Productivity Council Sends Study-Team To Tour Europe

By ROBERT RICE

OTTAWA (CP)—The National Productivity Council is sending a top team of union, business and government men overseas to find out the how and why of labor - management - government co-operation in Europe.

The 13-member mission will be headed by council chairman George De Young, and will include four labor representatives, three businessmen, three government officials and an educationist.

The team will talk to the top men behind Europe's industrial boom — the leaders of the national business groups, the national trade union federations and their governments.

The two-week trip—first of its kind—will take the Canadians to six countries—Sweden, the Netherlands, West Germany, France, Belgium and Britain.

Said council chairman De-Young, who is also president of Atlas Steel:

"We think there is something to learn from labor - management - government co - operation in Europe. We also need to learn more about our European competitors to compete with them both at home and abroad."

The mission wants to kind out how Europe's union, business and government men co-operate in boosting productivity and economic development.

"The council is an independent, neutral body, as the act which established it intended, and as it must be maintained to perform its proper function, and role of catalyst between labor, management and government," said E. F. L. Henry, newly-named executive director of the council, in an interview Thursday.

He is a member of the council and will make the trip to Europe.

Mr. Henry, 47, a former labor - management consultant, said the productivity council plans to embark on a major economic research program—not to duplicate work already being done in this field but to unify and co-ordinate the efforts of others.

Organized labor has long insisted that Canada—particularly Canadian big business — could learn a lot about labor-management co - operation from European countries.

Decision to send the mission was viewed here as a sign of a new rapport between labor and management on the role of the productivity council in Canada's economic life.

While the council may not have a direct pipeline into the cabinet, its pronouncements on such topics as wages and prices, combines legislation, productivity and the problems of secondary industry are expected to carry great weight.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X B
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	3 ♥	Pass

Opening lead—ten of clubs.

The day may come, though I doubt it, when bidding will be so scientific that everybody will always get to the right contract. But until that day comes, if it ever does, we'll just have to struggle along with certain difficult hands, trying to salvage what we can from the bad contracts all of us occasionally get into.

You can criticize the bidding in this hand if you want to, but the fact is that many a good pair would wind up in the same bad contract with two diamond losers. The K-Q of clubs are wasted values for North to hold opposite the South hand.

If North had had the king, queen, or jack of diamonds in place of the K-Q of clubs, the slam would have been a satisfactory one. But, things being the way they are, the contract was a poor one.

However, South made the slam anyway. He recognized that normal play was not apt to succeed and that the only real chance of making the hand was to find either defender with the K-x. of diamonds alone.

So, after winning the Club lead with the ace, he played a low diamond to the ace at trick two, both opponents following low. He then drew two rounds of trumps, cashed the K-Q of clubs and A-K of spades, and ruffed a spade.

When he now led a diamond, East was forced to win with the king and return either a spade or a club. This gave South a ruff and discard and he made the slam as a result.

Of course, East could have defeated the contract by dropping the king of diamonds on the ace when it was played. Probably, he would have done this if South had telegraphed his intentions by first clearing the hearts, clubs and spades before tackling the diamond suit.

But the play of the diamond ace so early in the hand made it difficult for East to realize exactly what South was up to, and, eventually, it cost him the contract.
