TWO VETERANS ARRIVE TO-NIGHT

Miss Nellie Gillespie, secretary of the Returned Soldiers Reception Comittee received a wire from St. John Saturday stating that Pte. V. MacDonald, Mt. Stewart, Pte. M. Cheverie, Souris would leave for the Island by the car ferry on Monday (today).

For 15 days in the month of January I was suffering with pain of rheumatism in the foot. I tried all kinds of remedies but nothing did me any good. One person told me about MINARD'S LINIMENT; as soon as I tried it the Saturday night, the next morning I was feeling very good; I tell you this remedy is very good; I could give you a good certificate any time that you would like to have one. If any time I come to hear about any person sick of rheumatism. I could tell them about this remedy.

Yours truly,
ERNEST LEVEILLE,
216 Rue Ontario East, Montreal.

FAMILY INJURED.—Rev. Wm. McLeod and family have received word that Mrs. McLeod's brother, Capt. Fred Malcom, his wife, son and daughter (both full grown) and mother-in-law, widow Philips, escaped death in the recent calamity in Halifax. Ings, on February 11, 1915. He also saw much fighting, so distinguishing himself as to be awarded the M. M. for conspicuous bravery. The presentation of the medals will take place in the Legislative Council Chamber and will be conducted with military honours to which the public will be admitted.

THE TEMPERATURE.— The lowest temperature recorded Saturday at the Experimental Station was 6 below zero, with a heavy frost that made the cold much more penetrating. Yesterday the coldest was 5 above zero and the mercury steadily rose until at 3 p. m., it stood at 14 above. At 6.30 last evening the temperature outside the city was 11 above.

ILL IN HOSPITAL.— Mrs. A. Russell of Brookfield, has received the following letter from Ottawa, re 23183 Co. Sgt.-Maj. D. M. Robinson, Canadian Expeditionary Force: "Madam —I have the honour to state that information has been received by mail, from England, to the effect that the marginally noted non-commissioned officer was admitted to No. 22 General Hospital, Camiers, France, on November 11th, 1917, suffering from a gunshot wound in the head. Any further information received will be communicated to you without delay. Signed—Frank Beard, Director of Records. (Other papers please copy.)

CHOICE CALENDARS.— With the closing of the year it has become a habit to look forward with a great deal of pleasure to a visit from Mr. W. K. Rogers, armed with his gift of calendars. This year his offering is better than ever and includes several subjects suited for the different duties to which they will be put. For the office there are the large and medium ones, copies from the best oil paintings of the old Masters, while those for the home would adorn any room, as they are exquisitely dainty in subject, mounting and printing. Truly Mr. Rogers has chosen his calendars with an artist's keen sense of the beautiful and with the deservedly wide patronage the W. R. Rogers Ltd. enjoys, the firm will be looked upon with pleasant thoughts as their calendars come to view from day to day in offices and homes. Mr. Rogers has the Guardian's thanks for so many kind remembrances.

FATHER BURKE'S VISIT.—Major (Mgr.) A. E. Burke, arrived in the City Saturday morning and was warmly welcomed by many old time friends. Yesterday morning he preached in St. Dunstan's Cathedral to a large congregation. In the course of a most eloquent sermon, Major Burke referred to the wholesale destruction of of valuable historic monument, churches and sacred shrines in Belgium and Northern France by the Hun invaders. Speaking of the effect of the war upon France he said that churches, which were practically empty before the war were now filled with devout and devoted worshippers, this was the main fact in connection with the war. As to the work of reconstruction after the war it would be a tremendous task but all Christendom would assist in this and the scars of war would in time be obliterated and a new world would arise out of the present chaos. Major Burke leaves this morning on return to Toronto.

DIED IN HALIFAX.—The remains of Patrick Westaway, who died from shock in Halifax following the disaster there, arrived in the city Saturday and were forwarded to Cardigan, his home, where the funeral will be held.

EXCELLENT DONATION.— The Guardian has received from Miss Grace Houston, treasurer of the Y.P.S. of the New Glasgow Christian Church, the splendid sum of $26.65 for the Halifax Relief Fund, being the proceeds of a social held at the home of Mrs. E. E. MacKay by that society. The amount has been handed to Mayor Brown to add to the steadily growing Halifax Relief Fund.

LECTURE ON HALIFAX DISASTER.—At the afternoon service in the Salvation Army Hall yesterday, Major Barr, St. John, gave an account of his fourteen days' experience in Halifax after the disaster. The Major said he could not trust himself to give a word picture of the scenes he had witnessed, they were too horrible for words and too shocking for the average ear to hear. The general effect of the explosion was that everyone who stood between a window and the opposite wall was filled with glass, and where there was no one intervening the opposite wall was thickly embedded with glass. The first alarm given was by the firemen, viz: that a ship was on fire in the harbour. Many rushed to their windows to see the fire engines pass, with the result when the explosion came they were in direct line to receive the full effect of the broken glass. He described how in some instances a mother was struck down and a child by her side escaped, where a child was decapitated and a father who was playing with it escaped. Scarcely a house in the devastated district escaped, and the number of mutilated victims was appalling. He never wanted brought to his mind again the horror of the terrible scenes he witnessed. He questioned whether, after any disaster in the world's history, or in any hospital after a great battle, were such scenes witnessed as were to be found in the hospitals and morgues of Halifax. Added to this horror was the scene enacted when the authorities ordered all who were alive to proceed to the Common as it was feared the magazine would explode; and then to crown all the storm and blizzard broke out, which practically put the finishing touch to human suffering. The Major then described the work of the Salvation Army in connection with the disaster and said although it was probably the smallest religious body in the city, it was the first to provide organized relief and assistance, and on most of the Committees a Salvation Army officer was appointed. He emphasized the importance of "first aid" instruction and expressed the opinion that had people known how to stop bleeding, many lives would have been saved. He thought all children should be instructed in first aid so that in an emergency they would know what to do. One of the saddest things in connection with the disaster was the number of people who had lost their sight. It was estimated over 300 had lost both eyes and between 200 and 250 had lost one eye. Ensign Condie, who presided, expressed appreciation of the Major's address, and endorsed what he said about the necessity for training in life saving and first aid.

VICE ADMIRAL WEMYSS SUCCEEDS JELLICOE

LONDON, Dec. 28.—Vice-Admiral Sir Rosslyn Wemyss has been appointed First Sea Lord in succession to Admiral Sir John R. Jellicoe, according to an official announcement issued this evening.

Admiral Jellicoe has been elevated to the peerage in recognition of his very distinguished services. The hope is expressed that his experience may be utilized later in another post.

The translation of Sir John R. Jellicoe to the honourable eclipse of a seat in the House of Lords and the promotion of the second Sea Lord to his place, briefly announced in an official communication tonight, will convey but one interpretation to the mind of the general public in view of the strong criticisms for a long time passed upon the Admiralty, which culminated in deep disappointment and dissatisfaction at the impunity with which German raiders recently again sank a British convoy.

To Get Another Post.

The official announcement says nothing of Admiral Jellicoe's having for any reason desired to resign his appointment, but merely announces his replacement by Vice-Admiral Wemyss and the bestowal of a peerage "in recognition of his very distinguished service."

The announcement proceeds: "During the war Admiral Jellicoe was for two years and four months in command of the Grand Fleet before he came to the Admiralty to take up the position of First Sea Lord, which he has held with distinction for the last thirteen months. It is hoped that his services and experience may be made use of at a later date in another important appointment."
