CHURCH PARADES. — Hundreds watched with interest the church parades of the Boy Scouts, the Light Horse and No. 8 Signal Company yesterday morning to the various churches. As usual, the Light Horse parade was particularly interesting and drew large crowds. The marching of the other units was admirable and the parades were fully up to the creditable standard hitherto maintained.

WEDDING BELLS. —St. Elizabeth's Church, Springfield was the scene of a pretty wedding on Monday, June 18th, when Agnes Louise Haslam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Thomas Haslam and Lieut. Robert E. Howard of Springfield were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. D. Raymond of St. Paul's Church, Charlottetown. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion by friends of the bride who was becomingly attired in a suit of navy blue tricotine and black picture hat and carried a bouquet of carnations. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of the Bridal Chimes from Lohengrin. During the signing of the register a solo was effectively sung by Miss Howard. The happy couple left the church to the music of Mendelssohn's wedding march and after their friends motored to Charlottetown.

TWO MEN INJURED AND FIVE ARRESTED

SYDNEY, N. S., July 1.—Mike Koval, a Russian, one of the raiders of the British Empire Steel Corporation plant, here, was struck over the head and at an early hour this morning was still unconscious and in a critical condition. Five young men, names Goss, English, Bokey, Pike and MacDonald were under arrest as a result of the disturbances, and John Macaulay, foreman of the blast furnace department, was suffering from a severe mauling.

Following the big raid last night at about eight thirty o'clock, the raiders were driven out of the steel plant. About 10.15 forty men made their way through No. 1 gate into the mills. They were met by a party of workmen who continued working and during a melee which followed Koval was struck over the head. Macaulay was hurt in the same mix up. Later fifty more men made their way in but were driven out. Five of the party were arrested.

This disturbances appeared to be over at two-thirty this morning, except that some men were gathering at a railway crossing and it was thought that the troop train from Halifax, which was expected shortly, might be greeted with a shower of stones.

Good Samaritan of the Seas

(By Dominion News Service.)

LONDON, June 29—The Cunard liner Ausonia has arrived at Plymouth after a voyage which had been unusually protracted through the prevalence of ice and fog in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the Straits of Belle Isle. During her trip, however, the vessel twice played the part of Good Samaritan.

The Ausonia left Montreal late last month and Quebec the same day. Full-speed was never possible owing to atmospheric conditions, and one day the daily run dropped to 128 miles to the presence of ice-floes and icebergs.

Two days out, a small motor boat came alongside the Ausonia. She belonged to the Grace and Ruby, a gasoline schooner of Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, which had been caught in an icedrift and both propellers had been carried away. The vessel had been at sea since early in February, and the result was that her crew of ten had exhausted their provisions.

For the last month they had been living on water and flour. Untiept and practically famished the sailors were in a terrible condition when the well-supplied larders of the Ausonia provided for their wants. Coal, tobacco, meat, and bread were among the articles that the Cunarder sent away to the rejoicing Nova Scotia men.

Five days later a wirless call came from the Canadian Victor reporting the illness of Captain Beith. After steaming nearly 100 miles out of her course, the Ausonia fell in with the Canadian Victor. Dr. Chadwick had been left as more ill at Montreal, and his place was taken by Dr. O. J. Gardner of Montreal. He went away in a lifeboat to the Canadian Victor diagnosed the trouble as appendicitis and had Captain Beith transferred to the Ausonia. In the operating theatre he performed the operation which probably saved the captain's life, Dr. S. W. Williamson, formerly port health officer at Yarmouth, Nova Scotia who was a passenger, administering the anaesthetic.

The operation was a great success, and Captain Beith was landed at Plymouth for treatment in a hospital. His recovery is assured by the doctors, although delay in operation, they stated, would have been fatal.

KENSINGTON SCHOOL MEETING

The annual meeting of Kensington School District, was well attended and keen and practical interest was manifested. Dr. A. A. Lockhart was elected chairman and mentioned with experienced ability. Mr. J. F. Profitt read a letter from the Chief Superintendent of Education concerning the many appointments that should be provided for every adequately furnished school. This salutary note showed the influence that well-proportioned equipment invariably yields over the development of young and plastic minds. It should here it must be pointed out that under existing conditions it is practically impossible to develop the intellect without, at the same time, developing the will. The same intellectual essence is exercised, although through different faculties. But back to the starting point.

After the matter referred to in the noted communication, the meeting approached routine business. The secretary, Mr. A. L. Rogers, reported the receipts, $1829.33. This was shown to have been judiciously expended.

Some criticism was advanced on account of uncollected taxes. The report was unanimously adopted. It was also the report of the auditor, Mr. J. A. Ready.

In voting supplies, the following sums were placed at the disposal of the Trustees:—

Supplements:—
Principal	$250.00
Vice Principal	150.00
1st Assistant	125.00
2nd Assistant	125.00
Primary Dept.	100.00
Ordinary expenses	800.00
School Fair	25.00

The disposition of prizes will be under the jurisdiction of the Trustees.

The Trustees were advised to collect all arrears.

A report of the Red Cross was read that dealt with conditions inside and out, which will receive the deserved attention.

Dr. Gillis submitted a report of medical inspection that should make parents realize that health is a necessity to education. The new Trustee elected was Mr. J. F. Profitt. No change was expected in vacation.

The Commencement Exercises to commemorate the closing will be held in the Strand Theatre on Thursday, July 28, and the indications point to this event as promising one of the most comprehensive for which Kensington District has long been famous. The salutory discipline which the pupils have enjoyed during the past year will be nicely displayed and the bountious store of knowledge that they have nicely developed will be convincingly displayed.

All persons interested in education, and who are not? should be present and lend their support to this exposition of moral, mental, and physical trajning. Here it is that the result of years of educational development may be impartially seen and judged; here it is where encouragement may be given to teachers and pupils, and here it is, also, where you may show, if you are so endowed, how much more you are able to do in teaching the coming youth than are those teachers that have to tolerate so much unappreciated criticism. Do not be content to waste your superior intellectual attirements over the line fence, in the artisan's shop, on the merchant's counter, or in groups at the crossings; but go direct to the examination, watch the proceedings, and if your children do not officiate as admirably as you could wish, just take a part in the examination and show the teachers how simple it is to make pupils men of mediocre perception, master obstruse problems. France Will Hold Ruhr At All Costs

(Special to the Guardian)

PARIS June 30.—Enthusiasm such as it seldom witnessed in the Senate was aroused by Premier Poincare today when, at the end of a stirring speech asking the upper house to vote credits necessary for the Ruhr occupation, he informed the "temperal and spiritual powers" that although France had been loath to have recourse to force "now that measures of coercion have been instituted they will be continued until Germany surrenders" The members of the august assembly arose, cheered loud and long and then voted the credits for three hundred and seven million francs, without a single dissenting voice.

With much emotion the Premier preferred to German's financial situation as becoming more grave daily. He said: "The Reichs is turning in a most frightful vicious circle without making any attempt to emerge, She is banking upon a miracle to save her from actual ruin, but miracles are rare, not a single day passes but Germany's industrials are attempting to meet our own business men or politicians. I am invariably informed of these moves, we shall walk into no more traps. "At times Germany is hoping for allied interference. When she counts on France's discouragement and lassitude, she is making a grave mistake, we have announced our essentian demands; we will not modify them in the slightest. "We don't want to confiscate the Ruhr, we will hold it only so long as Germany does not pay her debt. We have no thought of annexation; we scorn accusations of imperialism."

Fight With a Swan

(By Dominion News Service)

LONDON, June 30.—Any Canadian who has gone "up the river" for a pleasant holiday will remember the swans at Windsor,, and they will also remember how tame and friendly are these swans, how they swim after the punts and canoes accept tit-bits at luncheon time. But there is one swan at Windsor, the oldest swan on the river—it is known to be well over a hundred—which in its old age has evidently become poogish.

Frank Sharratt of the Kings Arms Hotel, Windsor, can vouch for the fact that while the graceful old fown has white feathers it has a black heart. Mr. Sharratt early the other mornng went for his daily plunge. He was hardly in the river when this elderly swan made straight for him with outstretched wings. Exerting himself to the utmost the bather made for the opposite bank and managed to scramble ashore before the swan could reach him. When he reached the bank he realised that his clothes were on the other side and the swan was floating on the surface watching him with a malevolent eye. He waited half an hour shivering, for the morning air is cold, and he had only intended to plunge in and rush back for breakfast. He decided to chance it and started across the river. The bird drove him back. He watched and tried again with the same result. Finally taking a deep breth he dived from the bank, swam as far as possible under water, and rose to the surface. The swan spotted him and started in pursuit, Mr. Sharratt almost reached his objective when the swan was after him and only the united effort of watchers on the bank who threw stones and beat the water prevented an attack.

Mr. Sharatt attributes the hostility of the swan to the fact that a few days ago he saved another swan from this elderly bird's furious hostility.
