The HOUSEWIFE and HER ACTIVITIES

OF FRIENDSHIP
He was my friend because I seemed to be. Somehow responsive to his changing mood; I chanced to help, once, when he needed me, and lost his friendship for his gratitude. —Kenneth Wilson.

TRAYS AS IDEA FOR CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

If there is anything more necessary in the home than one tray, it is several trays. There is such a variety of size and shape, each finding its proper niche in any room throughout the home. As an aid for serving or keeping small articles from straying at large, trays have no equal.

Should trays be decided upon as a Christmas gift, they are bound to register with the recipient, for this type of article is seldom laid aside to pass on at a later time. For the table, bridge, dresser, bed, bathroom, smoker, etc., the tray is absolutely indispensable.

There is no end to the materials used in the construction of these versatile servers. They are made of cork, wood, finished to resist stain from alcohol, forged aluminum, solid silver, or plated ware, glass with chromium trim, and smart lacquered tin which comes from Russia.

Those who prefer to begin the day by having breakfast served to them in leisurely fashion will enjoy the flair of the smart bed tray with side pockets to hold the morning paper and mail. These trays may be adjusted to the comfort of those reclining or sitting up in bed. They are wooden, with wicker trim, and have glass lined tops. They can be enameled in ivory green, blue, yellow, or pink.

A smart idea, and one which adds distinction to a beautifully laid buffet spread is the use of small glass, chromium, or silver trays, to hold all condiments and bottled sauces used for cold cuts of meat or other food. When they are grouped together in such a manner they are easily found and the marking of table linen by liquids dripping from bottles is averted.

There are dainty trays to hold perfumes and other toilet requisites, which with their alcoholic content may spill and leave a lasting stain on the beautiful wood and one can hardly have too many trays for the smoker.

With most every age adopting the smoking habit, one can scarcely have too many trays scattered throughout the home, for it is the wise housewife and hostess who has these convenient little clusters of ash trays on hand to save the wear and tear on nerves when cleaning time comes.

MOUTH MAKE-UP

Scientists claim that our faces tell the story of our lives and characters as an open book. "You eyes proclaim your nature and your lips what you have made yourself."

Those of us who are happy from dawn to dusk, and who welcome their fellowkind with an open smile have in their make-up something that the cosmetic artist may never acquire.

Armed with the knowledge that we are masters of our facial expressions and that our lips may be moulded as clay in the artist's expert fingers, we should rise to the occasion with joyful spirit, knowing that within us lies the power to make or mar our countenances.

When inclined to frown, why not break into a sunny smile; the habit forms very quickly.

SCIENTIFIC AIDS

While the lips may be beautified by mental and spiritual means they may still further receive aid through the application of good cosmetics. Skillfully applied lipstick does undeniably improve the contour of the mouth, but it will not take out the droop of discontent nor a grouchy spirit which imprints itself so indelibly on the lips of those who permit it.

There are a few hard and fast rules in mouth make-up that should be memorized and practised daily. Do not, without first removing the old lipstick, apply the second coating. Having applied rouge to the lips rub it in gently and smoothly with the fingers tips. This spreads the rouge evenly and brings out the color, as well as making it last longer.

BE CAREFUL

Never allow the line of demarcation to show, as for example a mouth smudged with rouge on the outer line alone, showing the paler hue of the natural lips. This forms a grotesque line, far from beautiful. Remove all signs of lipstick from the inner curve of the cupid's bow with a piece of cleansing tissue. One may purchase these small rolls of tissue which come in handy pocket sizes. Finally match your lipstick to your rouge and beware of the two clashing. If your rouge has an orange base be assured that your lipstick has not a deep blue origin.

A naturally thin mouth may be broadened by carrying the lipstick well up to the edges and then very carefully pull down the rouge well over the lips and give a more generous curve to the mouth.

RICE

Rice is one of the cheaper foods and may be used to advantage in many different ways. Brown rice is more nutritious than the white polished rice at it contains many minerals lost in the polishing. Rice should be cooked in a large quantity of rapidly boiling water and stirred occasionally to prevent sticking. Have the water boiling hard and add the washed rice a little at a time so that the water will not stop boiling. Cook until tender, usually about 30 minutes. Put in a strainer and rinse with boiling water. Return to kettle and dry either in the oven or on top of the stove. Rice may be served as a vegetable by adding a little butter. It may be used as a combination with other foods as eggs, cheese or tomatoes in a casserole dish, or it may be dressed up a bit as a desert. Plain boiled rice, served with grated maple sugar and cream makes a delicious desert. Another favorite is to add whipped cream and pineapple to the boiled rice.

AN OLD RECIPE

Professor Saintsbury in "A Scrapbook" (1922) says: "What has come to the Oxford sausage much herbed, skinned and moulded into sausage shape just before cooking? Here is the recipe Oxford sausages, 1827: Young pork, fat and lean, 1 pound; lean veal, 1 pound; beef suet, 1 pound; grated bread, 1-2 pound; half a lemon; a nutmeg; 6 fresh sage leaves; 1 teaspoon pepper; 2 teaspoons salt, a little thyme, savory and marjoram. First, remove skin and gristle from the meat and suet. Secondly, put all through a mincing machine or chop very finely. Thirdly, grate the bread and put with the meat. Fourthly, shred half the rind of the lemon, and grate the nutmeg. Fifthly, chop sage, thyme, marjoram and savory very fine and add with the pepper and salt to the meat and suet. Sixthly, mix well all together and press down in a pan till required for use. Seventhly, then with hands dipped in flour roll portions of the sausage meat the size you require and fry in clarified fat or grill." G. W.

COAXED BY WOMEN SEAL TAKES MILK

EDINBURGH, Dec. 11.—(CP)—A hunger-stricken young seal in the Edinburgh Zoo has, after a long fight, been coaxed to take nourishment by a woman who imitated the cry of the seal, so well that they answered. The seal, a foundling from the Berrymore coast, resisted for a week all efforts of the zoo staff to feed it.

Miss Wendy Wood, the Scottish naturalist, then offered her help. At first she was furiously attacked by the seal. But after coaxing it with great patience she finally persuaded it to take the milk.

Later Miss Wood had the young seal resting contentedly in her lap sucking at the bottle. The director of the zoo believes that the seal will live if Miss Wood continues to feed it in this way till it is able to eat fish.

She: "What are all those men doing in a circle with their heads together? Is it a football team?" He: "No, my dear, just a bunch of Scotchmen lighting a cigarette."

Golfer (far in the rough): "Say caddy, why do you keep looking at your watch?" Caddy: "It isn't a watch, sir, it's a compass."

THE COOK'S CORNER

Rich White Fruit Cake

- 1-1 1/2 cups butter
3-1 1/2 cups flour
1/4 teaspoon soda
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 1/2 cups powdered sugar
1-1 1/2 cups finely sliced candied pineapple
12 eggs (whites only)
1 cup almonds, blanched and shredded
1 cup citron peel, finely sliced
1/2 teaspoon mace
2 teaspoons fresh almond extract
Mix in order given. Cream the butter for at least 10 minutes until it is fluffy and creamy, and add the sugar and almonds and sift them into the butter, gradually creaming constantly, then add the lemon juice. Beat the egg whites to a stiff froth then gradually add the sugar, beating until you have a stiff meringue. This takes several minutes but it is worth all the time and energy. Now fold this meringue into the butter and flour mixture slowly and carefully. Now add the prepared fruits and nuts and flavorings. Pour into cake pans which are lined with unglazed paper which has been greased and steam for 1/2 of an hour and bake for remaining time — about an hour.

When baking your cakes see that your oven is at a very low temperature because fruit scorches quickly. Moist cooking at a low heat is one of the secrets of good fruit cake. It is always wise to place a pan of water in the oven in which fruit cakes is being baked.

Almond Paste

- 1/2 lb. ground almonds
1/2 lb. castor sugar
A few drops of almond essence
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1/2 lb. icing sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla essence
1 teaspoon sherry
1 small egg or 2 yolks

Rub the icing sugar through a fine sieve and mix it in a bowl with the castor sugar and ground almonds. Make a well in the centre and add the flavorings and beaten egg. Mix together and form a dough. Knead well and use immediately.

To Cover Cake With Almond Paste

Brush over the top and sides of the cake with a little beaten egg white. Knead up the almond paste, forming it into a circle, using a little castor sugar on the pastry-board to prevent sticking. Roll out the paste cake. Press it over the sides of the cake and work it down the sides with the hands until the cake is completely covered. Make the top quite level (using a rolling pin) and invert the cake on the board. Work a knife making the edge quite sharp all the way around. Keep the hand placed on the bottom of the cake to help in pressing the paste into position. The cake should be left for a few hours at least before coating with icing.

Icing

- 2 cups powdered sugar (Put in saucepan)
1/2 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter

Mix slowly to dissolve sugar and then add milk. When a little of the mixture is dropped into cold water, it should just hold together. Remove from fire and beat to the right consistency for spreading.
