Traffic Problems Discussed By Police Chief At Meeting

Chief of Police C. W. MacArthur gave a brief talk on traffic regulations to the members of the Community Improvement League at City Hall last evening. He spoke in detail of the many safeguards which are disregarded by even those who believe they are first class drivers, and stressed the extra safety which lies in giving the other fellow the right of way, especially when in doubt.

The Chief also urged those in attendance to read, mark and learn to do by instinct while driving, those things which the Attorney General recently advertised in the newspapers, the highlighted quotations from the Highway Traffic Act.

A question period followed in which many members took part, clarifying several vague points, particularly that of speed in restricted areas as well as within city and town limits. Another meeting will be called shortly to give the matter of traffic regulations a further hearing with a view to increasing interest and reducing accidents through education, from School age up to experienced drivers.

was held off until tomorrow.

Before the arguments got under way, Senate and House met for the formality of counting the electoral ballots from the Nov. 4 election.

There were no surprises. Just as everybody knew, it was 442 to 89 for Eisenhower and vice-president-elect Richard Nixon over the Democratic opposition.

Now the two of them can take the oath of office two weeks from today.

The House armed services committee held the first hearing of the new Congress and heard Air Force officials and generals testify the recent series of Air Force crashes apparently is due largely to human and mechanical failures and weather. Maj.-Gen. Victor E. Bertrandias, deputy inspector-general of the Air Force, said there was "no tangible indication that sabotage was a factor."

the company's vice-president, said, the CPR could not get the same terms as public bodies.

Mr. Nixon conceded to Mr. MacPherson that the recent $35,000,000 bond issue had been a "success," which he attributed in part to a buoyant market at the time. He did not think, he said, that any of the prospective investors had got all he wanted of the issue.

Mr. Smith testified he did not believe the CPR now could float any substantial block of common stock at a reasonable price.

"I still say the Canadian Pacific lacks investor confidence," he said when J. J. Frawley, Alberta counsel, observed the common was selling at eight points above its par $25.

Mr. Nixon said he thinks the CPR's credit position conforms "pretty well" with that of some of the better railroads in the United States but added it is far from being as good as that of electric and gas companies.

Captain Doucette and his men will no doubt follow the tradition which he has established of keeping the "Fairview" in commission up to the last possible day of open navigation.

School Board

Coun. Storey noted that the average life of Prince Street and West Kent Schools was 70 years. They were added to over a quarter of a century ago, he said.

Coun. MacDonald suggested that additions be made to the new part with a view to eventually tearing down the old structure. "I'm all for having a High School but don't want to hit the taxpayer any harder," he said.

Mayor Stewart said the present school buildings were structurally inadequate and the equipment was out-dated.

Coun. Storey said a start must be made to bring the present school program up to a level which is demanded today. He believed the taxpayer could pay a little more but not the whole thing on an $800,000 or $1,000,000 school. "I believe," he said, "some assistance could be had from outside the municipality."

Coun. Farmer said the cost was going to be the determining factor. Many taxpayers, he said, had spoken to him about the matter. Indications are, he said, that taxes are going to be higher next year and that is what citizens are thinking about.

A Heavy Burden

"At present", Coun. Farmer said, "we are short accommodation for grades ten down. This could be overcome by supplying facilities for grades 1, 2, and 3 in the City, thus relieving the present structures. If the City takes over a High School it will be taking over a burden presently being taken care of by the Government at Prince of Wales College. Why should the city take over something now provided by the Government?" he asked. Adequate technical education could be provided by enlarging the present facilities which are operated on the Federal-Provincial level.

If a school were erected here, Coun. Farmer said, at a cost of $1,500,000 (completely equipped) the tax rate would go up to 4.35.

Coun. Cudmore said he did not think the School Board had any intention of competing with Prince of Wales College nor did he think the Council had any intention of sanctioning an amount anywhere near $1,500,000.

Mayor Stewart said that increased school facilities were needed and needed promptly but suggested that an estimated cost and a plan of the building be obtained first as well as an indication of how much the Provincial Government would contribute.

Coun. Cudmore suggested that the Provincial Government be contacted first, adding that the Council should study the matter very carefully.

Board's Authority

Mayor Stewart noted that if the School Board wanted to they had the power to go ahead and erect a new High School and present the bill to the Council but added that the Board wished to get the viewpoint of the Council on the matter and co-operate with them in that regard. They realize, he said that the erection of a High School is a major undertaking.

Coun. Cudmore mentioned that it had been suggested to him by an educationist that the High School be erected on the grounds at the rear of Prince of Wales College in order that the same heating system could be used and also the facilities at the Vocational School.

Following is the text of the resolution passed at the conclusion of the meeting.

"That this Council recognizing the need for additional school accommodation in the City and recognizing further that the provision for such is the sole responsibility of the Board of School Trustees, urge the Board to proceed at once to prepare for the benefit of the Council a full and complete statement as to the probable cost of additional accommodation and also the cost of improvement to present curriculum, keeping in mind the need for strict economy, and further resolved that the Board be requested to consult with the Minister of Education as to the possibility of securing assistance in respect to additional accommodation from the Provincial Treasury."

Long Term Objective

The following excerpts from Superintendent Parker's report to the Board of School Trustees, dated January 5 was placed on Council members desks: A brief recapitulation of our long term objectives may be in order.

"First, the basic problem created by the present large classes and physical limitations of the buildings is the impossibility of allocating students to their proper grade levels. Retarded and slow students have to be promoted at the end of the school year regardless of their academic status and aptitude to make room for the next class. As a result a large number of boys and girls are not in their proper grade at the present time. No solution is possible until more space is available.

"Secondly, present facilities for the opportunity classes, so urgently needed are tragically inadequate. We have four excellent teachers for this specialized work but under prevailing conditions very little can be accomplished.

"Thirdly, the lack of rooms for such essentials as visual aids, science laboratory, physical training, music, library and assembly, effectively block any reasonable efforts on the part of the teachers for creative instruction."

Trinity Evening Auxiliary Meets

The Mary Millar Auxiliary met in the social hall on Jan. 5th. Reports of the year's work were given by the secretaries. The treasurer's report showed that the allocation of $550 had been exceeded. The supply secretary reported that new and used clothing valued at $399.25 had been shipped.

The installation of officers was conducted by Rev. J. T. Irwin who immediately afterward escorted the new president, Mrs. L. H. Simmons, to the chair. A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the past president, Miss Enid Morson.

Mrs. Stanley Thompson invited the members to her home for sewing next Monday evening.

The Sanatorium visiting committees for this month are Mrs. Gordon MacCallum and Mrs. Arthur Coffin; Miss Dorothy Auld and Miss Vera Simpson.

Makes Public Truman's Thanks To Mystery Man

By Wilmot Hercher

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 —(AP) — Senator Joseph McCarthy produced today a copy of a letter he said President Truman sent to Henry W. Grunewald, Washington mystery man and wirepuller, expressing "heartfelt appreciation" for Grunewald's support during the 1948 presidential campaign.

At the same time the Wisconsin Republican suggested the Senate investigate "a very sizeable" political contribution he described as having been solicited from Grunewald by a high Government official and paid in cash into the campaign fund of Senator Mike Monroney (Dem.-Okla).

Jess Larson, head of the General Services Administration, promptly identified himself as the official who received the money from Grunewald. But he told reporters he did not solicit it. He said Grunewald voluntarily contributed $500 in 1950, and that he passed it along for the benefit of Monroney, an old college chum.

McCarthy's own finances have come under the scrutiny of the Senate rules sub-committee, on which Monroney served for a time. Monroney withdrew from the group before it filed a report Jan. 2 raising questions it said the Senate should decide to determine McCarthy's fitness for office.

Grunewald, the man McCarthy said Truman wrote to, was indicated by a federal grand jury here yesterday for contempt of Congress Known around Washington as "The Dutchman," Grunewald has refused to tell House of Representatives investigators about his association with public officials involved in a series of tax scandals. At one session he even refused to state his name.

McCarthy made public a photographic copy of the presidential letter.

The letter, on White House stationery, was dated Nov. 24, 1948, and read:

"Dear Mr. Grunewald:

"I have heard of the generous way in which you expressed confidence in my leadership and want you to know of my heartfelt appreciation. I am more grateful than I can say.

"The Democratic Party must go forward with progress and the support which you gave so wholeheartedly gives me strength and courage and renewed faith in the principles for which our party must always stand.

"Very sincerely yours,

(Signed) Harry S. Truman"

The White House said it was impossible to verify the existence of such a letter immediately, since files covering that period have been packed for shipment to Missouri.

Serious Outbreak Of 'Flu In Tokyo

TOKYO, Jan. 6 —(AP) — A top Japanese health official said today a serious influenza epidemic is sweeping this city of 7,000,000. He estimated that more than half the population has been stricken since mid-December.

The illness usually lasts from five days to a week.

Make Available Room In Own Home For Crowded Pupils

Col. L. T. Lowther, O.B.E., principal of Prince Street School, and Mrs. Lowther have made available a ground floor room in their dwelling at 25 Longworth Avenue as a class room in an attempt to ease the crowded conditions at the school.

The room has been fully equipped to handle 20 grade one pupils, who will receive their schooling under Miss Mary Morrison, a member of the staff of Prince Street School.

The City School Board has been for several months past seeking temporary quarters in church halls or private dwellings to ease the overcrowding in Prince Street School, and the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Lowther in making this room available is expected to provide effective temporary relief.

Musical Festival Executive Meeting

A meeting of the Music Festival executive was held yesterday in the Y.M.C.A. with the president, Dr. Steel presiding. There was a good attendance of executive members, including Chief Justice Thane A. Campbell, Vice - President from Prince County, and Mrs. Archibald Hume, Vice President from Kings County.

The adjudicators for this year's festival are Messrs Earle Terry B.A., B. Paed., M. M , London, Ontario and Reginald G. Geen F. R. C. O., Oshawa, Ontario. Some discussion arose concerning the engaging of a third adjudicator. It was decided to try and procure one for at least part of the week.

Mrs. Lantz reported the syllabus has arrived from the printer and will be distributed to the music stores in the near future. It is hoped that each Institute or school district will be sent a copy of the syllabus. The Choral Reading committee have their selections ready for the music stores also.

Mrs. Shaw from the Field Committee said she hoped to have some one available to give a short talk at the District Conventions of the Women's Institute in the Spring. The hall committee are securing information on halls as with the festival steadily enlarging, there is more hall space required.

The Canadian Federation of Music Festival this year has decided to have a national competition for a "Crest and Motto" for the Federation. Persons from any Province may compete for which the award is $100. The P. E. I. Musical Festival Association are offering an additional $25. to the best "crest and motto" from P.E.I. entries to be sent to Mrs. Shaw.

Adjudicators for the Dancing and Choral Reading Classes are to be contacted in the near future. There is to be a general meeting for all the members of the Association in late January at the Agricultural Hall in Vocational School.

Reject Price Boost For Aluminum

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6—(AP)—The Reynolds Metals Company, and the Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp., today turned down the government's conditional offer of a ceiling price increase for aluminum.

The Aluminum Company of America rejected the offer earlier. The ceiling increase was tied to a provision that the big three of the industry agree to changes in contracts under which the Government gets the firms' aluminum output over a five-year period.

The rejection by the big three left the problem in the Defence Department's lap.

PRESBYTERIAN MINISTER DIES

TORONTO, Jan. 6—(CP)—Rev. James A. Cranston, minister of Kew Beach Presbyterian Church here for many years, died today. Mr. Cranston was minister of the church from 1919 until his retirement four years ago. He has since been visiting minister at Timothy Eaton Memorial Church.

Active Year For P.E.I. Fisheries Federation

During 1952 the P. E. I. Fisheries Federation continued its activities on behalf of the fishing industry of Prince Edward Island.

Seven directors' meetings were held during this period, while quarterly general meetings were held in Charlottetown in April and November, and at North Rustico in June.

One of the highlights of the year was its obtaining the extension of the Spring lobster fishing season in view of the adverse weather and ice conditions prevalent during a large part of May and June and resulting in a small catch during the early part of the regular season.

Another important matter dealt with in 1952 was the proposed changes in the regulations governing the inspection of canned fish and shellfish and the operation of canneries. At the October meetings held by the Department of Fisheries at Moncton and Summerside in this connection the Federation was well represented. Mr. S. H. Burhoe joined the Maritime delegation to Ottawa in December in this connection to afford representation to the fishing industry of this Province.

At the April quarterly meeting Brig. W. W. Reid addressed the members on the Workmen's Compensation Act as it affects the fishing industry.

That same month President L. L. Noonan represented the Province at the annual meeting of the parent body, the Fisheries Council of Canada, at Vancouver, B. C.

In June and again in November, the Federation was privileged with visits from Gordon O'Brien, manager of the Fisheries Council of Canada at Ottawa.

September saw a visit from T. R. Kinsella, Fisheries Section of the Department of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa.

During the year the Federation made a further appearance and presentation before the Provincial Fisheries Development Committee re lobster seasons and regulations.

The Federation played its part in assembling data for the Canadian Fisheries brief for presentation at the important Washington hearing re importation of Canadian ground fish fillets.

Other topics dealt with during the year included: Lath spacing of lobster traps; 1953 Coast Fisheries Conference; U. S. duty on Fisheries labels; Canadian tariff changes; representation at the Canadian International Trade Fair; appointment of industrial advisory board to the International Commission for the Northwest Atlantic Fisheries; can sizes; dragger policy and construction; depreciation rates for fishing vessels; stated refrigeration charges; freight and express rates on fish; fish advertising and sales promotion; aids to navigation at Souris harbour; question of extra-provincial buyers of live lobsters here; smelt season extensions; and lobster paste regulations.

The November annual meeting saw both President L. L. Noonan and Secretary-Treasurer A. Walthen Gaudet re-elected to those offices for another year.

An excellent spirit of co-operation continued to exist in 1952 between the Federation and the Provincial Department of Industry and Natural Resources headed by Hon. Eugene Cullen, and with Eugene Gorman as Director of Fisheries as well as with the local Federal Fisheries Division headed by J. J. Larabee.

The general consensus of opinion is that Prince Edward Island's fisheries made further progress in 1952 towards taking its rightful place as the Province's second most important industry.

Churchill Follows Up Eisenhower Talks By Meeting Dulles At Dinner

(By Marvin Arrowsmith)

NEW YORK, Jan. 6—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill confers on world affairs tonight with John Foster Dulles, the next U. S. State Secretary and is expected to meet again with President-elect Eisenhower tomorrow night.

Winthrop W. Aldrich, who will be ambassador to Britain, is to dine with Churchill and Dulles tonight in the Manhattan home of financier Bernard R. Baruch, the Prime Minister's host in New York.

the same place with Churchill

Eisenhower, who had dinner at last night, will be accompanied to tomorrow night's dinner session in the Baruch home by Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, it was reported.

Eisenhower conferred with Dulles today at his Hotel Commodore headquarters and presumably briefed him on what was discussed at the Eisenhower-Churchill talks the previous evening.

No Hint of Trend

There was no public hint as to what trends the conversations were taking. There is a wide range of topics the conferees could choose from: Korea, Iran, the over-all cold war with Communism, Soviet Premier Stalin's recent overture for a possible conference, and world trade.

The dinner meeting tonight is scheduled for 6 p.m. EST—allowing a substantial time for discussions before actually going to the table.

Aside from any topics discussed, the dinner gives Churchill a chance to consolidate personal friendships with Dulles and Aldrich—who will be, respectively, the chief spokesman of Eisenhower's foreign policy and the chief U. S. representative in Britain.

Eisenhower stopped off at the Baruch residence on his way home from his office late yesterday for a talk of almost two hours with Churchill, then went home, changed his clothes, and returned for a lengthy dinner session.

No Early Report

Reports from London said Churchill would make no report to the cabinet on his New York talks until he returns to London after a Jamaican holiday that will follow a meeting with President Truman.

This course is being taken to underline the informality of conferences with Eisenhower, who does not take office until Jan. 20.

Churchill plans to pay a visit tomorrow to the Brooklyn birthplace of his American mother, Jenny Jerome, a famed beauty of her day.

He has invited Mayor and Mrs. Vincent R. Impellitteri and his daughter, Sarah Churchill Beauchamp, to join him on the automobile trip.

For the most part, the Prime Minister apparently intends to stay within the Baruch residence until he leaves La Guardia Airport at 11 a.m. EST Thursday for Washington.

Re-Elected To Head Playgrounds Commission

Mr. Harold MacLean was re-elected chairman of the Charlottetown Playgrounds Commission for the third consecutive time at their annual meeting last night, as was also Mr. Roy MacGillivray to the office of vice-chairman.

The Commission strongly endorsed the plan arranging for the use of the Forum for children's hockey practice on Saturday evenings instead of maintaining open air rinks. To this end they agreed to co-operate fully with the service clubs and others who are giving leadership to the project, and will assist in supervising this activity.

Arrangements have been made whereby the ice surface at the Forum has been divided into three parts which allots adequate room for three distinct activities at the same time without interfering or crowding.

Practically every interest in the city was represented at the meeting which was one of the largest in the history of the Commission. Mrs. Everett Wotton, representing the Pythian Sisters and Mrs. Stanley Bryant, for the Rebeccas, were heartily welcomed as additional workers for the children of the city through the leadership which the Commission provides.

Other officers elected were Mr. James Robinson, Treasurer and Miss Ethel Sutherland, Secretary.
