The younger readers of the Guardian will find the Boys' and Girls' page, which appears today, most entertaining, and can with readiness, following the simple directions, cut out and put together the turkey illustration. Hints for Christmas gift giving is another attractive feature of the page.

In speaking with a leading merchant yesterday with reference to the pork trade he said that the farmers are now crowding the market and as the weather is so uncertain the buyers are holding back and thus the prices are lower. He would suggest that the pork be kept back until the weather is cooler.

The picture of the Military Parade of the Hudson Fulton celebration at New Wonderland last night was surprisingly grand. To form an idea of what this function was like one must see it or its representation as seen at New Wonderland. The many different troops, the marching, the magnificent ensemble, the familiar English soldiers, the Highland regiments, in fact every detail was so clearly brought out that the picture hands to posterity an event which would never have the emphasis that the reproduction on canvas has given it—great and all that was in itself.

S. L. Stores & Co, 16 Fulton Fish Market, New York, will promptly handle consignments of smelts and eels from this Province, as will be seen by their ad elsewhere. Their bustling representative, Mr. Connolly, will call on shippers in the near future and supply stencils, also many valuable hints as to packing the fish so they will reach the American market in first class order. Highest market prices will be procured and most satisfactory returns promptly made. A trial shipment will prove their good business methods.

The funeral of the late Major Geo. L. Dogherty took place yesterday afternoon from his residence on Kent Street to the People's Cemetery, and was largely attended. The services at the house and grave were conducted by Revs. T. F. Fullerton and T. W. Murphy, and after the singing of the following hymns, all symbolic of peace and contentment, Lead Kindly Light, Peace, Perfect Peace, and Forever with the Lord, the body was removed for interment. The following were the pallbearers: Lt-Gov McKinnon, G. M. Moore, Colonel Davison, Ewen McDougall, Major Weeks, and Colonel Moore, all comrades of the deceased in the Provincial Militia. There were many floral offerings of beautiful design, among being those mentioned below: Pillow—from the family; wreath—sisters Anna and Lylic; crescent—12th Department, C. O. C.; Crescent—Premier and Mrs. Haszard; bouquet—R. Vernon Longworth; cross—Rev Ewen and Mrs. McDougall; cross—Mrs Artemas Lord; Wreath—G. E. and Mrs Auld; Bouquet—Mrs John Goodwill; Star—L. B. and Mrs Miller.

Wharf, Boston, whose ad will appear Monday. With the most up-to-date means of handling consignments they will dispose of all goods sent them, secure the highest prices and make prompt returns. Provincial dealers are asked to write them before shipping elsewhere.

Mrs McConnell, aged 76, housekeeper for John Murray, Pownal Street, met with a serious accident on Wednesday last. While opening the storm door, a heavy gust of wind flung the door open knocking her into the street and causing a compound fracture of the ankle. Dr Ledwell, was summoned and she was removed to the City Hospital. It was found necessary to have the leg amputated between the ankle and the knee. The operation was performed Thursday and at latest reports last night she was resting quietly.
