THE KING'S COUNTY GUARDIAN

Offices in Montague, Capt. W. A. Johnstone, Agent, and in Souris, A. J. McDonald, Agent.

The latest news, first of all. The tide will be high shortly before noon today and tomorrow shortly after noon.

The interesting program of the Ch'Town Male Chorus concert, which takes place tonight, appears in this issue.

All readers, when writing to advertisers in this or any other issue of this paper, are requested to mention The Guardian.

There are four rows of thirty-five cent seats reserved in the balcony and a hundred and fifty seats down stairs in the Opera House for tonight.

Mrs Harry J. Worth and son, City, express their sincere thanks to the many friends who extended so many kindnesses to them during their recent bereavement.

The Guardian has received The Mutual Life Assurance Co's splendid calendar for 1910. This calendar, which city policy holders can receive by calling on J. O. Arsenault, the Provincial Manager, whose office is 135 Kent Street, City, is year after year eagerly looked forward to. So clear and large are its figures that it can be seen at a distance, quite readily and being artistically printed it is suitable for the home as well as the office. The dates are in large figures printed in black ink, the Sundays and holidays standing out plainly in red ink, with black lettering to tell what the holidays are. The moon's phases are also conveniently placed in the left hand corner of each month and for general usefulness the calendars are unsurpassed.

The program at New Wonderland last night was exceptionally good. Three new reels were shown, each a masterpiece in its own way. The Wallace Jewels provoked mirth unbounded, while Two of a Kind, showing how two visitors to a Lunatic Asylum mistook each other for patients, was just one long laugh throughout. The Mountbank's Son taught a strong lesson in gratitude and one worth remembering, showing that social position is not everything in this world. The Gold Seeker's Daughter was simply grand, and the days of '64 were brought back vividly to mind in it. The great lesson that forgiveness is a divine and the moral taught in it, and the final scene where the child unites parents and grandfather was a magnificent piece of acting. The music and songs were both without fault, Mr Rathbone being heard to fine advantage in both his illustrated song and specialty.

The following sad event will be read with deep regret. John A. Matheson, one of the leading men of Rose Valley, a representative elder of the Presbyterian congregation there, and one of the main pillars of that church, started last Monday morning to Emerald station to take the early train for Summerside. Seemingly he was in the best of health and spirits. Some hours afterwards Fred McKenzie was driving towards the station and saw Mr Matheson lying prostrate alongside of the road, where he had been walking. He spoke once and wished to be taken home, but Mr McKenzie drove him to the residence of John Matheson, which was nearby, where he was kindly taken care of. A physician was hastily summoned, but he had lain for two hours on the cold, damp ground and was too far gone. He lingered in an unconscious state till Tuesday morning, the 7th Dec, when he expired at 9 a. m. The deceased was an honest, upright man, kind hearted and true and highly respected by all his acquaintances. He leaves to mourn their loss a sorrowing widow, two young sons, and two young daughters at home. His eldest son died last year ago. His funeral took place on Thursday, 9th Dec at which a very large crowd of people assembled from all the surrounding country, to pay the last tribute of respect to the memory of a good man. The funeral services were conducted at the house and grave by his pastor, Rev John Gillis. The late Mr Matheson was a brother to the late D. M. Matheson of Lowell, N.S.

A gloom has fallen upon Hartsville and the surrounding country, by the sudden death of Sadie McDonald, second eldest daughter of Angus M. McDonald of Springton and beloved wife of Duncan McLellan of Hartsville. She died Friday morning the 3rd Dec of heart failure, in the 28th year of her age. The deceased was of an amiable disposition and highly respected of all who came within the range of her acquaintance. She was a member of the Hartsville Presbyterian Church and a most exemplary Christian. Her funeral took place on Saturday, 4th Dec, a large concourse of people assembled from far and near to pay the last tribute of respect to one whom they loved. Rev John Gillis conducted a very solemn service at the house and grave. She leaves to mourn their loss, a sorrowful husband, father and mother, two sisters and three brothers and a host of relatives and friends.

G. B. Taylor's jewelry store will remain open for business each evening till Christmas.

Bob Rice, the popular commercial traveller of Montreal, has kindly consented to sing at the Charlottetown Male Chorus concert in the Opera House tonight.

Among those registered at the Revere yesterday were the following: G. R. Keefe, Souris; H. J. McCormick, Souris; R. McDonald, New Glasgow; Rev A. Craise, New Dominion; Alfred A. McDonald, Newport, R. I.

The daily average circulation of the Guardian, for week ending December 11th was 7,313 copies a day. The circulation of The Guardian is greater than that of all the other daily newspapers on Prince Edward Island combined.

There are four schooners in port from Prince Edward Island with cargoes of produce, the vessel having arrived within the last couple of days. A couple of other schooners are also on the way here, and the steamer Beatrice, now at Summerside, will bring back a cargo of produce, including 900 bushels of oats consigned to Sydney parties.—Sydney Post.

In order to give everybody a chance to try White's highclass chocolates and other confections, in bulk or fancy packages, including White's famous Kisses, the following merchants have fresh supplies now in stock for the holiday trade:—Carter's Confectionery, E. J. DesRoches, A. Gates & Co, Jenkins & Son, Beer & Goff's two stores, J. Holman & Sanderson & Co., F. J. Holman & Co, Jas Kelly & Co, J. P. Duffy, P. L. Smallwood and Geo E. Hughes.

John E. Gorman, representing Willis R. Rogers, 24 Pulton Market, New York and Jos A. Rich & Co, 184 Atlantic Avenue, Boston, has arrived in this city from the western part of the province. Mr Gorman goes east this morning to call on old and new customers and as he has been visiting this Province for the past fifteen years, will no doubt receive a hearty welcome. Mr Gorman reports that with the cold weather the demand for smelts and eels is steadily increasing and continued cold will bring higher prices. Slippers are asked to pack smelts according to the law in order that they may receive good results. Owing to the shortage of frozen fish in the American market, which is one half the quantity of other winters, the tendency is for smelts to bring better prices than in years past.

The marriage of Abbie Jane, daughter of D. and Mrs Martin, Hunter River, P. E. I., to James Partridge of Williamstown, Ont., took place at the home of A. McDougall, 418 Kennedy St, Winnipeg, Man., on Nov 23rd. The ceremony was performed by Rev Mr McLaughlin, former pastor of the couple. They were unattended. The bride was attired in white embroidered tulle, made princess effect. Her travelling suit was of old rose cloth, with hat to match. After spending a few days in the city the happy couple left for their home in Carnduff, Sask., where the bride had been employed as book-keeper for the past five years. On their arrival in Carnduff, a reception was given at the home of W. J. and Mrs Blair, where they received many useful and valuable presents. Mr Partridge is a grain buyer in Carnduff, for the Dominion Elevator Co of Winnipeg, and also in the flour business there.
