porated a policy "soundly trounced" at the 1927 Winnipeg convention.

Hon. Maurice Dupre of Quebec said the amendment expressed Conservative policy as enunciated more than once by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen. It meant the supremacy of the people over parliament, surely a democratic thing.

The name of Sir Wilfrid Laurier came into the debate when Mr. Hanson said Laurier had stopped to take a referendum before sending troops to the South African war.

On a standing vote the amendment was defeated, the majority of Quebec delegates and a scattering of other delegates voting for it. The main resolution carried.

Herridge Resolution Defeated

The general optimism of the convention was jolted by W. D. Herridge, former Canadian Minister to Washington, who described the resolutions adopted as "a lot of junk" and "an insult to the intelligence of the convention."

He offered a substitute resolution for the one declaring for a sane monetary policy, elimination of duplicate taxation and economy in government services.

Mr. Herridge's substitute resolution called for a stabilization of Canadian production at its maximum level and the raising of consumption to that level.

Treachery to the people of Canada was being worked by "the reactionary forces within the Conservative party," he declared. The finance resolution, offering nothing new, would mean the disappearance of the Conservative party if adopted.

The task of democratic government was to raise the purchasing power of the people to the potential level of productive capacity and only in that way could economic security be achieved, said Mr. Herridge's resolution. It recognized such a policy involved "a measure of government planning and control of the economic and monetary systems."

The amendment was voted down and there were thunderous "ayes" when Chairman John MacNicol called for the vote on the committee's resolution.

The convention reserved its decision on the constitution issue "in view of the fact the Rowell Commission has not yet concluded its hearings or made its report." There was an effort by one or two delegates to have the party declare for revision of the constitution but the convention favored the "wait-and-see" stand sponsored by the resolutions committee.

An effort was made to have the railway resolution altered to permit consideration of unification as a solution to the railway problem. D. W. Tisdale, Simcoe, Ont., and Kelso Roberts, Toronto, fought for a "more positive" policy on the railway question but their amendment was defeated by a great majority.

OTTAWA, July 7—(CP)—National unemployment and retirement insurance was written into the platform of the National Conservative party today as a resolution on employment and social service was unanimously adopted today.

Whereas the National Conservative Party recognizes that the gainful employment of the people of this Dominion transcends all other questions, and that monetary policies and matters of constitutional authority must be adjusted to make this question of gainful employment the first concern of the government of Canada.

"This convention reaffirms that:

1-The guiding principle be that labour should not be regarded merely as a commodity or article of commerce:

2-Encouragement be given to the production of goods within Canada by Canadian labour, and especially that the conversion of our raw material into finished goods be done in Canada rather then exporting them for manufacture abroad.

3.- Encourage especially those industries that afford the greatest continuity of employment.

4.- Encourage the wider spread of technical education, both in industry and agriculture.

And whereas the National Conservative Party recognizes that unemployment is also a problem to be dealt with by government of Canada and a problem which cannot longer be treated as a temporary one, calling for administration only, but an immediate and determined effort must be made to solve it.

Concrete Pledges

Now therefore be it resolved that the National Conservative Party pledges itself on being returned to office:

(a) To institute and support projects looking to the development of our natural resources, with special attention to mining, forestry and land rehabilitation and settlement, and a comprehensive national plan of federal works of general and permanent benefit to the nation, and a self-liquidating housing program, on all of which work fair wages should be paid to all employed.

(b) To provide a non-partisan department of government for the administration of unemployment relief throughout Canada, for the assistance of those not immediately benefited by the above program.

(c) To encourage and support throughout Canada a plan of national unemployment and retirement insurance.

(d) To co-operate with provinces in a scheme of apprenticeship to industry assisted by government subsidy, giving capable young people an opportunity to learn a trade or fit themselves for a calling.

(e) To make federal grants for scholarships to young people who show ability and merit, but who are prevented from obtaining further education because of their circumstances.

OTTAWA, July 7—(CP)—Resolutions passed by the National Conservative Convention today included the following:

DUNCAN REPORT

Resolved: That this convention reaffirm the position and pledge of the Liberal-Conservative party as expressed unanimously at the Winnipeg convention of 1927, respecting the report of the Royal Commission on Maritime claims (the Duncan Commission of 1926).

TOURIST TRADE

Whereas the establishment by the Conservative Government of the Canadian Travel Bureau has resulted in a very substantial enlargement of the Canadian tourist trade:

Therefore resolved, that this convention, noting with the utmost satisfaction the results achieved in co-operation with travel agencies both public and private, throughout the Dominion approves a continuation of this constructive policy and recognizes the wisdom and desirability of increasing public appropriations for this work commensurate with its steadily-growing importance and needs.

CO-OPERATION AND ADULT EDUCATION

This convention notes with deep satisfaction the leadership given by the Conservative Party in parliament in support of the co-operative movement in Canada, and urges that this movement be fostered and assisted, in conjunction with adult education, in the interests of the workers and primary producers of this Dominion.

NATIONAL FUEL POLICY

Whereas in line with the declared attitude of the party in relation to the establishment of a national fuel policy, the Conservative Government extended to the coal industry of this Dominion support and assistance of a nature and extent that has resulted in rescuing that industry from an extremely critical position and has insured to the mine-workers a greater measure of security in employment;

Be it resolved, that this convention urges a continuation of that support and assistance and such additional measures as will be adequate to the needs of the coal industry, as a great national asset, and of the workers engaged therein.

FISHING INDUSTRY

Recognizing the great importance of the fisheries in the industrial life of this Dominion; observing with the deepest concern the depressed condition of this industry; and realizing the urgent need of assistance for those engaged in this industry as primary producers,

This convention declares that the fisheries of Canada should have co-operation and public aid equal at least in extent, character and effectiveness to that given any other natural products industry in this Dominion.

And this convention further declares that it is the policy of the National Conservative Party to take measures to extend this aid to the fisheries.

Whereas the natural resources of Canada are the common heritage of the people of this Dominion:

And whereas it is in the interest of the people of Canada that natural resources be developed and used in the most economical and profitable manner possible:

1. Therefore be it resolved, that the National Conservative Party pledges itself to a policy of conservation and the most advantageous use of our natural resources by assisting the scientific development of those resources so that, with this end in view, it will, when elected, by research and such other means as are within its power, promote the use of our natural resources and encourage and extend industries based upon them and employment therein.

2. The National Conservative Party will at no time and under no circumstances subject the mineral industry to discriminatory taxation.

3. The National Conservative Party will, by all just and practical means, co-operate in every possible manner with those engaged in our mining industry, to the end that our natural resources may be developed and utilized to the best advantage of Canada.

4. That as gold has a fixed price, the gold mining industry can be expanded by lowering the cost of production, thus permitting the recovery of gold from low grade ore bodies.

Therefore, every tax impost which can possibly be removed from gold mining be removed by statute, to the end that by such expansion a large number of workmen may be employed, huge amounts of additional supplies will be purchased and very large sums of new money may be recovered which would otherwise be lost.

Elmsdale and Vicinity

Mr. James Kelley, engineer at the gravel pit spent the week-end at his home in New Glasgow, Nova Scotia.

Mr. John C. Matthews, who for the past year was principal of Alberton High School, is now at his home in Elmsdale. He plans to leave in a few days to attend Summer School at Mt. Allison University.

Large numbers of parishoners of the Sacred Heart Church, Alberton, attended with great interest and enthusiasm the mission which has been formally carried on for the past week by two Redemptorist Fathers, and which concluded on Sunday.

The annual school meeting was held in Elmsdale School on Tuesday. The president was in the chair. Mrs. Bruce Currie acted as Secretary protem. The meeting was carried on in a quiet and cheerful manner. Mr. David Williams was re-elected trustee. We are pleased to know that the principal, Miss Eileen O'Brien, B. A. and Mr. James Currie, Assistant are going to be with us another year.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized in the United Parsonage Elmsdale on Tuesday when Miss Edith Rix became the bride of Mr. James A. Currie, of Elmsdale. The bride was attended by Miss June Currie while Mr. Waldron Rix supported the groom. Rev. W. A. Paterson performed the ceremony. The young couple plan to reside in Elmsdale, where a host of friends join in wishing them every happiness and success in their voyage through life together.

It is interesting to report that Elmsdale School has been awarded the Strathcona Shield for Physical Training. We are proud to know our school has received the shield as it is the first time it was awarded to this section of the Island. The inspector, Mr. Merrit Callaghan, B A. examined the pupils and decided Elmsdale the first in his inspectorate, then Sergeant Major Irlam, of P. W. C. Charlottetown examined the school that came first in each inspectorate and his decision we are very pleased to report was that Elmsdale was best. Congratulations are extended to the principal, Miss Eileen O'Brien, B. A. and the pupils who showed their training so well.

The closing exercises of Elmsdale School were held on Tuesday morning. A program was given which consisted of choruses by the pupils, a play "Columbus Discovers America" a duet by Rita O'Brien and Roberta Adams. Rev W. A Paterson acted as chairman. Many complimentary remarks were made to the teachers on their splendid work for the past year. These were given by Mr. and Mrs. Paterson, trustees who attended and many other ratepayers. A vote of thanks was also awarded to the teachers. The principal on behalf of the assistant thanked one and all for their kind remarks. Certificates were given to all pupils who had deserved them and Writing Certificates which came from Mr. H. B. MacLean of Vancouver, were handed out. The meeting closed by singing the National Anthem. The pupils went out in the limpid summer air with good wishes to enjoy the pleasant holidays and with a feeling of gratitude to their teachers.

Bennett's Mantle

one of the two women in the House of Commons, announced she would resign her seat for the Yukon in his favor and ask Prime Minister King to give the new leader an acclamation.

Dr. Manion thanked Mrs. Black for her generosity but did not indicate immediately whether he would offer himself for election in the Yukon or in one of the two seats now vacant, London and Waterloo South, or await an opportunity to contest his former constituency of Fort William.

Has Long Experience

The new leader is 56 years old, just one year younger than Mr. Bennett was when he assumed the mantle at Winnipeg in 1927. The former leader was not present at the election of his successor today.

While Mr. Bennett has served in Federal cabinets only for brief periods when he became leader, Dr. Manion has five years service as Minister of Railways and Canals under Mr. Bennett behind him when he takes the position which will make him Prime Minister of Canada, when and if his party wins a majority in the House. He also was Minister of Soldiers Civil Reestablishment and Postmaster General under Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen for brief periods.

Dr. Manion is the second Catholic to lead the Conservative Party since Confederation and the first veteran of the Great War made leader of any party.

Back in 1892 Sir John Thompson, a Catholic, became leader of the Conservative Party and Prime Minister. He died in 1894 before he was called upon to lead the party to the polls.

Few great events in contemporary Canadian history have passed without Dr. Manion having something to do with them. At the battle of Vimy Ridge, when Canadian soldiers covered themselves with glory, Dr. Manion was present as a soldier and won the Military Cross for valor.

Since the war he has been a leader in Conservative ranks in and out of Parliament. At the 1927 Winnipeg convention he was the youngest candidate for the leadership, running fourth after Mr. Bennett, Mr. Guthrie and Hon. C. H. Cahan.

Unanimous Support

But for a few incidents the closing day of the convention was harmonious, Mr. MacPherson congratulated the new leader, moved that his election be made unanimous and pledged himself to serve the party. These sentiments were echoed by Mr. Harris, Mr. Massey and Mr. Lawson.

Delegates stood at Dr. Manion's request to pledge their service to the party under his leadership.

Hon. H. H. Stevens, who broke with Mr. Bennett in 1935, fought the Conservatives at the 1935 election as leader of the Reconstruction Party and returned to the fold last week, was present and voted on the leadership.

A vote also was cast by W. D. Herridge, former minister to Washington and Mr. Bennett's brother-in-law.

Mr. Herridge proposed an amendment to the resolution on financial policy, a declaration in favor of monetary and economic reform which would stabilize Canadian production at its maximum level and raise consumption that level. It was a substitute for an official resolution pledging the party to a "sane monetary policy."

The Herridge proposal was defeated on a standing vote with no debate beyond his own speech. He said policies being adopted failed to meet the needs of the people.

Policies Adopted

The policies adopted included,—exclusion of oriental immigration and resumption of immigration from the United Kingdom and France when economic conditions warrant it.

Consultation and co-operation with other nations of the British Commonwealth on Defence matters.

Opposition to railway amalgamation or unification and continuance of the present policy of co-operation.

A national unemployment insurance and retirement scheme.

Continued protection of the Canadian market for all Canadian industries.

Reduced taxation on the mining industry.

The defence question, a thorny subject throughout the convention, provoked a short debate when two youthful delegates from Montreal sought to add a declaration that no forces should be sent out of Canada without a referendum to the official resolution. The proposal was defeated.

The railway resolution also provided contention but Kelso Roberts to run off its race card as scheduled, and believe me friends, it was a humdinger from a spectator's viewpoint, as each and every one who attended, and there was a real crowd, will verify, and without a doubt, when next year rolls around it will be bigger and better than ever, as all will know that they won't be disappointed with the races when they attend.

His many friends will regret to hear that Mr. Thomas Holmes, one of Prince Edward Island's famous reinsmen and successful teamster of the well known trotter Lusty Frisco, when teaming Lusty in the second heat of the 2.14 class at Hamilton on Wednesday afternoon, had the misfortune to be thrown from his sulky and suffered a broken leg. He was rushed to the nearest hospital as quickly as possible and latest reports are that he is resting as comfortably as can be expected. His many friends join in wishing him a speedy and successful recovery.

Her many friends regret to hear that Miss Ethel Chisholm is now a patient in the Prince County Hospital, Summerside, where she underwent an operation on Wednesday morning. All join in wishing her a successful recovery.

Mr. John Burns left on Thursday morning for Moncton, N. B.

Mr. A. R. Howatt of Charlottetown was a business visitor to Kensington on Wednesday. H of Toronto met with no support from the floor when he asked the party to solve the railway problem and asked it not to close the door against unification or any other solution.

Mr. Cahan's Speech

A plea for national unity and for inter-racial understanding from Hon. C. H. Cahan, veteran parliamentarian from Montreal, brought the biggest single demonstration of the convention up to the time the new leader was acclaimed.

Certain incidents had taken place at the convention which he and others deplored, said Mr. Cahan, but hoped they would be forgotten and the party would present a united front. He assured English-speaking delegates that the French-speaking people of Quebec on both sides of politics were good Canadians and desirous of contributing their efforts to the advancement of all Canada.

The demonstration came when he asked the English-speaking delegates to express their respect for the French-speaking delegates from Quebec.

Secretary of state in the last Conservative government, Mr. Cahan has for many years represented the Montreal riding of St. Lawrence-St. George in the House of Commons. He appealed for unity and a spirit of good-will toward all.

His 25 year long association with French-Canadians in Montreal, Mr. Cahan said, gave him perhaps a better knowledge than enjoyed by many of the "character, capacity and goodwill of the French-Canadian people."

"I ask you to believe," he said, "that they are true Canadians whether on one side of the party line or the other."

He had personally known every great political leader in Canada for the past 60 years, Mr. Cahan said. All had been devoted to the welfare of their country.

"Let us separate with no ill-feeling toward any person but with a determination we will follow and carry on the best traditions of the party in which we were born and bred.

Masons To Hold Celebration

HALIFAX, July 7 —(CP)—More than 105 official delegates representing lodges of the Ancient Free and Accepted Masons from the United States, Canada, Newfoundland and the United Kingdom will visit Halifax July 10-13 to mark the bicentenary of the establishment of Masonry in Canada.

Extensive plans for the four-day session have been prepared by the Grand Lodge of Nova Scotia. A feature of the celebration will be the unveiling of a monument to Major Erasmus James Philips, who founded the first lodge in Canada at Annapolis Royal, N. S., two centuries ago. The statue was presented by the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts

Numerous officials of international importance in the Order will attend the convention. Among them will be Viscount de Vesci, General Sir Francis J. Davies, K. C. B., K. C. M. G., K. C. V. C., both grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge of England, and Brigadier Sir Norman A. Orr Ewing, elected last year to succeed King George as Grand Master Mason of Scotland.

A number of American Masonic dignitaries are expected at the anniversary ceremonies. Among the most prominent are Grand Master James T. Fraser of California, Grand Master Leonard P. Stewart of Washington, Past Grand Master William B. Clark of Georgia, and Grand Master J. E. Perry of Boston.

All nine Grand Lodges in Canada will be represented by their leading craftsmen. Among them will be Henry J. Cody, president of the University of Toronto.

The program will open Sunday, July 10. A grand reception for the deputation from the Grand Lodge of England will be followed by services in Halifax churches.

A thanksgiving service in the afternoon and an evening religious musical will round out the first day of the gathering.

The unveiling of the Philips Memorial in St. Paul's Cemetery, Halifax, will occupy Monday morning. A luncheon, a theatre party and a reception for the delegates by Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Robert Irwin at Government House will complete the afternoon program. A reception for guests and a formal banquet will conclude the day. A separate ladies' program has also been arranged.

Visits to Windsor, N. S., Grand Pre, N. S., Kentville, and Annapolis Royal will be staged Tuesday, and more points of interests will be visited Wednesday. A number of delegates will visit Saint John, crossing from Digby, N. S., by boat.
