"I Met My Love Again" At Capitol

Blonde Joan Bennett and black-haired Henry Fonda present an exciting new romantic team in the stellar roles of "I Met My Love Again," new romantic drama which opened a three day engagement at the Capitol Theatre yesterday.

Handsome Alan Marshall, who made his screen debut in "The Garden of Allah" and hasn't had a moment's leisure since, plays the suave interloper who invades their boy-and-girl romance and postpones their marriage for ten years.

Based on the Allene Corliss novel, "Summer Lightning," "I Met My Love Again" casts Joan as a romantic maiden of the Jazz and flapper era of 1927. Fonda is the mild young New England student whom she jilts for the worthless romantic Bohemian writer, played by Marshal. After a disillusioning marriage, Marshal is shot in a duel, Joan returns to New England, and after a series of dramatic episodes is reunited with the girlhood sweetheart she has never ceased to love.

Others prominently featured in the supporting cast are Dame May Whitty; Louise Platt, the lovely Broadway actress whose work in this first film won her a long-term contract with Wanger; Alan Baxter and Tim Holt.

"Mother Carey's Chickens" At Prince Edward

A colorful, romantic period in American history was faithfully recreated for Prince Edward Theater audience last night when "Mother Carey's Chickens" unfolded its heart-warming charm and sweet simplicity —a long-sought relief from the madcap comedies and ponderous dramas which have been invading our screens lately.

A stirring, true picturization of the sympathetic modern classic by Kate Douglas Wiggin, "Mother Carey's Chickens," features Anne Shirley Ruby Keeler, James Ellison, and Fay Bainter. The beloved story of a humble New England home at the turn of the century is convincingly presented by the cast and producer.

The vivid story traces the romances of two sisters Ruby Keeler and Anne Shirley, who fall in love with the same man, James Ellison. Miss Keeler wins his affections, while Miss Shirley conquers her own jealousy, and girl-like, promptly falls in love with a young medical student, which brings the sisters heart affairs to a happy conclusion.

Counterpointing the romantic theme of the story is a mother's dramatic efforts to keep her four children together and provide for them in the face of extreme privation resulting from her husband's death. This phase of the story has dramatic power which will enthrall you.

In addition to the brilliant sensitive performances by Anne Shirley, Ruby Keeler and James Ellison, splendid portrayals reflecting Mrs. Wiggin's characters are given by Fay Bainter as Mother Carey; Walter Brennan as a country store-keeper; Frank Albertson as Miss Shirley's boy friend; Ralph Morgan as Captain Carey; and Jackie Moran and young Donnie Dunagan as two Carey children.

CONFESSED

trial worked as paid agents of Nazi intelligence officials, ferreting out confidential information on the army, navy and air force "for the advantage of Germany."

He said "damaging admissions" had been obtained from Fraulein Johanna (Jenni) Hoffman, 26, titian-haired former beauty salon assistant on the North German Lloyd Liner Europa and alleged pay-off agent of the ring at the time of her arrest last spring.

Miss Hoffmann listened with narrow eyes, as Hardy depicted her in the role of a minor "Mata Hari."

Also listening attentively were here two alleged co-conspirators, Otto Hermann Voss, 36, former mechanic a tthe De Seversky Aircraft Factory, Farmingdale, N. Y., where secret new army pursuit ships are under construction; and Erich Glaser, 28, dark-haired, handsome former United States army private attached to the 18th Reconnaissance Squadron at Mitchel Field, N. Y., central headquarters of the eastern air forces.

The fourth defendant, Rumrich, has pleaded guilty.

CRISTOBAL, C. Z., Oct. 17—(AP)—Four Germans, one of them a 19-year-old girl secretary, were jailed today in default of $15,000 bail each on a charge of photographing fortifications in the canal zone in violation of the United States Espionage Act.

Arrested yesterday at Fort Randolph, which defends the Atlantic entrance to the Panama Canal, the quartet was arraigned today in Magistrate's court and ordered held for preliminary hearing Thursday.

Pictures taken by the four Germans, it was learned, showed positions of anti-aircraft batteries at Fort Randolph and disappearing long-range guns at Caleta Point, overlooking Cristobal breakwater.

The United States District Attorney, N. J. McQuigan, said the men suspects had served in the German army or navy and were well versed in military tactics.

"We have testimony," he said, "showing that these defendants knew that it was prohibited to take photographs of anything within Fort Randolph, but nevertheless they did actually take photographs, including certain gun emplacements."

Kurt Lindenberg, chief of the German Hamburg-American steamship line at Cristobal, whose confidential secretary is the girl in the case, blamed the incident on an innocent Sunday outing. He said army officials were "within their rights to resent a stupid, though unpremeditated, intrusion on the military reservation."

The four prisoners were Ingeborg Waltraunt Gutmann, 19, Hans Friedrich Schackow, 26, Gisbert Wilhelm Gross, 26, and Ernst Robert Edward Khurig, 29.

Informed sources at Prague said the exact course remained to be decided but the possibility of a conference between the Foreign Ministers of Czechoslovakia and Hungary was "not excluded."

Sources close to the Government saw grounds for new optimism for the republic's future through co-operation with Germany and repeated assurances that Rumania would support her.

Rumania was said to have insisted on the independence of Ruthenia in event either Poland or Hungary sought to slice off the eastern tip of Czechoslovakia.

The general staff bulletin reported the arrest of 297 alleged Hungarian terrorists at Slanky. It asserted the number included 26 officers, 62 non-commissioned officers and 205 soldiers of the regular Hungarian army.

Questioning of them, it said, disclosed that plans for raids were made at Kisvarda, Hungary, under direction of Lieut. Colonel Hajas Istvan of the Hungarian army.

The bulletin also related a series of instances in which it said it had been confirmed that German troops stepped over the boundary of the territory in the Sudetenland they have occupied.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY—The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Management of the Children's Aid Society was held in the office of the City School Board yesterday afternoon with the President, Hon. Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan presiding. The making of two children wards of the Society was approved and routine business transacted. The matter of a curfew law for the city was again discussed but before any definite action is taken in the matter it was decided to seek further co-operation of the Charlottetown Police and Mr. W. J. Brawders, the agent of the Society in an endeavor to prevent minors being out late at night. It was again suggested, as it was several months ago, that it would be advisable to have an appeal made to parents from City pulpits more frequently, requesting parents to know more fully the whereabouts of their children at night. Arrangements were made for the holding of the annual meeting of the society Thursday night, November 24, in the Board Room of the City Building.

At the meeting approval was given a suggestion for a Fox Commissioner in England. A telegram will be sent the Federal authorities conveying the suggestion of the Club. The three visiting foxmen are here to purchase breeding stock, it was said.

GIVES INSPIRING SERMON — An inspiring sermon in connection with the work of the British and Foreign Bible Society was given by the Rev. J. B. M. Armour, M. A., Toronto, general secretary for the organization. The Rev. Mr. Armour was speaking at a meeting in St. James' Presbyterian Church, Charlottetown under the auspices of the Prince Edward Island Auxiliary. Dr. J. H. Ayers, Charlottetown, president of the local organization presided. The speaker was introduced by Canon R. H. Haslam, St. Paul's Church. The Rev. J. M. Murchison, District Secretary, (Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick) for the Bible Society gave a brief resume of the work in his district. The Rev. D. K. Ross, Pownal, led in prayer while Rev. Mr. Murchison read the Scripture lesson. Rev. Mr. Armour in his address referred first to the founding of the Bible Society 130 years ago and traced the history of the organization briefly. Referring to this province the speaker pointed out it was the home of the Geddies and Gordons. "Let us live up to the records of these great men", he pleaded. In conclusion he made an appeal for a 5,000 membership in the Bible Society here in 1939 to celebrate the 400th anniversary of the translation of the Bible into English. Present Bible Society membership here was 3,875 compared with 2,250 a year ago, the speaker said. Benediction was given by Rev. Dr. R. Moorhead Legate, Minister of St. James Church.

REFRESHER COURSE OPENS FOR NURSES

Interesting Program Planned For Two-day Sessions At The Cundall Home.

A two-day refresher course for nurses of the Province opened yesterday morning at the Cundall home, Charlottetown. Approximately 100 nurses were in attendance.

Sessions opened with an address by Sister Stanislaus of the Charlottetown Hospital, president of the Prince Edward Island Nurses' Association. This was the first refresher course to be held by the organization, she said.

Its general aims were to enable graduate nurses to keep abreast of times, since modern medicine and its allied profession, nursing, were making constant advances, striving to give even better and better service to the sick.

Other speakers at yesterday's sessions, which were held morning, afternoon and evening included: Lt. Col. L. T. Lowther, B. A., principal of Prince Street School, who spoke on "the value of a general education." He was followed by Sister F. Lyola, Charlottetown Hospital who dealt with some values of a general education to nurses." A paper on "a Theoretical basis for medical asepsis" by Miss Katherine MacLennan, Alexandra Hospital, Montreal, concluded the morning session.

The afternoon meeting, presided over by Miss Anna Mair Superintendent of nurses at the Prince Edward Island Hospital, opened with another paper by Miss MacLennan who spoke on "Immunization". Miss Mona Wilson, Department of Public Health nurse, Charlottetown followed with a talk on "immunization work as it is carried out in Prince Edward Island with emphasis on the part each nurse can play towards furthering the education of parents and teachers."

The evening session, when Miss Mair again presided heard a third paper by Miss MacLennan on "medical asepsis as it is carried on at the Alexandra Hospital."

A demonstration of "medical asepsis technique applied to home environment" by Miss Ruth Ross, Department of Public Health, Summerside concluded the day's deliberations.

Mr. Lowther in his talk on the value of general education showed that education was the key to living life to the fullest, the support of democracy and true liberty, as well as the best means of enriching the mental and spiritual life of man.

Sister F. Lyola's paper emphasized that training in thinking in culture, in the sciences were all valuable assets to the nurse and in the form of Adult Education the graduate nurse must continue her education so as to preserve open-mindedness, plastic sympathies, delight in living and fulfillment of duties to God and man.

Miss MacLennan a native of Charlottetown is giving the major part of the course which is concentrated on Communicable Diseases. She is particularly well qualified, as she is Instructress of nurses in the Royal Alexandra Hospital, Montreal, Hospital for Communicable Diseases. She has brought with her valuable reference material, charts, model cubicles, etc., which are enhancing her valuable lectures. Gifted with pleasing personality, and complete mistress of her subject, she holds the untiring attention of her audience as she brings to their minds the lessons of their nursing school days and introduces what is newest in technique and scientific knowledge.

AUXILIARY FOR BLIND MEETS— The regular monthly meeting of the Prince Edward Island Auxiliary, Institute for the Blind was held yesterday afternoon in the Canadian National Hotel. Guest speaker was Miss C. E. Hawker, of Halifax, Field Worker, Maritime Division, Institute for the Blind. She spoke on the merits of the Institute, giving in that connection interesting facts relative to cases in this Province. She had just completed a tour of the Island in which she saw all persons known to the Auxiliary here. She was assisted in her work by members of the local organization. Mrs. W. J. P. MacMillan, president of the Auxiliary presided at yesterday's meeting.

B. I. S. MONTHLY MEETING—The regular monthly meeting of the Benevolent Irish Society was held in the Society's hall on Thursday evening October 13th. The President J. W. Hogan presided. There was a large attendance of members and considerable business was dealt with. Several new members were initiated, and applications from several more seeking membership were read. Reports were heard from the chairmen of the various committees in regard to the Society's activities during the month. The President informed the meeting that they had cleared thirty dollars on the Benefit Bingo and this amount had been increased to forty five dollars by the generous contributions of ten dollars from the Laborers Protective Union and five dollars from Mr. Joseph McDonald of the Sporting Club. Immediately after the meeting the members enjoyed a "smoker," and were treated to a novel entertainment namely a "mock trial."

Constipated? You Should Get at the Cause!

Lots of people think they can't be "regular" without frequent trips to the medicine chest. "I just dose up and get it over," they tell you. But doctors know they don't "get it over" at all—until they get at the cause of the trouble!

Chances are it's simple to find the cause if you eat only what most people do—meat, bread, potatoes. It's likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If that fits you, your ticket is a crunchy breakfast cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran. It contains the "bulk" you need plus the great intestinal tonic, vitamin $B_1$.

Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and just watch the old world grow brighter! Made by Kellogg in London, Ont.

during the week the crisis reached its height, the number at the end of that week was only just above 10,000.

Equipment Lacking In London

Only a limited number of pumping appliances were available in London during the crisis period. At a rough estimate 3,000 of these would be needed in the metropolitan area. Military experts have stated the number of anti-aircraft guns was deficient.

According to another estimate some 360 auxiliary fire stations would be required in London in the event of war. Only six auxiliary stations were placed in temporary commission during the crisis.

In other respects, however, preparations were further advanced. The education officer's department had drawn up a detailed scheme for evacuation of school children. Arrangements were made for emergency water supplies from swimming baths, lidos, ponds and paddling pools.

The ministry of health bought 10,000 beds to supplement those already available in hospitals, for treatment of air raid casualties.

Half a million sandbags were obtained. Of these 200,000 were actually filled and placed in position to protect watch-rooms at each end of London's 60 fire stations and the main control room at headquarters.

Amidst these grim precautions there is one cheerful note. Firms with surplus quantities of "A. R. P. sand" are being asked to hand it over for the benefit of poor children. It will be dumped on the strip of beach by the Tower of London where thousands of children from slum districts enjoy themselves building castles.

A modified form of martial law may be imposed to quell resistance to British rule in the Holy Land and disorders over the conflicting national aims of Jews and Arabs.

Disorders continued, two Jews were killed and six were wounded by bands which fired from both sides of the Jordan River where the Jews were boating.

Because of the dangerous situation in Jerusalem, the authorities proclaimed a curfew for six hours, beginning at 11 p. m. tonight. A 24-hour curfew was imposed last night on the old city itself.

All but one of the old city's historic gates were closed in the last 48 hours.

Engaged in conferences to perfect plans for a more intensive army campaign were Sir Harold MacMichael, High Commissioner for Palestine, who returned yesterday from London; Lieut.-General Robert Haining, general officer commanding the British forces in Palestine and trans-Jordan; and Sir Charles Tegart, police organizer.

Offer Supply of Vegetables

Formosan authorities, it was learned, offered through the Japanese consul-general here to supply Hong Kong with vegetables in the event of a food shortage.

It was reported that the Hong Kong emergency refugee committee was negotiating with Japanese military authorities for establishment of a safety zone for Chinese refugees in Kwangtung Province just over the border from the New Territories, part of Great Britain's Crown Colony of Hong Kong.

Severance of the Canton-Kowloon railway by the Japanese leaves in Hong Kong between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000 worth of military supplies, machinery, electrical equipment and other materials intended for the Central Chinese Government.

Officials in charge of transportation of these supplies said they were not unduly concerned, being confident they could be rerouted perhaps through French Indo-China.

Pythians Entertain Grand Chancellor

On Friday evening last Empire Lodge, Knights of Pythias, met in special session to welcome the Grand Chancellor of the Maritime Domain, Mr. George B. Lammon of St. John Lodge, and Mr. Frank Hamm of Carleton Tower Lodge, both of St. John, N. B.

The rank of Page was conferred on one candidate and the Grand Chancellor expressed himself as being well pleased with the manner in which the officers exemplified the lesson of Friendship, complimenting the Chancellor Commander H. R. Vessey, Vice Chancellor Lloyd Yeo, and Prelate Gordon Toombs, as well as other officers on their interpretation of the beautiful ritual, this being the first occasion on which the new officers had taken the several parts.

Following the initiation a memorial service in which the same officers took the ritualistic parts, was carried out in memory of the late L. B. Miller, Past Chancellor of Empire Lodge. The musical parts were conducted by P. C. James Calder, and the address by B. F. Tinney, P. C., was a tribute expressing the sincere friendship not only of the speaker, but of all present, and will be so accepted by the wide circle who enjoyed the acquaintance of the departed.

Tribute To Late Chancellor

"It is our sad duty this evening to pay a last tribute of respect to the memory of our departed brother knight, the late L. B. Miller.

"A terse newspaper report on the morning of August 13th informed the reading public of the passing of Mr. Miller. It stated that he was born at Mount Hanley, Nova Scotia; that he was 77 years old at the time of his death; that he came to Charlottetown to enter as a student at the Charlottetown Business College, then under the proprietorship of T. B. Reagh; that he later accepted a position as teacher with Mr. Reagh, became a partner and finally owner of the college; that he was City Auditor for many years; City Councillor from 1914-1921; Water Commissioner, 1924-25; Mayor of the City, 1926-28; Chairman of the School Board and at the time of his death, Chairman of the Provincial Utilities Board.

"Newspapers, however, are but cold mediums of expression for statements of facts and the real merits of a man, his character and personality, are things known only to his friends, and which no newspaper can tell.

"To those who knew him, word of his passing came as a distinct shock—"L. B." was dead! His business—or perhaps, more truly, his career—of conducting a commercial college, brought him into contact with many hundreds of students throughout the years, young men and young women who, one and all, sincerely mourned his death. As principal of the Charlottetown Business College, his influence was widespread and we, who studied in his classrooms, received not only sound instruction and fair treatment, but a lasting impress on character conditioned by his sympathetic understanding, his honesty, his even temper, his kindliness and quiet humor—a truly christian gentleman.

"Most of us gathered here tonight knew him as a knight, a true brother in the Pythian sense of the word. The fact that we knew him as a Knight and Brother made for happiness: We shall remember his wise judgment, his knowledge of men, his shrewd, kindly personality, his fearless but constructive criticism, his earnestness and sincerity, and the realization that he is gone brings sadness to our hearts. His oft-repeated advice that "it were well to make haste slowly" remains as an admonition to hot tempers and quick tongues and should long help us to avoid anger and dissention.

"His life is over, his work well and nobly done. Many a man reaches the allotted span and crosses the great divide not knowing why he was born; here was one who amply justified existence. He was that rare thing among those of us of more impetuous temper—a man of reconciling spirit.

"We give God thanks for this generous, kindly man. It was always a good hour in which to meet him and when he had passed, the step was firmer and the heart a little warmer for the meeting. We have met him for the last time on earth, but surely we shall not leave him with the mere coldness of death, but rather shall we cherish the memory of his homely and kindly spirit.

"In the Pythian sense he has left to us a legacy of earnestness and quiet endeavour in the interest of our Society that we must—nay dare not neglect. We must "carry on" and make of this Order what he would have wished it to be.

"We bid him farewell, but will long cherish his memory in our hearts."

Rotary

Boys camps versus supervised playgrounds was the question discussed at the Rotary luncheon yesterday in accordance with the resolution passed at the last Rotary meeting two weeks ago, when the boy problem was presented for consideration.

It had then been stated that a community camp for boys on the Y. M. C. A. grounds at Canoe Cove had been held for two consecutive seasons, 1936 and 1937, the Rotary Club having the majority share in promoting this camp, in association with three fraternal organizations and the Y. M. C. A.

This year the camp was not held on the ground mainly that it was too limited to its range of service and some alternative undertaking, such as the starting of a supervised playground, might be considered where by a much larger number of our boys and girls would be reached.

The first speaker, Norville Luck, summarized what had taken place at the last meeting, and stated that at several committee meetings held in the early part of the season there was no unanimous conviction evident in respect to the continuance of the camp which would warrant the committee in recommending to the Rotary Club its participation. He said that if playgrounds were to be established, they might be considered for the first year or so on the basis of merely a summer activity to be held during the holiday months of July and August. The suggestion had been made that the money now being paid towards the boys camp ($200 a year) could be used towards paying the salary of a supervisor and equipment.

Rotarian Alf Fisher favored the continuance of the camp. The complaint that there were too many applications might be overcome by having a more selective group. It was difficult to get suitable playgrounds in the city, and the C. A. A. A. grounds suggested were too far out.

Rotarian Roy Cudmore thought the idea of a supervised playground a splendid one but favored a longer period then the one suggested, perhaps a 6 months period.

Rotarian Jack Sterns was not enthusiastic over either idea. We should aim a little deeper, he said, and tackle the problem of the delinquent boys.

Rotarian Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan thought the supervised playground was a big undertaking. The Rotarians should remain behind that most important movement, helping crippled children. He thought the supervised playground was a municipal duty and should be organized by the City Council. Juvenile delinquency, he said, was growing worse in Charlottetown. He suggested that the Rotary Club invite the agent of the Children's Aid Society, Mr Brawders, to address the meeting.

Dr. J. A. Clark said the Rotary Club would not have funds to take such a big project as supervised playgrounds. It might be started by the City Council. He commended the boys camp and favored its continuance.

Rotarian Red Ainsworth, while admitting the benefits of the boys' camp, spoke of the need of having some playground for the boys who now are playing around the streets in the evenings.

They have no place else to go, as the homes are often overcrowded. He believed if the Rotary Club started the movement, they might get support from the City Council.

President Tweedy, who was in the chair, suggested that at the first opportunity Mr. Brawders be asked to give an address on the boy situation in Charlottetown.

The President announced that the Rotary District Governor, Lawrence Alline, of Presque Isle, Maine, is coming to Charlottetown the end of this week and will address a meeting of the club on Monday next.

Past President J. M. Murley, who is in the hospital, was reported to be improving.

The guests were Rotarian Art Bryan of Ottawa, J. E. C. Hunter of Alberton and R. W. Beckett of Charlottetown.

In Memoriam

In loving remembrance of dear Harris Dingwell who died October 18, 1937.

In a graveyard softly sleeping
Where the flowers gently wave.
Lies the one I love so dearly
In his silent lonely grave.
Friends may think you are forgotten
And the wound is surely healed
But they little know the sorrow
Lies within my heart concealed.

Lovingly Remembered by Friend Beatrice.
