City Market Prices Quoted

Prices were slightly lower at the City Market yesterday and business was reported as "just fair." Shoppers saw the last of the season's tomatoes, Swiss chard and broccoli. Eggs were said to be very plentiful and the price remained steady.

A feature of yesterday's market was the arrival of basket-makers and their wares from Cape Breton. All shapes and sizes and colours, these sturdy baskets were made of sweet-smelling split birch and poplar. There were small sewing and wall baskets, a wide variety of shopping baskets and one handsome, large clothes basket that would hold anybody's baby.

One of the usual attractions of the market is Mrs. MacGregor's stand, which she shares with Mrs. Prowse. Stacked with home cooking of all kinds, it is a riot of colour and toothsome dainties. Cakes and cookies, multi-coloured jellies and jams invite the shrewd shopper to take them home, as indeed a great many do. Punch work cushion covers and coloured sheepskin articles are increasing with the season.

Prices included: Butter, 74c; cream, quart, 70c; eggs, grade A large, 65-68c; pullets, 55c; chicken, 50c; Swiss Chard, 12c; broccoli, 25; tomatoes, 18c; cranberries, 28c; peppers, 5c; potatoes, 40c peck and $1.35 a bag; cabbage, 3c; carrots, 4c; parsnips, 6c; turnips, 2c; pumpkin, 5c; squash, 7c; vegetable marrow, 3c; grapes, 2 lbs. 29c; mushrooms, 39c; lemons, 55c doz.; grape fruit, 3 for 25c.

Fish and meat prices remained unaltered.

Card Of Thanks

Mrs. J. A. MacDonald and family of Cardigan wish to thank all those who sent so many kind expressions of sympathy in their recent sad bereavement.

FARM PRICES

that have prevailed for years. Poultry producers are advised to carefully fatten or finish their product for market and take advantage of the present excellent health condition and demand. Dealers are quoting producers for dressed chicken basis rail grading over 5 pounds:

'A' milkfed 46, 'B's' 42, fowl over 5 pounds 'A' 32, 'B' 30.

Live chicken 6 pounds and up: No. 1's 35, No. 2's 22.

For fowl 5½ pounds and up: No. 1 27, No. 2 18.

Attention is drawn to the wide difference in prices between No. 2's and No. 1's which is another strong argument in favour of proper fleshing and finishing.

The market on turkeys is not yet opened and steadied for the Fall season but prices at present remain about the same as last week's quotations. At O'Leary and Alberton the prices are 50c dressed for hens, young toms 47c. Live prices 43c for toms and 45c for hens.

Egg Prices Steady

Canadian consumption of eggs is roughly 60,000 to 70,000 cases per week. Production has not reached these figures therefore producers can look forward to steady prices for the time being. When Canadian production is greater than 70,000 cases per week a surplus is created, and so, must be exported. The price the producer will receive at this time will depend on the ability of the trade to market the product satisfactorily. Producers are assured of a fair market for surplus eggs through the British contract up to January 21st, 1949.

Dairy Situation

The latest information about the importation of Danish butter came to the office of the Dairy Superintendent during the past week. Answering a letter of inquiry to the War-Time Prices and Trade Board, Ottawa, the following information was received:

The butter imported so far has been landed at the Port of Montreal: There have been four carloads up to the present time landed at that port. The only reason for having the foreign butter landed at Halifax or Saint John from this date on, is due to the closing of navigation on the St. Lawrence in the very near future. The butter that would be landed at Halifax is for distribution in Central Canada.

This foreign butter has been brought in by the Canadian Commercial Corporation and is being sold to the trade at the wholesale ceiling price including a 25c per cwt. brokerage charge. In other words the wholesalers' and retailers' spread on the imported butter is exactly the same as it is for the Canadian butter entering the trade at the maximum price.

The policy of distribution has been operated on a basis that will not permit the Maritime wholesalers or retailers to get more than their minimum requirements of the imported butter. This policy is absolutely rigid, not only from the standpoint of protecting the Maritime butter producers but also from the standpoint of assuring equitable distribution of the nominal supplies that are available in a deficient market. At present the overall butter supply picture is not sufficient to meet our requirements in the not too distant future. It is felt that the importation of foreign butter will not jeopardize the home market in any way. All manufacturers and salesmen of butter can readily see, therefore, that no reason exists or will exist, for a lowering in price, or a decrease in demand, due to the importation of this foreign butter.

Very few triplet cheese are available on the Island today. The marketing is almost completed with general satisfactory returns to producers. The present price of cheese f.o.b. factory is 37c. Inquiries for cheese are coming to the Department quite frequently but only a few boxes of twin cheese are available.

Produce Report

Tablestock potatoes are pretty slow although there are some still moving at different points. Prices around Charlottetown are 70c per bag delivered car. Morell 55c per bushel to the farmer. Market very slow. Vernon River 68c per bag at farm. Borden Line from Emerald to Carleton 65c per bag at the barn. Summerside 65c at the barn and 70c delivered. All markets very slow. There is quite a bit of seed moving both by boat and rail. Starting at the east end, Elmira and Souris, Katahdin and Cobbler seed are 75c per bushel at car. The same at Morell and St. Peter's. Montague, Cardigan and Vernon River the price is 80c for seed and 85c for "Foundation A" at car. Market easy. Charlottetown 80c-85c per bushel delivered at the waterfront. Borden Line $1.00 for 75 pound bags at the farm. Summerside still holding at 75c-80c per bushel.

At Alberton and O'Leary "Foundation Mountains" are bringing 95c per bushel at the car. "Foundation A" 80c at the car and "Certified" 75c. The potato market all over is pretty slow and it is expected that the 2¼ million bushel American quota will be filled much earlier this year.

Very few turnips were shipped from the Province last week. There are a few moving from the Charlottetown area at 28c-30c delivered at the car. They are about the same price at Milton, Colville and Wiltshire, and persist in being 4c-5c lower in the Vernon area. However, reports from the American markets indicate that Island turnips are selling there from 85c-$1.05 per bushel. It costs approximately 53c per bag to put them on the Boston or New York market, not considering handling expenses. The bag costs about 16c, freight 31c, and duty about 6c per bushel. This does not leave much margin but a little swing upward over the past couple of weeks in the Eastern States may indicate a better market shortly.

Newfoundland Market

The Newfoundland market will wind up this report. The quantity of potatoes leaving each week to Newfoundland is about the same and prices hold steady. There is a lot of hay moving at $18-$19 per ton at the boat. An increased movement in beef cattle was noticed during the past week with the price fairly keen and standing around 17c-18c to the farmer for well finished animals for Newfoundland.

The egg market is keen with very few offering. Beets, carrots, parsnips, and all kinds of vegetables are moving in small quantities. This is another instance where dealers have bid each other down until the price to the producer for those vegetables is so low that it hardly pays to bother with them. There is a good outlet in Newfoundland for our vegetables if there was some control in the marketing.

A boat from Newfoundland is due in Summerside next Friday, Dec. 3rd. She will be loading a general cargo for St. John's. Two boats are also expected in Charlottetown next week to load for Newfoundland.

There has been an upward swing in sucker pigs. Real good type porkers, 30 pounds and over, are bringing from $23-$25 per pair with a good demand.

MUST CANCEL

Halifax or Saint John. The rail shipments will be necessitated because after Jan. 1 the port of Charlottetown, by reason of ice, will no longer be available. Moreover, Mr. Willis said, the regulations make no provision for the farmers' small potatoes and there is a good demand in Virginia for No. 1 Small. In fact, he had an order for 11,000 bushels of No. 1 Small ready to be shipped now.

Mr. Willis said that on the basis of $1.15 per 100 pounds "in the bin", the farmer would be getting 60 cents per bushel whereas he was now getting 75 cents.

the Hon. W.F.A Stewart, Minister of Agriculture, Messrs W.R. Shaw, Deputy-Minister of Agriculture; Chester Shaw, seed inspection officer, Dominion Department of Agriculture; E.D. Reid, manager of the P.E. Island Potato Growers' Association; and George Thompson, of Associated Shippers.

Predicts Good Price

Col. Full said he had assurance from Mr. Taggart that all potatoes held by Island farmers after April 1 next, would be paid for at a price which would not be below $1.15 per 100 pound bag. It was his opinion that only a small quantity of potatoes would be available for export in this Province after April 1, next, and that the farmers "would receive a good price for them."

Asked about the various dates which were set for shipments to the different States, Col. Full said those dates were specified by Washington and that Ottawa had nothing to do with their selection. He added that, for every bushel of seed Washington allows in under the new regulations, the American Government will have to take a bushel off their own market from the American grower.

The regulations will mean, Col. Full said, that (1) Island growers will be able to hold their seed markets in the United States; (2) that the American buyer will be able to get all the Canadian seed he requires; (3) that no Island seed will be sold for table stock.

N. B. GROWERS

ly started. Mr. Hatfield said the cost of having the sprouts removed added considerably to the cost of production. Mr. Hatfield, prominent in the potato business, said he did not see how the support program would help New Brunswick or Prince Edward Island potato growers.

Senator F.W. Pirie, Grand Falls, one of the largest shippers in the Province, said the scarcity of American dollars had led to a reduction in imports of New Brunswick potatoes to South American countries especially Argentina, and had thus left a surplus in the Province.

Senator Pirie said many of the potatoes being shipped to the United States as certified seed were being disposed of on the U. S. market as table potatoes, at prices under the American support price, and he thought this led to the embargo on Canadian tablestock exports to the U. S. after Dec. 1.

A bumper crop of potatoes in Europe this season had eliminated that market for New Brunswick potatoes, Senator Pirie said, and a surplus of potatoes in both Canada and the United States had kept the price down. He said he had anticipated an embargo on tablestock potato shipments to the U. S. and was unable to see why the United States Government had not taken steps to stop Canadian potato imports before.

A meeting of potato growers was held in Saint John today but comment on the discussions was withheld tonight.

ENTHUSED

through air and water transportation. He pointed out that many Canadian eggs were already moving to the West Indies, Bermuda, Venezula, Columbia and Panama and felt that Prince Edward Island should take steps to develop a market for herself in these countries. A new development, eviserated (cut-up) poultry, ready to cook and wrapped in cellophane, is sweeping city markets throughout Canada and a carload was recently shipped to Switzerland from Montreal.

But to be able to take advantage of these potential markets, Mr. Brown stressed his earlier assertions that "early chicks and fall and winter eggs are the best money-makers for the poultryman." The peak of egg production must be arranged for the period of September-January, if these new markets are to be captured and developed. "At present the peak of Island production is in May."

Dwelling on the high grade and reputation of Canadian eggs Mr. Brown declared that "this fall the premium on Grade A eggs reached an all-time high on the Canadian market." He recounted that two representatives from Denmark were presently in Canada to find out the reason for the high reputation which Canadian storage eggs gained in England. Last year the Australians were over on the same mission, while representatives from Eire are expected soon as that country is making a special poultry effort.

"Although the oil process in the storage technique is first class," said Mr. Brown, "the real reason is the high quality of the eggs. The policy of developing the registered grading stations and returning the premium—by law—back to the producer is now beginning to pay off."

"When the real competition comes in the world markets, Canada is not aware just how well prepared she is to meet it," continued the poultryman. "Registered grading stations will then show their worth. The basic rule is that consumer preference working through the medium of uniform standards, is the true guide to profitable production."

The WEEK at S.D.U.

The Second Saints finally brought the football season to a dramatic close with their thrilling 5-0 victory over P.W.C. This was the second straight year for the Saints to capture the Intermediate Intercollegiate title. It was the fifth game in what was supposed to be a best-of-three series. There were two tie games, and each team won one.

Joe Malette was the hero of the day as he gathered in a punt on the P.W.C. 35-yard line, moved fast to his right and upfield, threw three men out of position with a beautiful fake pass, cut inside them, and ran right over a would-be P.W.C. tackler on the 5 yard line, going from there untouched and planting the ball directly behind the posts. A very shifty runner, Joe had tacklers bouncing off him like raindrops all day as he made many lengthy runs and did some great kicking. Billy Ledwell's convert was a thing of beauty. Although the kick was in front of the post, Bill took no chances and exactly split the uprights. Even Father George with his slide rule couldn't have proved that it was even one degree off centre.

"Spy" Ready made some good plays and got away many good kicks for P.W.C. Once in the closing minutes of the game, "Spy" was almost over as he engineered a play, passing the ball and cutting outside two men to take the ball again, only to be tackled hard by Alfy O'Brien on the Saints two yard line.

This was the best game of the series—some of the earlier games were characterized by loose play. Congratulations to the Saints and to P.W.C!

The fourth game of the series ended in a scoreless tie, as P.W.C and the Saints battled through seventy minutes and then a ten-minute overtime period, in an attempt to break the deadlock. Darkness halted the contest.

While on the subject of football, it might be well to mention that Bob Noble and Jimmy Ayers, popular members of the senior team, have both been released from the hospital, and are back at the books again.

Hockey — The Saints were ignominiously trampled by the Navy last Tuesday night. The score was 8-3. Navy took a big lead in the first period when they scored five goals against the Saint's big zero. The second and third periods were a little closer, as each team scored three goals. Louis Crete, making his first start in the Saints' nets, was little to blame as at no time during the game did he have what could be called good support, and only some very shifty work on his part kept the score from running into double figures.

The Co-eds held a very successful dance at the Holy Name Club last Tuesday night. The proceeds from this dance go into scholarships, not into the co-eds pockets, as some people seem to think.

I tried to reach Jim Trainor, who will be overjoyed to see his name once again in print, for some comment on the dance; but he wasn't to be found. Seems he was over at Marian Hall, or somewhere. Jim, incidentally, is going to write this column one of these weeks, so that he can get a few cracks at "Doc" Sinnott.

LF "Loey" Atkins wishes to announce that he has developed a new sneer called the "pity sneer". He uses this one on basketball teams that are unfortunate enough to defeat the "Unus Team" by less than 50 points.

School Improvement League Meeting

The regular meeting of School Improvement League was held Thursday, Nov. 25th, at the home of Mrs. R. Hurst, with a large number of members present.

The members heard many interesting committee reports. Mrs. Smallman reported for child development. She told of presenting a brief on this subject to the Minister of Health and Helfare. She also expressed the hope that a teacher could be sent to take a course in special therapy.

The high school committee report was given by Mrs. G. MacDonald. She told of a visit to Port Elgin and Moncton vocational schools taken by representatives of the City Council and School Board. All present expressed the hope that this visit would provide added stimulus to acquiring a high school for Charlottetown. Mrs. MacDonald and other League members also told of their visits to Summerside high school, where a home economics course has recently been added.

A comprehensive report of the school visiting committee was given by Mrs. J. A. MacMillan and Mrs. Buntain. They had visited four city schools and had been most kindly received by Principals and teachers. Parkdale school was also visited and elicited very favourable comment from the committee.

Oratorical contests will continue to be sponsored by the School Improvement League this year.

The film committee asked for volunteers to attend and report on movies.

It was decided the next meeting of League will be held in one of the schools.

Mrs. Smallman moved adjournment.

Zaikin, who dined on raw meat was reputed to have been the strongest man in the world. So well known was he throughout Eastern Europe that his name became synonymous with strength.
