St. Peters Cathedral Choir Dinner Held

On Wednesday evening twenty-five members of St. Peters Cathedral choir along with Rev. Canon and Mrs. Malone, Rev. F. D. and Mrs. Henderson, as guests, sat down to dinner at the Charlottetown Hotel.

This entertainment of the choir was made possible by the kind gift of $25.00 from a friend, who had listened appreciatively to some of the radio broadcasts from the Cathedral.

At the end of the meal the members of the choir presented Mr. Walter MacNutt, the organist, with a travelling bag and fountain pen in grateful appreciation of the services which he had rendered to them and to St. Peters Cathedral.

The presentation was made by Canon Malone, who said that they sincerely regretted the fact that Mr. MacNutt was soon to leave them and that they were deeply sensible of all that he had done, to improve the music at St. Peter's during his tenure of office. At the same time they felt that Mr. MacNutt could not be expected to refuse the offer of the post of organist and choir master at a much larger church in Winnipeg where there would be greater scope for his musical talent.

Mr. MacNutt made a very graceful reply and thanked the choir for their kind gifts. He told them of his love for St. Peter's Cathedral and for the services he had always enjoyed there.

After dinner all adjourned to the lounge, where Mr. MacNutt kindly entertained the company by playing several pieces on the piano, which were greatly enjoyed.

Mr. MacNutt expects to leave for Winnipeg soon after the middle of this month. Not only the good wishes of members of St. Peter's, but of all lovers of good music go with him.

Coldwell Asks Positive Action By Conference

TORONTO, May 2—To ensure some "positive conclusions" from the Dominion-Provincial Conference, the Dominion Government should arrange agreements on the basis of present negotiations with seven of the nine Provinces represented at Ottawa, M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the C. C. F., tonight said in an address prepared for delivery at Massey Hall.

He said he saw in the refusal of Premier Drew of Ontario and Premier Duplessis of Quebec to accept the Dominion proposals "a current example of national disunity and sectional selfishness." The two Premiers, he said, insisted on guarding the rights of Ontario and Quebec as large industrial Provinces "at the expense of the rest of Canada" and he hoped they would change their attitude.

"Up to the present, however, Mr. Drew apparently does not wish to recognize that the basic wealth of Canada belongs to all our citizens. Ontario and Quebec depend for their economic prosperity on the efforts and activities of all Canadians."

Solution of current difficulties would offer the promise of the greatest era of peace and prosperity the world ever had known. Recent scientific developments offered unlimited material possibilities. Now Canadians had to plan decisively and intelligently for justice and security.

"The two basic producing sections of our country—labor and farmer—are faced with problems and difficulties which in themselves constitute a menace to the economic health and welfare of all Canadians."

Nearly 300,000 unemployed walked the streets. Canada needed 700,000 houses to meet its basic requirements. At a recent meeting between Prime Minister Mackenzie King and his Cabinet and representatives of the Canadian Congress of Labor, the Prime Minister and the Cabinet "walked out on delegates representing some 300,000 Canadian workers and their families."

Mr. Coldwell said the present pattern of economic events in Canada would lead only to bitterness and insecurity.

"It strikes a fundamental blow at the principle of price controls designed to curb inflation. It impoverishes the workers and farmers and strengthens big business."

Financial Review Of Red Cross Activities

TORONTO, May 2—1945 represented a record financial year for the Canadian Red Cross with receipts from all sources totalling $31,577,127 against overall expenditures of $26,355,271.

In a financial review of the Society's activities during the full war period, Mr. L. A. Winter, Honorary Comptroller, told the annual meeting of the central Council of the Canadian Red Cross in session here this week that, as compared with Red Cross receipts in World War I of some $30,000,000, receipts during the World War II totalled $121,091,425 from every source, and that expenditures during these years amounted to $104,331,105, leaving a balance of $16,760,320 to be budgeted for relief in Britain, Europe, China and other Red Cross work in the critical postwar period ahead.

"The largest single expenditure was $47,529,114 for assistance to prisoners of war, Canadian, British, Allied," said Mr. Winter, "and included the packing of $16,310,592 food parcels, but two-thirds of this cost was reimbursed the Society by the British and Australian Red Cross and the Allied nations for whom this work was undertaken."

Hospital and medical supplies, welfare for the Armed Forces and Merchant Navy, relief for civilian war sufferers, reception and train services for returned men and families, together with purchasing, warehousing and transportation in Canada and overseas, required expenditures of $19,125,852, while the Blood Donor Service through which 2,300,000 donations were received was operated at a cost of $2,463,403.

"Contribution from all sources during the war amounted to $80,647,874. The six National Red Cross War Appeals were not only oversubscribed in every case but the campaign receipts became successively greater as the war progressed, reflecting a rising poll of public opinion towards the work of the Society. This in itself," said Mr. Winter, "representing the opinion of over 2,000,000 contributors, is the finest commendation the Red Cross could receive for the war work accomplished."

TORONTO, May 2—(CP)—Norman C. Urquhart of Toronto today was elected chairman of the central council of the Canadian Red Cross at the closing session of the annual meeting. Arthur L. Bishop of Toronto was named chairman of the national executive meeting.

'A Energy Cure For Goiter Claimed

BOSTON, May 1 — A Harvard medical researcher today claimed the first successful cure of a disease by the application of atomic energy.

Dr. Saul Hertz, a research associate at both Harvard Medical School and Massachusetts Institute of Technology, described his treatment with radio-active iodine therapy of hyper-thyroid—overactive goiter.

Victims of this disease, he said, may be cured by artificial radioactivity at a cost reduced from the present $200 and $300 to $2.50 if the Army releases the necessary elements.

Dr. Hertz, who also is a Navy commander, said his form of internal X-ray treatment was highly successful in curing hyper-thyroid or exopthalmic goiter, commonly called the "pop-eyed" type.

Once the army makes available the radio-active iodine, this new method may eliminate the need for hospitalization or surgery, Dr. Hertz said. Formerly, exopthalmic goiter could only be cured by an operation.

Dr. Hertz explained that when internal beta irradiation is applied to goiter, it kills the overactive cells and leaves only a normal goiter. Other organs of the body are not affected by such treatment, he said.

Sufficient radio-active iodine is present in uranium piles now being operated by the Government to cure all hyperthyroid goiter patients in America, Dr. Hertz said. However, this element has not yet been released by the army.

When released, the radio-active iodine should be put in the hands of a medical committee that would properly evaluate its application and see that it is readily available to the public, Dr. Hertz suggested.

Atomic energy has been applied with some measure of success to leukemia, Dr. Hertz said, but, in all cases, the victims were helped but not cured. In the treatment of hyper-thyroid, however, he said that the internal X-ray treatments given patients in controlled studies over a five-year period had proved a definite cure.

A native of Cleveland, Dr. Hertz was graduated from Harvard Medical School in 1936. He said he first invented the treatment in 1936 after hearing a speech on atomic energy by Karl T. Compton, president of M.I.T.

Jury Selected To Try Schoolboy

NEW YORK, May 2 — (AP) — A jury of 10 men and two women was selected today to try Jack Tuck, 14-year-old schoolboy charged with first degree murder.

Tuck, youngest defendant ever to stand trial for his life in Queens County Court, is accused of strangling three-year-old Sybil Gurfein, with whom he had been left Feb. 23 as a "baby sitter" while her parents were out.

Scruples against the possibility of returning a death penalty for the youth hampered selection of a jury which began Monday. Some 125 prospective jurors were questioned.

Air Cadets Inspected At Victoria Park

Despite the unfavourableness of the weather, the inspection of the Charlottetown Air Cadets was carried out at Victoria Park yesterday evening by Group Captain A. Lewis, R.C.A.F., Dartmouth, formerly officer commanding the air station at Summerside.

Approximately 30 cadets under the command of Flt.-Lt. W.G. Reid and Flt.-Lt. L.G. Doiron, adjutant of the squadron, went through the ceremonial drill before the Summerside officer.

Because of the unusual coldness of the evening, Group Captain Lewis did not keep the boys in the open any longer than was necessary and gave orders for them to march to Prince of Wales College. There he inspected their orderly room and later briefly addressed them. He congratulated the boys on their fine appearance as well as on their marching ability.

Within the next few weeks, all the Air Cadet squadrons in the Maritimes will undergo such inspections by high-ranking R.C.A.F. officers. It is no military secret that, closely connected with the building of the new post-war R.C.A.F., the basic training of the Air Cadet squadrons is regarded as highly important by the R.C.A.F. itself. The forthcoming inspections as the one at Victoria Park last evening, will include review of the squadrons on parade, a close examination of training facilities in various groundcrew trades, administration of the units, and the operation of orderly rooms. Such inspections will also give senior R.C.A.F. officers the opportunity to survey training equipment requirements of the squadrons as a basis for any necessary recommendations for future training progress.

Break Up More

The Ontario formula suggested that the annual rental to be paid by the Dominion Government to each Province would be $12 multiplied by the gross national production per capita for the year before the payment, divided by the gross national production per capita for 1941, multiplied by the population of the province for the year preceding the rental payment.

Premier Duplessis, the only one who stated flatly that he could not accept the Federal proposals in their present form, said he would remain in Ottawa until tomorrow to see what developed after overnight study of the Ontario proposals.

Mr. Drew advocated an overnight examination of the Ontario proposals and he hoped the Dominion would take into account similar negotiations just concluded between the Australian Government and the states of that Commonwealth by which the States were paid 18.5 per cent in compensation for relinquishing taxation fields.

Mr. Claxton, chairman of the economic committee of the conference said in any comparison of the Australian situation members should take into account that the States had depended to a large measure on income taxes for their revenues whereas the Commonwealth collected on real estate—a situation which did not hold in Canada.

He thought that in comparison with the Australian Commonwealth proposals, the proposals of the Dominion Government here were reasonable.

Justice Minister St. Laurent said earlier that if agreement required the Federal Government to make commitments greater than those it already had offered to make, it felt it would be better off with no agreement at all.

He said the Dominion proposals were rigid only as regards the amount of money which should be turned over to the Provinces.

Premier Duplessis reiterated he felt the Federal proposals as they stood would lead to legislative union, something to which Quebec was strongly opposed. He was prepared to go home and wait until the Dominion was ready to put forward offers that were in accordance with the constitution.

Mr. Hart, in moving that the discussions be resumed in private, said he felt more progress could be made in that way than at the formal public sessions.

Opposes Closed Sessions

Mr. Duplessis said he was opposed to closed sessions, because when the co-ordinating committee met in camera, rumors spread in the press and radio were not based on fact.

Mr. Drew said he would agree to private sittings only when basic principles had been agreed upon and all that remained to be done was the working out of details.

Premier Macdonald of Nova Scotia said more progress could be made at the informal private meetings, but he suggested that more detailed reports of the in camera discussions be released to the press than had been the case in the past.

Premier McNair of New Brunswick said the Dominion representatives were faced with a problem as great as that when they undertook the wide wartime taxation powers and urged that they "become arbitrists" in meeting it.

The Federal Government had all the powers necessary to meet a situation as grave as that which followed break-up of the last Dominion - Provincial Conference early in the war. He said it was disappointing that the Governments of the country had been unable to weigh the needs of the people from coast-to-coast on the basis of a common denominator.

Premier Jones of Prince Edward Island seconded Mr. Hart's motion for secret sittings, but did not press the issue.

FIRE NEAR BEDFORD BASIN

HALIFAX, May 2 — (CP) —A brush fire which swept over 50 acres of barren land near the Bedford Basin navy magazine today started anxious citizens flooding newspaper office switchboards with calls. From the city, the smoke from the fire appeared to be rising from the magazine where blasts last July caused more than $1,000,000 damage in Halifax.

Naval fire-fighters, called out from the magazine and the dockyard here, soon had the blaze under control.

Prices For New Potatoes Announced

OTTAWA, May 2 — (CP) — Maximum 1946 price for new potatoes, imported and domestic, were announced by the Prices Board today. The announcement said practically no change from 1945 prices will result, with increases varying from a quarter cent to a half cent a pound expected in the Prairie Provinces, the Maritimes, Northern Ontario and Northern Quebec.

Maximum prices at the basing points—Harrow, Ont., and Vancouver—are the same as for last season. The maximum allowance of 40 cents a hundredweight for transportation from basing points has been eliminated, however, and this year's price throughout Canada will be the schedule price at the basing point, plus transportation costs to distributing centres from the closest point.

Imports from the United States are under specific import permit, subject to approval by the Wartime Food Corporation, and this approval will be limited "for the present" to those areas having insufficient supplies of 1945 production to take care of consumer needs, the Board stated.

Present indications point to a heavy crop in the United States and it is anticipated there will be ample supplies available at prices which will permit distribution in Canada at ceiling prices until domestic production is sufficient to take care of requirements.

Canadian Army To Use 23,903 Vehicles

OTTAWA, May 2 — (CP) — The post-war army will use 23,903 vehicles of all kinds, compared with 401 which it operated before 1939, the Commons war expenditures committee was told today.

Col. W.G. Denney, director of ordnance services (provisions) in the branch of the master-general of ordnance, also told the committee that 4,104 army vehicles of all types, originally costing $10,041,774 had been declared surplus, turned over to the War Assets Corporation and put up for sale on the spot last April 30.

All these vehicles are in ordnance compounds in Ontario, Quebec, and the Maritimes. No army surpluses have yet been declared in Western Canada as officials still are assessing holdings there. This report is expected in three weeks.

The army had 30,459 vehicles on hand at April 30, will dispose of many to War Assets Corporation and will buy some new ones to make up for the post-war total, Col. Denney said.

Weekly Live Stock Market Review

SUMMARY

Marketings of cattle were extremely light in the past week and prices for the most part about steady. Smaller buyers took the bulk of the offering. Calves dropped $1.00 at Toronto, were steady elsewhere; hogs were a shade higher in the east and steady in western Canada; and lambs showed little change except for a drop of 50 cents at Toronto.

Deliveries of cattle to stock yards and packing plants for the week, at 17500 head compared with 28,700 in the same week a year ago and 26,000 in the previous week this year. Marketings to date this year are 503,000 compared with 541,000 in the same period last year. Calf marketings since January 1st are 211,700 compared with 235,900 in the corresponding period a year ago, and sheep and lamb sales for the year to date totalled 197,500 as against 170,700 last year. Hog gradings in the week ended April 20 totalled 97,907 compared with 134,561 a year ago. Gradings since January 1st amount to 1,613,116 and in the same period last year were 2,289,245.

Eastern Cattle Markets

Cattle prices at TORONTO were about steady with the previous week's close on a very light run. The supply was mostly taken to small lots by the smaller butchers. Some weighty steers sold at $1.50 to $12.85, a few at $13, butcher steers at $11 to $12.25, and some good feeders up to $12. Receipts at MONTREAL were also light and trading rather slow. Good steers were placed at $12.25 to $13, good cows at $9.25 to $10, with a few a shade higher. In the MARITIMES choice steers and heifers were quoted up to $10.60 and commercial grades around $9.70 f.o.b. country points.

Western Cattle Markets

Deliveries of cattle to WINNIPEG were curtailed this week and receipts were well cleaned up at firm bids, principally to local butchrs and order buyers. Some of the better grades of slaughter steers were taken at $12.25 to $12.50, others from $12 down, while trade on replacement cattle was firm, with fleshy feeders around $11. Light receipts were experienced at all other western markets but there was little or no change in the price structure. CALGARY reported good to choice butcher steers at $11.50 to $12.25; EDMONTON a practical top of $12 with a handful up to $12.50; PRINCE ALBERT up to $11.35; MOOSE JAW $11.50; SASKATOON $12.50 for a car of well finished handyweights, with others $11.50 to $12; REGINA a top of $12.25.

Exports to United States

Dairy cattle shipments to the United States for the week were 1,413 head, making the total to date this year 14,797. Corresponding figures for last year are 1,336 and 10,104 respectively.

Calves Lower at Toronto

A drop of $1.00 occurred in the Toronto calf market and supplies were cleared with best vealers at $14.50 to $16. Elsewhere there was little change in the price situation, Montreal paying $14.50 to $15 for best quality, Winnipeg $13 to $14.50, Calgary up to $13, Edmonton $12 to $13, Prince Albert $12 to $13, Moose Jaw $11.50 to $12, Saskatoon $13 to $13.50, and Regina up to $14.

LONG ITCHINGTON, Warwick, England — (CP) — Miss Frances Witherington, 50 years an organist, stipulated there be no music at her funeral.

Toronto Anglican Church First To Attain Objective

TORONTO, May 2—Mr. M. J. Mahaffy, Anglican Advance Appeal Campaign Chairman for St. Mary's Church, Parkdale, Toronto, announced today that his church obtained $10,600 against its objective of $5,510, and that contributions are still coming in. "This is not a wealthy parish," said Mr. Mahaffy, "in fact, the money was received largely in small donations." The Minister, Rev. W. B. Jennings, was in the church from 6:30 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. to receive donations and reported that one girl working as a domestic gave $30.00 and several charwomen gave $30.00 a piece. "I am overwhelmed by this most gratifying and sacrificing response to the appeal," said Rev. Jennings. "The returns from the Sunday School and Young People were amazing. School children brought their War Savings stamps and pledged their War Savings certificates. One little girl from the Sunday School brought her total savings of 14 cents. It is indeed heart-warming for the Minister to have a part in such a thank-offering for blessings received."

ALUMINUM LIKE BREAD ON WATER

Remember those aluminum pots and pans you sacrificed in the early days of the war effort? Like the proverbial bread cast on the waters, they've returned, not buttered but gilded in some cases—and in dozens of news forms and adaptations not dreamed of before aluminum was drafted for war purposes.

Products of thirty-seven national manufacturers are being shown in the big exhibit called "Aluminum Living" which is being shown in various stores throughout the country. Of widest popular interest for home use are the aluminum clothes hamper, a lightweight folding clothes dryer, the most practical clothes pins yet devised and costing around 50 cents a dozen, an electric heater of glass and aluminum designed to stand flat and inconspicuous against a wall.

Of special interest to the new bride are the pressure cookers, Dutch ovens, electric table broiler, electric percolators and an array of pots and pans in innumerable sizes, inexpensive griddles and meat grinders.

DECORATIVE TABLEWARE

Decorative tableware for buffet suppers and other informal entertaining turns up in the shape of gleaming ice buckets with plastic handles, fruit bowls, sandwich and hors d'oeuvres trays, costers and ash trays in the new golden finish.

The prospective home-builder and the man of the family will be interested in the architectural uses of this adaptable material. Sheets of aluminum foil are used as insulating material, a modern house can have a spiral staircase, grill work or window blinds if the home architect is avid for the newest in modern.

Sports enthusiasts get a break too. Youngsters and sailboats addicts will be able, this summer, to skim over vacation waters in lightweight, nonwarpable sailboats which require little or no upkeep. The golfer will be seen trundling his aluminum, rubber tired "golf-boy" holding all his clubs, over the country greens, and fishermen will have less weight to carry if tackle and bait boxes, reel, rod and carriers are made of this newly-returned, light-as-a-feather spun aluminum.
