"Do you think you could ever learn to love me?" he asked as he gave her a squeeze.

GRAND RECEPTION

A grand reception was tendered to a number of returned soldiers at Egmont Bay Hall, Sunday evening 16th inst. The attendance was exceptionally large, standing room being taxed to its utmost capacity.

The president, Mr. Ferdinand Richard in a few words opened the meeting and extended a cordial welcome to the soldiers. Briefly he touched on the merits of these young men, and he then called on Rev. S. Baudreault to address the meeting.

Rev. P. P. Arsenault of Mt. Carmel said he was glad to be present on such an important and pleasant meeting. He recalled to the audience certain passages of Ancient History when the spirit of Patriotism animated the warriors of old.

Should the occasion present itself again, he was certain that their present affliction would not deter them from making other sacrifices.

An address was then read to the soldiers by Inspector Gallant after which each soldier was presented with a present. The soldiers then responded in fitting terms to the address.

RECEPTION AND PRESENTATION.

On the evening of Tuesday Feb. 25. A large number of the citizens of Brookfield and the surrounding districts assembled in the orange Hall at Brookfield to do honor to another of the returned heroes Donald Beaton and also to show Mr. Beaton's mother that they had not forgotten her other son Spurgeon who had been recently killed at the front.

Mr. Beaton was then presented with a signet ring. The address was read by Rev. R.H. Stavert and the ring was presented by Miss Florence McLean.

and Mr. A.D. McPherson presented Mrs. Beaton with a signet ring in memory of her deceased son.

Mr. Beaton on behalf of himself and his mother in a few well chosen words thanked the many friends for the great kindness shown to them.

All present were then invited to partake of a beautiful supper prepared by the ladies. The rest of the evening was pleasantly spent in games and in music.

PARIS, Mar. 19.—(By Leon Trepanier)—The Canadian minister attending the peace conference proceedings are following the progress of demobilization and are doing their best for the prompt return of the Canadian troops overseas.

Continuing, Sir Robert Borden said the war had shown the people of Canada and other dominion that it was the ideal rather than the material which lived in history.

Sir Robert said he was a convinced supporter of the league of nations. He was not one of those who believed that things could be done all at once, but if they could make all nations agree to accept the principle that before war was declared in future there must be discussion, publicity and meditation, much would have been accomplished toward preventing a recurrence of the horrors of this war.

THOUGHT SHE HAD A GREAT INDIAN CHIEF.

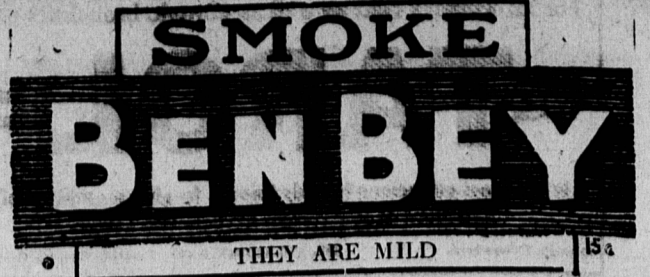

St. John Telegraph: A strange case of romance mingled with tragedy was brought to the attention of patriotic women workers who attend the arrival of returned soldiers at West St. John and care for the soldiers' dependents.

In receiving and conversing with the many English brides who have cast in their lot with Canadian lads and who have come to this country to settle with their soldier husbands, their notice was attracted by a particularly distinguished looking young lady, cultured and of fine attainments.

The young lady's conversation betrayed the castle she had built in the air, how she proposed to govern with queenly grace her charitable band of redskins, and how, in her charitable nature, she was planning to improve their "primeval" conditions.

It took but a few minutes for the women to realize that the pretty bride had been victimized as much by her own false conceptions, perhaps as by misrepresentations, but at the same time they approached with reluctance the task of disillusioning her.

Sympathetically they advised her that she had made a mistake and urged her not to proceed to her husband's home. She insisted, however, that she should go and rule the tribe.

of which he was chief. As delicately as possible she was told that there were no "big chiefs" now. She was still unmoved, however, interpreting the solicitations of the kind women as advice against adopting the red man's life.

Finally the young bride consented that two of the women should accompany her to her husband's home to see if she was satisfied with conditions. Still in good spirits, she travelled with the two loyal women to a place not many miles from St. John, where the Indian had made his abode.

There her romantic vision received a rude jolt. Instead of the encampment that was painted in her imagination she found but a few rude huts and her husband's relatives living in squalor without one relieving touch of romance.

The next train back to St. John brought the bride of a few weeks and her two guardians. After but a few minutes visit to what she expected would be her home, she gave up dreams of future glory, and, incidentally, parted from her Indian husband. The next boat took her back to England to rejoin her family.

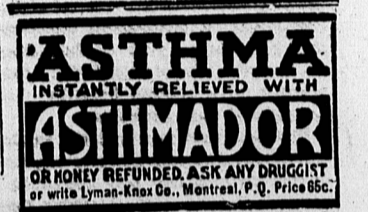

POTATO GROWERS IN CONVENTION

WOODSTOCK, March 22.—In the annual convention of the New Brunswick Potato Growers' Association George Saunders, Annapolis Royal, spoke, on insecticides. Paul Murphy, of the dominion field laboratory of plant pathology, Prince Edward Island, gave a very interesting talk on the potato situation, driving home the fact that if New Brunswick wishes to maintain her record as a seed producing district the farmers will have to raise the standard of their product to a very much higher extent.

C. Cooke, Restigouche county, gave a talk on potato club work in his district. A. A. H. Margson told how he had been able to reduce the cost of his poison by fifty per cent, by using arsenate of soda instead of Paris Green.

W. T. Macoun, Dominion Horticulturist, Ottawa, arrived last night too late for the evening meeting. His paper on Potato Cultivation and Potato Work at Ottawa experimental farm was listened to with great interest. The only other paper read was on Potato Grading by Guy F. Porter, potato shipper, of Andover.
