THOUSANDS

Hearing, and other places the civil war raged today, but tonight reports said the situation outside Vienna was becoming more quiet.

Tenement in Ruins

Howlers reduced the Karl Marx model tenement, the largest in Europe and once the home of 2,000 families, to ruins. That fighting started at daybreak after a day of exchanges during the night between Socialists and troops.

Street fighting nearby was so severe that men could get near the shell holes only by reaching its height. It is afternoon hand-to-hand combat added to the terror.

Hand grenades popped from windows. Corridors became trenches. Machine guns blazed upon the besiegers below. Tear gas permeated the vicinity but it did not dilute the fighting.

Big shells then ripped into the concrete structure. Two floors collapsed. A middle arch crumpled. One shell tore off a tower as though it were of kindling wood.

The siege of the Karl Marx had counterparts in tonight's fighting.

Terrific Struggle

In a terrific struggle to eject Socialists from the Fortified section of the North Railway station there. This was necessary, it was explained for strategic reasons.

In the Summering district of Vienna a skirmish between Socialists and police the latter were supported by Catholic Storm Troopers. Five troopers were killed.

Unverified reports from Wetzlar, Hesse, an industrial city south of here, said heavy fighting broke out there and the situation in Styria was far from quiet.

Great police prepared to battle gangs of looters tonight.

In the Favoriten section of Vienna police and auxiliary forces stormed two community apartments, capturing great quantities of arms, among them four machine guns.

In Lins shooting from windows was resumed after nightfall.

Leads Forces

In Stry, where Prince Von Starbomberg personally led the Heimwehr in action earlier today, several streets tonight were still in the Socialists' possession.

Struckdown was still disputed ground.

Vollberg, an industrial town of about 10,000, was said to be entirely in Socialist hands.

Wozel and Eufstein, near the German border, asked military assistance.

The fighting was the climax of a long struggle between Socialism and Fascism in which the Bourgeois Christian Social party of Chancellor Dollfus was forced to accept the support of the Fascist Heimwehr as its mainstay.

When Dollfus was dissolved by a Dollfus decree last year the Socialists were numerically the strongest party in Austria—66 per cent of Vienna votes in the last

DESCRIPTS HARDSHIPS

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) HALIFAX, Feb. 13.—Hardship among Petit De Grat's fisher-folk was described tonight by Rev. Father A. Boudreau, who came from the little island to seek aid in the capital for the island's distressed residents.

The threat of impending starvation faced many families, the clergyman declared, and there was need of immediate relief. He proposed to ask assistance of the provincial and federal governments, since the county claimed it could not afford further disbursements.

Lack of direct relief, Father Boudreau said, had caused "distress, want and suffering" among the people of Petit De Grat, already impoverished by a poor fishing season. The fishery had netted no family more than $150, and many now were without bread, meat, oil and other necessities.

On Saturday, he said, he had come upon two large families which were "entirely destitute" and dependent on neighbors for sustenance. Forty-seven others he described as in "immediate need of assistance."

"Unless relief is supplied" he asserted, "there will be ultimate starvation."

Alleged French Swindler Held

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—Ella Sacazan, a banker who is alleged to have swindled French investors out of hundreds of millions of francs, is under arrest at Beirut, Syria, today on a warrant issued by the French Ministry of Justice, says the New York Times in a special cable from Paris.

The Sacazan case is not unlike that of Alexander Stavisky in the Bayonne Panshop scandal says the cable.

There is material in the Sacazan case for another large political scandal, but Premier Geaston Domergue would be loath to see political passions aroused again unnecessarily. However, it is expected he will have to promise, as with the Stavisky case, to investigate fully and punish the guilty, however highly placed, the cable proceeds.

SHIPPING WARNED AS GALES ARE FORECAST

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) HALIFAX, Feb. 13.—Forecasts of gales and more heavy frost warned shipping tonight that the battle with the formidable ice barrier along the Nova Scotia coast probably would be prolonged.

Government ice-breakers were sent at work trying to reopen harbors that had been closed to navigation by weeks of cold weather.

At Mulgrave, the Mikula was smashing through a strong barrier in an effort to free imprisoned schooners, and from there she was to proceed to Sher Harbor, Louisburg and Queensport.

The steamer Chedabucto was in Halifax Harbor, preparing for a second attempt to enter Guysboro, where she had been turned back by heavy ice on an earlier trip.

In Yarmouth a brisk easterly wind was loosening the tightly packed shore ice.

Donate Cup For Bailey Benefit Tilt

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) MONTREAL, Feb. 13.—Directors of the Toronto Maple Leafs Hockey Club have donated a trophy for the Bailey benefit game Wednesday night in Toronto between the Leafs and the National Hockey League All-Stars, President Frank Calder of the National League announced here tonight.

The Leafs director, Calder said had expressed the hope that the cup will be a perpetual trophy for an annual game. They suggest that each season at this date an all-star team be chosen to play the leading club of the League.

It is also suggested that proceeds of future games, if played, would be devoted to a fund to provide for players injured in National League contests. The cup had been accepted for the Bailey benefit game, Calder stated, and the Toronto Club's suggestion for an annual series will be brought before the League governors at the next meeting.

Calder received word today that three-quarters of an hour after tickets went on sale for the Bailey benefit game the entire house was sold out. Maple Leaf Gardens has seating accommodation for 12,472 persons.

Bill O'Brien of Montreal, Maroons, dean of N. H. L. trainers, will act in that capacity for the All-Star team Wednesday night.

OTTAWA VALLEY HAY SHORTAGE

The January report of hay marketing by the Dominion Seed Branch Markets Service says that in the St. Lawrence counties and the Ottawa Valley there is a hay shortage which is expected to intensify as spring approaches. Farmers in these areas are, however, realising that careful conservation of their hay and other forage is necessary. There is a tendency to sacrifice livestock rather than buy hay, owing to financial inability to pay for it and low prices for cattle and milk.

of Canadian railway building. But they were passing storms. While the House waited for the whip round up members who had straggled from the chamber, off-key meditations of old-time songs broke out from different parts of the chamber. At one time, "My Wild Irish Rose" and "Alouette" mingled in wild disharmony.

Conservatives voted to a man against the want-of-confidence motion which would have defeated the government and forced an election. Liberals were just as solid in support and were joined by the following Independents and members of the ginger group: Neil (Comox-Alberni); Spencer (Duke River); Gardiner (Acadia); Mitchell (South-east Grey); Woodsworth (Winnipeg North-centre); Heaps (Winnipeg North); MacTavish (Vancouver South); Garfield (Bow River); Lucas (Carleton Place); Hamilton East); and Luchkovitch (Vegreville).

being done by several organizations, which could not be done by any government, nearly so efficiently and economically as it is being done now, and classed the Tourist Association in this category. "Certainly," said the Premier, "I am with you very wholeheartedly in your effort to foster and encourage such valuable industry as the tourist traffic."

Dr. MacMillan assured the Association that he was making a very special effort to have the ferry charge on automobiles permanently reduced to such a rate as would encourage the passing of tourists to and from the province more freely, as well as to stimulate the week-end visits of Maritime car owners.

At the conclusion of the Premier's remarks which were received with pleasure and appreciation, Mr. S. A. MacLeod, acting chairman of the finance committee, in the unavoidable absence of Mr. A. L. Wright, allocated the various districts of the city to the teams designated, and spoke with enthusiasm of the need of a vigorous and concentrated effort to increase the influx of visitors to this province by systematic advertising. The drive teams will meet this evening to present reports.

For the week ending February 1, the total amount of hogs graded in Canada was 67,443 making 311,300 in all for the first five weeks of this year.
