CAR AND TRUCK COLLIDE IN O'LEARY

One man was taken to hospital with a fractured hand and three others shaken up in a collison today between a 1958 model car and a cement-loaded, two-ton truck driven by Nelder Murray, Howlan. Driver of the car was Cyril Easter Junior, O'Leary, who was taken to Community Hospital for x-ray examination and treatment. He was later released to his home. The ac-

Home Economics Students At Tignish Display Clothing

TIGNISH — Tignish Regional High School dining room and home economics rooms took on a very fashionable appearance Thursday evening when a clothing party was staged by the home economics' students of the Regional and elementary schools. A large number of parents and guests were present.

The work well done and very beautifully displayed in sewing and knitting from five different groups of 110 entries, was supervised by home economics teacher, Sister St. Elizabeth Clair.

The grade nine girls of the high school were hostesses during the evening and prepared and served a buffet lunch. Assisting in pouring were Angela Kennedy and Brenda Gallant.

The following modelled their own dresses during the evening, Ruth Gallant, Joan Arsenault, Audrey Myers, Ann Marie Doucette, Ann Marie Gaudet, Frances McRae, Camilla Myers and Eileen Gallant.

Fresh Aspects Of Pope John Come To Light From Letter

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Fresh aspects of the philosophy and final illness of Pope John XXIII emerged Friday as newcomers swelled the ranks of cardinals setting up machinery for the election of his successor.

As the Roman Catholic church opened nine days of official mourning, publication of a letter Pope John wrote to his brother, Zaverio Roncalli, Dec. 3, 1961, and an interview with his personal physician contributed to the picture of a man both humble and unchanged by great power.

The Vatican Newspaper L'Osservatore Romano printed the letter, which it called "a spiritual testament."

Typing it himself, the Pope warned his family against being seduced by fame. He urged his relatives—simple farmers in north Italy—to maintain their humility. A Pope has a duty, he said, "not to enrich his relatives, but only to assist them in charity according to their needs and conditions."

"The world only interests itself in temporal money," he said.

KNEW DEATH NEAR

The Milan newspaper Il Giorno quoted the Pope's personal physician, Dr. Antonio Gasbarrini, as saying "we tried to lie to him mercifully" about the gravity of his illness, but the Pope knew death was approaching.

Gasbarrini said the medical staff received medicines from all over the world, but never used them.

"We were not there to make experiments," he said. "We used, with every precaution, the common therapy: antibiotics, intravenous feeding, vitamins, plasma."

The Vatican said almost all the 82 princes of the Roman Catholic Church will be in Rome by Monday. Thirty-eight cardinals took part Friday in one of the business meetings preparatory to the conclave to select a pope opening June 19.

Lines of mourners moved past the simple marble tomb of John XXIII in the dimly lit grotto of St. Peter's. Some paused to pray.

Resting next to the greenish-brown tomb were wreaths from convicts in Mantova prison in northern Italy and from the prisoners of Rome's Sombre Regina Coeli (Queen of Heaven) Jail.

These tributes from isolated and half-forgotten men were to a Pope who had remembered them. In all Pope John's reign, few events caught the imagination more than his Christmas-time visit to the Rome prison soon after his election in 1958.

Holy Childhood In Tignish Meets

TIGNISH — The annual meeting of the Holy Childhood Association of Tignish Elementary School was held Wednesday.

The president, Jo Anne Perry congratulated the members on the missionary spirit shown during the year and encouraged them to continue their good work. The treasurer, Joyce Des Roches reported $178 collected for missions since the last general meeting.

Decisions of the meeting were to collect stamps during the summer and in September to provide a prize for the class which has the largest number, also to have a mass offered for the repose of the soul of the late Rev. Leonard Ayers, who was the provincial director of the Holy Childhood. A representative from each class gave an account of their missionary efforts during the year.

A vote of thanks was extended to the outgoing executive for its work. Speakers of the meeting were Rev. Floyd McGaugh and Sister St. Miriam.

WESTERN BRIEFS

ARSENAULT FUNERAL — The funeral of Archie Arsenault was held Friday morning from the Funeral Home to Immaculate St. Paul's Church where Requiem High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Pierre Arsenault, who also officiated at the grave. Seated in the Sanctuary was Rev. J. E. P. O'Haney. The pallbearers were: Harold Gunther, Albert Arsenault, Elmer Arsenault, Kenneth Arsenault, John Perry and Joseph Gaudet. Interment was in the church cemetery.

Can Co. Plans Valley Plant

TORONTO (CP) — Continental Can Company of Canada Ltd. announced Friday plans to construct a can plant in Nova Scotia's Annapolis Valley.

Site and cost of the plant were not disclosed.

James A. Stewart, president, said the plant will be a 40,000-square-foot, single storey building. Production of containers is scheduled to begin in early 1964.

The company currently operates sales and service offices at Halifax and Kentville, N.S.

Continental, with head office in Toronto, operates 22 plants across the country, employing 4,500 persons.
