RATS SNAPPED OFF IN BLOW

NORTH SYDNEY, June 7—The Boston fishing schooner Massachusetts, Captain Mallock, arrived here this evening in a badly damaged condition, as a result of an accident off Flint Island during a heavy blow this afternoon, when her two masts snapped off below the trucks. When the accident occurred the schooner was on her way to this port, and so sudden was the crash that the crew had barely time to get out of the way of the falling spars and rigging. Besides the snapping off of the two masts, the main boom and gaff were broken, and the mainsail, top sails and all the rigging were torn out of place. The vessel managed to reach the entrance of the harbor unassisted but the tug Iona towed her up the harbor to her moorings. The Massachusetts is one of a fleet of forty seiners following the mackerel schools along the coast, and last night took sixty barrels off Scatterie. Thirty vessels of the fleet put into Louisburg this evening for shelter.

Frank Lugare, a member of the crew of the Gloucester fishing schooner Thomas Cromwell, became violently insane today, when the vessel was leaving port for the fishing grounds and attacked the skipper, Captain Goodwin. Lugare is twenty-four years old and belongs to Eel Harbor Yarmouth county.

He is survived by four sons, four sisters and his mother who have the deepest sympathy of this community in their sad bereavement.

SOLEMN DISSENT OF "OLD GUARD"

Special to The Guardian.
HALIFAX, June 8—The last echoes of yesterday's debate in the General Assembly are heard in the solemn dissent of a large number of Old Guard Presbyterians.

Principal McKay's resolution of dissent has been signed by upwards of fifty of the Assembly delegates.

Thirteen ministers from other denominations have been added to the working force of the Presbyterian church during the year.

McDonald of Toronto, "Good Samaritan" to many an aged and infirm minister, widow and orphan gave a strong report on that subject, showing the importance of keeping the funds in good condition, because sixteen are this year asking to retire and draw therefrom.

Other speakers eloquently appealed for support toward this fund.

CORONER TO INVESTIGATE DEATH OF MRS HOOPER

ST. JOHN, June 7—It was learned tonight that at the post-mortem on the body of Mrs. Emma Hooper, of Watertown, Mass., who died in the Public Hospital here last night, evidence of chloride of mercury was found. As a result, Coroner Berryman has decided to hold an inquest. The body will be taken to Watertown tomorrow morning.

The inquest was found to be necessary owing to the fact that the post-mortem, which was held on the remains of Mrs. Hooper yesterday morning, at the request of her husband, resulted in some startling revelations. The post-mortem was conducted by Dr. Warwick and although neither he nor any of the attending physicians would discuss their examination last evening, it is understood that it resulted in finding evidence of bichloride of mercury, a poison.

Mr. Hooper, the husband of the woman, who was in the city yesterday, left for his home in Watertown (Mass) last evening to look after the funeral arrangements. Mrs. Hooper's sister arrived in the city last evening and this morning will accompany the remains home.

Mrs. Hooper, whose death came in such a strange manner, arrived in the city on Wednesday last and registered at the Dufferin Hotel, under an assumed name. She came here from Prince Edward Island, where she had been visiting her mother, who is ill. On Thursday morning she was found in her room in the hotel apparently in a stupor. Dr. A. F. Emery was summoned and after a brief examination ordered her removal to the hospital. She remained in the stupor up to the time of her death, which occurred Monday evening. Mr. Hooper was terribly affected by his wife's death. He said yesterday that they were all looking forward to her return home, as she had said she would be back in time for her daughter's graduation from school, which was to take place today.

$600 FINE FOR SALOON MAN.

PATTERSON, N. J., June 7—"As long as Arthur Yates has money I will sell him liquor. When he has no money, I will throw him out. If you were a man I would throw you out."

So said James Purdy of Singac to Mrs. Florence Yates a few weeks ago, according to the woman's story. She had called to forbid Purdy selling her husband any more intoxicants. His defiance angered her and she went to see Assistant Prosecutor Ralph Shaw.

An investigation was made, and in court today, Purdy was sentenced to pay a fine of $600, figured as follows: Two years' back license for bottling, $200; two years' back license for inn and tavern, $300; for selling without a license, $100; total, $600.

"And in jail until he pays," curtly said the judge.

TIMES TRIBUTE TO DR. SMITH

Special to The Guardian.
LONDON, June 8—The Times in a three-column article on Goldwin Smith says he was almost unequalled among his contemporaries as a master of English prose.

He was perfectly free from party ties or bias in Canadian politics.

He was the determined foe of political corruption, standing alone in prestige and intimate association with the great literary and political figures of a remarkable period of life in England.

It is reported that the coronation will take place either on June 21 or June 28 of next year.

Premier Asquith has announced that Hon. John Burns' salary is increased to £5,000.

FIRE CAUSES PANIC IN MILITARY SHOOL

NORWALK, Conn., June 7—In the burning of the main building of the Overlook Selleck Military Academy before dawn today a panic seized the students and many of them leaped from the windows. Others turned out in their pajamas, and valiantly fought the flames.

The fire started in the tower in the centre of the main building, a wooden building two hundred feet long by fifty feet wide, and spread to the rear and sides. The students were aroused from their beds and many of them made their escape clad only in their night clothing. Trunks and other belongings were thrown from the windows and several of the students were compelled to jump from windows on the second story, but all escaped injury.

The fire went rapidly into the centre of the old wooden structure, and it was not until the students and firemen had fought for nearly three hours that it was gotten under control. The tower fell in which aided the firemen in reaching the rear and working from both sides, driving the fire before them.

The building was erected twenty-five years ago by Rev. Charles N. Selleck, who died two years ago. It is now owned by the James estate and is fully insured.

A large number of the students are foreigners, and the number was recently added to by the acquisition of twenty-five students from a school in Stamford, which was closed. There was no one in the tower of the building when the fire started, and its cause is not known. The students were taken to Norwalk Hotel after the fire. Most of them lost all their clothing and other personal possessions.

OXFORD HONORS ROOSEVELT

OXFORD, Eng., June 7—Oxford today conferred upon Theodore Roosevelt the honorary degree of doctor of civil law.

wounds found on the body of the deceased, one cut on the left arm and a gaping wound in the chest open an inch, about two inches wide, and had penetrated the chest cavity. The deceased was very weak from loss of blood and his condition was such that it would not permit of an exploration of the depth of the wound. Several arteries were cut.

The deceased had made a statement to him to the effect that he had no relatives in this country. His mother lived in England. He and Hanson had a quarrel in the Joggins several weeks ago.

Hanson was a bad devil, but he did not want him to suffer for anything he had done to him. Drink was at the bottom of it all.

Samuel Ball, Roy McAulay and Charles Noiles were also called as witnesses. All admitted that they were present at the row, but they were drunk and could give no connected story of the tragedy.

Noiles and Ball swore that they did not know Davis was stabbed until Sunday. Chief Carter testified to the arrest of Hanson. He said that Hanson told him he had stabbed Davis and could kill another, even if he had to hang for it.

The enquiry was adjourned this evening and will be resumed tomorrow afternoon.

In the meantime an autopsy will be made to determine the exact depth of the wound. Hanson seems now to realize the extent of his crime and seems to feel his position acutely. H. J. Logan, K. C., is looking after the interest of the crown.

OLEBARS LOSE TO VICTORIAS

The Orlebars met their Waterloo last night at the hands of the Victorias. The game was almost perfect except for a few wild throws, there being no muffs. Both teams grabbed every fly that came within reach.

For the Victorias, special mention might be made of McCormack who played a fine game—batted well and made the best catches of the evening. McLellan at first was also in good trim and when he replaced Milford behind the bat, who was hit by a pitched ball, showed himself to be capable of taking almost any position on the field.

The Orlebars batted well and have a good team, playing splendidly in the field and using good judgment in running bases.

The score up to the sixth inning was 2—2. In the sixth the Vics got two men home and one more in the seventh making a total of five, while the Orlebars got but one more.

MURPHY—HOLYLE'S WEDDING BELLS

The marriage was solemnized this afternoon at the Church of the Redeemer, Toronto, of Miss Athel Hoyles, eldest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. N. W. Hoyles, of that city, to Rev. Thomas William Murphy, rector of St. Paul's church, Charlottetown, P. E. Island. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. H. A. Haslam and Rev. Canon O'Meara. The bride wore a gown of white liberty satin trimmed with Honiton lace, she also wore her mother's wedding veil of Honiton lace and carried white roses and lillies of the valley. The maid of honor, Miss Katherine E. Mudge, of Montreal, was gowned in pink silk mull over pink silk; the bridesmaids, Miss Edith Lockhart Gordon and Miss Iva Murphy, of Hamilton, sister of the bridegroom, were gowned alike in nile green mull over silk. All the bride's attendants wore white mohair hats trimmed with white lilacs and carried bouquets of white lilacs. Little Miss Margaret Haslam, wearing a dainty white muslin frock, acted a flower girl and Master Lin James as page, both carrying flowers before the bride. Dr. Hoyles gave his daughter away, J. Murphy, brother of the bridegroom was best man and the ushers were Rev. Mr. Davis and Rev. Mr. Grobb.—Montreal Herald, June 7.

EAGER TO BUILD TURKEY'S NAVY.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 7—There is considerable speculation here over the resignation of Halil Pasha as the minister of marine. No one has any definite information as to the cause, but it is believed that it has some connection with contracts for the construction of Turkish warships, which, it is alleged, he promised should be placed with British shipbuilding firms.

From all accounts American and German shipbuilding concerns have protested to the council of ministers against the arbitrary award of these contracts to English houses. The ministry has taken these protests into consideration and is now in favor of public bidding for the construction of the ships, the awards to go to the lowest bidder.

THE FUNERAL OF REV. G. R. WHITE

The funeral service in memory of Rev. G. R. White took place in the Baptist church last evening. The body of the church was filled long before the hour appointed for the service, and hundreds passed up the aisles to where, in front of the draped pulpit, the flower-covered casket was placed, in order to take a last look at a face they had known and loved so well. After the service there were many hundreds more who did so, moved by a like sorrowful interest.

The service began with an invocation by Rev. T. F. Fullerton, after which the Hymn, Servant of God, Well Done, was sung. Rev. J. F. Floyd read the Ninetieth Psalm. Prayer was then offered by Rev. E. A. McPhee and Rev. Canon Simpson read from the 15th chapter of 1 Corinthians. The Hymn, Peace, Perfect Peace, was sung.

Rev. Mr. Fullerton in opening his address said that from every point of view but one the occasion was a sad one. He proceeded to give a powerful and lucid expression of the Christian's hope of a life beyond the grave. Many in the congregation were deeply moved when the preacher recalled with emotion and eloquent words the high character and abundant services and worth of the deceased minister. Rev. Mr. Fullerton paid feeling tribute to the noble sincerity, the broad sympathy, the great love, hope and faith of the departed, his high ideals, his undaunted courage in defence of the right, his wisdom as a councillor and his loving zeal in winning souls. He spoke also of the very high and affectionate regard in which the deceased was held by his brother ministers in the Ministerial Association, of which he was President, and by all who knew him. There was none within his knowledge better prepared for the sudden call which had come to him, summoning him to the higher and brighter activities of the life beyond. Very touching were his references to the bereaved wife and near relatives of the deceased.

The Hymn Forever With the Lord was sung at the close of Mr. Fullerton's address, after which he pronounced the Benediction.

At the annual session of the Charlottetown District of the Methodist Church held at North Wiltshire yesterday morning the following resolution was moved by Rev. H. E. Thomas, seconded by Rev. W. E. Johnson and passed unanimously:

"The Charlottetown District of the Methodist Church, met in its annual session, having just received the sad information of the sudden death of Rev. G. R. White, B. A., Baptist Minister at Charlottetown, would hasten to place on record its sense of the personal loss felt by its members, a loss felt as well by the community and the Province at large. The members of the District have personally known Rev. G. R. White as a faithful, devoted, brotherly minister, whose life was blameless, whose influence was ever given to every moral and religious movement, and with whom it was a privilege to be associated.

To the mourning widow and relatives we would respectfully and sincerely express our sympathy, praying that Our Father in Heaven may so minister His comforting and supporting grace that even amid the darkness and distress of this trying hour, they may find Divine light, and hope and peace."

HERESY FOUND IN McMASTER

Special to The Guardian.
TORONTO, June 8—Dr. Harris is again after Professor Matthews of Macmaster University.

He asks the Baptists to send to the convention next October delegates to vote for Governors of the University who will dismiss Matthews and appoint a man conservative enough in his teachings to please those who think as does Dr. Harris.

EARTHQUAKES IN SOUTHERN ITALY

ROME, June 7—Great apprehension has been caused again by seismic disturbances, the official reports showing that the zone affected by the earthquake shocks to-day is a vast one, embracing practically the whole of Southern Italy as well as a portion of Tuscany and Venetia to the north.

But the district where serious damage occurred extends about fifty miles around Mount Vulture, which is an extinct volcano near the town of Calitri, in the province of Avellino. This region has suffered much in the past from earthquakes, and in 1851, eight hundred persons were killed. The number of casualties resulting from the earthquake to-day has not yet been definitely ascertained, some of the reports estimating the dead at fifty and the injured at several hundred. It is feared there are many buried in the ruins of the houses which were thrown down in Calitri, while great damages was done at other points, with doubtless a considerable loss of life. The government has taken hold of the situation with promptitude, and although the earthquake occurred during the night, it was not long before the military and civil authorities had taken necessary steps. Misfortune seems to have lately chosen Italy as target. While the South of Italy has been afflicted by earthquakes the vast region of Sardinia, the largest Island in the Mediterranean after Cicily, was yesterday ravaged by a violent cyclone. The districts of Lanusel, Torcuto, Ilbono, Elini and Jerzu have been devastated; and the crops, vineyards and cattle destroyed. Many shepherds have followed fate of their flocks. The damage in Sardinia is estimated at $2,000,000.

DEATH OF WELL-KNOWN STORY WRITER

NEW YORK, June 6—Will Sydney Porter, known best under his pen name of "O. Henry" as the writer of the brilliant short stories, died today at the hospital. He underwent an operation on Friday last and never rallied. The nature of his ailment was not made public. Mrs. Porter, who had been in South Carolina, was summoned by telegraph but did not arrive here until tonight after her husband's death.

Mr Porter was born in Texas 42 years ago and began his journalistic career on the Houston "Post". Before that he had been a cow-boy and sheep-herder, druggist and an extensive traveller.

The general public knew little of his private life for he shunned interviewers and was content to be known merely through his writings as "O. Henry."

His breezy paragraphs penned in Texas first drew attention to the young writer several years ago and then launched forth with Sunday stories for a New York paper and was quickly recognized as a writer of ability.

It was only two years ago, however, that any but his closest friends knew his real name. Then he reluctantly consented to have his photograph printed with a brief biographical sketch.

RUNS AMUCK WITH STICK OF DYNAMITE

ATHERLY, Ont., June 7—There have been some wild scenes in this village of late, not to mention a murder. On a recent night a drunken maniac was raging about with an open razor, threatening to cut out somebody's heart. The people near were white with well founded terror a few days ago when a man not in possession of his senses was going about with a stick of dynamite threatening to blow up the whole "shebang." No harm resulted, which is considered very fortunate.

TRUE BILLS AGAINST BURGESS BROTHERS

The Grand Jury brought in true bills against Winburn Laurie and William J. Burgess, in connection with the robbery and have under consideration the charge against Rutledge.

One of the cases tried today was that of slander, in which the jury awarded $20 damages in favor of the plaintiff.

DOCK SUPERINTENDENT BANKS LARGE SUMS

NEW YORK, June 7—Chas H. Heike, Secretary of the American Sugar Refining Company, was on the witness' stand nearly all day today seeking to clear his name of the charge of conspiracy to defraud the Government by underweight of sugar. He continued his denials of any knowledge of the frauds, or of the details concerning weighing on the docks and sought to prove that there was no cheating at the Williamsburg refinery, because profits of that institution were generally lower than at the trust's other refineries. Heike did not even have authority to sign checks.

Chester Woodward, a director of the Nassau Trust Company, Brooklyn, called by the defence, testified that Oliver Spitzer, the former Dock Superintendent, convicted but pardoned, and now aiding the prosecution, deposited a total of $106,307 in the bank between May and November, 1907. He was then in the Sugar Company's employ. These figures caused a stir in the court room, Spitzer having testified that his salary was only $45 a week, and that he was the scape-goat of the underweighing frauds. Counsel for both sides will probably sum up tomorrow and it is said the case will reach the jury on Wednesday.

DIES FROM STAB OF BUTCHER,S KNIFE

AMHERST, June 7—Drink was at the bottom of this, was the dying statement made to his physician by George Davis, the young Englishman, who died from the effects of a stab from a butcher's knife in the hands of a fellow boarder named Harry Hanson, in a drunken row last Saturday evening. Davis lingered until noon today, when he passed away and an inquest was opened at four o'clock in the town hall this afternoon before Coroner Dr. C. McQueen Avard.

Before the enquiry opened the jury went to the hospital and viewed the remains and then returned to the town hall for the purpose of hearing witnesses.

Mrs. Hailey, the proprietress of the boarding house where the fatality occurred, was the first witness, and her story was the same in substance as appeared in The Halifax Herald's report on Monday last. She told how the men began quarreling in the afternoon and were separated and how the row was renewed at the supper table.

Davis said that the back yard was the place to fight and not in the house and they started for the door, but Hanson struck Davis before they got to the kitchen.

Mrs. Haily pulled Hanson into the kitchen and closed the door. Davis did not follow. Hanson caught up a butcher knife from the table and went to the dining room by another door. He met the witness, who called out that Hanson was coming with the knife. The next she saw was Davis lying on the floor with a wound in his breast, from which blood was flowing freely. Both men had been boarding with her about a month. They roomed together. Both had been drinking.

Dr. Ross Millar was the next witness. He explained the nature of the
