of Canada. Mr. Matheson said the results of the last Provincial general election were greatly out of line with the number of votes for the contending parties and that there was no doubt a lack of concerted effort played some part in the general result.

Mrs. Sutherland announced that Miss Hilda Hessen, national director of the Women's Progressive Conservative Association, would arrive in the Province in June to organize the Conservative women throughout the Province.

The Hon. Dr. MacMillan paid a tribute to Mr. B. Roy Holman as a capable and competent organizer, referring to Mr. D. L. Matheson, Mr. L. A. Dr. MacMillan said Mr. Matheson had all the qualifications which had made his father the greatest statesman the Province had ever produced. He said he would like to prophesy that Mr. Matheson will some day in the future, be the next provincial leader of the Progressive-Conservative party.

Before the meeting adjourned, resolutions were passed expressing confidence in the Conservative federal leadership of the Hon. John Bracken, in the Provincial Conservative leader, The Hon. Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, and in the work being done for Queen's County at Ottawa by Mr. W. Chester S. McLure, M. P.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

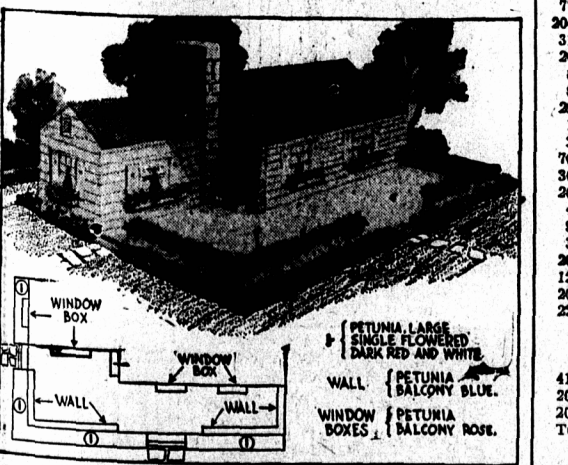

"This is the second occasion it has become my pleasure to report to you, as your President, on the activities of our Association," said Mr. Roy Holman in his presidential report. Normally, this meeting should have and would have been held last fall, and it was the intention of your Executive of doing so. In fact, preparations for the Annual Meeting were being made and practically ready for announcement when the Government in power called for the holding of a general Provincial election. This election was not altogether unexpected. The Provincial election was finally announced for December 11th, followed closely by the Christmas holiday season, then what proved to be the most severe winter experienced for many years.

"Early in the New Year an executive meeting was called, but, owing to very inclement weather conditions, the attendance was small and it was agreed upon by those present that no further attempt be made to hold an Annual Meeting until suitable travelling conditions would make it possible to have a really representative attendance. And so we are here this afternoon to briefly review our activities as an Organization and as a political Party, since we last met something over a year ago.

"It is not my intention to go into too much detail as we have important business to transact this afternoon in connection with future activities. I do want, however, to refer briefly to a few matters before turning this meeting over to you for discussion and the transaction of business.

"At our last annual meeting, I referred to the efforts made by your President and Provincial Executive, during the previous year, and following their election to office, to revive the party spirit in our Association, to put new life into our activities, to reach out into the rural ridings of the Province in a determined attempt to make contact with our key men in and various localities, to the end that

Flower Bordered Terrace Beautifies Modern Home

Few flowers thrive in the shade; and sunshine is also good for you. Modern houses are designed for sunny surroundings, with terraces open to the sky replacing roofed porches, and flower borders where formerly shrubs would shade the house and make it impossible for flowers to live.

In the home grounds, as on the beach, shade can be provided by the garden umbrella, or by awnings, when it is needed. And when sunshine is desired, one need not to the country to enjoy it. If the landscape planting is designed to flow the sun full access to the house and garden.

Modern houses do not require broodery planting close to them. With few exceptions they are set low with the main floor close to ground level. Planting in front should be kept low. Tall shrubs and evergreens near the house have the effect of making low houses seem lower.

A sun-drenched terrace surrounded by flowers makes an ideal frame for a one-story house, as shown in the illustration. A low wall topped by flower boxes rising a foot or more, but never higher than the window level, can easily be constructed. At the base of this wall a border of flowers can be grown from seed sown directly in the ground. Flower boxes at the windows complete a decoration, which will make any house a show place.

Such a planting adds to the apparent size of the house, and presents a picture which will be enjoyed as much by the house occupants as by passersby.

For best effect care should be taken in the choice of colors. These should harmonize with the color of the house and its trim. The suggested planting uses all petunias, red and white at the base of the wall, balcony blue on top of the wall, and roses in the window boxes. Other flowers which would serve well in such a planting are marigolds, nasturtiums, lobelias, annual pinks, white and violet anemones, salvia, and Illinois flinnias.

women's division of our Organization.

"Tacking our political situation all in all as we pass it on to our successors in office, we are not ashamed of the legacy we are leaving for their consideration, and upon which to build a more elaborate structure.

"Personally, I wish to thank all members of our Provincial executive and Queen County executive for their sacrifices and devoted cooperation.

"I also wish to thank our leader, Hon. Dr. MacMillan, for his contact with, wise counsel, and devotion to the welfare of the Party.

"I would like also to extend sincere thanks to Mr. McLure for his kind assistance at all times, and I particularly wish to thank our Vice-President, Mr. J. A. Gillies, for his very fine cooperation. It has been a pleasure to have been associated with our competent secretary, Mr. Charles McQuaid.

"In closing, I want to thank every friend and supporter of the Progressive Conservative Party, and particularly all poll chairmen and secretaries in Queen's County, for their loyal support and cooperation during my tenure of office."

GREAT TIMBER ASSETS

The value of pulp and paper produced in Canada is a fifth greater than all the mineral production including precious metals, iron, non-ferrous metals, coal, gas, asbestos and salt.

How stainless steel makes jobs for Canadians

The early stainless steel developed prior to 1916 were used principally in making stainless cutlery. Since that time new steels containing Nickel in addition to Chromium have been developed which combine non-rusting properties with great strength and toughness.

International Nickel is working hand in hand with other industries in the development and application of stainless steel.

Today this beautiful white alloy has hundreds of applications, from a gleaming saucepan or pressure cooker or a valve handling acid in a pulp and paper plant, to a complete railway car or train.

And so a new market for Canadian Nickel has been developed which now makes use of thousands of tons of Nickel from Canadian mines each year.

This new market creates new jobs for Canadians both in the Nickel industry and other industries. Thus does research develop better products, create more employment.
