Farmer Undersells The Milk Trust

(By Dominion News Service)

NORWICH, Cheshire, Nov. 3.—A farmer at Runcorn, dissatisfied with his arrangement with the retailers, has just undertaken to sell his milk at 8c a quart.

In the rest of Cheshire 14c is generally being charged by the milkmen.

The farmer states that he can obtain quite a reasonable profit at these prices, although when he disposed of his supplies to the retailers he was unable to get a sufficient sum to enable him to feed his cattle.

"Retailers," he declared, "are reaping considerable profits without any material outlay."

THE FAMILY QUARREL

Chapter 18

A climax of a sort came on a Sunday.

Luther had been getting well fast enough now to go on long drives and fairly long walks. His hollow cheeks had filled out and his huge eyes did not stare so out of his face.

"You'll be going to church this morning, I expect," Mrs. Talbot said gently at the breakfast table.

"I don't think I will," Mrs. Talbot said. "I don't think I will go to church this morning, I expect."

"I don't think I will," Mrs. Talbot said. "I don't think I will go to church this morning, I expect."

Ah! Backache Gone! Rub Lumbago Away

Ah! Pain is gone! St. Jacobs Oil acts almost like magic. Quickly?—Yes. Almost instant relief from soreness, stiffness, lameness and pain follows a gentle rubbing with St. Jacobs Oil.

Rub this soothing, penetrating oil right on your painful back, and relief comes. St. Jacobs Oil is a harmless backache, lumbago and sciatica cure which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin.

Straighten up! Quit complaining! Stop those torturous stitches. In a moment you will forget that you ever had a weak back, because it won't hurt or be stiff or lame. Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest St. Jacobs Oil from your druggist now and get this last relief.

insight into the causes and the results of things. But how could these old people and how especially could little Mrs. Talbot know that the girl's devotion to the task of improving and soothing and prolonging life had in it any elements of religion?

Once she had peeped inside a medical book of Jane's—out of a map of her like nothing on earth but a tangle of black lines, whose outline was the human figure without any clothes on.

A hot argument followed with Jordan. To stop it, Mrs. Talbot remarked, watching with relief Jordan's figure appearing,— "Oh, here he comes. I'll just pour the coffee. I'm sure he's going to church."

"Donald!" Jane laughed. "Dear me, not he. He's an atheist."

A bomb shell could not have had more effect than this remark, in the way of creating sensation. Jordan rose, towering above the table.

"He's a guest under my roof, so I can't order him. And as I did, you women," this with extra sarcasm "would contradict me. But I shall not sit at table with an unbeliever, an—"

He left as Donald entered, eyes sparkling and skin glowing from his exercise.

"You'd better all come, don't you think—just to please him?" Mrs. Talbot began timidly. Jane explained to Donald, who laughed.

"Why do you read on the toes of prejudice?" the young doctor asked. "Jane, don't you realize that we can't take in these new ideas? Too old, the arteries begin to harden in the forties, those leading to the brain atrophy. You really can't expect anything dead to function of course I'll go."

"It's all because we have breakfast together," said young Amy. "Why do families insist on sitting with each other first thing in the morning? No wonder we fight!"

This explanation, which she did not understand, angered and hurt Mrs. Talbot.

This from Amy! The young lady within a day of 18, was getting on much too fast for her mother. Mrs. Talbot also rose in anger.

Monday—Donald Leaves.

Few Folks Have Gray Hair Now

Druggists Says Ladies Are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears! Later another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

REGARDING MARKETING LIVE HOGS

We wish to inform the farmers at points where live hogs have been sold, that the majority of the live hogs are not sufficiently fattened, are altogether too THIN and will seriously injure the Island Hog business if this is continued.

We further advise that we will pay top prices for live hogs up to 240 pounds, so farmers need not fear to lose by extra feeding. The market at present looks reasonably firm.

Young Man Drove to Balmoral to see King

(By Dominion News Service)

ABERDEEN, Nov. 3.—A young man who drove up to the entrance to Balmoral Castle in a motor car was sentenced to fifteen months' imprisonment at the Sheriff's Court here for hiring the car without paying or intending to pay for it.

He gave the name of John Simpson Mitchell, of London.

The Fiscal said Mitchell was an extraordinary character. There was no doubt that he suffered from megalomania or "swelled head."

He was known as "The Bouncer" and "The Monocle Man." He told a farmer at Milltimber that he was on his way to Balmoral Castle to see the King on important affairs of State.

He added that he had flown from Berlin to Ostend, taken the boat to London, and motored to near Aberdeen, where his motor had broken down. He induced the farmer to undertake to drive him to Balmoral. He was driven to the front door of the Castle, where the officers at once discovered that he was an impostor.

Dealing with Mitchell's criminal history, Mr. MacLennan said he started in Aberdeen when a boy by stealing about 2,500 feet of cinematograph film. He was living with his grandmother at the time and the film caught fire, and as a result his grandmother and an aunt were so severely burned that they died.

He was sent to an industrial school until he was sixteen. From 1916 to 1923 he had been sentenced at Edinburgh, Aberdeen, York, Birmingham, and London for theft and fraud.

One doctor who had examined him, added Mr. MacLennan, certified that he was suffering from delusions of grandiose type.

On Mitchell's behalf it was stated that he was on the border line of insanity.

musician. Rayer called at his house, and, saying he was the chief engineer for the Bagshot sewerage contract, asked if he would help a destitute man whom he (Rayer) had with him. He gave Rayer £3, but being suspicious informed the police.

Asked by the chairman why he parted with his money, Mr. Boenperse said: "I suppose I have more money than I know what to do with. I often help such people. They came up in a taxicab and I thought it was all right."

The men were remanded.

Routing Ringworm

(By Dominion News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 3.—In a lecture at Nottingham University College yesterday Dr. E. F. Skinner, of Sheffield Children's Hospital, gave an instance of curious remedies for diseases.

Many of the skin diseases from which Sheffield children suffered he said, were attributed by mothers to fish and chips, cheese and beer. A curious cure for ringworm which he had encountered was a mixture of ink and tobacco, and it was remarkable that this had effected cures. This was due to the fact that ringworm was caused by a fungoid growth like mushrooms, and the only way to destroy it was by boiling. Obviously, it was impossible to boil a body, so the skin had to be artificially inflamed. This was what mixture of ink and tobacco accomplished.

Chaliapin Sings to Small Audience

(By Dominion News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Chaliapin, the singer who arrived in London yesterday has sailed to-day for the United States. Yesterday he sang to what is probably the smallest audience he has ever faced. While walking round the Savoy Hotel sounds of music attracted him to a hall where the Savoy Orpheus Band was practising. He crept to an obscure corner and listened for nearly an hour.

At length Chaliapin strolled towards the conductor. "I have so much enjoyed your music," he said, "that, if you would care, the least I can do is to . . . will somebody play for me?"

Music was sent for and astonished musicians were treated to "My Power is Absolute" from Boris Godounov and Moussorgsky's "Song of a Flea."

Then he bowed to his audience of 12 and departed.
