and leave for the northern wilds where he will put in two or three months visiting the Company's posts which extend upwards to the Arctic circle. During his winter's journey he will cover hundreds of miles of territory. Some of the trading posts are two hundred miles apart and at each trading post the Company has a factor, Indian traders and trappers. It is part of Mr. Grant's duties to oversee these and supply them with cash, etc., for their winter's operations. He will return to Prince Albert about the first of May. The adventures incidental to a trip like this are numerous and exciting. The huskies, which are a cross between a dog and wolf, are used as a means of transportation. Each train of huskies consists of about eight or ten dogs. When food runs out these become almost unmanageable and many a weird tale is told of the poor trapper who sets out with a train of huskies and is never heard tell of again. The lure and fascination of the far north, however, is something which cannot be resisted and hundreds of men are to be found who are willing to undergo its danger. The many friends of Mr. Grant in this city hope that he may return in the spring, healthy and happy, and with a substantial reward for his journey to the Arctic clime.
