CONTRACT BRIDGE

By B. JAY BECKER

QUIZ

Partner bids Two Hearts, next player passes, both sides vulnerable. What do you now bid with each of the following four hands?

1. ♠764 ♥7 ♦J642 ♣A8743
2. ♠J4 ♥972 ♦A876 ♣A985
3. ♠Q962 ♥84 ♦K985 ♣KJ2
4. ♠74 ♥A73 ♦Q96532 ♣42

1. Two notrump. This is the negative response to partner's game-forcing two bid. Since partner has already announced he has a game in hand, it is not necessary to do anything at this point to encourage partner to continue.

In responding to a two bid, any bid other than two notrump is an affirmative response showing at least mild interest in a slam. Since the opener theoretically has a game in his own hand which he intends to reach regardless of what values responder has, no encouragement should be given by responder unless he has at least two playing tricks.

The hand in question would be worth a positive response if the two bid had been made in any of the other three suits, but opposite a two heart bid, where trump support is lacking, negative action is called for.

2. Three hearts. Two aces opposite a two bid is a pretty sure sign of a slam, especially when accompanied by trump support. Of course, it would be desirable to have better trump support, but three small of partner's suit are regarded as adequate facing an opening two bid. The opening bidder cannot very well have a broken suit when he opens with a game forcing bid. He has tricks galore, and to have them his suit must be strong.

3. Three notrump. With inadequate trump support, and a hand too good to make a negative response of two notrump, and no biddable suit to mention, the high card strength and the balanced distribution are best shown by jumping to three notrump. This skip bid usually has 8 to 10 high card points.

How high the bidding will eventually go is left largely to the opener. The important thing is to tell partner immediately of the scattered high card values.

4. Three hearts. The choice lies between raising hearts immediately or bidding diamonds. The direct raise with three to the ace is to be preferred to naming a queen-high suit. When a side suit is bid opposite a two bid there is a strong inference of strength in the suit rather than length.

Since the trump support is more than adequate, partner cannot be misled by the immediate raise. But if diamonds were bid first, followed by a heart raise, partner would be more apt to expect something like A-Q-x-x-x-x of diamonds and three small trumps.

N. S. Fishermen Catch Less But Still Make More

Fish landings in the Maritime Provinces in December amounted to 21.6 million lbs. valued at $2.3 million, according to a joint release by the Department of Fisheries and the Dominion Bureau of Statistics today. Corresponding figures for the month of November were 31.3 million lbs. and $1.4 million. Thus, while the volume of the catch in December represented a decline of nearly one-third from the returns of the previous month, fishermen nearly doubled their earnings.

The pattern of fishing activity and fish landings during the month was typical of this time of year. On the one hand the landings of all species, lobster expected, were substantially below the November catch, reflecting the effect of weather conditions upon off-shore fishing operations and the virtual retirement from the inshore fishery of a large segment of the fishing force.

On the other hand, the lobster catch, which exceeded November returns by nearly 3 million lbs., was the result of seasonal concentration in the southwestern Nova Scotia, following the relatively recent opening of the fall-winter season. This concentration on lobsters also accounted for the notable increase in the value of landings in December compared with the previous month. The 3.6 million lbs. of lobsters landed in December yielded over $1.5 million to fishermen, and this represented nearly two-thirds of the value of all fish landed during the month.

As in November, fishing in the Maritimes Area in December was largely confined to Nova Scotia.

The combined landings of the provinces of New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island amounted to only about 2.6 million lbs., being only approximately 12 per cent of the total quanity of fish during the month.

Order Electronic Trainer From Great Britain

OTTAWA (CP)—An electronic trainer for the joint Maritime warfare school at Halifax is on order from Britain at a cost of $900,000 to take the place of a $5,052,000 project abandoned in 1956, Defence Minister G. R. Pearkes said Wednesday.

Mr. Pearkes was replying to a Commons question from G. H. Castleden (CCF—Yorkton) about a reference to the project in the report of Auditor-General Watson Sellar.

Purpose of the trainer was to provide facilities for exercising personnel in tactical operations involving aircraft carriers, planes, submarines and surface ships.

Mr. Pearkes said the project contract was given to Computing Devices of Canada Limited, Ottawa.

DIFFERENT USE

The trainer that was abandoned had been turned over to the transport department.

The department had made arrangements to let the civil aviation authority in the United States convert the trainer to an air traffic control simulator.

Computing Devices was to have it completed by April and it would be installed at Indianapolis for training of both Canadians and Americans. A nominal rent of $1 a year would be charged by the department.

Mr. Pearkes said a building constructed for the trainer at a cost of $750,000 will house the new trainer coming from Britain. It was to be installed within about a year.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
