Turkish Press Lets Loose Wrath of the Ex-Sultan

(Special to The Guardian.)

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov 22—Sultan Mohammed's precipitate flight from Constantinople has unloosed the wrath and contempt of the Turkish press. The Vakt which usually is moderate, says:

"The ex-Sultan's departure is simply the flight of a traitor who already has fallen from power and had become simply an ordinary personage. His escape is a common place incident, his titles belong to the tragic past."

The New Efkir comments:

"In the whole Turkish history there has been no such contemptible act as the ex-Sultan's abandonment of the seat of the Caliphate for the protection of a foreign government."

The Renin says:

"Of the thirty six Sultans giving the Osmanli dynasty to the Turkish nation, never has there been one so base."

New Caliph Makes Province.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov 22—Abdul Medjid Effendi, the newly elected caliph, has given the following statement to the Associated Press:

"I feel deeply the confidences my people have reposed in me. All my life I have had unshakable faith in the progress of Turkey and in her deliverance from the foreign yoke. I have been closely bound up in my people even in the darkest day.

"My desire today is to be a faithful servant of Islam and my people. I will approve all the decisions of the National Assembly. It is sad to speak on the Sultan's flight. By his action he not merely lost his throne, but has become an outcast from our family."

LAUSANNE CONFERENCE BEGINS CRITICAL DISCUSSIONS

At the Proceedings Yesterday Turks Laid Claims to Western Thrace and the Allies Put Forward Their Claims for Freedom of the Dardanelles.

(Special to The Guardian.)

LAUSANNE, Nov 22—The question of the disposition of western Thrace came definitely before the powers today when Ismet Pasha presented to the commission on military and territorial matters Turkey's claim to all the territory embraced within her frontiers of 1913.

M. Venizelos for Greece, immediately opposed the claim, and was supported by the Jugo-Slavo and Rumanians, who favored maintaining the Martza River, as the western boundary of Turkey in Europe and agreed with him that there should not even be a plebiscite to decide the sovereignty of the disputed territory as some suggested.

A delegation representing Syria today, demanded that the conference grant independence to their country, which was given the status of a French mandatory state by the Allied Supreme Council at San Remo in 1920.

LAUSANNE, Nov 22—The freedom of the Dardanelles was taken up at the Turkish peace conference today. American observers sat at the meeting of committee No 1, where the discussion took place and watched proceedings.

A proposal was made for a purely civil regime for Constantinople under the supervision of an international commission appointed by the League of Nations.

Under the plan proposed the Allies would not be permitted to maintain garrisons along the Dardanelles or Bosphorus. Turkey was requested to pledge the perpetual freedom of the straits, both for [illegible] and war vessels, except in the eventuality of war in which Turkey might herself be a belligerent.

Territorial arrangements were discussed on the basis of the Allied note of Sept 23, the only possible modification being the inclusion of the Karagutch railway station at Adrianople within Turkish territory.

The views of the Allies on this question were put forward, while the Turks declared that the possession of the Karagutch station was imperative.

Large Audience Enjoyed "The Jumping Jack"

Again and again last night at the Prince Edward Theatre the Bob Ott Company were applauded and encored in their clever musical comedy, "The Jumping Jack."

Among the hits of yesterday's show were the following song and dance numbers: "Dishes" by Miss Adams, Miss Green and the Breen sisters. "The Jumping Jack," by Fred Wright and chorus; "Happiness" by Miss Mary Ott; "Love is Everywhere" by Miss Anne Ott; "Ladies" quartette by Messrs Ott, Wright, Marr and Mack; eccentric dance by Miss Florence Breen; "Japanese Jazz" by Ray Marr; and "The Minstrel Show" by Mr. Ott and chorus.

The costumes and scenic effects were particularly good and the plot of the comedy contained a mix-up which involved an amusing matrimonial tangle. There were a great many good laughs in the performance, and lots of fine dancing and singing.

Today's performance will be "What Wright Left."

LONDON, Nov 22—The committee of the Grand Trunk Railway shareholders which has been considering the privy council's dismissal of the appeal against the arbitrators award announces that it has met and been advised that in consequence of the judgment of the privy council no further legal action can be taken to obtain compensation from the Canadian Government. The committee has decided to memorialize the Dominion Government, urged the government to take into its consideration the equitable claims of the Grand Trunk shareholders.

The Times, in its city notes, says if the Canadian Government could see it way to make an offer of "compassionate allowance" its credit would not suffer.

Siki's License is Cancelled by the French

PARIS, Nov. 22.—Battling Siki's rise to pugilistic fame received another setback today when his license was cancelled by the French Boxing Federation. This action reinforced the nine months suspension which Siki received from the federation on November 9.

When the suspension expires the Senegalese, who has also been deprived of the title he won from Georges Carpentier, must apply for a new license, which the federation can refuse. The license was cancelled by a vote of twelve to two, upon charges of various escapades brought by twenty-five sportsmen. It is said that the federation is considering further action against Siki.

Killed Where the Bodies Were Found

(Special to The Guardian.)

SOMERVILLE, N.J. Nov. 22.—Thirty witnesses had told their stories when the Grand Jury investigating the murder of the Rev Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs Eleanor Mills finished its second session tonight. The Prosecutor declared that at least 25 more would be called.

The Grand Jury has learned that the minister and the choir singer were murdered; that the rector was shot once through the head; that the woman was shot three times; that the shots were fired by an expert marksman; that the choir singer went by trolley and afoot to a trysting place with the minister.

It learned that the Prosecutor believed Mr. Hall and Mrs. Mills were killed under the lonely crab apple tree on the Phillips farm where the bodies were found

George Sipel, the pig farmer who last night popped into the case after his wife announced he was innocent of any concern in it, today was ordered before the jury. Tomorrow, in all probability, the Grand Jury will have opportunity to decide whether Sipel is a really vital factor or merely a pig-raising farmer who has had business dealings with Mrs. Jane Gibson, the star prosecution witness, and has talked about them.

Sipel avoided detectives and reporters alike today. He went out into the country in his machine before daylight and was still there when the sun set. The jury heard 18 witnesses, none of whom had any really important story to give. They heard doctors tell how Mrs Mills' throat was found to have been cut when her body and that of Rev. Hall were disinterred for an autopsy.

Raymond Schneider was called when the afternoon session began, presumably to tell how he found the bodies and to corroborate Pearl Bahmer's story of mushroom hunting and the accidental discovery beneath the crab apple tree.

Only two witnesses, Drs. Anderson and Armstrong, expert chemists from a local laboratory, were called after Schneider. They had examined the dirt which was near the bodies, and it was on their testimony that Prosecutor Nott relied to prove the murders were committed where the bodies were found.

ORPHANAGE IS NEARING COMPLETION

The Committee Very Thankful for Support from Various Individuals and Institutions.

The Prince Edward Island Protestant Orphanage is now about completed. It is beautifully situated and the lay-out for this Institution is simply wonderful. All who have visited the Orphanage are unanimous in stating that it is exceptionally well fitted for the purpose intended. The possibilities for the little children coming into this Home being an asset to the Province instead of a burden to their various communities will be easily within their reach and we are confident that a large percentage of them will make good and become valuable citizens in the future.

This Institution is no doubt one of the greatest monuments to Protestantism in this province. The public of Prince Edward Island are to be complimented for their liberal response when the call was made for this worthy cause in connection with the Building Fund.

From the starting of the New Orphanage the committee reports they met with considerable opposition, which was not unexpected. As the work advanced, however, many of those formerly opposed became warm advocates and have become generous contributors, so that a few only remain as knockers; they being in a class by themselves, are of course noncontributors. The committee does hope that they will avoid offending one of the little ones. "It were better that a mill stone were hanged about their neck and they were cast into the midst of the sea."

Now that the committees attention has turned to the furnishing of this Institution it is gratifying to know that the different organizations have practically taken charge of this branch of the work namely:

The Ladies Auxiliary of Charlottetown having already contributed $9,000.00 to the Building Fund are furnishing and equipping the Contagious Ward, supplying a double range for the kitchen single range for the scullery, bedding and bed linen for six staff bed-rooms, dishes and table linen for the dinning room at a cost of $2,025.00.

The Ladies "Memorial" Lodge have given $2,500.00 to the Building Fund and have assumed the furnishing and maintenance of the Girl's Ward at an initial cost of $1,100.00.

Edith Cavell Lodge, Summerside, intend furnishing the Boy's Dormitory costing the same, namely $1,100.00.

They have already handed in $308.77 for the above purpose.

The Daughters of the Empire have volunteered to furnish the reception room, at a cost of about $350.00.

The Ladies Auxiliary, Montague purpose furnishing and equipping the Assembly Hall, with reading stand, three platform chairs and two hundred assembly chairs costing about $350.00.

The Estate of the late Mrs Pomeroy intend fitting up the office with desk, chairs, filing cabinet and book-case, where all the records will be properly cared for, at a cost of $250.00'

The Women's Institute, Mt. Herbert, are supplying the chairs and tables for the dinning room, at a cost of about $200.00'

The committee is gratified to know that the "Royal Arch" Masons of Prince Edward Island are appropriating $400.00 to furnish the school room.

The Knight Templars purpose giving to the children a Christmas Tree which under the proper management will be an annual occurence and will bring joy and gladness to the hearts of the homeless little ones.

The Star of the East Lodge are contemplating taking an active part in this noble work.

Mr. Peter Oliver, who was the first to make a voluntary contribution, is furnishing the Nursery and Children's Day Room, at a cost of about $400.00.

There is only the living room, sewing room and six staff rooms remaining, which will give a wonderful opportunity for others to come to the committee's assistance and complete the furnishing; which will give us an Institution equal to any in the Maritime Provinces.

Permanent recognition, in the form of a tablet, will be placed on each door with the donors name thereon.

Lord Curzon Talks With Pasha

(Special to The Guardian.)

LAUSANNE Nov 22—Premier Poincare left Lausanne for Paris this evening. Lord Curzon and Benito Mussolini, with members of the British and Italian delegations, were at the station to bid him adieu.

It is understood that M. Poincare left well satisfied, on the whole, with the prospects of the conference. French circles base their greatest hope for the success of the gathering on the skill and tact of Lord Curzon who already has done much to facilitate the proceedings. Curzon had a talk tonight with Ismet Pasha, head of the Turkish delegation, which appears to have allayed many of the misgivings in the minds of the Turks and to have greatly relieved the strain on Turco-British relations.

While raising no objection to the collaboration of United States delegates in the conference, the Turks took exception to States which never were at war with Turkey (and) which consequently still enjoy the capitulations regime, taking part in the debate. The States in question are Belgium, Sweden, Norway, Denmark Spain, Portugal and Holland.

It was pointed out to the Turks that the presence of the delegates from these States could not effect the results of the discussions but at the same time they could not be denied to present their views to the conference.

France and Britain already were in agreement before they came to Lausanne on their general policy. That agreement had been further strengthened since their arrival here. As to the Government of Benito Mussolini, it has not produced any new claims which are likely to upset the arrangements completed with its predecessor, but Mussolini has made clear his strong desire to treat without delay questions outside the Lausanne conference, notably reparations. In this respect Poincare is willing to go anywhere to meet the British and Italian Premiers if a meeting preliminary to the Brussels conference is desired. The belief now prevails that the Brussels conference will assemble December 5.

Mohammed Inquires After His Wives, Who are 'Well and Happy'

(Special to The Guardian.)

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov 22—Officials of the sultan's palace today received a radio message from Mohammed VI, who has fled to Malta, inquiring after his wives, all of whom he left behind. The following reply to his enquiry was forwarded: "All are well and happy." The most anxious of the Sultan's harem is a young Circassian beauty, a daughter of the palace gardener, to whom Mohammed VI was recently married. Her installation in the imperial household aroused considerable rivalry among the other members of the harem, for she immediately became a favorite and her master lavished expensive gifts upon her. She has now returned to her parents, who are in modest circumstances.

Turkish newspapers today assert that the Sultan took with him five hundred thousand dollars in currency, a solid gold antique dinner set valued at $250,000 and several hundred thousand dollars worth of jewels as well as a field marshal's uniform.

Steamer is Aground in St. Lawrence

(Special to The Guardian.)

QUEBEC, Nov 22—The Cairn line steamer Cairndhu, outward bound from Montreal with a heavy cargo, went ashore at Cap Rouge, above the Quebec bridge at 7.30 o'clock this evening and is reported to be making water.

Shortly after the grounding of the vessel, word of the accident was received here and the wrecking steamer Lord Strathcona is being prepared to go to the rescue and will reach the stranded vessel tomorrow morning with lighters.

The cause of the grounding is not known, but it is thought that it may have been due to haze over the river at that time.

Should the Cairndhu be seriously damaged she will possibly have to go into dock here and may as a result of the approaching winter have to remain here until the spring. Should her damages be only slight, temporary repairs may be made to enable her to reach the drydock at St. John, N. B., for permanent repairs.

Island of Cape Breton Cut Off

(Special to The Guardian.)

HALIFAX, Nov. 22.—Cape Breton Island was without communication with the west of Nova Scotia tonight, as the result of a heavy gale and sleet storm which put out of commission the telegraph wires of both the Canadian Pacific and Western Union Telegraph Companies, and the telephone lines of the Maritime Telegraph and Telephone Company.

It was understood that several of the Western Union poles had been broken down. North Sydney reported before being cut off that the ferry service to Sydney had been discontinued. It was not known if this latter was because of the storm or not.

Available reports stated that storm conditions were general east of the mainland of Nova Scotia and over Newfoundland.

Conclusive Evidence

Here is an endorsement of the economic worth of Prohibition from a source which carries great weight. John Jay Abbott, Vice-President of the Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago, says, "Since the date on which National Prohibition went into effect, the savings deposits in this bank have increased approximately $10,000,000, or 30 per cent. There is no question but that Prohibition has contributed very substantially to the increase in savings in the United States, and therefore has been of great economic value to the country.
