

Funeral Of Rev. P. McQuillan

Long before the arrival of the Borden train, which was almost an hour late, Monday evening, the streets about the C. N. R. station were thronged with people who assembled to pay a silent tribute of respect to the late Rev. Patrick McQuillan, formerly of this city, whose remains accompanied by his sisters and four priests arrived from Halifax where he passed away on Saturday morning.

The body was carried from the train by the following active pall bearers: Major D. F. Tierney, Major C. C. Thompson, Major D. Fielding, Major W. J. McDonald, Capt. W. A. Smith and Lieut. Leo McDonald.

They were preceded by the following honorary pall bearers: Messrs P. Fitzsimmons, Jas. Monaghan, Peter Trainor, W. J. Brown, Sixtus McLellan and Chas. J. Mitchell with six others selected from the clergy.

The funeral cortege proceeded up Water Street to Great George St., to St. Dunstan's Basilica in the following order:

- Legion Band. Members Canadian Legion. Knights of Columbus. Honorary Pall Bearers. Honorary Pall Bearers (Clergy) Active Pall Bearers. Undertaker, Mr. Frank Hennessey.

Arriving at the Basilica the body was received at the main entrance by His Most Reverend Excellency Jos. A. O'Sullivan and a large number of the clergy of the diocese.

The remains were placed in the Sanctuary after which vespers of the Dead were chanted by the clergy, the final absolutions being given by His Excellency.

At the conclusion the casket was opened and the large congregation which had assembled were given an opportunity of taking a last look at the beloved priest.

The body laid in state in the Basilica until this morning when solemn requiem high mass was celebrated by Very Rev. Dean McManus, Rector of St. Mary's University, Halifax, assisted by Rev. D. J. Summers, Deacon, Rev. Dr. Curran, Sub Deacon and Rev. H. H. Fleming, Master of Ceremonies. All of the clergy being from Halifax.

Rev. Joseph O'Hara in a brief sermon at the conclusion of the Mass paid a worthy tribute to the deceased. He said he was there to ask for the repose of the soul of "Good Father McQuillan." He had occasion to be in Halifax only about three weeks ago and spent most of his time with Father McQuillan, who was a "true, noble Catholic Priest."

He carried on the work of the Divine Master until the last moment. He had often visited here and his coming now to his home was sad for his relatives and friends.

Father McQuillan was ordained about thirty years ago. He served in the Great War where he brought comfort and consolation to many of our boys. At the conclusion of hostilities he returned to Halifax where he brought joy to saddened hearts. He had told the rev. speaker of hearing 14,000 confessions of soldiers and now he is gone to receive the reward of good deeds done. To his sisters and relatives he offered sympathy and he would ask our Lady of Sorrows, who knows what sorrow is, to comfort them.

The good Father McQuillan was one of their own and he would ask them to remember him in their prayers, that God would grant eternal rest, be merciful to him and reward him.

At the conclusion the remains were taken to St. Annes, Lot 65 where the services at the church and grave were conducted by Very Rev. Dean McManus.

The pall bearers yesterday morning were Messrs P. Fitzsimmons, Sixtus McLellan, Jas. Monaghan, Peter Trainor, W. J. Brown and Chas. J. Mitchell.

NO DANGER IN KISSING

(British United Press) LONDON, July 13—The hygienic objections to kissing were pooched by Dr. Josiah Oldfield, a London physician, in speaking to the Women's Institutes at Rugby. "A kiss does not create the scarabengers' million microbes," said the doctor. "If Jack kisses Jill and transfers to her a million of his microbes he gets in return a million of hers, and from what he knows of evolution, the probability is that this exchange of microbes is beneficial and not impervious."

Dr. Oldfield described a kiss as "the result of two sets of emotional cellular vibrations which attract each other and become harmoniously merged into a rich chord by contact."

Y. M. C. A. BRINGS 1500 TO TORONTO

TORONTO, Ont., July 14—For the first time in history Canada will entertain an international parliament of youth when the World Conference of the Young Men's Christian Association meets here, July 27 to August 2.

Registrations so far include 42 from Czechoslovakia, 37 from India, 34 from Japan, 30 from China, 26 from Hungary, 26 from Sweden, 23 from Denmark, and 21 from Mexico. Other countries to be represented will include Australia, Belgium, Bulgaria, Egypt, Estonia, Finland, Greece, Holland, Italy, Korea, Latvia, Norway, Poland, Roumania, Syria, Siam, Spain, Turkey, and many South American Republics.

The vast continent of Africa will be represented by white men and black men. Even Russia will not be without delegates at the Conference.

All previous meetings have been held in Europe, the last being at Helsingfors, Finland, in 1926. Six hundred delegates come from countries outside Canada and the United States—nine hundred from the Y. M. C. A. organizations of this continent.

The Toronto meeting will be divided into two parts, one for boys approaching manhood and the other for young men. On August 2 the conference will adjourn to meet for another week in Cleveland. In this way foreign delegates will be given an opportunity to study the life of both the United States and Canada. Not only the boys and young men of more than 50 different countries will attend the conference, but many older leaders in religious and philanthropic enterprise. Outstanding among these is Dr. John R. Mott, president of the World Alliance of the Y. M. C. A. Already famous for its leadership of foreign missionary campaigns, Dr. Mott distinguished himself during the Great War by his organization of Y. M. C. A. work among the allied armies. He was made a Knight of the Legion of Honour by France and his own government rewarded him with the Distinguished Service Medal.

Soon after the opening of the Conference a fire will be lighted on the grounds and kept burning until ten o'clock Sunday night, August 2. When all delegates have lighted their "friendship torches" the fire will be extinguished, the ashes buried, and the torches carried to the far corner of the earth to light other fires of friendship. An effort is being made to consolidate the Y. M. C. A. as a great instrument of international peace and brotherhood.

RECREATION CONGRESS TO MEET IN TORONTO

(Canadian Press) TORONTO, Ont., July 14—Mayors of the principal cities of Canada and the United States have been invited by Mayor William J. Stewart of Toronto, to attend the Canada-United States Recreation Congress which meets here Oct. 5 to 9. The conference will be conducted under the auspices of a Canadian committee and the National Recreation Association which has its headquarters at New York City, and which has sponsored 17 similar annual gatherings in the States. This is the first of the organization's meetings to be held in Canada.

The premiers of all the provinces and governors of the states have already been invited to the Congress by Hon. G. S. Henry, Premier of Ontario. The purpose of the Congress is the exchange of recreation information. Topics will embrace municipal and county parks, playgrounds, winter sports, camps, physical education, school recreation, rural recreation programmes, industrial recreation, girls' athletics, music, drama and handicraft.

Mayor Stewart's letter to Canadian mayors read in part as follows: "For some years various cities in Canada have been sending delegates to the United States to attend the annual Recreation Congress, a gathering interested in community play and recreation. This year a group of our citizens were successful in arranging to have the Recreation Congress decide to meet in Toronto, Canada, Oct. 5-9, 1931."

"This is the first time we have had such a meeting in Canada and those in charge are particularly eager to have a representative attendance from all parts of Canada to the end that there may be not only a general exchange of information between our citizens and visitors from the United States, but also that the Congress may result in a further development of the play and recreation movement in Canada.

"As mayor of the City of Toronto, it gives me pleasure to extend to you a most cordial invitation to spend some time visiting our city. If your duties will not permit you to attend, I hope you will be ready to appoint a number of delegates from your city who are interested in

Jack Hornby Lives Again As Snow Man

(By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, July 14—Rather less than three years ago, a Canadian Press despatch from Ottawa, carried first word of another tragedy in the Northland. Mounted Police headquarters had reports of three skeletons found by the Upper Thelon in the heart of the barren land that stretched, beyond the timber line, between Artilley Lake (north east of Great Slave) and Hudson's Bay. The skeletons were believed to be those of Jack Hornby and two companions. Missing for two years. Dead of starvation.

There were doubts and questionings. Hornby dead of starvation? In the country he knew better than any man living? Hornby, who had gone into the barrens again and again, emerging half-emaciated, only to return. Then, as further enquiries left doubt, odd details garnered in unexpected places, pieced together an almost legendary figure—an Old Harrow boy venturing into the barrens for love of the venture, seeking hardships as most men seek comfort.

And in the absorbing pages of Malcolm Waldron's "Snow Man" published by Johanan Cape, Jack Hornby lives again. He lives not in a biographical catalogue of heroics but as the central figure in a moving theme of adventure. This short Englishman with eyes of "amazing blue" speaking with the speech of the scholar, "chosen, deliberate and softly voiced"—Hornby in his refinements and sometimes his crudities—passes across the Canadian scene like some romantic voyager of dimly remembered history. And with the aeroplane steadily opening up the great Northland, Canada may see his like again.

"I have called this book for many reasons 'Snow Man,'" so writes Mr. Waldron. "Obviously, too, because both Hornby and the traditional snow man were product of whims. There was another reason for the title. Have you ever thought how futile is a snow man? He is a majestic perhaps, a figure for all to admire—but what is his destiny, what is his purpose?"

There are those of Hornby's friends in the North who cannot reconcile themselves to his going. If they should return to the Barrens tomorrow, they would keep looking for him over the top of the next escarp. Thus strongly did he live and impress his life on others."

FAMOUS MUSICAL FESTIVAL

(Canadian Press) LONDON, July 14—The complete programme for the ninth annual festival of the International Society for Contemporary Music has been arranged. The festival opens at Oxford, July 21. The first concert, which will consist of early English choral music, performed by the combined choirs of Christ Church and New College under Dr. W. H. Harris, will be held on the following day in the Town Hall. On July 23 the first concert of contemporary music will be given in the Sheldonian Theatre. The programme will consist mostly of chamber music, but will include works for small choir and chamber orchestra, notably a Sinfonietta by Halffter, and three a cappella choruses by Egon Wellesz.

On July 24 these ballets will be performed: Vaughan Williams' Job and Lambert's Pomona by the Camargo Society, and Erwin Schulhoff's La Sommambule by a group of dancers from Prague. The second chamber concert in the evening of the same day includes Gossens' second violin sonata, a string quartet by Marcel Delannoy, and a piano quintet by Mario Pilati. A new symphony for organ solo by Leo Sowerby will be played in the Cathedral on the Sunday, when music by Purcell and Traverser will also be performed.

On July 27 the festival removes to London for an orchestral concert at Queen's Hall organized by the B. B. C. The programme includes symphonies by Dukelsky, Palester, von Webern, Constant Lambert's "Music for Orchestra," and Gershwin's "An American in Paris" for piano and orchestra. The final concert on the next day is choral and includes Vaughan Williams' Benedictus, Roussel's Psalm 80 and works by Szabo and Szymanovsky for unaccompanied chorus.

MEN WANT DRESS REFORM

LONDON, July 14—A "midsummer Dress Reform Revue" was held recently by the Men's Dress Reform Party at the Suffolk Galleries. Prizes were given for "the best costumes for men." Every man was asked to dress "as he looks and feels his best." Men who were not dress reformers were invited to attend the revue to "argue the point with those who are."

The Markets

(Canadian Press)

MONTREAL, Que., July 14—(Produce)—The new Australian treaty was the principal matter of comment today on the Montreal produce market. Members of the butter and cheese trade held a meeting at which it was discussed. The 5 cents duty placed by Canada on Australian butter was regarded as satisfactory to the trade here. Previously the duty had been one cent per pound and the discrepancy between this low mark and the eight cents duty on New Zealand butter had been made up to some extent by regulatory action by the Federal Government during the past winter. The trade expressed relief that the duty had been finally fixed at a definite figure on the Australian product. The rate was considered adequate protection for the Canadian farmer. The cheese tariff against Australia was also considered satisfactory. The concessions on eggs, allowing free imports from Australia during January and February and a duty of 2 cents per dozen during the rest of the year, was not regarded as causing any worry as the first two months of the year are during Canada's off season for production. New potatoes continued to decline in price today. A drop of 20 to 35 cents per bag at the weeks opening was followed by another cut of ten cents, bringing the wholesale price to 80 cents per 80 pound bags. Two weeks ago the price was $2, the drop being largely accounted for by steadily increasing arrivals.

The butter market was unchanged at 22 to 22 1-4 cents per lb. for cartons of No. 1 eastern townships pasteurized. Solids were 23 and prints 24 cents. Receipts were 5,812 boxes. The cheese market was quoted steady at 13 cents for Ontario and 12 to 1-2 for Quebec. Receipts were 6,881 boxes.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 14—A slight but better feeling is reported from the Montreal egg market today, but prices generally are holding about steady.

TORONTO—This egg market is again unchanged today with prices holding about steady. Sales of graded shipments of eggs from Ontario points are being made to wholesalers at extras 18 1-2, firsts 15 1-2 seconds 13 1-2 delivered.

MONTREAL—Egg receipts here today were 3,005 cases as compared to 4,412 cases for the corresponding day last year. There is a good demand for eggs of the grade of extras and firsts are also showing some improvement. A mixed cart of western eggs was sold on spot today at extras 20 3-4, seconds 14 3-4.

SAINT JOHN—This egg market continues quiet and unchanged. Receipts from Prince Edward Island are heavier. Dealers are quoting producers and country shippers for eggs extras 17-18, firsts 14-15, seconds 11-12 delivered cases returned.

Along The Waterfront

Carvels Wharf The S. S. Silvia, Captain Kean, which arrived in port Monday from Montreal with a general cargo along with a fair passenger list, after finishing discharging, reloaded a general cargo at the above wharf and sailed on return to Montreal.

Marine Wharf The C. G. S. Aranmore, Captain Gilbert arrived in port from Newfoundland, and is at present loading a cargo of lighthouse supplies for the Straits of Belle Isle. The Customs Revenue Cutter Contestoga, Captain Aschaf arrived in port yesterday. This boat patrols the Northumberland Strait and vicinity.

Pickards Wharf Schr. Corean, Captain Lavangier has finished discharging a cargo of coal.

Carraghers Wharf Schr. Conductor, Captain Forgron has now finished discharging a cargo of coal.

In the old days it was considered lucky to exclaim "God bless you!" when a person sneezed. To-day, such an idea is considered asthoo of nonsense. Speaking of old customs and superstitions, not long ago a number of girls were discussing the latter when one declared that she wouldn't walk under a ladder for worlds. "How absurd!" cried another girl. "Why, I walk under every ladder I see. I just cross my heart and cross my fingers and I make sure I have a piece of wood to touch, and when I have passed under the ladder I turn in my track three times. You see, it's perfectly safe if you do that. I really can't stand those silly superstitions."

London Letter
By Glanville Carey (British United Press)
LONDON, July 14—Russia is regarded in various lights by various people. To our parlour Communists it is Heaven; to our Conservatives it is Hell. But no one yet has regarded it as a sporting country in any sense whatever of the word sporting.
Therefore there is considerable interest in the announcement that the Soviet Government is going to finance its Five Year Plan with a sweepstake for nearly a billion dollars.
This will put some of our politicians and people on the horns of a dilemma. On the one hand, if they do not insist that the Home Secretary shall raid the organizers in this country and seize the subscriptions, they will be conniving at the export of British capital to Russia. On the other hand if they de-
