GEO. C. McPHERSON GENERALLY MOURNED

Today Summerside mourns one of its best known and best liked citizens, the late Mr. George C. MacPherson, who passed away in the Prince County Hospital on Sunday evening. He was born at Glenwood, Lot 8, 72 years ago, and was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Donald MacPherson. In early life the deceased learned the carriage building trade becoming a skilled workman. Thirty-eight years ago he came to Summerside to live and after the decline in carriage building he entered the employ of the Federal government at the Summerside Post Office. By his innate courtesy and genial nature he became a looked for personage so much so that a visit to the Post Office did not seem complete unless one had seen George. He was an entertaining conversationalist and his version of local or world happenings was always interesting. Two years ago he retired and it was hoped that he would have many more years of life to enjoy his well earned leisure, but about a week ago he was compelled to undergo a serious operation from the effects of which he never recovered. He leaves to mourn besides his sorrowing wife (who was before her marriage, Elizabeth Crawford, of West Point) five children as follows: Jean, Mrs. C. R. Dennis, Warren, Ohio; Margaret, Mrs. Dennison Craig, Wollaston, Mass.; Mildred, Mrs. John F. Currie, Val d'Or, Quebec; Miss Dorothy, of the staff of the Department of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa, and one son, Crawford, Summerside; also one sister, Mrs. Archibald Campbell, Glenwood. The funeral took place Wednesday at 2 p. m. from Trinity United Church, to the Peoples Cemetery.

Urges Board Co-operate In Seeking Revision Of Canada - West Indies Pact

At a meeting of the Summerside Board of Trade held last evening it was suggested by Mayor John E. Campbell that the Board get in touch with the secretary of the Nova Scotia Economic Council at Halifax, N. S., with the idea of co-operating with them in any movement to obtain more favourable tariffs with Cuba in connection with the trade treaty with that country, especially with regard to the export of fish and potatoes from the Maritimes.

Mr. Campbell pointed out that in unity there is strength and that the Island might well co-operate with the other Maritime Provinces in this matter. After some discussion it was decided to appoint a committee with Mayor Campbell as chairman to take up the matter after they had heard from the secretary of the Economic Council.

Mr. Winsloe J. Lidstone gave a brief report on the Fox Demonstration Week and also on the meeting with the Utility Board in connection with telephone rates. Mr. Lidstone expressed his appreciation of the support he and his committee had received from the Board, the Government and Town Council and citizens during the Fox Week. The President Mr. Jardine, who presided at the meeting, congratulated Mr. Lidstone on the success of the fox demonstration.

Routine matters were disposed of and it was decided to hold the annual meeting on January 26th.

MR. JAMES ANDREW MORRISON

There passed away in Prince County Hospital on December 10th, Mr. James Andrew Morrison, a well-known and respected resident of Conway, aged 72 years.

The late Mr. Morrison had been in failing health for several years and on October 23rd he entered the Prince County Hospital where it was found necessary to amputate a leg. After the operation his condition became steadily worse and on the above mentioned date he passed peacefully to his eternal reward.

Mr. Morrison was born at Granville, P. E. I., a son of the late Robert and Katherine (MacLeod) Morrison. In 1881 he moved to Lower Freeland, Lot 11, where on February 22nd, 1885, he married Bertha Trowsdale. To this union were born sixteen children, twelve boys and four girls, six of whom predeceased him, including Susan, R. N., graduate of Prince County Hospital, and five small children.

Deceased was a prominent and energetic business man until ill health forced his retirement, and was straightforward and honest in all his dealings. He conducted a grocery business at McNeill's Mills until 1899 when he moved to Conway. He bought and shipped oysters and quahaugs until 1917, after which he owned and operated a lobster cannery and was engaged in the canning business until the time of his death. He was also actively engaged in the fox industry and made several trips to Northern Quebec buying live foxes. In religion he was a staunch Presbyterian and will be sadly missed in church and social circles. His passing has cast a pall of gloom over the entire community and has created a vacancy that will be hard to fill. There are left to mourn his wife and ten children, namely Thomas, Saint John, N.B.; Daniel, Montrose, P.E.I.; John, Charlottetown and Wallace, Clinton, George, Edgar, Katherine and Winnie at home. Also four brothers and two sisters: Hugh of Greatworks, Maine; George, Ellerslie, P. E. I.; Roderick, Summerside; Robert W., Charlottetown; Mrs. Lewis Boyce, Conway and Mrs. H. J. Morrison, East Millinocket, Maine; also nineteen grandchildren.

The funeral, which was largely attended, took place to the Presbyterian Church, Freeland, where services were conducted by Rev. Wm. VerWolf, Summerside, assisted by Rev. G. A. D. Elliott. After the service at the church which included singing of favourite hymns of the deceased, the funeral cortege proceeded to the Freeland Cemetery where interment took place in the family plot. Pallbearers were six sons of the deceased: Thomas, Daniel, Wilfred, Clinton, George and Edgar.

To the surviving members of the family and relatives the Guardian joins in extending heartfelt sympathy.

in question was a direct quotation from the order given, we presume, by the German government, or those acting under its influence So far as we have been able to ascertain the statement is perfectly correct and was sent out to our newspapers by the Associated Press and also the United Press.

"May I further remark that it is not the duty of a consul to take upon himself the role of ambassador and act as guardian of his country's honor. That a stranger in this country, enjoying no diplomatic standing at all, should demand an apology of a highly respected and influential Canadian dignitary can only be considered a gross impertinence."

Mr. Rodde replied that he had definite information no such Christmas orders were given and reiterated Christmas services in 1938 were held to the same extent as before. He said it appeared "the statement of your grace," as quoted in my letter of Dec. 30, is based upon reports of the Associated Press and the United Press.

"I did not wish to comment on the reliability of the aforementioned agencies but I do want to state that I have definite official information from my government that no orders were given out by the German government to replace the traditional Christmas celebrations." He added: "Concerning your chancellor's remarks as to the duties of a consul, I do not consider him competent to give any advice.

"I most emphatically protest against the insults contained in the last sentence. I am not just a stranger in this country; I am the German consul for western Canada, duly appointed by the German government and an exequatur has been issued to this effect by His Majesty the King.

"I did not demand an apology of your grace. I only stated that I would appreciate it highly if your grace would retract the unfounded statements. How your chancellor dares call this just request a gross impertinence is beyond me."

An Associated Press despatch Dec. 17 said instructions on how to celebrate Christmas in acceptable Nazi fashion have gone forth from various cultural departments of the National Socialist regime. Emphasis is laid on the principle that observance of Yuletide is an ancient Germanic custom and should be followed as such.

"Under National Socialism," one order observed, "Yule has regained its ancient traditional character of winter solstice rejoicings. Our Germanic forefathers celebrated Yule, which is older than Christ and which Christendom borrowed from the Germanic prototype."

Bren Gun Probe Report To Be Tabled

OTTAWA, Jan. 5 —(CP)—Report of Mr. Justice H. H. Davis of the Supreme Court of Canada on the Bren gun contract inquiry will be tabled in the House of Commons Friday, Jan. 13, and will be made public then, Prime Minister Mackenzie King said tonight.

The report has been in his hands since last week, the Prime Minister said. Questioned regarding a despatch published in Toronto today that the report exonerated responsible ministers and found the contract to be in the public interest, the Prime Minister refused to comment.

"The report has not been seen by anybody but myself and one of my secretaries," he said. "I have not yet read it carefully. I told my colleagues at Cabinet Council this afternoon it had been received but have not shown it to them."

Release of the report for publication will be coincident with its being placed on the table of the House of Commons soon after the House meets on the afternoon of Friday, Jan. 16. Until then there will be no official public knowledge of its contents, the Prime Minister said.

Mr. Justice Davis was appointed a Commission of one of examine the contract after its negotiation and terms had been criticised in an article written by Lieut.-Col. George Drew, now Ontario Conservative leader, and published last September in MacLean's Magazine.

The contract is for 7,000 Bren machine guns to be manufactured by John Inglis Company Limited, Toronto, on a 10 per cent cost-plus basis.

Death Of Veteran Newspaperman At Saint John

SAINT JOHN, N. B., Jan. 5—(CP)—Death of A. M. Belding in his 80th year here today ended an outstanding career in the newspaper field.

He had been ill much of the time since his retirement in 1931 as Editor-in-Chief of the Saint John Telegraph-Journal and the Evening-Globe. His newspaper experience spanned more than half a century.

Born on a farm in Kings County Mr. Belding became a school teacher and during this period entered journalism as a correspondent of the Saint John Sun. His work elicited an invitation to join the newspaper's staff, and his first columnist character, Mr. Paul—the Sagamore, brought him wider recognition.

When the Daily Telegraph absorbed the Sun Mr. Belding carried on as editorial and feature writer. He became editor of the Times on establishment of the latter paper. He created another character, the Times news reporter, who was succeeded by Hiram Hornbeam, a farmer-philosopher whose daily comments on current events were eagerly read for years. In 1929 he was made editor-in-chief of the merged newspapers Telegraph-Journal and Times-Globe.

Mr. Belding became widely known when these journals sent him across Canada to promote interests of the Maritime Provinces under confederation. Appointment of the Royal Commission headed by Sir Andrew Rae Duncan followed this tour.

He was a leader in work on behalf of underprivileged children, and also found time for magazine and poetry writing.

For "service to the underpriviliged and community work" Mr. Belding was made a member of the Order of the British Empire in 1935.

committees along the route of the royal tour so that arrangements may be coordinated.

It was desirable that all local arrangements be in the hands of the secretary of the Interdepartmental Committee by March 1, the Prime Minister said, since all details must be submitted for approval of Their Majesties.

With respect to the restrictions on official entertainment it will be necessary for the Lieutenant Governor and his advisers in each provincial capital to decide whether the official luncheon or dinner would be given by either the Lieutenant Governor or Provincial Government or both combined.

Municipalities desiring to present addresses of wlecome will be permitted to pass them to a designated member of Their Majesties' party and to have them published in the newspapers, but with the possible exception of capital cities, none will be listened to by the King and Queen.

Special provisions are requested by the Prime Minister to afford children and war veterans opportunities to see the King and Queen.

In arranging processions through provincial capitals calls will be made at legislative buildings and city halls, the stops to be made in order of convenience according to the route of the procession.

Responsibility for protection of Their Majesties will rest upon the Commissioner and officers of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police who will seek the cooperation of provincial and municipal police.

The visit of Their Majesties being that of the King and Queen to the people of Canada, the latter will, of necessity, be represented on public occasions by their duly elected or officially appointed representatives. Special favors or concessions are not to be expected on account of political, social, religious or other special affiliations.

The responsibility for decorating Federal Buildings, wherever located throughout the Dominion, will be assumed by the Federal authorities. The Federal Government will also assume responsibility for state functions at the capital.

Provincial and municipal authorities will be expected to make appropriate provision for the decoration of other public buildings and of streets, as well as accommodation for the viewing of processions and for public receptions in the localities to be visited.

Special attention is being given by the committee in charge to the procedure to be followed at stations through which the royal train will pass or at which short stops are contemplated.

H. M. S. REPULSE

but we will make fit and comfortable for our King and Queen," said a grimy workman, as he munched a sandwich and drank tea from a flask in what will serve as Their Majesties' dining cabin.

Additional royal cabin quarters also are being prepared for members of Their Majesties' suite and provisions are being made for extra bathrooms, pantries and refrigerators.

Normal Reconditioning

Under the normal reconditioning program minor alterations are being made in the lower deck and machinery and boilers are being overhauled. Special provisions are being made to safeguard the royal apartments from engine room rumes and apart from the exercise Their Majesties will be able to take in the glass-sheltered sun deck, the broad, canvas-covered quarter deck will enable them to enjoy an occasional game of badminton provided King neptune is not unkind.

Asked about the Repulse's program while Their Majesties are ashore in North America, Captain Spooner said: "I should like to visit some of the Canadian Maritime ports and cruise down to New York. I have been in United States waters before but, believe it or not, I have never visited America's great metropolis. However, all that will be decided in time."

Christmas Closing Charlottetown Business College

The Christmas closing at the Charlottetown Business College on Wednesday, December 21, 1938, was quite in keeping with the spirit of the season. There was the usual exchange of complimentary greetings and good wishes.

Mr. Paquet, principal of the Boop-keeping Department, and Mrs. Sutherland, of the Shorthand and Typewriting Department, spoke briefly with regard to the work done by the pupils during the past term and complimented them not only upon the high marks obtained during the recent examinations, but upon the faithfulness and loyalty which each pupil showed toward his or her work each day of the term. Mrs. Sutherland, in her remarks, stressed the point that it was not only the aim of the College to turn out students and help them find positions, but to prepare each student to fill and hold that position when it was obtained.

At the conclusion of the presentation of the Diplomas and Certificates, Mr. Paquet and Mrs. Sutherland were presented with appropriate gifts by the pupils of their departments.

The following results, which are highly creditable not only to the students but to the institution, are as follows:—
